"Truth" eaye: The reduction in the value of land in England, is not only permanent, hut the decrease in value will augment in proportion as more and more land is devoted to agricultural purposes out of England, and as the means of transportation are facilitated. We are only at the commencement of the equalizing effect on value of land produced hy cheap intercommunication. Why, in Hungary and Trahsylvania, fowls, fattened on maize, may he hought for threepence in any numhers, and they might he hrought to England in refrigerating wagons for ahout one penny apiece. To sell them, therefore, for sixpence each in London would return a handsome profit. And it is merely a question of time when these fowls will he seen in our markets competing with the produce of our own farmyards.——A story has often heen told of the late Mr. Davies which, unluckily, would not apply to any hookmaker of the present day. At the close of a Derhy settling an item of £500 on the losing side of his hook remained unclaimed. On making inquiries he found that this particular creditor had died. "What am I to do with the money, then?" he asked of the persou who gave him the news. "Keep it, to he sure." "Has he no relatives?" "Yes, he has left a widow and children." "You must he a hlackguard to suggest such a thing," he answered, and he did not rest until he had paid the widow the money. It would he well for the Turf if we heard nowadays of such sentiments and suct actions.——A cook in the service of a well-known money-changer in Paris has just passed through a hitter ordeal. She had hought three shares in the Credit Foncier Loan, which, like the City of Paris loans, comprises a lottery of prizes ranging from 1,000 fr. to 100,000 fr., drawn at stated periods. One of these drawings took place the other day. The following morning she received word from her mother that it was one of the three shares she had sold her which had won the hig prize. Elated with joy she at once went to the offices of the Credit Foncier with her shares, hut instead of three there were only two. Questioned as to the third share, she said she had sold it to the valet de chambre. The clerk looked at the numhers, and was sorry to inform her that it was the share she had sold which had won the 100,000 fr. prize. The poor cook fainted, and the shock is likely to end fatally.——The other night at a club some Americans were hoasting ahout their inventions, and the wonderful machines to he found in the States. One of them told of the well-known mincing machine which, a live pig heing introduced at one end, turned out the animal in sausages at the other end. An Irishman, who was not going to have the Yankee riding roughshod over every other nation, turned on them, and said: "Bedad, we've got the same machine in Ireland, only ours is more perfect, sure; for if you don't like the sausages you can put them back into the machine, and by reversing the action they'll come out live pig agin where he went in."——The paragraph which went the round of the papers, recently, hy which we learnt that the Queen was eating strawherries at Balmoral, grown in the open air, was sent up hy her Majesty's express desire, in order to dissipate the idea that at this season Balmoral lies in a snowy or foggy waste.——Apropos of Dr. Talmage, who has just fouud England such a profitahle preaching-ground, some one asked him the other day what he came here for. "I guess I came to get money," replied Talmage. "But," said his questioner, "I thought America was the place to make money?" "Yes, hut in England it's already made," was the answer.——By way of experiment, the occupier of an estate near Adelaide, South Australia, has forwarded to England a small consignment of oranges and lemons, which have reached London in perfect condition. As fine oranges are at present heing sold retail in Covent Garden Market at three pence and four pence each, it is believed that the venture will yield a fair return to the grower, and the success of the experiment may lead to the development of a regular trade which will increase the variety of the autumn fruits.——In Dublin the legal charge for a short ride in a puhlic carriage is sixpence, hut cahhy expects you to give him very much more, and he always gets somethiug in addition to the actual fare. If you ask him what his price is he invariahly "laves it to your honor;" hut when you have paid him, no matter how many times the lawful amount, he is never satisfied. Two American gentlemen in Duhlin, a week or two ago, made a het, one holding that he would give cahhy such a fee that he would ask no more. This his friend declared was not possihle. They took a cah, the first they met, and rode a distance of ahout two miles. "How much do I owe you?" inquired the gentlemen at the end of the journey. "Sure an' your honor can give me whatever you like," said the driver. "But I would rather you would name your charges." "Indeed an' I won't. It's not for me to say what a fine gintleman like you will give me." Thus put to the test, the "fine gintleman" handed him over half a sovereign in gold for a ride that should have cost a shilling at most. Cahhy looked at the coin, then at the gentleman, as if doubting the evidence of his senses at this unexpected muuificence, hut soon recovering from his surprise he put his hand to his hat in respectful acknowledgement of his gratitude. "You have lost your het," whispered the friend as they turned to leave. But before he and his companion had walked half a dozen steps, the driver, leaving his horse and vehicle to teke care of themselves, was hy their side, hat in hand. "Well, what do you want now; haven't you got your fare?" "So I have," said the driver with an insinuating smile, "an' it's yourself is the gintleman that gave me a fine one this hlessed day; hut, yer honor, haven't you got a spare sixpence in your pocket; I don't like to change the goold." But Pat is like this in politics, like this just now in his threatening, greedy demand to settle his rent with his landlord as is most agreeahle to his tenant's notions.——Washington has given his name to no fewer than 188 towns in the United States, and two States in particular—Ohio and Iowa—are so devoted to his memory as to have respectively 44

[Continued on Thirteenth Page.]

INSURANCE.

HUTCHINSON & MANN,

INSURANCE AGENCY,

No. 322 & 324 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Fire Insurance.

GIRARD..... of Philadelphia.	LA CAISSE GENERALE.....of Paris.
HOME..... .....of Columbus.	ST. PAUL.....of St. Paul.
NEW ORLEANS ASSOCIATION.....	TEUTONIA.....of New Orleans.
PEOPLES.....of Newark.	BERLIN-COLOGNE.....of Berlin.
REVERE..... .....of Boston.	LA CONFIANCE.....of Paris.

Marine Insurance.

PARIS UNDERWRITING ASSOCIATION.....of Paris.
LONDON AND PROVINCIAL MARINE INSURANCE CO.....of London.

Capital Represented.....$23.000,000.

All Losses Equitably Adjusted and Promptly Paid.

HOME MUTUAL INSURANCE CO. OF CALIFORNIA.

Principal Office, 406 California Street, San Francisco. Cash Assets, January 1, 1877, $595,291; Liahilities, $5,952; Surplus for Policy Holders, $589,339. J. F. Houghton, President; L. L. Baker, Vice-President; Charles R. Story, Secretary. R. H. MAGILL, H. H. BIGELOW, General Agents.

DIRECTORS.—San Francisco—L. L. Baker, John H. Redington, J. F. Houghton, R. B. Gray, Robert Watt, John Currey, L. B. Baker, W. F. Whittier, C. C. Burr, E. M. Root, W. H. White, J. L. N. Shepard, W. M. Greenwood, George S. Mann, Cyrus Wilson, W. T. Garratt, C. Waterhouse, A. P. Hotaling, A. Block, A. K. P. Harmon, G. S. Johnson, W. O. Wilson, A. W. Bowman, H. L. Dodge, Charles R. Story. Alameda County Branch—V. D. Moody, Chauncy Taylor, A. C. Henry, Robert S. Farrelly, Joseph B. Marlin, W. B. Hardy, T. B. Simpson. San Diego—A. H. Wilcox. Sacramento—Mark Hopkins, D. W. Earl, Julius Wetzlar, James Carolan. San Jose—T. Ellard Beans, B. D. Murphy, A. Pfister, J. H. Dibble, J. S. Carter, Jackson Lewis, Jacob Rich, John Auzerais, John Balbach. Stockton—H. H. Hewlett, Chas. Belding, J. D. Peters, A. W. Simpson, H. M. Fanning. Marysville—D. E. Knight. Grass Valley—Wm. Watt, T. W. Sigourney. Portland, Oregon—W. S. Ladd, C. H. Lewis, P. Wasserman, B. Goldsmith, D. Macleay. Virginia City, Nevada—John Gillig, Isaac L. Requa. March 17.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.--UNION INS. CO. OF S. F.

The Californla Lloyds.---Established in 1861.---Nos. 416 and 418 California street. Cash capital $750,000 in Gold. Assets exceed $1,000,000 Coin. Fair Rates! Prompt Settlement of Loses!! Solid Security!! DIRECTORS.—SAN FRANCISCO—J. Mora Moss, N. G. Kittle, M. J. O'Connor, R. S. Floyd, Moses Heller, Adam Grant, Daniel Meyer, Antoine Borel, Charles Kohler, E. L. Goldstein, I. Lawrence Pool, A. Weill, Joseph Brandenstein, Charles Baum, James Moffitt, Benjamin Brewster, L. Cunningham, W. M. Hoag, Nicholas Luning, John Parrott, L. A. Booth, Julius Baum, Myles D. Sweeney, Jas. M. Goewey, Edward Cadwalader Bartlett Doe, Gustave Touchard, J. H. Baird, J. G. Kittle, George C. Hickox, C. Ducommun, Wm. Scholle, John Conly, Ig. Steinhart, W. B. Stone, J. O. Eldridge, A. B. Phipps.

GUSTAVE TOUCHARD, President. N. G. KITTLE, Vice-President.
CHARLES D. HAVEN, Secretary. GEO. T. BOHEN, Surveyor. Aug 31.

THE STATE INVESTMENT AND INSURANCE CO.

FIRE AND MARINE.

Cash Assets, $450,000.---Principal Office, 218 and 220 Sau-some street, San Francisco. OFFICERS:—A. J. BRYANT, President; RICHARD IVERS, Vice-President; CHARLES H. CUSHING, Secretary; H. H. WATSON, Marine Surveyor. BOARD OF DIRECTORS:—Peter Donahue, James Irvine, C. D. O'Sullivan, A. Bocqueraz, R. Harrison, A. H. Rutherford, R. Bailey, E. W. Corbett, George O. McMullin, A. J. Bryant, Frank M. Pixley, E Burke, H. H. Watson, Dr. C. F. Buckley, P. J. White, E. M. Root, M. Mayhlum, Richard Ivers, John Rosenfeld, Daniel Callaghan. P. H. Russell, Sacramento. John G. Downey, Los Angeles. Wm. Hood, Sonoma County. H. W. Seale, Mayfield. Geo. Rutherford, San Jose. Feb. 16.

THE MARINE INSURANCE CO. OF LONOON, ENGLANO.

[ESTABLISHED 1836.]

Whole Amount of Joint Stock and Guaranteed Capital..$5,000,000.
Whole Amount of Capital paid up..... 900,000.
Cash Aesets December 31, 1876..... 3,710,000.

The undersigned have been duly authorized to issue Policies at current rates on Freight and Shipments to or from England, Europe, New York, Japan, China, Australian Colonies, Sandwich Islands, and Northern Coast Ports. If desired, policies made payahle at port of termination.

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents,
Aug. 10. 218 California street.

THE SWISS MARINE INS. COMPANIES COMBINEO.

Switzerland, of Zurich, Capital 5,000,000 francs; Helvetia, of St. Gall, Capital 10,000,000 francs; Baloise, of Basle, Capital 5,000,000 francs. These three Companies are liahle jointly and severally for all losses that may he sustained. Losses made payable in all the principal seaports of the world. In the settlement of all claims under an English policy, these Companies will strictly adhere to the conditions and customs adopted at Lloyds, and submit to English jurisdiction.

June 9. HARRY W. SYZ, Agent, 225 Sansome st., S. F.

NEW ENGLANO MUTUAL LIFE INSUR. CO. OF BOSTON.

Has transacted the business of Life Insnrance for nearly thirty-five years. Its assets amount to over FOURTEEN MILLION DOLLARS. The law of Massachusetts makes all its Policies nonforfeitable. It is a Purely Mutual Company, dividing every cent of surplus among Policy-holders. This is the ONLY Company on the Pacific Coast governed hy the Massachusetts Lapse Law. This company has complied with the new Insurance Laws of California.

WALLACE EVERSON, General Agent.
Sept. 22.] 328 Montgomery street.

WESTERN ASSURANCE COMPANY, OF TORONTO.

Incorporated 1851.

Total Assets, 1st January, 1879.....$1,670,400.41.

BUTLER & HALDAN, General Agents for Pacific Coast,
413 CALIFORNIA STREET. [Sept. 13.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN MARINE INS. CO. OF LIVERPOOL.

Capltal $5,000,000.---Agents: Balfour, Guthrle & Co., No. 316 California street, San Francisco. Nov. 18.

ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY,

No. 310 Sansome street, San Francisco, Wholesale Dealer in Furs. Sept. 21.

CRADLE, ALTAR, AND TOMB.

CRADLE.

BULLIVANT—In this city, October 25th, to the wife of H. E. Bullivant, a daughter.
BROWN—In this city, October 24th, to the wife of J. H. Brown, a daughter.
EDWARDS—In this city, November 1st, to the wife of Wm. Edwards, a son.
HICKOX—In this city, October 28th, to the wife of A. D. W. Hickox, a daughter.
HAYES—In this city, October 23d, to the wife of J. T. Hayes, a son.
KAUFMAN—In this city, October 25th, to the wife of C. Kaufman, a daughter.
LUHRS—In this city, November 2d, to the wife of F. Luhrs, a son.
MARVIN—In this city, November 2d, to the wife of Charles Marvin, a son.
MACKAY—In this city, to the wife of Frank A. Mackert, twin sons.
SHEBLE—In this city, October 8th, to the wife of J. H. Sheble, a son.
THAL—In this city, October 27th, to the wife of Mark Thal, a daughter.
WAGNER—In this city, November 2d, to the wife of Edward L. Wagner, a daughter.

ALTAR.

BEAVER-WILSON—In this city, November 3d, Henry Beaver to Marion S. Wilson.
CROWLEY-DORAN—In this city, October 28th, Wm. J. Crowley to Hannah M. Doran.
GABRIEL-MCGINNISS—In this city, August Gabriel to Mary McGinniss.
HINZ-ILSE—In this city, November 1st, William Hinz to Julia Ilse.
JOHNSON-KELLEY—In this city, November 2d, John Johnson to Mary E. Kelley.
LOGAN-CROSS—In Santa Barbara, October 11th, John Logan to Ellen M. Cross.
LEOPOLD-MARKUART—In this city, November 1st, H. C. Leopold to Julia Markuart.
MAYER-HEINEBERG—In this city, November 2d, Dawson Mayer to Lena Heineberg.
SEVERANCE-CRITTENDEN—In this city, November 1st, M. Severance to A. Critteuden.

TOMB

BOYD—In this city, November 1st, Catherine Boyd, aged 45 years.
BATTURS—In this city, November 1st, Hannah J. Batturs, aged 36 years.
BENSON—In this city, November 4th, James Benson, aged 60 years.
CLINE—In this city, October 30th, Henry Cline, aged 54 years and 4 months.
DOUGHERTY—In this city, November 3d, Michael F. Dougherty, aged 8 months.
HORRIGAN—In this city, November 2d, Helena Horrigan, aged 24 years.
HARRIS—In this city, November 3d, Sarah Harris.
MCCABE—In this city, November 1st, Thomas McCabé, aged 33 years.
MULVANY—In this city, November 2d, Catherine Mulvany, aged 44 years.
JOYCE—In this city, October 30th, Mrs. M. Joyce, aged 45 years.
PETERSON—In this city, October 29th, Christopher L. Petersou, aged 38 years.
REID—In this city, November 4th, B. H. Reid, aged 75 years.
WORTH—In this city, October 31st, Mrs. George F. Worth, aged 66 years.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF KISSING.

For words, always unsafe in women's mouths, kissing was subsstituted for the concealment of their thoughts. In its prime, the music of kissing can only he compared to many things more or less enchanting and romantic. The chief thing in kissing appears to he to hang on as long as possihle, and drop each other with a crash. A sigh like a whirlwind, thrown in at the end, is a proof of appreciation, and the signal for an encore. The fondness for kissing is attributahle to the ladies' taste for fooling around the ends of the young men's mustaches, and to the young men's amhition to have the growth of their mustaches so encouraged; the application of a red-haired girl to the heardless lips of a hackward youth has a stimulating effect equal to that of a hot-house; danger only lurking in their too frequent repetitiou. Kissing comes as natural to a girl as a cunning fly to a hald head. A man slides as awkwardly into his first kiss as into his elder hrother's tail-coat, and his vanity is equally great on hoth occasions. He considers them as steps up the ladder of life, and would have his promotions proclaimed from the housetops, and shouted from the church steeples, hut such is his modesty in his family circle, that when a younger hrother quietly mentions them, he looks red and feels unfraternal.

Thc female sex ohtain their remarkahle proficiency in kissing hy perpetual study and constant practice. They are early distinguished for their aptitude in the art, for what girl is not ready to kiss a haby at all hours and all seasons? This sort of kiss gradually develops into the embryo kiss affected hy school-girls and female companions, and finally into the kiss of regular lovers—intense, passionate, and very nice to contemplate upon a starlit night. "Oft in the stilly night" may the sound he heard, and when sounding out from the end of thc passage it may safely he concluded that the door will presently hang and footsteps he heard retreating: and that Jenny will appear with her collar ruffled, and cigar ash upon her shoulder. One thing he careful of, as you value your reputation for respectahility: don't kiss a girl in the dark, unless you can depend upon the spot where the pins protrude; a sudden jah with one of these will spoil the hest-intentioned kiss ever hestowed on a pretty girl.

CONCENTRATED FOOD FOR HORSES.

It is known that the Russian and Prussian Governments have adopted a kind of biscuit food for horses, containing much nutritive matter in small volume. According to La Nature, the biscuits are formed of the meal of oats, peas, and linseed. The various combinations have heen studied with care, and a mixture has heen ohtained such that one kilogramme of it is equivalent to five kilogrammes of oats. It has heen found that horses hear fatigue hetter and are more vigorous when fed with these biscuits than when fed with oats. The biscuits can he threaded together hy means of an iron wire; thus a horse may carry its own food for four of five days. During the late war with Turkey, Russia used 20,000,000 of these biscuits, and the results were so good that the authorities have continued their use in time of peace. In France, it is stated, feeding horses with such biscuits would he a little more expensive than feeding with oats. When, however, they have become more common, there are various instances in which, on account of their easy transport, it will he advantageous to use them—wherever, in general, animal strength has to he employed at a distance and it is undesirahle to carry provisions of large volume.

A rather amusing incident was witnessed in the Scarhorough Aquarium, Eug.; the other day. It appears that the keeper, while engaged in cleaning out the tank occupied hy the octopodes, was suddenly seized hy the leg hy the largest of the octopodes, which fastened four of its tentacles round the leg of the sea-hoot he was wearing, and with the other four held firmly to the rocks forming the hack of the tank. A struggle took place, during which the man found he cauld not disengage himself without killing the animal, and finally hit upon the expedient of slipping his leg out, leaving the hoot in the water and heating a retreat. The hungry octopus stuck to the hoot twenty minutes before it relinquished its hold.

That most fortunate of journals, the London Graphic, lately declared a dividend of 100 per cent.

MAKING BOTH ENDS MEET.

The poet, driven almost mad,
To write both grave and gay,
Gave last week something "very sad,"
So now he shifts the lay:

The baby rolls upon the floor,
Kicks up his tiny feet,
And pokes his toes into his mouth—
Thus making both ends meet.

The dog, attached to a tin pail,
Goes howling down the street;
And, as he madly bites his tail,
He makes both ends meet.

The butcher slays the incisive pig,
Cuts off his ears and feet,
And grinds them in a sausage li;—
Thus making both ends meat.

The farmer coops his skinny hone,
And feeds them with choice wheat,
Tho means must justify the ends,
And so he makes them eat.

—Public Opinion.

FLASHES OF FOREIGN FUN.

Scene at the Zoo.—Angelina: "Edwin, my love, look at this most interesting creature, the ant-eater." Edwin: "Ant-eater, my love; it would he more interesting to me if it were a mother-in-law eater." [The hump on Edwin's head is getting slowly hetter, hut Angelina's parasol is hopelessly deranged.]

"Bear and forbear," said Bruin, as he ate up his brother.

The saying, "Excuse haste and a had pen," has heen attrihuted to a pig who ran away from home.

Mate-rial Fact.—The Hiudoo widow is the only one that cremates. The others remate.

The "Detroit Tribune" says that a resident of that city, who lives on a fashionahle thoroughfare, observed a man he did not care to see coming toward his door, and hurriedly told Bridget to tell the person he was not at home. "All right, sir," said Bridget, as she made haste to answer the door-hell. "Is Mr. —— at home?" inquired the caller. "Faith an' he's gone out," responded the obedient servant. "When will he he at home?" asked the man at the door. "Hould on a minit," put in Bridget, "an' I'll ax him!"

No Offense Meant.—Scene in an eating-house. Customer: "Do you call that a veal cutlet, waiter? Why, it's an insult to every true calf in the country!" Waiter: "I didn't mean to insult you, sir!"

SUPT.'S OFFICE, LEVIATHAN M. Co., Gold Hill (Nev.) Oct. 30.

F. E. Luty, Secretary—DEAR SIR: Since I last wrote you, the east crosscut in the south drift has heen driven twenty-six feet—the most of the way through clay, porphyry, and occasional streaks of quartz. We are yet in the foot-wall of the ledge. At noon to-day there was every indication that the ledge was close, judging from the face of crosscut, which contained quartz, and ore streaks that looked quite encouraging.

Respectfully yours, JNO. MCMAHON, Supt.

At high-toned Church Fairs, nowadays, the ladies of the congregation invariahly reserve a tahle for the Board of Brokers. Now, the question arises, is this to save the general puhlic from contamination hy contact with a stockhroker, or is it the other way—which?

Artistic Novelties, manufactured from California quartz, at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

City and County of San Francisco, September 9, 1879.
Redemption of San Francisco Bonds,
ISSUE OF 1858.

Holders of Bonds of the City and County of San Francisco, issued under "An Act to provide for the Funding and Payment of the outstanding Unfunded Claims against the City of San Francisco, and against the County of San Francisco, as they existed prior to the first day of July, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six," approved April 29, 1858, are hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the above named Bonds will receive sealed proposals for the surrender of any portion thereof, at the City and County Treasurer's office, New City Hall, San Francisco, until 12 o'clock noon,

Wednesday, December 31st, 1879.

The amount to be applied to the Redemption of these Bonds is more or less, One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Dollars ($180,000).

Bidders will state at what rate they will surrender their Bonds, for payment in United States gold coin.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent. of the Bonds offered, or their equivalent in coin, or certified checks, and should the Bonds tendered uot be presented within ten days after the award, the next lowest bid will be accepted.

No proposal above par will be entertained.

Proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for surrender of Bonds, issue of 1858."

A. J. BRYANT, Mayor,
COLIN M. BOYD, Auditor,
CHAS. HUBERT, Treasurer,
Commissioners of the Funded Debt.

Sept. 13.

$25 to $5000 Judiciously invested in Wall St. lays the foundation for fortunes every week, and pays immense profits by the New Capitalization System of operating in Stocks. Full explanation on application to ADAMS, BROWN & Co., Bankers, 28 Broad St., N. Y.

CALIFORNIA SUGAR REFINERY,

Manufacturers of the Standard Syrup, a superior article put up in harrels expressly for home consumption. Also, Extra Heavy Syrup in barrels for Export. Refined Sugars at lowest market rates. Office, 215 Front street, up stairs. Dec. 21.

BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OF CAL.

Attendance, daily, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., by the under-signed, to receive subscriptions and donations, and to furnish all information relating to the Society. J. P. MCCURRIE, Secretary,
Oct. 23. 730 Montgomery street.

CUMBERLAND MINE,

Yavapai County, Arizona. Office: No. 417 California st., San Francisco, California. President, GEORGE M. CIPRICO. Secretary, J. H. GRIFFITHS. Office Hours: 2 P.M. daily. Oct. 11.

$777 a year and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address, June 7.] P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

CAN THEY UNITE?

Governor Irwin has just made an appointment that means something. Wm. H. White, the Workingmen's candidate for Governor, has been appointed Bank Commissioner, vice James T. Murphy resigned. He has no special qualifications for the office. Recently he posed before the people as a plain, blunt farmer, with hay-seed in his hair as evidence that he did his own harvesting. He was a workingman in the literal acceptation of the term. If he was anything more than that, the fact did not come out during the recent canvas. If he is skilled in finances, or is even a fair accountant, we have yet to learn the fact. The evidences rather go to show that he is a blunderer in money matters, and not very reliable at figures. The best information we can procure would seem to indicate that, as a Bank Commissioner, he is a round peg in a square hole. But then the question of his capacity was probably never taken into account. He was obviously appointed for another and totally different reason. The necessity of the Democratic party in this State is a union with the Workingmen. Without that, it seems utterly hopeless for them to enter the next Presidential campaign. With it, their chances of success are excellent. The vote of the two parties at the recent election, when added together, exceeded that of the Republicans by twenty-four thousand. In their happy union, then, is involved the electoral vote of California. Can they unite? Governor Irwin evidently thinks they can, and believes that appointing to office prominent men in the Workingmen's party is the way to accomplish the much-desired end. It would seem but natural to suppose that some understanding had been reached between Irwin and White prior to the latter's appointment. Yet we confess that we doubt whether Denis Kearney or Clitus Barbour can be drawn, under any circumstance, into such an arrangement. They were, originally, both pronounced Republicans, and we are well assured that they remain so still. If it had not been for them and their machinations, the majority of the Congressional delegation from this State would have been Democratic. They preferred that their own party should be defeated, rather than that it should secure a victory, which, in a certain contingency, might benefit the National Democratic Party. If their feelings were so strong then, it is difficult to see how they can be changed since. Then Kalloch, the new Mayor, is an old time Republican. His influence with the Workingmen is likely to increase with his assumption of office, and it is impossible to conceive of his using that influence in favor of a union with the old Democratic Party. Yet even stranger things than that have happened. At this moment he stands indebted to Catholic Democrats, whom he has abused all his life, for his election to the high office of Mayor of San Francisco. Why, then, should he not hury his ancient prejudices? There is every reason why he should, but our experience of life is that parsons are about the last men to abandon either tbeir likes or dislikes. There is one strong reason why the Workingmen should, from their standpoint, prefer the success of the Democrats to that of the Republicans. It is, that the Democratic Party passed tbe Chinese Exclusion Bill through Congress, whilst a majority of the Republicans opposed it, and caused it to be vetoed by a Republican President. If Denis Kearney were logical in his methode, or always took the course best calculated to serve the ends he professee to have in view, he would hail with satiefaction the proposed alliance. But harmony and success have not hitherto been the ends he eought. He preferred to nuree his grievances to keep them warm. He desired a separate party in order that he might own it, and give it his name. He loved agitation, if he might he the agitator. This ie why men who eympathized with him in some matters kept aloof from his agitations. The fact is patent that the Democrats have got to make their peace with his party in some way. If they can succeed in doing it, the political outlook in thie State will be very mucb changed.

REPUDIATION.

The election that has just come off in "old Virginy" took place upon a most deplorable issue, and with a most unfortunate result. It was nothing less than that the State ehould repudiate the bulk of its debt. The repudiators chose to designate themselves "Readjusters," and under that euphonious title proposed to refuse to pay their just obligatione. The telegrams inform us that they were only too successful. They elected twenty-five out of the forty Senators, and fifty-eight out of the one hundred delegates, securing a majority in both branches of the Legislature. It is etated that they will surely carry out their programme, which is to repudiate $30,000,000, or about three-fourths of the bonded debt of the State. This is a regretable result that sadly disgraces Virginia, and is calculated to injuriously effect the credit of the whole country. The nation's creditors abrcad may well he excused if they experience an uneasy feeling upon receipt of the news that an old and conservative State has voted to repudiate her just obligations. They will be liable to argue that what has happened in Virginia ie possible all over the country. They will reflect that the Soutbern States did not incur our national debt, and have no eympathy with the objects for which it was incurred, and will gladly join any dishonest States in the North or West that may be willing to repudiate it. They are not in a position to comprehend how thoroughly determined the great mass of our people are to liquidate their national obligations to the last cent. They will take the worst view of things, and the election in Virginia is justification for taking a very ugly view. It is fortunate that this blow at our credit was not struck when we were less able to resist it. The national credit now stands exceptionally high, and with good reason. The nation's debt is being reduced at a marvelously rapid rate. The country is prosperous, and well able to maintain the present rate of taxation. Population is increasing, and posterity will he strong to bear the reduced burthen that will be handed down to it. With the good example that has been set, ever since the war, they will not fail to honor all proper obligatione. The bonds of the United States are now, and ever will he, good for their face value. But we ought not to have any repudiating States for all that. It is, perhaps, a pity that the general Government has not a veto power over the repudiating acts of individual States. Repudiation is a humiliating charge to have truthfully brought against any part of our common country. It is an honor to California that she assumed full responsibility for a debt she was not legally bound to pay. Honesty is the hest policy for States as well as for pereons. Virginia, "the mother of Presidents," has disgraced herself.

Miss Rachel Sherman, the youngest daughter of the General, is to make her first formal appearance in Washington society during the coming winter. The youngeet Miss Evarts, it is announced, is aleo about to be introduced.—Washington Gazette.

TO DOCTOR EMELIE LAWSON.

[Specially conveyed for this occasion.]

How strange that medicine and art
To one Parnassian should helong,
Who can with equal grace prepare
A soothing mixture and a song.

THE ELECTIONS.

A great deal too much is being claimed in regard to the elections East. To use the catch phrase of the politicians, it is said that there bas been a Republican tidal wave. The returns, truly read, indicate nothing of the kind. They show that the two great parties stand pretty much where they did during the Presidential contest of 1876. It is idle for the Republicans to boast of having carried Ohio, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska. They carried all those States at the last election, and to carry them again is only to show that they still hold their own in places in which their strength was never in douht. As well might the Democrats hoast of having carried Mississippi, Maryland and Virginia. The truth is, the results are pretty much in accordance with public anticipation. They do not substantially change the political outlook. Each party has held what it had previously secured, and that is all there is to it. The real interest centered around the contest in the great State of New York. If it could have been wrested from the Democracy by the Republicans, then, indeed, might it be said that the Presidential campaign of next year was a foregone conclusion. If the thirty-five electoral votes of New York were to be lost to the Democracy, the defeat would be disastrous. But the election just held indicates nothing surer than that the Empire State will go in eighteen hundred and eighty as it went in eighteen hundred and seventy-six. The defeat of Robinson means nothing more than that Tammany has the power to defeat any uomiuee of its party that may be objectionable to it. It is very certain that whoever may he the regular nominee for the Presidency, Tammany will fall into line and support him, and that a united Democracy will carry New York. That fact can hardly be said to have been in douht at any time, and, if it were, the result of the election just held settles it beyond question. To that extent the contest just concluded is a gain to the Democrats, for it is a gain to have that conclusivcly determined which was previously claimed to be in doubt. It suits certain of the dailies to mystify their readers as to the effect of what has taken place. We like the truth to be told, without regard to consequences, and therefore it is that we refer to this subject. We are not advocating the interest of either party, but merely desire to set out the truth as it is. Looking at the evenly halanced strength of the two political parties as it was exhihited at the last Presidential election, it is a matter that interests us all to know if any changes have taken place that indicate a different result next time. No such changes are visible in the electione just held; on the contrary, each political party is precisely where it was before. If contests had taken place in Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida, the results would bave been much more interesting. Those States were the battle-grounds last time, and are likely to he so again. With the local governments in the hands of the Democracy, the best informed opinion seems to be that those States will go Democratic. In that event, it looks as if nothing but some great blunder could prevent the Democracy from electing the next President. But, then, acute politicians say that they can be depended upon to make just that kind of blunder. We shall see.

IS GENERAL GRANT BECOMING INSANE?

Rumors are afloat that General Grant shows signs of a malady that is hereditary in his family. It is said that hie father, Jesse Grant, was afflicted with softening of the brain before he was fifty years of age, and that during the last years of his life was little more than an imbecile. Orville Graut, whose eccentric conduct iu California only last year, will be remembered, has since been an inmate in the New Jersey Insane Asylum. It is also said that one of the General's sisters has been afflicted the same way. Many people, who have met General Grant since his arrival in San Francisco, have uoticed an occasional wild, strange look in his eye. Often when conversing with gentlemen, and even with old friends, he has stopped short in the middle of a sentence and hesitated, sometimee for a full moment, hefore completing it. At San Jose he was introduced to a number of soldiers who fought with him at Fort Donalson. Instead of greeting them cordially, he turned half round, and simply stared at them over his shoulder, and never said a word. Again, at Stockton and at Maderia he was presented to a number of his old comrades in the Mexican war, but the General treated them in the coolest manner, and in a way that left the impression on every one present that he wae displeased at meetiug them. These, and many other instances of his peculiar couduct, go to show that it is a sad probahility that his mind is commencing to weaken. While in the Presidential chair, Gen. Grant was noted for his affable greetings to all his visitors, and on no other hypothesis can the great change in his manners be placed, than that there is something wrong in his mental faculties. Perhaps the great strain on him, for the fifteen ycars of his eminent, public career, has had something to do with the change in him that is now so painfully observable. Another evidence of his appoaching affliction is the unevenness of his conversations. At times he will talk with fluency and ease, and then in a few minutes relapse into an attitude of perfect silence, and only answer questions by a "Yes," or a "No." We most sincerely hope that the great calamity of "a mind o'erthrown" may never be visited upon the illustrious General and statesman whom San Francisco and all the world has delighted to honor. It would be a national affliction, were he to become incapacitated for future usefulness.

The revenue of France for the first eight months of the year amounts to 1,398,667,000 francs, or 46,600,000 francs above the corresponding period of last year. Twenty-two millions of the increase is due to registration and other legal fees, eight to intoxicating liquors, two to tohacco, eleven to Custome, aud fourteen to direct taxes, while there is a decrease of eleven millions on sugar and two on railway duty, hut the last ie owing to a reduction.

Birth.—At Gold Hill, Nevada, on the 3d inet., the wife of the Hon. John P. Jones, of a daughter.

THE TOWN CRIER.

"Hear the Crier!" "What the devil art thou?
"One that will play the devil, sir, with you."

"He'd a string in his tail as long as a flail,
Which made him grow bolder and bolder."

Although it is universally understood that the sole object of our favorite [illegible]n, Charley Bishop, in graduating in medicine this week, was to satisfy [illegible]ttable desire to dissect the body of Bill Mestayer when he dies, still he [illegible] be congratulated on his new honors, which should be very profitable [illegible]o him. On dit, that he will not entirely forsake the fields of fun for the [illegible]ds of medicine, but occasionally play star engagements when the [illegible]les are out of town, or the city is unusually free from disease. In the [illegible]ture, therefore, we may expect to pick up a play bill now and then, announcing: "Timothy Spriggles (his great character), Dr. C. B. Bishop, [illegible]rowing nails and tumors a specialty; office, 210 Kearny. Consultations free from 12 to 1 P.M.—or Plantagenet Potter (a rich city cad), as played by him with enormous success, Dr. Charles Bishop. [Try Bishop's [illegible]lm, a sure cure for freckles; all the ladies use it. I guarantee to cure the worst cases of pulmonary consumption in three weeks. Call and see my new patent rubber lungs, etc., etc."] It might be a little awkward if he was called in to attend a case of infantile convulsions without having time to change a red wig and a pair of green pants, although nobody ever really minds the external appearance of a physician, as an inspection of the garb of some of our best local medicos will testify any day.

Mr. Henry Edgerton is the champion talker of the Pacific Coast, and the people of California can do no less than present him with a grizzly bear inside out, or a model of the Cliff House sea-lion, Ben Butler, with his left-hand flipper delicately applied to his sagacious nose. Only the one or the other could fitly reward the burning eloquence of this inspired son of the gigantic West, who greeted General Grant, on his arrival at Sacramento, in the following impassioned words, poured from his silvery tongue, while one manly foot pressed the murmuring Unabridged Dictionary and the other, sublimely searching, extended a heroic defiance to the horizon in general: "California, her great heart ever bowed in tender reverence of its statesmen and warriors dead, always delights to exalt its heroes living." Gymnastic California! with bowed heart and jolly boisting of heroes. Happy Edgerton! happier Grant! happiest all the rest of us, who see the near end of all this twaddle.

And now comes the reliable and undisputed fact that General Grant once had an interest in a billiard saloon. This awful revelation having been duly made, and its truth established, we need have no fear in offering to the public the following information about the great hero, which we have religiously concealed for nineteen years. In 1855 Ulysses S. Grant had a fifth interest in a rat-pit on Stockton street, and was the real owner of the celebrated bulldog, Billy Swipes, who killed 200 rats against time for $500, and won. It is also whispered that he was the inventor of the patent silver cold-deck faro lay-out, which has since become so popular in this city, although, as to whether he was ever really a whipper for the late Ike Brokaw, is merely a matter of conjecture; under these circumstances, he should receive a large Democratic vote in 1880, if he consents to run for President for the third term.

The horrors of capital punishment promise soon to be done away with. A new scheme will shortly be presented to the Legislature, which will doubtless meet with favor as soon as it is known. The condemned criminal will be brought into court and sentenced somewhat as follows: "John Doe, you have been found guilty of murder in the first degree by the jury of your peers, and I cannot but approve of their verdict. Your crime was deliberate and cold-blooded. I therefore sentence you to be taken from the prison where you will be confined, on Wednesday, the 4th day of February next, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 1 P. M., and there he sent up in a balloon until you are dead." The odds are very strongly in favor of the remains of the condemned either never being found, or at least coming down in a lump in some other State, which will be a great saving to this city and county.

We should like to suggest to the gentlemen who write with ease, in and out of the NEWS LETTER, that the word prototype is occasionally put to uncommonly hard duty by them. It is a good word and looks well in print, but it really means something, odd as it may seem, and does not mean what the ready writer would like it to. While it is a mere matter of opinion whether Cæsar was the prototype of Napoleon, it is a clear case that Napolean cannot by any possibility be called the prototype of Cæsar; yet this latter is the accepted usage of this fine word among the budding geniuses of the press. All their successors, gone before them, have so written, and all their ancestors, who come after them, will continue so to write, let who will protest.

An application has been made to the Park Commissioners to construct an archery ground in some sheltered spot in the Park, for the use of young ladies and gentlemen. The idea is an excellent one, and should be seized upon and developed. This is a Republican country, and class distinctions are odious. Baseball, croquet, football and other games are healthful and various; and so are cock-fighting, bear-baiting, rat-killing matches and prig-fights. The manly art of self-defence develops the muscles and softens the manners, if not the face. There should be a boxing-room and a gymnastic school for the use of all. Ten-pin alleys afford good entertainment for man and beast; let us have a few, and anything else to make us comfortable.

Our tears are due to fallen greatness. Mr. Paraf, inventor of the famous bull butter, has come to grief a second time in Chili, and has been sentenced, as a swindler, to five years' penal servitude at Valdivia. This is the mere irony of fate, that a man, whose very name suggests an improvement in candles, should slip up on the threshold of fortune, and all for want of a little grease in the right place. But, after all, five years will soon pass away, and the great alchemist will have leisure to study in his retirement, and burst upon us some fine day with a matured scheme for extracting sugar from the honeyed eloquence of our courts, or manna from the droppings of the sanctuary. Par value of shares, one hundred dollars, half payable on subscription.

Some disgruntled people are calling for business men to settle the business of the Carnival. Seeing that they were business men, who didn't make any sensible arrangement for the accommodation of the public who went to the Carnival, this call may be considered sarcastic.

A distinguished divine, whose church building is not far from Union Square, was visited on Tuesday of this week by a respectable-looking man, of quiet and serious demeanor, who briefly stated his case as follows: "I have a cousin, sir, an amiable young gentleman, of excellent abilities and regular conduct, who is now studying for the ministry. His friends have great hopes of his future; but, unfortunately, sir, he squints. He has been advised to have an operation performed upon his eyes, but is somewhat fearful of the consequences; and, understanding that you had been successfully treated for a remarkable obliquity of vision, I have ventured to call upon you for counsel with regard to my cousin's affliction." The reverend gentleman expressed his opinion of the cousin and the cousin's eyes with emphasis and warmth, and the visitor forgot to thank him in the hurry of leave-taking.

The N. Y. Commercial Advertiser doubts whether French cookery really deserves the renown it has, and justly reproaches the land of Soyer with its ignorance of the "sweet simplicities" of buttered toast, rolls, and the gentle host of muffins and crumpets. Alas! yes, these things the Frenchman does not know; neither has he greeted with passionate longing the sweet molasses and the buckwheat cake rejoicing in butter, the melancholy brown bread of Boston and the holy pork and beans. He is benighted, he is but a Gaul, unworthy of johnny-cake and doughnuts and maple-sugar. Leave him to his poor old Paris, and his frogs. Thank Heaven! Dyspepsia and hot cakes are all our own. Saleratus and the Star-Spangled Banner forever!

Last Sunday's "Call" has a letter from a "Friend in Europe," who renews his subscription, with sweet remarks to this effect: "In fact, the advertisements in a paper like the Call furnish a marvelous amount of intelligence to the San Franciscan who is sojourning in Europe." Who can this poor devil be? We have seen some full-grown fools in San Francisco, but the human mind is simply unable to conceive of a being to whom the Call could furnish a marvelous amount of intelligence. No head could be at once small enough and empty enough for this.

The Masons have been holding a clam-bake in Rhode Island, and realized $1,700 for their charitable fund. Their Carnival was in one sense a farewell to flesh and a welcome to the luscious bivalve. Each brother made a Grand Arch of his mouth, and received his most worthy clam with royal honors. The mollusks were all "free and accepted," and were swallowed with the thirsty third degree of satisfaction. The whisky was not of the Scottish rite, but it was all right, and the feast was set on a level and gauged squarely. This item compasses a good many ideas. So mote it be!

There is more wisdom running loose around the newspaper offices of this town than would suffice to look through a mountain of millstones. "If the Czar," says one sage, "would only rule in accord with the will of the Russian people, he would be much more powerful than he is." Ah! just so; why don't he do it? The fact is, that the Russian people ungenerously confide their inmost desires only to the powerful San Francisco journalist, and the poor old Czar is left to blunder along in the dark. It would be a charity to send him the paper for a year, free.

The "Courier-Journal," while professing to accept the results of the war, and to be guided by a liberal spirit, still lends its support to the most contemptible form of race prejudice. Speaking of General Grant's intended journey to Louisville, it says: "Not a man, woman, child or dog in Kentucky who will not be glad to see him." The apparent heartiness of this sentence but ill conceals the studied exclusion of the mules and jackasses, which form so large and so respectable a body in Kentucky.

At Galesburg, Illinois, General Grant was struck on the side of the head by an egg, flung at him by some miscreant in the crowd. Jno. B. Colton promptly offered one hundred dollars for the arrest of the ruffian. This manly and patriotic step has had no effect whatever on Mr. Colton's business; but our pleasure at this result is marred by the reflection that the egg was entirely wasted, which seems too bad.

The report of the post mortem examination of Joseph E. Bowman's body shows that the cause of death was not, as erroneously reported at first, the intrusion of a pistol bullet into his brain, but the "shattering of his marital hopes." This is a solemn warning to all, including reporters, and it makes one shudder to think how many new and strange forms this disease of suicide is constantly assuming.

A young lady of this city refused to marry a gentleman this week to whom she was engaged on the puerile grounds that he was a divorced man, had beaten his first wife with a club, shot at her with a revolver, tried to poison her, and run after her with a carving-knife. Really, our girls here are getting so particular that if this thing goes on there won't be one wedding a week in the entire community by-and-by.

The Hastings Debating Society has just rendered a decision that the Press has exerted a greater influence upon civilization than the Pulpit, each with a capital P, and is now engaged in wrestling with the question whether the H. D. S. itself is more firmly held together by clap-trap, or by common-place. The community is standing on tip-toe, breathless with expectation.

The License Collector threw the New City Hall officials into a state of painful excitement by appearing on Thursday with a swollen foot and limping painfully. The suspense was removed on the announcement that it was merely pedal podagra, so to speak, and that the best physicians were bringing all their medical gattling guns into play to dislodge his old enemy.

That special message of Grant to the people of the United States is what we can't digest. We don't care about the message, whether it means battle and murder and sudden death, or fine prospects and everlasting glory; but we split with envy at the thought that all our toadying could not put us ahead of Chicago in the General's mind.

Chicago is losing its proud position. A bank president in that city has been indicted for crookedness, and one week has past by without ten applications for divorce. It will soon be no place for a man of spirit.

The election recount for the position of County Clerk having been abandoned, after the incurring of considerable expense, a sharp advance in corsets may be expected at any moment.

Mr. Pickering, in his remarks on the Carnival, says: "Very few readers remember that Cervantes wrote Don Quixote." He should have said: "Very few readers of my two papers."

Mr. Pickering calls him who wrote "Laughter holding both his sides," a comic poet. It is not the poet who is comic this time.

C. P. R. R.

Overland Ticket Office: Ferry Landing, foot of Market street.--Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879, and until further notice, Boats will leave SAN FRANCISCO:

7.00 A. M. (daily), Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing — Connecting with Trains for Napa (Stages for Sonoma), Calistoga (the Geysers), and Sacramento. Connecting at Davis (Sundays excepted) for Woodland and Knight's Landing, and at Woodland for Williams and Willows.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:10 P.M.)

7.00 A.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) and via Livermore arriving at Tracy at 11:30 A. M. and connecting with Atlantic Express. Connects at Niles with Train arriving at San Jose at 10:15 A.M.
(Returning, train from Tracy arrives at 6:05 P.M.)

8.00 A.M. (daily), Atlantic Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland (Or.), Colfax, Reno (Virginia City), Palisade (Eureka), Ogden and Omaha. Connects at Galt with train arriving at Ione at 3:40 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 5:15 P.M.)

Sunday Excursion Tickets to San Pablo and Martinez at Reduced Rates.

10.00 A.M. (daily) via Oakland Ferry, Local Passenger Train to Haywards and Niles.
(Arrive San Francisco 4:05 P.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) San Jose Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry and Niles), stopping at all Way Stations. Arrives at San Jose at 5:20 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) Northern Railway Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to San Pablo, Martinez and Antioch.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily) Arizona Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Lathrop (and Stockton), Merced, Madera, Visalia, Sumner, Mojave, Newhall (San Buenaventura, and Santa Barbara), Los Angeles, "Santa Monica," Wilmington, Santa Ana (San Diego), Colton and Yuma (Colorado River Steamers), connecting direct with Daily Trains of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Arizona for Maricopa (Daily Stages for Phœnix and Prescott), and for Casa Grande (132 miles east from Yuma), and end of Track (Daily Stages for Florence and Tucson).

"Sleeping Cars" between Oakland, Los Angeles and Yuma.
(Arrive San Francisco 12:35 P.M.)

4.00 P. M. (Sundays excepted) Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing), connecting with trains for Calistoga, (the Geysers), Woodland, Knight's Landing and Sacramento; and at Sacramento with Passenger Train, leaving at 9:35 P.M. for Truckee, Reno, Carson and Virginia.
"Sleeping Cars" between Vallejo and Carson.
(Arrive San Francisco 11:10 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (Sundays excepted) Sacramento Steamer (from Wash'n St. Wharf), for Benicia and Landings on the Sacramento River.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:00 P.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily), Through Third Class and Accommodation Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) connecting at Lathrop with Train arriving at Los Angeles on second day at 11:55 A.M. (Arrive San Francisco 9:05 A.M.

4.30 P.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to Haywards, Niles and Livermore. (Arrive San Francisco 8:35 A.M.)

5.00 P.M. (daily) Overland Emigrant Train (via Oakland Ferry and Northern Railway) to Ogden, Omaha and East.

Public conveyance for Mills Seminary connects at Seminary Park Station with all trains, Sundays excepted.

FERRIES AND LOCAL TRAINS

From "SAN FRANCISCO." Daily.

TO OAKLAND.		TO ALAMEDA.	TO FERNSIDE.	TO EAST OAKLAND.	TO NILES.	TO BERKELEY	TO DELAWARE STREET.
A. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.
B 6.10	12.30	7.00	B7.00	B 6.10	7.00	7.30	B 6.10
7.00	1.00	8.00	B9.00	7.30	10.00	8.30	8.00
7.30	1.30	9.00	B10.00	8.30	P. M.	9.30	10.00
8.00	2.00	10.00	P. M.	9.30	3.00	10.30	12.00
8.30	3.00	11.00	B5.00	10.30	4.30	11.30	P. M.
9.00	3.30	12.00	.....	11.30		P. M.	1.30
9.30	4.00	P. M.	.....	P. M.		1.00	3.30
10.00	4.30	1.30	.....	12.30		3.00	4.30
10.30	5.00	2.00	.....	1.00		4.00	5.30
11.00	5.30	*3.00	.....	3.30	TO SAN JOSE.	5.00	B 6.30
11.30	6.00	4.00	.....	4.30		6.00	.....
12.00	6.30	5.00	.....	5.30		B 6.30	.....
.....	7.00	6.00	.....	6.30
.....	8.10	B*7.00	.....	7.00
.....	9.20	B*8.10	.....	8.10	A. M.	Change Cars at West Oakland
.....	10.30	*1030	.....	9.20	7.00
.....	B11.45	B*1145	.....	10.30	P. M.
.....	.....	.....	.....	B11.45	3.00

To "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

FROM DELAWARE STREET.	FROM BERKELEY.	FROM NILES	FROM EAST OAKLAND.	FROM FERNSIDE.	FROM ALAMEDA.	FROM OAKLAND. (Broadway.)
A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	P. M.
B 5.40	B 5.40	7.00	B 5.10	B8.00	B*5.00	B 5.20	12.20
B 6.30	B 6.30	8.00	B 5.50	B10.00	B*5.40	B 6.00	12 50
8.00	7.30	P. M.	6.40	B11.00	*6.25	6.50	1.20
10.00	8.30	2.35	7.40	P. M.	7.00	7.20	1.50
12.00	9.30	4.30	8.40	B6.00	8.03	7.50	2.50
P. M.	10.30	———	9.40	.....	9.00	8.25	3.20
1.30	11.30		10.40	.....	10.03	8.50	3.50
3.30	P. M.		11.40	.....	11.03	9.20	4.20
4.30	1.00	FROM SAN JOSE.	P. M.	.....	12,00	9.50	4.50
5.30	3.00		12.40	.....	P. M.	10.20	5.20
B 6.30	4.00		1.25	.....	1.00	10.50	5.50
.....	5.00		2.40	.....	3.00	11.20	6.25
.....	6.00		4.40	.....	*3.20	11.50	6.50
			5.40	.....	4.00	.....	8.00
		A. M.	6.40	.....	5.00	.....	9.10
Change Cars at West Oaklnd.		7.10	7.50	.....	6.03	.....	10.20
		P. M.	9.00	.....	B*7.20	.....	.....
		1.30	10.10	.....	B*8.30	.....	.....
		.....	.....	.....	*10.00	.....	.....

B—Sundays excepted.

*Alameda Passengers change cars at Oakland.

Creek Route.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO—Daily—B5:40, B6:30, 7.20, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15 A.M. 12:15, 1:15, 2:25, 3:15, 4:15, 5:15, 6.15 P.M.

FROM OAKLAND—Daily—B5:30, B6:20, 7:10, 8:05, 9:05, 10:05, 11:05 A. M. 12:05, 1:05, 2:15, 3:05, 4:05, 5:05, 6:05 P.M. —Sundays excepted.

"Official Schedule Time" furnished by RANDOLPH & Co., Jewelers, 101 and 103 Montgomery St., S. F.

T. H. GOODMAN, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt.
A. N. TOWNE, General Superintendent.

SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD

Commencing Monday, Sept. 15th, 1879, and until further notice. Boats and Trains will leave San Francisco (Washington-st. Wharf) as follows:

3.00 P. M. daily (Sundays excepted), Steamer "James M. Donahue" (Washington Street Wharf), connecting with Mail and Express Train at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg, Cloverdale, and way stations. Making stage connections at Lakeville for Sonoma; at Geyserville for Skaggs' Springs; at Cloverdale for Ukiah, Lakeport, Mendocino City, Highland Springs, Bartlett Springs, Soda Bay and the Geysers.
☞ Connections made at Fulton on following morning for Korbel's, Guerneville and the Redwoods.
(Arrive at San Francisco 10:30 A.M.)

Sunday Excursions at Reduced Rates.

8.15 A.M., Sundays only, via Donahue, for Cloverdale and Way Stations.
Fares for Round Trip: Donahue, $1; Petaluma, $1.50; Santa Rosa, $2; Fulton, $2.50; Windsor, $3; Healdsburg, $3; Litton's, $3.50; Geyserville, $3.50; Cloverdale, $4.50.
(Arrive at San Francisco 7:00 P.M.)

Freight received from 7 a.m. till 2.30 p. m., daily (except Sundays).
Ticket Office: Washington st. Wharf.

A. HUGHES, Gen. Manager. JAS. M. DONAHUE, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt.

ROEDERER CHAMPAGNE.

Notice.--The Trade and the Public are informed that we receive the genuine LOUIS ROEDERER CARTE BLANCAE CHAMPAGNE, direct from Mr. Louis Roederer, Reims, over his signature and Consular Invoice. Each case is marked upon the side, "Macondray & Co., San Francisco," and each bottle bears the label, "Macondray & Co., Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast."
MACONDRAY & CO.,
Oct. 11. Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Natural beauty surpasses anything which can be imparted by artificial means. PHOSPHATE SOAP gives health to the skin simply by removing impurities and eradicating the poisons which give rise to skin diseases.

Not only for daily use on the face and hands, but for bathing the entire body, there is nothing equal to PHOSPHATE SOAP. It is a thorough disinfectant and removes offensive odors of every kind.

☞ Ask your Druggist for it.

NORTHERN DIVISION SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Commencing Monday, April 21, 1879, and until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave San Francisco, from Passenger Depot on Townsend street, between Third and Fourth streets, as follows:

8.20 A.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations. ☞ Stages for Pescadero (via San Mateo) connect with this train only.

9.30 A.M (Sundays only) for San Jose and Way Stations. Returning, leaves San Jose at 6 P.M.

10.40 A.M. daily for San Jose, Gilroy, Hollister, Tres Pinos, Pajaro, Salinas, Soledad and all Way Stations. ☞ At PAJARO, the Santa Cruz R. R. connects with this train for Aptos, Soquel and Santa Cruz. ☞ At SALINAS the M. & S. V. R. R. connects with this train for Monterey. ☞ STAGE connections made with this train. (Pescadero Stages via San Mateo excepted.)

3.30 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose, Gilroy, Pajaro, Hollister, Tres Pinos and principal Way Stations.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The trains of the Santa Cruz R. R. and the M. & S. V. R. R., which have been connecting with this train on Saturdays at PAJARO and SALINAS respectively, have been withdrawn for the season. Those intending to visit Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz or Monterey, will take the train leaving San Francisco at 10:40 A.M. daily.

3.30 P.M. (Sundays only) for San Jose and Way Stations.

4.25 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose and Way Stations.

5.00 P. M. daily (Sundays excepted) for Menlo Park and Way Stations.

6.30 P.M.—daily, for Menlo Park and Way Stations.

Second-Class Fare.

Between San Francisco and San Jose.....$1.00.

On Freight Trains only, leaving San Francisco at 4:00 A.M., San Jose at 8:30 P.M. (daily, Sundays excepted).

Excursion Tickets at Reduced Rates

To San Jose and intermediate points sold on Saturdays, and Sunday mornings, good for return until following Monday inclusive.

Also, EXCURSION TICKETS to Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz and Monterey, sold on Saturdays only—good for return until the following Monday inclusive.

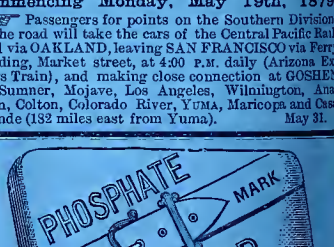
☞ Principal Ticket Office—Passenger Depot, Townsend street. Branch Ticket Office—No. 2 New Montgomery street, Palace Hotel.

A. C. BASSETT, Supt. H. R. JUDAH, A. P. &T. A.

SOUTHERN DIVISIONS.

Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879,

☞ Passengers for points on the Southern Divisions of the road will take the cars of the Central Pacific Railroad via OAKLAND, leaving SAN FRANCISCO via Ferry Landing, Market street, at 4:00 P.M. daily (Arizona Express Train), and making close connection at GOSHEN for Sumner, Mojave, Los Angeles, Wilmington, Anaheim, Colton, Colorado River, YUMA, Maricopa and Casa Grande (132 miles east from Yuma). May 31.



Ladies who have injured the skin by the constant use of cosmetics may do much to restore their faces to that beauty which nature alone can give by constantly using PHOSPHATE SOAP.

For chapped hands the constant use of PHOSPHATE SOAP will be recommended by all who give it one fair trial.

If you want a nice article of Toilet Soap and something that is beneficial to the skin, buy PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Ladies who wish to make the skin look beautiful and natural should use PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Manufactured by "Standard Soap Co.," 204 Sacramento St., San Francisco.

NOTABILIA.

THE PEDDLER'S SONG.

Lawn as white as driven snow;
Cypress black as e'er was crow;
Gloves as sweet as damask roses;
Masks for faces and for noses;
Bugle-bracelet, necklace, amber;
Perfume for a lady's chamber;
Gold quelps and stomachers,
For my lads to give their dears;
Pins and poking-sticks of steel,
What maids lack from head to heel:
Come buy of me, come; come buy, come buy,
Buy, lads, or else your lasses cry.

WILLIAM SHAKSPEARE.

According to recent correspondence from Japan, published in the Bulletin in this city, the American mechanics, engineers, lawyers, toothpicks and tobacco-plugs are infinitely preferred hy the shrewd Japanese to those of other countries. Nothing more distinctively mark the race and the degree of civilization than the hat; and now that the Japanese have frankly adopted Western principles of conduct and ideas of government and social life, they will, of course, adopt the symbolic hat of the West; and in the West they will choose the style and the artist that are acknowledged to be first. This is as it should he, and now that Herrmann, the Hatter, has brought out his gloriously illustrated catalogue, San Francisco has the proud satisfaction of possessing the most remarkahle artist in hats in the western world. 336 Kearny street.

One of the most cheering signs of the times is the inclination toward healthy sports and a greater care for the physical development. Naturally, when men begin to think of being strong, they find it necessary to clean themselves; and salt-water hathing, which strengthens while it purifies, is now indispensable. There is no such establishment for this as the Terrace Baths, Alameda, which are carefully enclosed and watched, so as to make them absolutely secure, and cleaned so scrupulously every day that there is no chance for any deposit. Those who have seen the rush of the ebb-tide when the gates are opened know that neither sand nor mud can resist it. Add to these advantages the regular washing of the bathing suits after each using, and it will be acknowledged that these balmy waters are not to be equaled.

"My child," said the Captain, "I'm not finding fault; no harm in putting your best foot foremost. I wish you'd do it a little more. At your age you ought to be thinking about getting married." There's very little doubt that the giddy young thing was thinking about it, much more seriously than the Captain—dull, as all men are—ever imagined; but she was troubled about her complexion. Madame Rachel's Enamel Bloom was recommended, and solved the problem. Perfectly harmless, made of the most delicate plants, and wholesome in its effects, it is indispensahle to every lady, as C. Langley & Co., Front and Pine streets, can testify.

The N. Y. Graphic has been making some attempts at computing how many persons in the world had $50, or its equivalent in cash, and finds that in two countries at least, there must he a great many. In France, in 1877, 2,863,283 depositors in banks had $153,800,000, and in English postoffice savings hanks the average to each depositor was over $200. This is a gratifying state of things, but it is far more satisfactory to find that no one who lunches or dines at Swain's, 213 Sutter street, ever feels the need of $50, so light, so buoyant, so full of energy and hope does he feel after one of those delicious, perfectly-cooked and elegant meals.

A little parcel, containing several braids of golden hair and an exquisitely designed locket of genuine Etruscan style, was found but a few days ago on the road to Alamo, and there is great wonder in the minds of all concerning these mementoes of an evidently fond affection. There was nothing in the parcel that could give a clue to the owuership; and one cannot hut reflect that a suffering heart might now be consoled if the locket had contained one of Bradley & Rulofson's inimitably perfect photographs of the owner.

Recent experiments hy English army engineers have demonstrated that guns which have chambers for the more perfect combustion of the powder do far more execution with a smaller charge than unchambered guns with a very heavy charge. This is a matter of great interest to military men; but all men, military or civil, are even more deeply interested in the magnificent neck-gear sold hy Carmany & Crosett, 25 Kearny street. Indning these in the seclusion of his own chamber, a man goes forth to do far greater execution than before.

A Texas newspaper expresses a wish that a few of the citizens of that State might be permitted to live till they died a natural death, so as to show the world what a magnificently healthy country Texas really is. Patriotism so genuine should have its wish; and if the Texans knew the virtues of the Gerke Wine and sent their orders to Landsberger, not a few of all of them would he sure of a longevity beyond compare. The Gerke wine is the one thing required to complete the charms of the Texas climate.

It is said that Don Carlos has been requested to leave France because he received and returned the courtesies of officers of the army; and some of these have been subjected to discipline, more or less severe, for their share in the business. This seems to be rather severe discipline on both sides, and yet things must be kept in order if they are to stay so. It is true that, in the case of Montanya's Union Rauge, there is no necessity of enforcing order at any time, for it works to perfection and does better than any other. The testimonials to this effect at Jackson street, below Battery, are amazing.

It is a sad reflection that every step in the onward march of civilization brings us face to face with some new disease, or some new form of an old and familiar malady. In this, as in every other condition of our existence, we find the law of Compensation incessantly at work. We attain to greater hights and wider scope only at the price of increased perils. But, if the dangers are augmented, so are the resources of science, and in this way Consumption, that scourge of modern life, has been met and vanquished by F. & P. J. Cassin's Cordial Balm of Old Rye Whisky and Pure Rock Candy.

It is a joy almost Anglo-Saxon and peculiar to sit by the side of a good coal fire, on a stormy winter's evening, and chat cosily with a friend while the kettle hums merrily, with delicious hints of coming tea, or perhaps even of a comforting night-cap. The pleasure is Anglo-Saxon, but the finest form of it is Anglo-American, when the fire is made of the glowing Red-Ash Coal, which burns away so perfectly, without lump or clinker. This, with every kind of Scotch, Eastern, Australian or other coal, constantly for sale by J. Macdonough, 25 Market street.

If there is one feature of our glorious climate more admirable than another, it is the moderation of the temperature, which enables even the delicate invalid to enjoy a salt-water bath at the Neptune and Mermaid, at the foot of Hyde street, North Beach, quite as much in December or January as in July. At these haths the water rolls in on the shelving beach, fresh from the Pacific, and the bathers have the advantage of Prof. Mohor's presence and instruction in swimming.

There is a wonderful agreement among the foreigners who have visited Japan as to the beauty of the scenery and the amiable character of the people; and it is not doubted that, if the country had a supply of the famous Napa Soda, it would be one of the most enchanting regions on the globe. Fortunately, the spring at Napa is inexhaustible, and even this want will soon be filled.

It should be the business of every one having a cold to treat it promptly and properly until it is gotten rid of—intelligent experience fortunately presenting a curative in Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, thoroughly adapted to remove speedily all Coughs and Colds—allay any exciting inflammation of the Throat or Lungs, and remove the distressing symptoms of Asthma or Pleurisy.

The shipments of wool from San Diego this autumn amount to 450,998 pounds; an advance on the production of last year, and one that suggests many reflections on the progress of California. Much of this increase is due to the growth of the demand for those matchless hats sold hy White, 614 Commercial street.

Tapestry Brussels, $1 per yard and upwards; fine new patterns. Call and see them. Window shades, 75 cents and upwards. Window lace, 12½ cents and upwards. Cornices, wall paper, etc. Oilcloths, 50 cents per yard and upwards. Hartshorn & McPhun, 112 Fourth st., near Mission.

Parents, do not use vile drugs or nostrums in your families, but use pure Hop Bitters. Read Advertisement.

AVERILL MIXED PAINT,

The Best, Most Durable and Beautiful of All Paints.

PREPARED READY FOR USE,

AND OF ANY SHADE OR COLOR DESIRED.

O. S. ORRICK, General Agent,
Sept. 27. 329 Market st., Opposite Front.

COKE CHEAPEST FUEL.

Reduction in Price: Wholesale Price, 50 cents per barrel; Retail Price, 60 cents per barrel, at the works of the SAN FRANCISCO GAS-LIGHT COMPANY, Howard and First streets, and foot of Second st. Jan. 12.

SCHWAB & BREESE,

New Art Gallery, 624 Market street, opposite Palace Hotel. Oil Paintings, Engravings, Wax and Artists' Materials. ADMISSION FREE. Sept. 13.

SNOW & CO.,

No. 20 Post street, opposite Mechanics' Institute, Importers and Manufacturers of Pictures, Frames, Mouldings, and Artist's Materials. Established 1849. Sept. 20.

W Morris. MORRIS & KENNEDY, J. F. Kennedy.

Importers and Dealers in Moldings, Frames, Engravings, Chromos, Lithographs, Decalcomanie, Wax and Artists' Materials, 21 Post street, nearly opposite Masonic Temple, San Francisco. Feb. 4.

NOTICE.

For the very best photographs go to Bradley & Rulofson's, in an Elevator, 429 Montgomery street. Oct. 29.

MADAME WALDO COHEN,

Finishing Lessons--Piano. $3 Per Lesson.
Sept. 20. 507 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.

Gold Medal, Paris, 1878.

Sold by all Stationers. Sole Agent for the United States: MR. HENRY HOE, 91 John street, N. Y. Jan. 5.

"BIZ."

There seems to be less stirring speculative activity in the general merchandise market than for a month past. This, in a very great measure, is attributable to the largely diminished stock of goods in warehouse. In fact, the great bulk of Metals, Groceries, etc., is now in the hands of the trade; bought when low at bed-rock prices, and now held at a very considerable advance. Our spot stocks of Coffee are probably less now than for a very long period, causing a very important rise in values. Sugars have also risen greatly the past few weeks, the Refiners profiting largely by the advance. Teas are running light in stock, enabling holders of Japans to obtain a handsome advance upon former rates. Rice, other than Hawaiian Table, is in full supply, and prices low; but the Island product is wanted for the trade of Chicago, and the stock of this kind being small, good prices and prompt sales result immediately upon arrival.

Borax remains unchanged in value—say 6@7c for crude and refined. The Colima carried to New York via Panama 48,815 lbs.

Bags and Bagging.—The spot combination, carrying, perhaps, 10,000,000 Grain Sacks, seem to be confident of the ultimate success of their endeavors to make a corner in the market, but to do so they must carry them six to nine months. The late rise of Jute and Burlaps in Calcutta and Dundee is calculated upon to help them out. Bags that were ordered some months ago in Calcutta at an extremely low figure have now greatly advanced. Freights hither have also risen materially, so that the 5,000,000 Grain Sacks contracted for, and perhaps now afloat for California, a portion of which sold for Spring and Summer delivery at 9¼@9½c, could not now be bought for less than 9¾@10c. As we look at it 15,000,000 Grain Sacks have already been provided for next year's crop. The trade expect big prices next Summer. This may be the case if we have big crops.

Quicksilver.—Spot stocks are light, and holders generally demand 45c. Last Saturday all the available supply was picked up at 40c. On Monday 52½c was paid for 100 flasks, and since then the price advanced to 55c. There does not seem to be any demand for China, and without this outlet we do not see how prices can be kept up, for the very good reason that our monthly home consumption (the Bonanza mines) has been reduced four to five thousand flasks from what it was three years ago, while the production keeps up, but not to the extreme figures then recorded.

Salmon.—The market for Case Salmon is well under control, and all the stock of Columbia River brands held by one wealthy firm at $1 40@$1 50 per doz for 1-lb cans; no 2-lb tins in market. Sacramento River brands of Salmon can be bought at $1 37½@$1 40 per doz. Our receipts for the season, dating from April 1st, 228,000 cases; our exports, 115,700 cases. These figures do not include, of course, the Oregon shipments direct to England, etc. Our present spot stock is estimated at 50,000 cases, which is a meagre supply for the Eastern States, Australia and Europe.

Coffee.—A very notable advantage has been realized in all kinds of Green during the past few weeks, owing to the light stock of Central American and other Greens. Sales of Prime No. 1 Salvador at 20c@21c; Rio at 16½c@17c; Mexican, 17½c. The total imports by sea in the first ten months of the last four years were as follows: 1876, bags, 72,534; 1877, bags, 118,970; 1878, bags, 110,378; 1879, bags, 83,091. The receipts by rail in the first ten months in the year were 2,610 bags in 1879, against 2,766 bags in 1878. The overland shipments up to this period were 19,563 bags in 1879 and 7,836 bags in 1878. At the close all the Central American in first hands closed out at 18c@18½c; it was fair Guatemala. O. G. Java is held at 26c. An invoice of 425 bags good Green Tahatian is now on the market from the Society Islands.

Sugars.—The Refiners have again advanced their prices of Cube, Crushed and all other grades ½c per pound—now 13c for all Whites, 11@11½c for Yellow and Golden. Imports during the week, 4,000 pkgs from Honolulu per City of Sydney. The bark Jane A. Falkenberg has arrived at Portland, Oregon, with 5,000 kegs same. Two of our trade papers have of late devoted columns of matter to the discussion, pro and con, of the good and evil effects of the Hawaiian Reciprocity Treaty, the Merchant ably advocating it, the Grocer denouncing it with a degree of ferocity that greatly weakens its cause, and is well calculated to disgust the reader if possessed of the least particle of refinement. No good can come of this heated warfare. Better let the Treaty work out its own term of seven years, and mark the result. It certainly will prove a boon to the Hawaiians. In passing, we may he allowed to state that Sir Claus Spreckles, the President of the California Sugar Refinery, and prime mover of this Sugar Ring, and generally called the Sugar King, had the foresight to contract for the entire Sugar crop of Hawaii, 35,000 tons, and seeing that an advance in raw Sugars was inevitable, by reason of a lessened Beet Sugar crop in France and Germany, quietly ordered, in addition, two full cargoes of Manila raws some months since. The rise on these two cargoes in value now amounts to $100,000 profit. Strange how luck attends the operation of some men. Will it always he so with Spreckles? Is he not putting too many irons in the fire with his vast irrigating planting Sugar schemes at the Sandwich Islands, etc.

Cordage.—An advance in price is to he noted of ½c ₱ lb by the local factory: now 15c ₱ lb.

Coal.—The market is without change in values, with few Spot cargo sales.

Metals.—We have no sales to record, chiefly for lack of stock, all in the hands of the trade; prices nominal.

Oils.—The Pacific Mill has advanced the price of Linseed to 95c@$1 ₱ gall. Castor, $1 25@$1 40.

Spices.—Nutmegs are lower; sales of No. 1 at 95@97½c. Cloves, 50c.

Spirits Turpentine.—Sales of 500 cs, to arrive, at 50c.

Wines.—The Colima, for New York, via Panama, carried 29,000 glls. This year vintage is estimated at 6,000,000 glls. On the 15th inst., S. L. Jones & Co. will sell 120,000 glls White and Red Buena Vista Wines; also, Sparkling ditto.

Wool.—The market is very strong, with a light stock; the present range of prices 15 to 28c. This is a big rise, notably that for the low Burry, southern grades, from 10 to 15c.

Hides.—The price of selected Dry has been advanced to 20c, under the influence of a good Eastern demand.

Freights and Charters.—Few or no Grain charters have been written during the week, ship owners holding out for 70s. to U. K. The latest charters were at 65s.@67s. 6d. At this writing there are only nine disengaged vessels in port, only half the number suited to the Grain carrying trade of the port. The fleet to arrive in the next five or six months have a tonnage of 140,000 tons. We have now on the herth 29 vessels, of 46,775 tons register, and the Wheat fleet off for the season 135 vessels, dating from July 1st.

Breadstuff Marts.—Our receipts of Wheat and Flour, for the past two seasons dating from July 1st to Novemher 5th, compares as follows: 1878—Flour, 685,007 50-lb sacks; 1879—ditto, 632,702 50-lb sacks. 1879—Wheat, 6,126,661 ctls; 1878, ditto, 5,506,210 ctls. From this it will be seen that we are this season some 700,000 ctls in advance of 1878. Receipts are yet liheral, hut, since the decline in values, farmers have shown less anxiety to force supplies forward, and we therefore look for a falling off in receipts from this time forward, as we have now marketed more than one-half of our Wheat crop. On Monday last an offer was mads, and declined, of $2 10 ₱ ctl for 1,000 tons of good shipping Wheat; sales during the week of small lots at $2@2 05 ₱ ctl. Our exports of Wheat and Flour, the past two seasons, stand thus—to all countries:

	Flour, bbls.	Wheat, ctls.
1879—July 1 to November 5	154,231	5,158,422
1878—July 1 to Novemher 5	167,744	4,939,503

Barley, Oats and Corn.—We note the purchase of 15,000 cts. feed Barley for Iquiqui. We quote feed at 75@80; hrewing, 90@95c ₱ ctl. Oats are in free supply from the North, and prices have fallen to $1 15@$1 35 per ctl. Corn—There is a slight advance to he noted in small Yellow, now $1@$1 05 per ctl.; large Yellow, 95@97½c per ctl.

Beans are in good demand for export, 80 tons Lima taken for New York by rail—eight carloads; price, 5½@6c; other Whites, 1¾c per lb.

Hops are in good demand, at 25 to 35c, according to quality.

Rye.—The demand is light; price $1 10 ₱ ctl.

Butter, Cheese and Eggs are quite pleatiful, at 30@35c for the former; Cheese, 12½@18c; Eggs, 25 to 35c for Eastern and California.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

There has been a steady and ominous increase in the city mortality during the month of October. During the week ending the 3d, the deaths were 74; on the following weeks they rose to 78, 86, 97 and 108. For the same weeks the deaths from zymotic causes were 14, 8, 6, 24 and 18. During the last two weeks 17 infants have died of cholera. Typhoid fever continues prevalent. The type is mild; nevertheless there have heen 14 deaths in the month. Dipbtheria, which had disappeared from the roll of mortality, bas again appeared. There were 4 deaths last week, and the week before 3 deaths from croup, which is regarded hy many pathologists as the same disease. During the last two weeks there has heen a high mortality from pneumonia. The combination of mild showers and hot weather appears to favor the development of sewer gases, and it is scarcely probable that the health of the city will improve until the sewer deposits have heen flushed away hy heavy rain. Nevertheless, it is within the power of most persons to secure an adequate supply of fresh air hy opening the windows and closing the doors. It is very easy to contaminate the air of hedrooms hy leaving the doors open, while it is most difficult to introduce foul air from the outside.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Finest and Cheapest Meat-flavoring Stock for Soups, Made Dishes and Sauces. March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT

Is a success and boon for which Nations should feel grateful. See "Medical Press," "Lancet," "British Medical Journal," etc.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Caution--Genuine only with fac-simile of Baron Liebig's Signature, in blue ink, across Label. "Consumption in England increased tenold in ten years." March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

To be had of all Store-keepers, Grocers and Chemists. Sole Agents for the United States (wholesale only), C. David & Co., 43, Mark Lane, London, England. March 2.

Medicinal Food--Pancreatic Emulsion is the only true food in Consumption and Wasting Diseases produced by enfeebled digestion, or hereditary causes.

Medicinal Food--Pancreatic Emulsion supplies the special form of nutriment, in combination with the digestive agent required, and is therefore the Natural Food for such Invalids, restoring strength, weight and appetite, and counteracting the tendency to wasting diseases, etc.

Savory & Moore, New Bond-street, London, from whom pamphlets, containing particulars and the highest Medical Testimonials and recommendations, may be obtained, gratis, on application, and chemists, etc., everywhere. [July 5.

CHARLES LANGLEY & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
Importers of Pure English, French and German Drugs,
PATENT MEDICINES, Etc.,
100 and 102 FRONT STREET,
San Francisco. [Sept. 6.

OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL STEAMSHIP CO.,

For Japan and China, leave wharf, corner First and Brannan streets, at noon, for YOKOHAMA AND HONGKONG, connecting at Yokohama with Steamers for Shangbai.

GAELIC ..... Decemher 6th, February 28th.
BELGIC ..... January 17th, April 10th.

Cabin Plans on exhibition and Passage Tickets for sale at No. 2 New Montgomery street.

For Freight, apply to GEORGE H. RICE, Freight Agent, at the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Wharf, or No. 218 California street.

T. H. GOODMAN, General Passenger Agent.

LELAND STANFORD, President. Nov. 1.

"The World," the Flesh, and the Devil.

[Concluded from Sixth Page.]

...30 cities of Washington apiece.——The legacy duty on the late Count ...rge Karolyi's fortune amounts to 1,110,000 florins. His heir, who is ...dy very wealthy, when he heard the figure of the duty, pathetically ...rked that it was fortunate he was a rich man, otherwise two such ...rtunes would reduce him to penury. The deceased leaves, among other ...resting collections, one consisting of over 200 meerschaum pipes valued at $5,000 ...s. This was his favorite hobby. As he was one day showing the pipes to a ...isseur," said he, "Helas, quand j'aurais cassé la meerne" (meaning when he ...d) "ce sera ci courront grand risque d'etre dispersees aux quatre coins du monde."

——We have become accidentally possessed of the following letter, which is a correct ...of one lately addressed by a corporal of marines to his wife, from a vessel which ...s at present stationed off the west coast of Africa: "WIFE—I was greatly surprised to hear from you (through my captain). I had forgotten that I was married, and to tell you the truth I had entirely forgotten you. I should have thought that a handsome young woman like you would have been above applying to a poor marine for help. I think you have been guided by your mother in this matter, as you have been ...d others—well, I should like you to act upon my advice for once; that is, to take no notice of your mother, do the best you can for yourself, and, if possible, get married again. It might be better for you. I can assure you that I will never trouble you as long as I live. I am very comfortable in the service, and there is no doubt but that I shall stay in the service for the next sixteen years. My captain said that he would not interfere with my private affairs, and if I had any trouble with you to take no notice of it. I must now conclude, and I don't think I shall ever see you or Manchester again, for I have greater attractions in Portsmouth than any other part of England—I remain, etc. P. S. I cannot return your letter, as it is lost." In this letter the sternness of the warrior and the proverbial inconstancy of the sailor are fearfully and wonderfully combined.——A tramway has just been opened in the fine old city of Brunswick on a new principle. The rail has no groove. It is laid exactly flush with the road's level, and may thus be crossed at any angle with any description of conveyance without any jar or disturbance. The car is guided and kept in its place on this rail by slight steel studs on the tyre of the wheels, which fit into corresponding holes punched in the rail at the distance of every five inches. The invention is that of an architect, Mr. Edge of Birmingham, and may be said now to have merged from the experimental into that of accomplished fact.——If any one is still sceptical as to the future of the electric light, let him drive or walk from Westminster along the Embankment to Blackfriars, and then across Waterloo Bridge: he will be well rapaid, and his scepticism must vanish. The effect of the electric lamps along this entire route is simply magnificent; it is like moonlight, before which the feeble gas-jets pale their ineffectual light. When gas first came in, country folk used to come up in crowds to see Southwark Bridge lit up. Events repeat themselves; and I should not be surprised to see "specials" advertised to carry people up to see Waterloo Bridge as now illuminated, and it really is a noble spectacle, worth coming a long way to see. It took gas eleven years to establish itself; and in eleven years what strides may not the electric light have made after this river-side demonstration of its capabilities!—The World.——One of the strange features in the double murder in the Fauhourg St. Honore, that has for the last few days been the talk of Paris, is the fact that the murderer thought fit to write to the widow of his master and victim to inform her that it was only for the sake of robbery that he committed his crime. 'I have taken about eighty pounds,' he says, in conclusion, 'with which money I mean to make my fortune; and I pledge myself to return it to you some day.' Extraordinary as the scruple may look, this is not the first time that a murderer, without apparently feeling much remorse for the deed in itself, has given signs of being quite awake to the pecuniary liability which it entails. Thus the Marquis de Salverte, whose father was murdered at San Domingo about a quarter of a century ago, received by post, after the lapse of a few years, a sum of eight thousand pounds, with notice that it was a restitution of the amount robbed, from the murderer himself, who had made his fortune, but declined to give his name and address. In another case, a Parisian Senator was for years in receipt of a monthly instalment of eight pounds from London, the sender of which was unknown, with notice that the amount would be forthcoming to complete the payment of a sum of twenty-four thousand francs, robbed from one of his uncles after murder. What was stranger still is that the receiver knew of no relation of his who had ever been, or was likely to have been, murdered.

CUMBERLAND LODE, ARIZONA.

The Cumberland Mine Preparing for Work of an Extensive Character.

As is well known, the Cumberland Lode is in Martinez District, Yavapai county, Arizona. The Cumberland Mine is the principal mine of this lode, while the Martinez and Gnome Mines—extensions of the Cumberland—have also very rich ore in their shafts, and will, within a few months, make a very handsome showing. Capt. Daniel Hanlon, Superintendent of the Cumberland, is putting up buildings, and making every preparation to receive the 10-stamp mill, which will shortly be forwarded from here to the mine. He has already reported the ore body as inexhaustible. The richness of the same in shafts No. 1, 2 and 3 is patent to every person who has examined the mine since last July. The Cumberland Mine is truthfully proclaimed as the coming bonanza of this Coast, challenging comparison for richness and extent with any other mine of equal depth that has yet been brought to light. In times like these, when misrepresentation seems to be the rule, the officers of this company cannot be too highly commended for their frankness and fairness. There are no hidden secrets. Experts of reputation are invited to inspect the mine—see for themselves—and then report honestly what is presented. A party, with this object in view, comprised of men of well-known integrity, will leave here for the Cumberland within a few weeks.

At the regular monthly meeting of the British Benevolent Society, held at the rooms, 730 Montgomery street, on Monday, 3d November, 1879, it was moved by Mr. Lyons, seconded by Mr. Fox, and carried unanimously—"That the resolution of respect to the memory of the late William Hayes, passed by the Board of Relief on the 8th ultimo, be adopted as expressive of the sentiments of the Society at large." The following is the resolution referred to: "That in the death of Mr. William Hayes, who for a period of twelve years occupied the position of Chairman to the Board of Relief of the British Benevolent Society of California, the Board has lost one of its most genial, faithful and active members; and therefore it feels called upon to bear testimony to the fact, that during the period through which Mr. Hayes was connected with this Board, he made it his duty to devote a considerable portion of his valuable time to the work 'of prudently dispensing the charities of the Society and conserving its general interests.'" The Board thinks it but just to add that Mr. Hayes' generous heart led him, in many instances, to relieve with his own private means cases of destitution that did not come within the scope of the Society's operations.

Mr. H. F. Williams, whose long fight in behalf of a good system of street pavement has not yet been won, has brought together, in a handsome sheet, the Report of the Committee of the Mechanics' Institute on his Composite Pavement, submitted to them in 1876, besides a letter from Mr. James Findla, of Brighton, England, and the opinion of Mr. Farquharson, the eminent architect; all agreeing as to the superiority of this invention. There is no answering the arguments or disputing the facts stated by Mr. Williams.

An elegant assortment of Gold Watches and Chains at Raudolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

The immigration for the year at New York, which is now certain to exceed 180,000 persons, is not yet back to ante-panic days, when nearly twice that number were landed at Castle Garden, but it is remarkable for a large increase of English and an unusually well-to-do class of immigrants. In the old days, when the great bulk of immigrants were famine-stricken Irish peasants, the average amount of money brought by each person was put at $8, and it is now estimated by the New York commissioners of emigration at $70. If this estimate is correct, and it is based on foreign coin offered for exchange into American currency by the emigrants, this year's immigration has introduced $22,000,000 to this country in money alone, two-thirds as much as the net import of specie during the year.

HIGHEST STOCK QUOTATIONS

For the Week Ending Nov. 7th, 1879.

COMPILED BY GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO., 230 MONTGOMERY STREET.

NAME OF MINE.	SAT.	MONDAY.		TUESDAY.		WEDNESDY		THURSDAY.		FRIDAY.
		A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.
Argenta	3/8	—	1	—	1	—	1	—	3/8	—
Andes	1 1/4	1 1/4	—	1 1/4	—	—	1	1 1/4	—	—
Alpha	14 1/2	14 1/2	—	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	—	14 1/2	—	—
Alta	5 1/4	5 1/4	—	5 1/2	—	5 3/8	—	5 3/8	—	—
Alps	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Bullion	7	6 3/4	—	6 3/4	—	6 3/4	—	—	—	—
Belcher	3 3/4	3 5/8	3 3/4	3 5/8	—	4 1/2	3 7/8	3 3/4	—	—
Best & Belcher	18 1/2	19	18 1/2	19	19 1/2	19 1/2	19 3/4	21 1/2	21 3/4	21
*Benton	3 3/4	3 5/8	3 3/4	3 5/8	—	3 5/8	—	3 5/8	—	—
Bodie	13 1/2	—	13 3/4	—	13 7/8	—	13 3/4	—	13 3/4	—
Cons Imperial	1 1/4	1 1/2	1 1/2	1	—	1	1	1 1/2	—	1 1/2
Crown Point	3 3/4	4	—	4	3 7/8	—	4	4	—	3 3/4
Chellar	8 1/2	8 5/8	8 1/2	8 1/2	8 3/4	—	—	8 1/2	—	8 5/8
California	5 1/2	5 1/2	—	5 3/4	5 3/4	5 1/2	—	5 3/4	—	5 3/4
Con. Virginia	5 5/8	5 1/4	5 1/2	5 5/8	—	5 3/4	5 7/8	6 1/4	5 5/8	5 1/2
Caledonia	2 1/4	2 1/4	—	2 1/4	—	2 1/4	—	2 1/4	—	—
Confidence	—	11	—	10 5/8	—	11 1/4	—	11 1/2	—	—
Eureka Con	26	—	26	—	25	—	—	—	25 3/4	26
Exchequer	5 1/4	5 3/8	—	5 1/4	5 1/4	5	5	4 3/8	—	5
Fairfax	—	—	—	1/8	—	—	—	—	—	—
Gould & Curry	11 1/4	11	10 3/4	10 3/4	10 3/4	10 3/4	11	11 1/2	11 1/4	11
Gila	1/4	—	1/4	1/8	—	—	—	—	—	—
*Grand Prize	2 1/2	—	2 1/2	—	2 1/2	—	2 3/8	—	2 1/4	—
Hale & Norcross	18	18	17 1/2	18 1/4	18 3/8	18 1/4	—	17 3/4	17 3/4	17 3/4
Julia	3 3/8	3 3/4	—	3 3/8	3 3/8	3 1/4	3 3/8	3 3/8	3 1/4	—
Justice	3	2 3/8	2 3/4	3	3	2 3/8	—	2 3/8	—	—
Jackson	—	—	4	—	4	—	4	—	—	—
Kentuck	—	4 1/4	—	4 1/4	—	4 1/2	—	4 1/4	—	—
*Leopard	—	—	1/4	—	1/8	—	1/4	—	—	—
Lady Wash'n	1 3/8	1 3/8	1 3/8	1 3/8	—	1 3/8	—	1 3/8	—	—
Leviathan	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Leeds	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
*Mexican	36	34 1/2	33 3/8	34 1/4	34 1/4	34 3/8	—	—	—	33
Modoc	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Manhattan	—	—	2 1/4	—	—	—	2 1/4	—	—	—
Northern Belle	5 1/4	—	5 1/2	—	5 1/4	—	5 1/2	—	—	—
Ophir	32	31 3/4	31 1/4	31 3/4	—	32 1/4	32 3/8	32 3/4	32	31 3/4
Overman	9 1/2	9 1/4	—	9 1/2	—	9 3/4	—	9 1/2	—	—
Potosi	6 1/2	6 1/4	—	5 3/4	5 7/8	5 7/8	—	5 5/8	—	—
Raymond & Ely	1 1/2	—	1 1/2	—	1 1/2	—	1 3/8	—	1 1/2	—
*Savage	17	16 1/4	15 1/4	16	16 3/4	16	16	15 3/4	15 1/2	15 3/4
Sierra Nevada	56 1/2	52 1/2	57	55	—	57	56 1/2	57 1/2	—	56 1/2
'Silver Hill	1 1/2	1 1/4	1 1/4	1 1/2	—	1 1/4	1 1/4	1 1/2	1 1/4	—
Seg Belcher	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
'Solid Silver	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
*Succor	—	—	—	1/8	—	1/4	—	—	—	—
Silver King, Ara	7	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Silv King South	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Tip-Top	—	—	1 3/8	—	1 3/8	—	1 1/2	—	1 1/4	—
Union Con	88 1/4	82	—	86 1/2	—	85 1/4	—	83 3/4	—	81
*Utah	21 1/4	20	19 3/4	21 1/2	—	20 1/2	—	20 1/4	—	—
'Yellow Jacket	16 1/2	16 3/4	15 1/4	16 3/8	16 1/2	17	16 1/4	16 1/4	16 1/4	16 1/4

Assessments are now due on the Stocks above marked thus *

STOCK DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Office of the Gila Silver Mining Company, Room 7, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California, October 21st, 1879.—At a special meeting of the Stockholders of the above-named Company, held this day, a Stock Dividend of twenty per cent. was declared, payable immediately, out of the Capital Stock owned by the Company. All Stockholders are requested to send their Stock to the office of the Company before November 24th, 1879, and receive the dividend due thereon.

Nov. 8. WM. W. PARRISH, Secretary.

PACIFIC COAST STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

Steamers of this Company will sail from Brondway Wharf for PORTLAND, Oregon), every 5 days, direct, and for LOS ANGELES, SANTA BARBARA, SANTA CRUZ, SAN DIEGO, SAN LUIS OBISPO and other NORTHERN and SOUTHERN COAST PORTS, leaving SAN FRANCISCO about every third day.

For Day and Hour of Sailing, see the Company's Advertisement in the San Francisco Daily Papers.

Ticket Office, No. 214 Montgomery Street, near Pine.

GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents,

March 15. No. 10 Market street.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The Company's steamers will sail as follows at 12 M: CITY OF PEKING, Nov. 15th, Feb. 7th, May 1st—CITY OF TOKIO, Dec. 27th, March 20th—for YOKOHAMA and HONGKONG.

GRANADA, November 19th, for PANAMA and NEW YORK, calling at MAZATLAN, SAN BLAS, MANZANILLO and ACAPULCO, connecting at Acapulco with Company's Steamer for all Central American ports—calling at SAN JOSE DE GUATEMALA and LA LIBERTAD to land passengers and mails only.

Tickets to and from Europe by any line for sale at the lowest rates; also to Havana and all West India ports.

CITY OF SYDNEY, Nov. 24th, at 12 o'clock M., or on arrival of the English mails, for HONOLULU, AUCKLAND and SYDNEY. $10 additional is charged for passage in Upper Saloon.

DAKOTA, November 10th, for VICTORIA, PORT TOWNSEND, SEATTLE, and TACOMA, connecting at TACOMA with Northern Pacific Railroad for PORTLAND, Oregon. Tickets must be purchased before 11 A.M. on day of sailing, at Wharf Office. For freight or passage apply at the office, cor. First and Brannan streets. [Nov. 8.] WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents.

LITTLE THINGS.

[BY SARAH L. MOORE.]

Little thorns are sharpest,
Little cares fall deep,
Little acts will often
Cause our love to sleep.

Little things we live by,
Little things we say,
Little things not seldom
Steal our peace away.

Little things lie closest,
Little things are light;
Little things can sometimes
Turn our day to night.

Little things can fly far,
Little things can pain,
Little things take longest
To gather up again.

Little things distress us,
Little things annoy,
Little things may bless us
And may give us joy.

—Fireside Lays.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

From Magee's Real Estate Circular, for October, we extract as follows: There was considerably more inquiry for real estate in October than in September, particularly for small homesteads and homestead lots, and also for large central paying business properties, of which there is now very little for sale. Prices as yet have not improved anywhere, while in several cases sales made last month show even lower rates. We look for a decided improvement this winter and next spring, if we have abundant rains. We note increased inquiry for Mission lots and houses and lots, at from $1,000 to $2,000 in the first case, and from $2,000 to $3,000 in the second. North Beach lots, too, are in rather more demand. Land along the line of the California-street cable road has not been so much sought after since the building of the cable line on Geary street. The prices asked along and close to California street have for some time kept buyers off. There is a large amount of prospective business property for sale, at the western end of Market street, and on Third, Fourth, Sixth, Mission, First, Fremont, Main and other streets.

The City and County sales for October were 172 in number, and $839,824 in value. The mortgages were 203, amounting to $820,398; and the releases 174, amounting to $900,010.

It has not for years been more difficult than it is at present to obtain good mortgages. The savings banks have found it impossible, for the past three months, to loan out as much money as they desired satisfactorily on such securities. Plenty of private capitalists have also been trying to obtain good city mortgages during the past few months; but, having been generally unsuccessful, they are now looking for desirable productive purchases.

It will be remembered that many real estate owners failed to pay the taxes assessed against their lots for the fiscal years 1872–73 and 1873–74. The impression was general that those taxes were illegal and could not be collected, but now it appears that by virtue of subsequent legislation, and sundry decisions of the Supreme Court of this State, these taxes must be paid. Our readers should be careful, therefore, to examine their receipts for taxes, and their abstracts of title, and if these taxes do not appear to have been paid, they should hasten to pay them to avoid costs of expensive litigation. These receipts, moreover, should be carefully preserved, as instances may occur where the taxes, though actually paid, may, by inadvertence, not be canceled on the records, and the receipt would in those cases be the only evidence of the extinguishment of the tax lien.

Supervisor Smith, Chairman of the Finance Committee, lately made the annual statement of the financial condition of the city. We believe that no other city in the Union, of the same size, has a much smaller debt, in proportion to its revenue and the value of its property, than this city. The funded debt is but $3,000,000, while the value of the city property, at a low valuation, is $215,000,000. If, however, we look more closely into the matter, it will be found that the burden of our debt is heavy. The city property, consisting of squares and public buildings, instead of being a source of revenue, is a cause of great outlay, and the more we increase this kind of city property, the more we increase our annual expenditure. The interest of the funded debt, with the contribution to the sinking fund, annually amounts to $472,140. To pay this interest, 21¼ cents of a tax levy on the assessed total value of all assessed property ($215,000,000) is required. The city tax levy for the current year is $1.37, and we all know that one of the fundamental principles of the new city regime is that the tax levy is never to exceed $1, which is considered the maximum levy which we can patiently endure. So about a fourth of the whole revenue of the city will be needed to pay the interest of the funded debt of the city. A private individual or a mercantile firm would not be considered in a very brilliant position financially, if more than one-fourth of his or its income was required to pay interest on debt, the principal of which there could, in the most favorable case, be no possibility of paying off for many years to come, if ever. Then, the interest on the funded debt is 6 and 7 per cent., and cannot be reduced by any amount of zeal on the part of new and virtuous city rulers, until the time for paying the bonds arrives, while the interest received on the sinking fund of $1,000,000 is but 2½ per cent. The sinking fund can only be invested by being loaned on the security of State, City and County bonds. Loans from it cannot be made for a definite time; the city may demand payment at any time. The money being thus loaned on call, no higher rate of interest has hitherto been obtained than 2½ per cent. per annum. If the money could be loaned on the bonds for the term during which they run, 8 per cent. could be received. If this cannot be done, U. S. bonds should be purchased; they pay 4 per cent., and can at any time at once be turned into cash.

The Japan "Gazette" makes a few justifiable remarks on our practice of pirating in America the works of foreign authors, and shows how the Japanese, of all people, are commending the poisoned chalice to the lips of the Harpers, the chief sinners:

"The imitative Japanese have followed the example set them and produced a very creditable reprint of a school book published by Messrs. Harper & Brothers, of New York. The cover, title page, typography and wood cuts of each are exactly alike, and it would be impossible to distinguish the reprint from the original if the former did not boldly show upon its cover that it is reprinted by T. T. Itoo, Tokio. It is needless to say that the reprint can be sold here for a sum less than the first cost of the original in New York, and as elementary educational works are largely used in Japan, and form one of the chief American imports, it is quite probable advantage will be taken of the principle of reciprocity to reprint here and undersell American school books of all descriptions."

LEAKY ROOFS!

To prevent your roofs from leaking, have them painted with PRINCE'S IRON ORE PAINT, the most reliable fire and water proof metallic compound. Not a new experiment. In use throughout the United States. None genuine without the manufacturers' name. For sale by

C. T. RAYNOLDS & CO.,
No. 9 Front Street, San Francisco. [Oct. 18.

GEO. C. HICKOX. E. C. MCFARLANE.

GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO.,

Commission Stock Brokers (San Francisco Stock Exchange, No. 230 Montgomery street, San Francisco. May 4.

J. A. RUOKIN,

Member S. F. Stock and Exchange Board, 423 California street. STOCKS Bought and Sold on Commission. Liberal Advances made on Active Accounts. Oct. 26.

E. E. EYRE.] Members S. F. Stock and Exchange Board. [J. H. JONES.

EYRE & JONES,

Stock Brokers,
320 PINE STREET, SAN FRANCISCO. [Sept. 27.

ANDREW BAIRD,

Negotiator of Loans and Commercial Paper,
Broker in Local and State Securities,
No. 312 California Street.....San Francisco.
[P. O. Box 1,208.] July 19.

D. V. B. Henarie. Edward Martin.

E. MARTIN & CO.,

Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Wines and Liquors.
Proprietors of Miller's Extra Old Bourbon and J. F. Cutter Extra Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies.
April 5. 408 Front Street, San Francisco.

HIBERNIA BREWERY,

Howard Street, Between Eighth and Ninth.
Dec. 7.] M. NUNAN, Proprietor.

TABER, HARKER & CO.,

IMPORTERS AND WHOLESALE GROCERS,
108 and 110 California St., S. F.
[April 19.]

Henry B. Williams. Henry B. Williams.

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,

SHIPPING AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
No. 218 California st., S. F. [July 27.

NEWTON BOOTH, C. T. WHEELER, Sacramento. | J. T. GLOVER, W. W. DODGE, S. F

W. W. DODGE & CO.

Wholesale Grocers, corner Front and Clay streets, San Francisco. April 1.

CASTLE BROTHERS,

ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1850.
Importers of Teas and East India Goods, Nos. 213 and 215 Front street, San Francisco. Jan. 18.

J. M. Neville. REMOVAL. Geo. H. Bryant.

BAGS. TENTS AND HOSE.

NEVILLE & CO.,
No.'s 31 and 33 California Street, S. E. corner of Davis,
SAN FRANCISCO. [Aug. 2.

L. H. Newton. NEWTON BROTHERS & CO., M. Newton.

Importers and wholesale dealers in Teas, Foreign Goods and Groceries, 204 and 206 California street, San Francisco, Cal May 25.

WM. F. SMITH, M.D.,

Oculist and Aurist, 313 Bush Street.
Aug. 16.] Office Hours, from 12 M. to 3 P.M.

J. C. MERRILL & CO.,

Shipping and Commission Merchants, Agents for the Sandwich Islands Packet Lines, 204 California street, S. F. April 13.

SITUATION WANTED.

An English gentleman, with several years' experience of California, thoroughly acquainted with book-keeping and general business, and with a knowledge of farming, is anxious for employment as clerk, overseer, or other position. Best of references. Address "S," this office. Oct. 18.

NOTICE.

At a meeting of the Local Board of Directors of the LIVERPOOL AND LONDON AND GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY, held October 11th, 1879, MR. GEORGE MEL was appointed Resident Secretary pro tem of the Pacific department of said Company.
Oct. 18. WM. F. BABCOCK, Chairman.

A LARGE REWARD

Will be paid on application to JOHN BROWN, at this office, for the papers of JOHN COSSER, recently deceased at some town back of Mazatlan, Mexico. Oct. 18.

DOGS.

G. Everill, the Celebrated Canine Doctor from London, can be consulted for treatment or purchase. Fee, $1. Address,
G. EVERILL, 528 California street.
☞ Sure cure for worms, distemper, canker and mange sent free by mail on receipt of $1. Oct. 18.

OCTOBER

[BY W. J. DAWSON.]

An odor of pansies and violets,
A fragrance of roses wind swept;
The Summer has leapt through the woodbines,
And caught the cold Spring as she slept.
The crocus burns through the broad meadows,
And high in the depths of the sky
The lark sings, while in the green shadows
The chorister thrushes reply.

A fragrance of fading and dying,
A forest strewn thick with red leaves,
The twittering of glossy-backed swallows
Swift-circling above the cold eaves.
The song of the thrushes is ended,
And on its loud organ instead
The Wind plays a thunder-march, blended
With requiem notes for the dead.

A wailing of wind, like souls sighing
For hopes that shall blossom no more;
A mist over forest and ocean,
And moaning along the sea-shore.
The Sun, like a victor, sore stricken,
Reels slowly, blood-stained, down the skies;
And so while the flowers droop and sicken,
The Summer grows fainter—and dies.

—London Graphic.

USEFUL KNOWLEDGE.

[From the "British Trade Journal."]

An interesting experiment to test the extent of the illuminating wers of the electric light was recently made one evening at Saratoga rings, New York. The light was put in operation on the tower of the and Union Hotel. An open parabolic reflector was used—no lenses— d care was taken by Mr. Maxim to set the points of the carbons a little one side of each other and to adjust them exactly to the focus of the lector. This having been accomplished, the light was turned toward a t in Ballston Spa, New York, 7½ miles distant, where, by previous ar- gement, a group of several hundred persons were assembled to witness experiment. The place was instantly illuminated in such a way that linary printing could be read, the time seen on watches, etc. The ht was clear, still and dark.

During August there sailed from the Mersey eighty vessels for the ited States, British North America, Australia, South America, East lies, West Indies, China, and the West Coast of Africa, having on ard 13,588 passengers, of whom 8,476 were English, 113 Scotch, 1,383 sh, 3,117 foreigners, and 499 whose nationalities were not distinguished. e figures for the corresponding period of last year were 3,804 below se for August this year, which were also 2,990 above July this year. will thus be apparent to the most casual observer that emigration from gland is being vigorously pushed forward.

A new kind of crockery, designed to fill the place of earthenware some extent, has recently been introduced. It consists of cotton pulp, elt, glazed with a composition into which dissolved glass largely enters. is a durable, elastic material, possessing neither the great weight nor ttleness of earthenware; but it has yet to undergo the test of general

In England and Wales one-half the soil is owned by 4,500 persons, ee of whom own 420,000 acres. In Scotland, out of 19,000,000 acres, 00,000 are owned by only 70 persons, the Duke of Sutherland calling lself master of 1,326,000 acres. One-half of Ireland is owned by less an 750 persons, and two-thirds of it by less than 2,000.

A machine has been invented in Germany for dealing cards. The k is placed in a sort of box from which only one card can issue at a e, expelled by two wheels, which can be turned by the thumb with considerable rapidity. This apparatus, it is said, completely prevents all ds of cheating.

A diamond, 94¾-carat, found recently at Mekerk's Bush, in the South ican diamond-fields, was sold on the spot for £7,000. The same "dig- " to whose lot this rare find fell unearthed about the same time a fine e of 26 carats, and another of 10¾ carats, besides several smaller gems.

Emily Faithful's "Wandering Uhlan" says in the London Express: Mr. John Rylands, who dwells in Cromwell-road, Kensington, lately ered the name of some property of which he is possessed from Longford Cromwell Terrace, whereupon one of his tenants writes as follows: long as I live my family shall never inhabit a house in any street or race hearing the execrable name of Cromwell—of most infamous mem- —a rebel, a traitor, a regicide, a usurper, a self-seeking and ambitious ocrite and tyrant, a wholesale murderer of defenseless women and ldren (to wit, the sieges of Drogheda and Wexford), an arch-enemy of altar and the throne (vide all English history). That name is insulting the loyalty and intelligence of the entire neighborhood, and highly nsive to the great majority of the ratepayers, who have already most phatically expressed themselves to that effect.'"

Women vs. Windows.—By what process of reasoning is it deter- ned that a pane of plate-glass is six times as valuable as a woman? A n who in a state of drunkenness smashed the former was sentenced, ently, to twelve months' hard labor, while a man who in his sober ses knocked a woman down with a furious blow, and kicked her about head till she became insensible, got off with two months' hard labor. submit that the pane of plate-glass was nothing to be compared with pain of the woman. It is high time that this ridiculous regard for perty, compared with the indifference of magistrates for the safety of man life, be noticed by the powers that be. Women may have their lts, but we coutend that none of them are utterly worthless.—Fun.

Sterling Silverware.—A large assortment of elegant designs at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Recorded in the City and County of San Francisco, California, for the Week ending November 1st.

Compiled from the Records of the Commercial Agency, 401 California St., S.F.

Tuesday, Oct. 28th.

GRANTOR AND GRANTEE.	DESCRIPTION.	PRICE
Hlh Savs & L'n to E J Buchanan	Se Howard, 95 ne 3d, 30x85	$ 5
Michl McDonald to Wm Hollis	E York, 169 s 24th, 23x100	5
Chas R Morgan to M Greenwood	S Washington, 197.5 w Maple, w 32:1, s 214:6, e 32:4, n 118:11 to beginning	425
Mary F Grant to C F de Ramirez	S Sacramento, 137:0 w Montgomery, w 43:1x137:6	Gift
Daniel Jones to Henry A Paul	N Union, 43 e Leavenworth, 25x137:6	900
Savs and Ln Soc to Jas Marland	E Bryant, 130 4 23d, 26x100—M B 150	1,250
Adam Miller to Cornelius Sullivan	Ne Bryant and 25x90	1,000
Geo McWilliams to A McGilvery	E Eugenia, 46:8 w Prospect Avenue, w 23:4x70	300
M E Durney to Hannah E Ball	W Scott, 102 8, s Clay, 25x81:3	950
Mary C Woodward to Isaac Hyde	All interest in estate of R B Woodward deceased	2,000
M J Cardozo to Mary E Cardozo	Undivided half of lots 61, 97, 126, Haley Map 1	Gift
D E Martin to H J Dolan	Lot 9, block 307 Case tract	450
Geo McWilliams to J G Ulrich	W Prospect Ave, 331 s Coso av, 23x122:6	500

Wednesday, Oct. 29th.

Betty Mooshake to Minnie Allee	Se Stevenson, 375 sw 3d, 20x70	Gift
D E Martin to Jennie Lewis	Lot 21, blk 307, Case Tract	500
Thos Magee to Alice M Swain	W Bartlett, 230 s 22d, 25x125	2,800
Lloyd Tevis et al to S C Bigelow	Nw Clement and 3d avennes, w 43:5, ne 138.10, etc; also sundry lots O L	5
Solomon Levy to Cath Frutiger	N California, 51:3 w Steiner, 25:10x120	2,250
Wm Thomas to Emma A Thomas	N Pacific, 137:6 e Scott, 68:9x127:8	Gift
Frank Kenncdy to TOliver Larkin	Und ¼, a Mission and Fremont, 137:5 x 137:6, B and W 340, 341, 342	....
Thos O Larkin to J Hendy	Same	27,000
W W Meloney to Chris Grochans	S cor n 1st and 7th ave, se 60x100 subdiv blk 139 Central Pk Hd; also lots 24 to 31, blk 138 O'Neil & Haley Tract; also a Vallejo, 78 e Montg, e 23x87:6	$3,000
Carrie A Wilsey to Robt F Osborn	Lot 2, blk 19, Market St Hd; nw Castro and Elizabeth, 125x114; also lots 19, 20, blk 8, Noe Garden Hd	5
J McKee to Richard O'Connor	S Sutter, 229:6 w Lyon, 25x95	1,350
Patk Taney to Daniel Jones	Nw Harrison, 155 ne 4th, 25x75	2,640
Daniel Jones to J J Harrigan	Same	3,000

Thursday, Oct. 30th.

Samuel C Bigelow to Lloyd Tevis	S Clement, 52:8 w 3d ave, s w 500, n 500, e 57:4 to commencement	$ 5
Hugo Creuziger to E B Badlam	W Larkin, 27:8 s Clay, 50x100	12,250
Jno D Wilson to Jno W Ingram	S Vallejo, 76:9 e Hyde, 19:9x48, being in 50-vara 1290	1,000
M S Cohen to Gottlelh Reichstetter	Ne 6th, 150 se Bryant, 25x90	2,800
Richard Brown to City and Co S F	Streets and Highways	....
R Murdock et al to C F Doe	S Broadway, 137:6 w Leavenworth, w 137:6x137:6	350
E Goslinsky to Davis Louderback	N Geary, 137:6 e Gough, e 27:6x137:6	8,000
Mosea Selig to J Schoenfeld	Sundry lots in Butcher Tract	1
Jno G Krausgrill to Conrad Bill	N Cards alley, 113.6 w Stockton, 24x62:6	2,400
Dolores A de Laveaga to Robt Day	W Leavenw'th, 87:6 s Jackson, 25x87:6	2,350
Geo Paterson to Hannah Fischel	N Clementina, 125 w 8th, w 25x75	3,000
J M Shotwell to Emile Boescb	Se Mission, 100 ne 2d, ne 25x80	5,000
B Cannon to Patk Leonard	S Dore, 230 nw Harrison, nw 25x80	3,675
Rosanna Robey to J R Hall	W Nebraska, 300 s Yolo, s 133 x w 25	1,200
Peter O Peltret to Jno McCarthy	W Alabama, 100 s 26th, s 25x100	450
Thos C Marrum to Jno J O'Brien	N 21st, 117:6 w Guerrero, w 25x114	2,800
Anthony Quill to Jas Curtin	N 24th, 180 w Noe, w 25x114; n 24th, 130 w Noe, w 25x114	6

Friday, Oct. 31st.

Chas S Cram to P J Murphy	S Bush, 160:8 w Mason, w 18:10x80	$ 300
Jas G Carson to Benj Richardson	Und half O L blks 994 and 995	300
C C O'Donnell to E R O'Donnell	E Bourbon Place, 125 n Eddy, 25x90; also lots 7, 8, blk 20, Noe Garden Hd	Gift
Wm Hale to O D Baldwin	E Webster, 27:6 n Pine, 27:6x81:3	5
E O'Donnell to same	Same	1,700
Jas F Hill to Catb A Hill	Se 22d and Sanchez, a 24, e 100, s 76, e 24, etc to com; 84 w Vicksburg, 91:6 s 22d s 22:6x100	Gift
Jas F Hill to Mary E Hill	N 21st, 125 w Church, w 50x114	Gift
W H Taylor to Chas Crocker	Und half Nw Tennessee and 16th, 100 x 150—P B 380	4,000
Thos Bigley to Oscar Fosa	Nw Mission 339 sw 4th, 18.6x90, subject to mortgage	6,000
Geo Edwards to Wm E Dubois	E Sherman, 172 n 18th, n 25x125	5
Wm Hollis to E L Goldstein	Nw Brannan, 275 sw 5th, sw 137:6x275	18,000
T R E A to W Hollis	Same and w Webster, 112 s Post, a 22:6 Western Add 309	5
E Goslinsky to Davis Londerback	N Oeary, 137:6 e Gough, 27:6x137:6	1
Henry Maban to Robt Clifford	W Wood, 196:8 n Pt Lobos Ave, n 50 x 120, being in W A 639	1,400
Bank of Cal to S C Bigelow	N Clement, 24:11 e 5th ave, e 96 n 161.1 to beginning; also sundry lots O L	1,800
D Jordon to H Williams et al	N Ellis 171:10 e Larkin, 34:4x137:6	11,834
Daniel Jones to Jno Dielmann	Sw Garden, 200 nw Bryant, 25x75	2,800

Saturday, Nov. 1st.

T L Skinner to O T Shuck	W 23d ave, 100 n P st, s 50x120, O L 968	$ 200
O T Shuck to Mattie M Shuck	Same	Gift
P M Bowen to E J de Santa Marina	E cor 12th ave and N st, subdiv blk 228 O'Neil and Haley tract, subj to mortg for $9,300	15,000
City and Conn S F to C H Killey	Sundry lots in Western Addition	....
Margaret Donoelly to L Donnelly	N Post, 80 w Taylor, w 20x60	5
Sarah L Addison to Wm Trost	S Cala, 43:4 e Steiner, 34:4x137:6	2,850
Jno McLaughlin to M McLaughlin	Und one-third, n Fell, 137:6 e Laguna, e 27:6x120; also sundry lots O L	1,000
A Dwyer to Wm Wright	S 24th, 80 w York, w 20x80	3,000
E H Black to W H Thomas	Undiv one-half sundry O L	1,000
E W Burr to E F Northam	Undiv 5-6ths, nw Franklin and Green, n 130x148:2; also n Vallejo, 110:4 w of Franklin, 48:6x275	....
E F Northam to E W Burr	Undivided 1-6th sundry lots O L	5
Lorenzo Peri to Antonio Gotelli	Ne 29th Ave, 200 nw J st, 25x100, subdiv blk 617 Buy View Tract	100
Mas Sav & Ln Bk to C W Welby	Lot 23 blk 210 Gardenville Hd	400
P B Hewlett to J C Layton	N 19th, 105 w Sanchez, w 25x114	600

IS THE AUDIPHONE A SUCCESS?

Paragraphs have been going the rounds of the press, which, if true, are of happy import to persons whose sense of hearing is impaired. The News Letter has, from time to time, reprinted a number of those paragraphs, because they dealt with what appeared to be a most beneficent invention. The number of persons hereabout who are partially deaf is exceptionally large; their affliction is a great one, for which science has yet done but comparatively little. We are believers in the statement of Edison, that an instrument will yet be constructed that will do as much for the ears as spectacles do for the eyes. The allegation has had a wide circulation that the audiphone of R. S. Rhodes, of Chicago, is that instrument. It is in shape like a square Japanese fan, and is made of a composition the major portion of which is vulcanite. At the back there is a cord stretching from the upper edge to the handle, by means of which the instrument is bent to any extent that best serves the hearing of the person employing it. The edge of the audiphone is placed against the upper teeth, and the vibrations received on the surface are supposed to be conveyed by the teeth, and by their nerves to the auditory nerves, and produce upon them an action similar to that which is produced by sound upon the drum of the ear. That is what is claimed for the instrument. We wish we could say that the claim is well founded. The writer having cause for a personal interest in the matter, experimented with the audiphone, the other day, most patiently and thoroughly, and he regrets to say that, in his case, it proved a complete and entire failure. It may, however, be that there are forms of deafness that it is capable of benefiting. The Hon. Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune, writes in his paper as follows:

It is known that the Editor of this paper has been deaf for a number of years, and that during that time he has used all the devices for improving his hearing that he could find, or that were brought to him. None of them, however, were satisfactory. He has tried the audiphone for some weeks, and finds that it not only improves his hearing but restores the sense of hearing to him. Not merely does it answer when engaged in conversation with a person who is a foot, or a few feet, from him, but it answers perfectly at a concert. Each note of the musician and each tone of the singer come as clearly and distinctly as they did before the sense of hearing was impaired.

Mr. Medill is known throughout the country as a man of reliability, and his statements are to be accepted without question. That being so, every person afflicted with deafness should experiment with the audiphone for himself, for, while it has altogether failed in the writer's case, it may be that it possesses qualities that may prove useful in the case of others. We do not believe in the instrument, we know that the idea upon which it is based is scientifically inaccurate, and we incline to the opinion that Mr. Medill is largely deceived about the success which he thinks he has had with it. It may be that, in his case, his imagination deceives him, as it is very possible for it to do in regard to matters of sound. The wish may be father to the thought. We would not, however, discourage others from making experiments, and shall be glad to report any well authenticated case in which the results prove to be favorable. The audiphone has reached San Francisco, and is for sale at the office of the agent.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS SALA.

The promised visit of George Augustus Sala to America will be looked forward to with pleasure by a host of his admirers in this country. Newspapers, especially, should accord him a warm welcome, for no man, living or dead, has contributed more to elevate the standard of newspaper writing from the penny-a-liner's padded and stereotyped twaddle up to the pitch of excellence which it has attained in England, and to some extent in the United States. His facile pen—one of the most prolific of our times—has by no means, however, been confined to journalistic labor, for the books he has written would in themselves compose a very respectable library. They mainly relate to other countries than his own, for he has been a great traveler; but they come rather under the class of "impressions," or "sketches," than books of travel proper. Such, for example, are his "A Journey Due North, being Notes of a Residence in Russia in the Summer of 1856;" "My Diary in America, in the Midst of War;" "From Waterloo to the Peninsula;" "Notes and Sketches of the Paris Exposition;" "Rome and Venice," and "Under the Sun; Essays Written Mainly in Hot Countries." Among his many other works, the most notable are "Twice Round the Clock, or the Hours of the Day and Night in London;" "Seven Sons of Mammon;" "Strange Adventures of Captain Dangerous," and "Cookery in its Historical Aspects." His latest production has just been published, under the title of "Paris Herself Again." No less an authority than the London World says of this work and its author: "It is infinitely more amusing than most novels, and will give you information which you can turn to advantage, and innumerable anecdotes for the dinner-table and smoking-room. There is no style so chatty and so unwearying as that of which Mr. Sala is a master. Like Sydney Smith, he is fond of gossiping, and has some talents for it, bringing to his task a fund of humor, vast reading and powers of observation and memory-retention unparalelled."

As a contributor to periodical literature, Mr. Sala has made his mark in the Welcome Guest, Household Words, the Illustrated London News, and the Cornhill Magazine, though, of course, this does not exhaust a twentieth part of the list. The magazine called Temple Bar he established in 1860, and edited it himself. We have stated, in a former issue, that he was once the editor of Chat, a London weekly, of which the proprietor of this paper was owner. But that was as long ago as 1846. It is, however, as a newspaper correspondent that Sala shines pre-eminent. The Daily Telegraph has been fortunate enough to secure the lion's share of his services in this capacity. He was correspondent, in this country, for that paper during part of our civil war; he wrote for it from Algeria in 1864, from the Paris Exposition in 1867, from the seat of war in France, in 1870, from Rome, Venice, Algeria and Morocco in 1875, and has since been engaged in Canada and elsewhere. When some great pageant is to be described, Sala is at his best, as his memorable description of the Duke of Connaught's wedding will testify. Americans will look anxiously for his arrival, and will be curious to know what he will say about them on his return.

St. John's Presbyterian Church, Post street, between Mason and Taylor. Rev. Dr. Scott, Pastor, will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock; also at 7½ P. M. Sunday School and Bible Classes at 9½ A. M. Prayer and Praise Service at 6½ P. M.

TRICKY RUSSIA.

It is asserted that positive proofs of Russia's complicity in the Afghan trouble will shortly be forthcoming, though whether these proofs will show that she directly or indirectly instigated the massacre at the English Residency remains yet to be known. It seems scarcely credible that a nation, which assumes to be civilized, should counsel, or even countenance, a crime which for treachery and cowardice has been rarely equaled in history; but when we remember the bad faith and unworthy spirit of intrigue which Russia has ever shown in her relations with foreign Powers, we can almost believe her to be capable of anything that is base and underhanded. But, if it should turn out that the Afghans have acted by her instructions or advice, Russia certainly has no cause to congratulate herself upon the result. From first to last the war has been a signal triumph for the British, who, instead of being injured by it, have been vastly benefitted.

It is strange that repeated lessons cannot teach Russia that the age of wily intrigue has passed away, and that nowadays the nation that would gain a diplomatic point must attempt it by straightforward means. There was a time when it was thought the right of accomplished statesmanship for a nation to advance its own interests by setting other nations by the ears; but in these days such a policy only brings the Power that adopts it into contempt, more especially when it is unsuccessful.

Having been baffled in Afghanistan, defeated in Central Asia, and outwitted in her diplomatic relations with China, Russia now turns once more toward the scene of her recent exploits in Turkey. England is determined that the Porte shall keep its solemn engagements, and to enforce this has sent her fleet into Turkish waters. In this proceeding Russia affects to perceive all sorts of imaginary dangers, and even goes so far as to assert that Constantinople is threatened. The Russian papers are furious because the British Government is protecting the interests of Europe as well as England by putting the screw on the "unspeakable Turk." But all this sound and fury will not alter the attitude of England by a single hair's breadth. If the Turk will not behave himself and keep his word, he must be made to, and made to by those to whom he is responsible. He certainly owes Russia nothing, but to England he owes his present existence as a member of the European family.

AUSTRALIAN MAIL.

One of the pleasures we look forward to each month is the arrival of the Australian Mail, and the files of papers which it regularly brings. From our Victorian files we find our own sad experiences confirmed, that wherever democracy and its near allies, nihilism and communism, get a footing under profession of improving the condition of the laboring classes, they forthwith show their baneful effects in depression of trade, dearness of money, distrust of the wealthy traders, suspension of labor, and, as a consequence, poverty and suffering. The debates in the Victorian Parliament afford material for much serious consideration to the intelligent classes of California, while the "hursting up of large estates" finds an echo here in the breast of every true workingman democrat. But there are aspects of that matter to be noted in California which cannot be met with in Australia, and lend a color to the clamor of the democrat, by no means unreasonable. It is this: the style of cultivating the great estates for Wheat is such that nothing can save the land from speedy ruin, because it is impossible to manure the breadth under cultivation by single ranchers, as they are called here. Nothing is more certain than that barreness must follow when wheat is the perpetual drain of the soil, and nothing, not even straw, returned. The magnitude of some of those wheat ranches is such as no Australian would believe, running away into thousands of acres under the same crop year after year.

Melbourne Punch is this month more alive, if possible, than usual, and continues to flog Victorian democracy with a whip of scorpions. Up to the leaving of the mail, the Sydney International Exhibition seems to have given satisfaction to all parties concerned. Saturday is the all-comers'-day—admission only one shilling—and that is wise. Newspaper critiques of the exhibits in the various courts have assumed an admirable form; two or three leading exhibits are selected each day, out of several different courts, and their peculiar merits fairly discussed.

THE LATE GRAND JURY.

The last Grand Jury found a most extraordinary indictment in the case of Haskell. Either he was guilty of wilful murder or of nothing. Either he did the killing in self-defense or he did not. It follows that he ought to have been either indicted for the capital offense or honorably acquitted. The form of the accusation and the nature of the defense alike forbade the finding of any compromise indictment. Yet a compromise one was found that cannot be sustained by the testimony. An acquittal will necessarily result, and then will follow a suspicion that justice has not been done. We are pronouncing no opinion upon the main question of his guilt or innocency. We read some of the evidence for the defense that was given in the Police Court, and we confess that it made an impression upon us favorable to the accused. But if Haskell was justified in killing Schwartz, as a necessary act of self-defense, he was not guilty of manslaughter. If he was not so justified then he was guilty of murder. From the one position or the other there is no escape. An indictment for manslaughter is an absurdity, which it is impossible to suppose was advised by the District Attorney. If the Grand Jury did not think Haskell guilty of murder, and that they did not is evident from their action, then they ought to have acquitted him. The indictment won't stick and the trial will necessarily end in a dismissal. If that result is brought about by straight means, all right. Hints as to indirect methods are being thrown out by both sides. The time will come when it will serve the ends of justice to paint a moral and adorn a tale in this connection.

California Raisins.—Amongst other recent advances, we have to note an increase of 25 to 50 cents a box in California raisins. This is one of our resources that must in future be of great value. Hitherto most of those used in commerce have come from Provence, Calabria, Spain, Portugal, Smyrna, Damascus and Egypt. Sweet, fleshy grapes, such as grow on sunny slopes, are mostly selected for maturing into raisins. The bunches are pruned and the vine stripped of its leaves when the fruit has become ripe; the sun then beaming full upon the grapes completes the saccharification, and expels the superfluous water. The California raisins are fast obtaining a reputation throughout the East, and it only depends upon our producers to expel the product of foreign vineyards by preparing, as they can, a better article.—San Francisco Merchant.

Price per Copy, 10 Cents.] ESTABLISHED JULY, 20, 1856. [Annual Subscription, $5.

SAN FRANCISCO

NEWS LETTER

AND

California Advertiser.

DEVOTED TO THE LEADING INTERESTS OF CALIFORNIA AND THE PACIFIC COAST.

Vol. 30. SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, NOV. 15, 1879. No. 18.

PRICES OF LEADING STOCKS AND GOV. BONDS.

San Francisco.....November 14, 1879.

Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked	Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked
Cal. St. Bonds, 6's, '57, (nom)	100	102	Home Mutual Ins. Co.....	85	90
S. F. City & Co. B'ds, 6s, '58	Nom	Nom.	State Investment Ins. Co ..	105	108
S. F. C. & Co. B'ds, 7s (nom)	Nom.	Nom.	Union Ins. Co.....	112	115
Montg'y Av. Bonds (nom)..	65	70	City R. R.....	35	40
Dupont Street Bonds	80	90	Central R. R. Co.....	50	55
Sacramento City Bonds....	26	28	Clay Street Hill R. R	22	—
Stockton City Bonds, 6's...	90	95	Market Street R. R.....	6	—
Yuba County Bonds, 8's....	103	100	N. B. and Mission R. R....	66	70
Santa Clara Co. Bonds, 7's .	105	107	Omnibus R. R.....	30	32
C. P. R. R. Stock.....	85	90	Potrero and Bay View R. R.	30	35
S. P. R. R. Bonds	110½	110½	Giant Powder Co	135	145
Oakland City Bonds, 8's....	112	115	Atlantic Giant Powder.....	85	95
Bank of California (old st'k)	72½	75	S. F. Gaslight Co (ex div)...	90½	91
First National.....	90	95	Oakland Gas Co.....	34½	35½
Pacific	120	130	California Powder Co.....	97	100
California Ins. Co.....	103	112	S. V. W. W. Co (ex div)....	85	85½
Commercial Ins. Co.....	75	80	Nevada Co. N. G. R. R. Bds	93	95
Fireman's Fund Ins. Co....	118	125	Virginia & Truckee " "	100	102½

The demand for prime investment securities continues, which are very scarce at our quotations. There are no really first-class City or County Bonds unsold, and it is almost useless to give quotations. The Spring Valley Water Works' First Mortgage Bonds are nearly all sold, and the price might now be quoted at 99 to 100.

ANDREW BAIRD, 312 California street.

Beerbohm's Telegram. — LONDON AND LIVERPOOL, November 14th, 1879.—Floating Cargoes, quiet but steady: Cargoes on Passage, —; Mark Lane Wheat, —; No. 2 Spring off Coast, 50s. 6d.@51s.; Red Winter off Coast, 53s.; California off Coast, 54s. 6d.; California Nearly Due, 55s.; California Just Shipped, 54s.; No. 2 Spring for Shipment, 50s.; Liverpool Spot Wheat, inactive; California Club No. 1 Standard, 11s. 8d.; California Club No. 2 Standard, 11s. 3d.; California Average—Western, 11s. 8d.; White Michigan, 11s. 2d.; Red Western Spring, 9s. 2d.@9s. 7d.; Extra State Flour in London, 14s. 9d.; Extra State Flour in Liverpool, 14s. 9d.; Liverpool Western Mixed Corn, 4s. 7½d.; Liverpool Canadian Peas, 8s. 4d.; N. Y. St. Ex., 80½@83½d.; Liverpool Wheat, 10s. 8d.@11s. 6d.; Club, 11s. 5d.@11s. 10d; Market, quiet but weak.

Harvest Statistics. — It may be of general interest to mention that in the twelve months from September 1, 1878, to August 31, 1879, there were imported into the United Kingdom 51,725,435 cwt. of wheat, equal 11,936,639 quarters; 9,124, 338 cwt. of wheat-flour, or 2,606,968 quarters; 7,994,624 cwt. of harley, or 2,798,494 quarters; 12,143,645 cwt. of oats, or 4,412,234 quarters; 1,566,841 cwt. of peas, or 348,098 quarters; 1,700,288 cwt. of beans, or 396,717 quarters; and 38,621,787 cwt. of Indian corn, or 9,011,750 quarters. The total is 124,866,538 cwt., equal to 31,510,900 qrs. In the preceding twelve months it was 134,430,348 cwt., or 33,858,689 qrs. The import of wheat and wheat-flour was 51,509,578 cwt., or 12,321,445 quarters in the thelve months ending August 31, 1877; 62,255,125 cwt., or 14,808,966 quarters in the twelve months ending August 31, 1878; and 50,849,823 cwt., or 14,543,607 quarters in the twelve months ending August 31 of the present year.

Tourists in Switzerland.—One million four hundred thonsand foreigners crossed the Swiss frontier hetween January 1 and Septemher 30, 1879, Great Britain contributing one-fifth of the entire snm, Germany one-half, Russia one-twentieth, France and Denmark three-twentieths, America and other countries one-tenth. The expenditure of the three hundred and fifty thousand Teutons averaged no more than fifty francs a head. The expenditure of the other nationalities lumped together averaged over two hundred francs a head. Tourists have spent two hundred and twenty-seven millions of francs, or nine millions eighty thousand pounds sterling, in Switzerland during the holiday season, one million five hundred thousand pounds of which were disbursed by the British division.

Annuities to the Royal Family.—In the last financial year the annuities paid to the Royal Family amounted to £156,620 13s. 9d.

Wheat from Russia.—In the last nine months the declared value of wheat imported from Russia was $2,725,135, against £3,053,395 in the previous year.

Land Tax.—The net sum realized from the tax on land and tenements was in the last financial year £1,075,511 12s. 6½d.—Public Opinion.

Lotta, the actress, has bought two pieces of land in New York city for $25,000 and $10,000 respectively.

Office of the San Francisco News Letter, Merchant Street, Nos. 607 to 615, San Francisco.

GOLD BARS—890@910—SILVER BARS—5@15 ₱ cent. disc. Mexican Dollars, 3½@4 per cent. nominal.

☞ Exchange on New York. ¼@1-5 per cent.; On London, 'Bankers, 49¾; Commercial, 50⅛@50¼d. Paris, sight, 5 francs per dollar. Telegrams, 25@35 per cent.

☞ Latest price of Sterling, 480½@483½.

☞ Price of Money here, ¾@1 per cent. per month—hank rate. In the open market, 1@1½. Demand active.

The Stock Market.—No material change has taken place since our last writing, and the situation remains unchanged, so far as operations at the mines are concerned. The decline in Union is said to he caused on account of the discontinuance of the east cross-cut from the shaft, and delay attending operations in Sierra Nevada. Little or no business is heing done, pending results, and, as a consequence, the market drags wearily along from day to day. In Hale & Norcross and Savage, it is generally understood that the recent strike is comparatively unimportant, as the stock seems to he freely supplied from some plethoric source. Outside stocks are dull and without particular change.

Latest from the Merchant's Exchange.—NEW YORK, Nov. 14th, 1879. United States Bonds—4s, 103½; 4½s, 106⅝; 5s. 102½. Sterling Exchange, 4 80½@4 83½. Pacific Mail, 33½. Wheat, 136@142. Western Union, 107½. Hides, 23@24. Oil—Sperm, 100@103. Winter Bleached, 105@113. Whale Oil, 42@45; Winter Bleached, 50@56. Wool—Spring, fine, 24@33; Burry. 12@14; Pulled, 27@36; Fall Clips, 17@20; Burry, 15@20. LONDON, Nov. 14th.—Liverpool Wheat Market, 10s. 8d.@11s. 6d.; Club, 11s. 5d.@11s. 10d. U. S. Bonds, 5's, 105⅝; 4's, 106⅝; 4½'s, 108¾. Consols, 99⅞.

The hair of the Presidents of the United States, from Washington to Pierce in 1853, is carefully preserved in the Patent Office at Washington. Most of the locks are hleached hy age, Washington's hair heing nearly pure white, hut fine and smooth, while Jefferson's is a mixture of white and auburn, and rather coarse, and General Jackson's locks are also coarse. Since Buchanan succeeded to the Presidency, in 1857, the custom has been dropped.

The "Christian Union," of the 5th inst. says: Not since the years of the war has Wall street witnessed so gigantic a series of speculations as those which have prevailed during the past two months. Stocks have heen lifted from worthlessness to dizzy hights of speculative value, the appreciation being, as it seemed, greatest where the intrinsic worth of the security is the least.

Col. Fair presented Mrs. Grant, on her visit to the Consolidated Virginia, with a phial marked "one-half of my first day's work in California, 1849." Its value in dust did not exceed $40, hut as a souvenir it was heyond all price. All we can say at present is this: The Colonel most righteously deserves the good fortune which has hefallen him.

The Commercial Union Assurance Company, of London, represented so efficiently in this city hy John Rae Hamilton, Manager for the Pacific Coast, and R. H. Naunton, Special Agent, is now established in its new and elegaut office at 210 Sansome street, where it will continue, we trust, its career of success.

C. P. Huntington has transmitted to the Treasury, under protest, the amount due hy the Central Pacific to the Railroad Sinking Fund. He intimates that the Company will attempt to make another test case in the Courts.

Sugar.—The market is strong for all kinds: White 14@14¼c, Yellow and Golden 12@12¾. There are no Raws here, outside of the Refinery. Stocks of all kinds light.

London, November 13th.—A dispatch from Malta announces that the British fleet is ready to sail at a moment's notice.

Only 25 per cent. of our exports and imports during the past year were carried hy American vessels.

London, Nov. 14, 1879.—Latest Price of Consols, 99 7-8.

Printsd and Puhlishsd by ths Propristor, Frsderick Marriott, 607 to 615 Merchant Strsst, San Francisco, California.

SKELETON SKETCHES.--No. 12.

[BY T. A. HARCOURT.]

The Foster Sisters.

In the beautiful little English village of Uplands there was none so fair as Ellen, the only child of old farmer Leigh; nor was there any more beloved, for she was as good and kind and happy-hearted as she was lovely to look upon. Her father's cottage and little farm lay near the gate of a vast park, in the midst of which, hidden among mighty trees, was an ancient and princely mansion. There dwelt, for many months in each year, the rich and proud old Earl of Claverton, lord and owner of Uplands and of half the county besides. There dwelt, also, the Lady Ethel, the Earl's only child and heiress. The Countess of Claverton had died at the birth of this daughter, and Ellen, having fortunately just been born, good Mrs. Leigh was called upon to share her mother's milk between her own child and that of the great lord's, which she willingly and proudly did. Three years later this bountiful nurse had also died, and thus both the little girls were left motherless. But this circumstance was not the only point of likeness between the foster-sisters. In form and feature they strongly resembled each other, though whether their common source of nourishment had anything to do with this is a matter beyond my knowledge. Of course, as they grew up, their widely different associations set a distinct stamp upon the high-bred beauty, which not even the village gossips could claim for the artless country girl; but, nevertheless, a strong resemblance of face, and voice, and figure, and manner, remained; and when they were together—as they often were, for they loved each other very dearly—had it not been for a mere matter of dress, one would have sworn they were real sisters. They were alike in another thing, too—they were both in love. Ellen loved Robin Cranfield, the handsome young farmer, whose lands adjoined her father's, and what was more, she was going to be married to Robin with her father's glad consent. That was settled, and the whole village knew it and was delighted. But it was not to be for three years, for in those parts they have long engagements. Lady Ethel's lover was Allan Hetherly, a young squire whose ample estate lay ten miles from Uplands. But, alas! her course of true love did not run so smoothly as her foster sister's. The old Earl had formerly liked the young squire exceedingly, and had encouraged him to visit Claverton Court, for he was a merry companion, and very quick-eyed in seeing and suggesting what was needed on the Claverton estate, which, as his lordship was gouty and could not get about, was a very useful service for the young man to render. But when, one fine morning, Allan boldly asked for the Lady Ethel's hand, and proclaimed their mutual love, the old noble had nearly had an apoplectic fit, and, with many furious curses, had metaphorically sent the presumptuous lover to the devil, besides forbidding him to ever see or speak to his daughter again. How much of this storm was vented on Ethel's pretty head nobody knew, but the very next day her father took her away to a seat he had on the Welch coast, and for two seasons before the date of this history Claverton Court had been shut up. Now, however, the family had at length returned.

Now, during this enforced separation, Ethel had given an evidence of her devotion to and confidence in her lover which I think few young ladies of the present day would emulate; for she had written to him, under covers addressed to her foster-sister, notwithstanding it was absolutely impossible for him to smuggle a letter to her in return; for all her letters were, by her stern parent's strict command, taken to him to be opened and read. Therefore, not even the sympathizing Ellen could convey so much as a hint to poor Ethel, and for all she knew her lover might have been married or dead, while she was pouring out her affection for him through the penny post.

It may well be believed that Allan Hetherly came regularly to Farmer Leigh's place for his letters; always, of course, pretending to have some business with the old man, as, indeed, he generally managed to have in reality, greatly to the benefit of the farmer's purse. Now, Robin was in the dark concerning the true cause of these visits, for Ellen would have deemed herself recreant to her trust had she betrayed her foster-sister's secret even to her lover. But Robin was shrewd, and he marveled exceedingly what could bring the squire so far from his own estate to make a paltry purchase of a cow or a sheep or two. Moreover, Robin noticed that if Ellen was out when Allan came the latter would delay his business till she came back, and more than once he caught them whispering together. Naturally Robin grew jealous, and jealousy is lynx-eyed, so one day he saw his betrothed slyly slip a letter into the Squire's hand. To say that he turned pale would not paint the ashy whiteness that overspread his ruddy face; to compare the expression in his eyes as he looked at the unconscious Allan to that in a tiger's as he faces his rival, would be but a feeble simile. "I will settle with him afterwards," he muttered, however, and he let Allan go, which the latter did immediately after getting the letter.

Then Robin turned upon the girl, and, taking her by the arm with his strong hand, led, or rather forced her from her father's presence into the garden.

"O, don't, Robin, you hurt!" cried the girl, shrinking from his rough grasp. Then, for the first time, she looked up in his face, and nearly fainted at what she saw there. "Why, Robin," she stammered, almost as white as he, "what—is—the—matter?"

"The matter!" he answered fiercely, letting go of her arm, however. "Matter enough! What was that letter you gave him?"

To this rather incoherent question she of course replied, being a woman: "What letter?" And he, being only a brute of a man, of course looked fiercer than ever, and said savagely: "I saw you give him a letter."

When a woman is wrongly suspected she is brave. "You did," she answered, with calm defiance.

"What about?"

"It's none of your business, Robin Cranfield."

"Oh, indeed! (sarcastically). Then good morning, Miss Leigh, and—good-bye."

If the trouble had ended with the good cry that Ellen had "all alone by herself"—vowing though, at the same time, that she would never betray her friend—and the half-repentent mood of honest Robin, all would have been well. But the worst was yet to come. A man is as curious as a woman, time-honored tradition to the contrary notwithstanding, and Robin was resolved to know more if it killed him. Unhappy man! As he lurked about the house of his discarded lady-love in the gloaming, two days after the dreadful discovery, and just the same time after the Clavertons had returned to their long deserted home, he heard voices under the trees just within the park paling. Why did he approach stealthily? Why did he court his heart's ruin to see—as they emerged from the shadow into the moonlight—that Mephistopheles of a squire walking with his arm about Ellen's waist and whispering sweet somethings into her ear? There was no mistake. He knew the scarlet cloak and hood, which he had so often watched for in the market-place. He knew the shapely figure—aye, and he knew the mellow voice.

The English peasant is not an assassin, else Allan Hetherly would have never seen the sun rise again.

"Her father shall witness this," groaned Robin. But his impetuous knock at the door was answered by Ellen Leigh.

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Space is infinite, say the philosophers, but to me, space (of the printer's kind) is inexorably finite. Therefore I will not dilate upon the explanation which Ellen's ghost (as Robin thought it) condescended to give, further than to say that her cloak and hood disguised the Lady Ethel, who three months later married her faithful Squire. For the old Earl confessed —and had to confess—that he would rather see her marry Beelzebub than die an old maid, which she swore to his teeth she would do if he denied her the choice of her heart. Nor will I dwell upon the festivities of the twin wedding which made Robin Cranfield and Ellen Leigh man and wife.

TAXES! TAXES!
1879-80.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Taxable Property of the City and County of San Francisco, Real Estate and Personal Property (subsequent Assessment Book included), for the Fiscal Year 1879-80, has this day been received; that the State, City and County TAXES for said Fiscal Year are now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall, and the Laws in regard to their collection will be strictly enforced.

TAXES will become delinquent on the First Monday in January, 1880, and unless paid prior thereto, five per cent. will be added to the amount thereof.

WILLIAM FORD,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

ASSESSMENT OF LANDS
BENEFITED BY
WIDENING DUPONT STREET.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Real Estate which is subject for the Payment of Principal and Interest upon "Dupont-street Bonds," as directed by an Act of the Legislature of California to authorize the Widening of Dupont street, in the City of San Francisco, "Approved March 23d, A.D. 1876," has this day been placed in my hands for collection The Laws in regard to the collection of the same will be strictly enforced.

WILLIAM FORD,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

MONTGOMERY AVENUE ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of Real Estate, which is subject to assessment to defray expenses incurred by the Opening of Montgomery Avenue, has this day been placed in my hands to collect the Assessment thereon.

Said Assessment is for the Fiscal Year of 1879-80, and is now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall. All Assessments remaining unpaid on the FIRST MONDAY IN JANUARY, 1880, will have five per cent. added thereto.

WILLIAM FORD,
Tax Collector for the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

WAKELEE'S AUREOLINE

Produces the Beautiful Golden Hair so Much Admired.

SUPERIOR TO THE IMPORTED ARTICLE

—BY REASON OF ITS—

FRESHNESS AND CARE USED IN ITS PRODUCTION.

PRICE, LARGE BOTTLES. $2.

Manufactured by H. P. WAKELEE & CO., Druggists, corner Montgomery and Bush streets, S. F. [Aug. 2.

CALIFORNIA SUGAR REFINERY,

Manufacturers of the Standard Syrup, a superior article put up in barrels expressly for home consumption. Also, Extra Heavy Syrup in barrels for Export. Refined Sugars at lowest market rates. Office, 215 Front street, up stairs. Dec. 21.

JOHN JENNINGS

Hooper's South End Warehouses, corner Japan and Townsend streets, San Francisco. First-class Fire-Proof Brick Building, capacity 10,000 tons. Goods taken from the Dock and the Cars of the C. P. R. R. and S. P. R. R. free of charge. Storage at Current Rates. Advances and Insurance Effected.

EOWARD BOSQUI & CO.,

Printers, Engravers, Lithographers and Bookbinders,

Leidesdorff street, from Clay to Commercial.

UNITED STATES AND FOREIGN PATENT OFFICES.

C. W. M. Smith, Counselor and Advocate in Patent Cases, 429 Montgomery street, San Francisco. Established 1862. Specialty: Patents, Trade-Marks, Patent-Law. Sept. 20.

QUICKSILVER.

For sale---In lots to suit, by Thomas Bell & Co., No. 305 Sansome street, over Bank of California. Nov. 16.

A CITY'S SOLITUDE.

Lonely, Father above, how lonely!
Alone with my tears and none to pity;
No companions but sad thoughts only
All alone in the crowded city.
When will the clouds pass from o'er the sun,
When will despair and darkness be done,
When will a friend come I ask but one?

Day dies out in its twilight's gloaming,
Night with its grief mocking glitter follows,
The lamps look down on my friendless roaming,
Seeking in crowds for a glance of solace.
The human torrent goes sweeping by
With bright, or tearful or pensive eye—
The weed thrown up on the shore is I.

Then, when the midnight bells are chiming,
Home again to my dreary dwelling,
Up the desolate stairway climbing
Heart with utter loneliness swelling.
Not one eye to grow more bright,
Not one living thing in sight,
Not one friend to say, "good night."

Morning comes, and the sunlight gladly
Wakens the world to another morrow;
Well I know that he only sadly
Ushers me in to a day of sorrow.
Others have their duty or aim,
Household pleasure or busy claim.
To me each sunrise is the same.

Oh, that trouble is scarce a trouble
When the shoulder of friendship shares it;
Unto solitude it is double—
Strong indeed is the brain that bears it.
Even pleasure is not a joy,
Even beauty is but a toy—
Sorrow only hath no alloy.

Never is my solitude broken
Save by steps of the heedless masses.
The only sentences I hear spoken
Drop in my ear as some stranger passes.
When will the clouds pass from o'er the sun,
When will despair and its darkness be done,
When will a friend come—I ask but one! G. H. J.

THE LESSON OF THE SPANISH FLOODS.

The lesson of the Spanish floods is this: that Nature always exacts a penalty for any infringement of her laws. All over the Iberian peninsula the forests have been denuded, until, in most of the mountain regions, naught remains but the cork tree, almost as sterile as the soil. The consequence is, that in the rainy seasons the waters pour unobstructedly down upon the valleys, filling and overflowing the shallow streams, and spreading ruin and destruction broadcast.

In the time of the Carthaginians and Romans, Spain was well wooded and well watered—one of the garden spots of the ancient civilization; but first came the placer mines to wash their debris into the rivers, shoaling them, and then the barbarians, who swept away the forests to make room for perennial devastation. It was not all done at once, nor even in generations, but finally the great evil was accomplished, and of a verity "the sins of the parents are visited upon their children." Where forests formerly flourished there is now only the brown and parched Sierras, and where noble rivers furnished ample transportation there are now only shallow streams. While humanity compels us to sorrow at the awful destruction of life and property by the recent floods, and while charity suggests that we should generously assist the sufferers, we owe a greater duty to ourselves in profiting by the lesson furnished. Our climate is similar to that of Spain, and our bare mountain ridges closely resemble those of the Sierra Morena in Andalusia. To the same pitch must we come at last, if we permit the wanton destruction of our forests, such as we have suffered since the foundation of the State. Year by year this destructiou has continued; thousands upon thousands of acres of forest land have been ruthlessly destroyed, but how few the acres planted instead! Scores of lumber mills scattered along the coast and in the Sierras have been converting these primeval forests into lumber for commercial purposes, until the competition has become ruinous even to the destroyers; thousands of woodchoppers are engaged in cutting away the white and live oak, and manzanita, that grow upon our foothills and in the valleys; bunters frequently fire a forest to get at the game, or through carelessness. And so, in a multitude of other ways, we are laying up a judgment that must be paid hy our posterity.

If we have yet any statesmen left—men who can see into the future through the lessons of the past, we trust at the next assembling of the Legislature they will take adequate steps to remedy this great and growing evil, and see to it that we transmit this incomparable State to our successors not less than we found it.

Wherever a forest tree is cut down there should be one plantsd, and on lands now belonging to the State, and destitute of trees, plantations should be started under the proper auspices. If politic, a bonus should hs paid for trees planted on private lands, after they shall have attained a ten years' growth. And in order that these things may he propsrly attended to, forest wardens should he appointed for that purpose.

Thus may the lessons of the Spanish floods be made to inure to our benefit and that of those who are to come after us.

"Live and Let Live."—Village Doctor (to the gravedigger, who is given to whisky): "Ah, John! I'm sorry to see you in this pitiable condition again!" Gravedigger: "Toots, sir! Can ye no' let a'e little fau't o' mine gae by? It's mony a muckle ans o' yours I ha'e happit owre, an' said naething about!"—Punch.

A correspondent wants to know what to do when a dog shows signs of hydrophobia. We should climb a tres.—Boston Post.

Artistic Novelties, manufactured from California quartz, at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

NOTES FROM "VANITY FAIR."

We were talking the other day to a very distinguished man who has a very complete acquaintance with the East, from having not only lived in India, Central Asia and Persia, but also from having made an especial study of Eastern politics, on which he has written with great ability. "General Skobeleff," said he, "who is a frank, soldierly man, said to me, 'We, of course, tell the world that we have no ulterior intentions in our annexations in Central Asia, but you know too much about the matter to be taken in. The fact is, that Russian Policy and English Policy are antagonistic I am sorry for it because I like the English, but so it is, and as it is so we have to deal with it. Now, in Europe you have all the advantage. You can shut up your ports and ruin us, and we can't get at you at all, since you are stronger on the sea than we are. But in India you have a soft and a vital spot. We have never yet supposed that we could invade India or proposed to do so; but what we can do is to press on your Indian frontier and to send agents among the Indians, who, being a conquered race, are ready to be worked upon; and, whatever you may do in Europe or elsewhere, we can then answer in India by stirring up troubles there and hy making it impossible for you to hold the country. As you advance so shall we advance, and when our frontiers touch we shall hold over you India in reply to anythiug you may attempt elsewhere. Your Government know this and dare not face it. And meantime we rely on the fools who really rule in your country." This is so absolute a confirmation of what has always been declared in these colnmns that, if it had not been said by General Skobeleff, it might have been written in Vanity Fair.

Serious and specific overtures have recently been made by the Government of Russia to that of France for an alliance hetween the two countries. Tbese overtures would probably have been accepted but for M. Gambetta, who pointed out to the Ministry that an alliance with Russia must mean that Franes would bavs to find her witb money and probably with troops; that as against auy prohahls enemies of France Russia could bs of little service; and that above all shs was not to be relied upon to he faithful to any alliance longer than her own immediate necessities required. Upon this the overtures of tbe Russian Court bave been civilly rejected.

Here is a fact. The Russian army, all told, consists now of 1,700,000 men, and in thres years it will, if the present system is continued, consist of three millions of men.

SWEET JOHN DUNN.

Sweet John Dunn, British Resident in Zululand, grows more malodorous every day. Sweet John is not only a Zulu in his habits, hut he thoroughly objects to missionaries, and refuses to allow them to enter the district over which be presides—or perhaps, as his post is that of Resident, I should say over which he "rssides." It is whispsred that jealousy is at the hottom of John's refusal. He doesn't want the white-choker gentlemen teaching the dusky Mrs. Dunns a lot of nonsense. First of all, they will he told to wear more clothes. Eighty-six new dresses would be no joke. Then they will all want to become Christians, and to be lawfully united to John. Eighty-six wedding-rings at a guinea! Then the missionaries would explain to them that the littls Dunns should go to school and learn to read and write. Three hundred and forty-three little Dunns to provide with "Mavor's Spelling-Book" and slates! Then the Mrs. Dunns would be wanting to go to prayer-meeting of an evening, and they would meet the other Zulu ladies and tell tales; and then perhaps thsy would be kept late at prayer meeting, and want latcb-keys to save dear John sitting up. Eighty-six latch-keys! Then they might think the missionary better-looking than John, and treat him to John's brandy and John's pork-pies and pickles when John was out. Yes, on the whole John is quite right to object to missionaries. I shouldn't like a missionary to come worrying about my premises—why should ths Zulus be pestered with them! Cetewayo was had enough!—London Express.

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

Bullion Mining Company.--Location of Principal Place of Business, San Francisco, California.—Location of Works, Gold Hill Mining District, Storey County, Nevada.—Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the first (1st) day of November, 1879, an assessment (No. 12) af Fifty (50c.) Cents per share was levied upon the capital stock of the Company, payable immediately, in United States gold coin, to the Secretary, at the office of the Company, Room 3, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California.

Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on WEDNESDAY, the THIRD day of DECEMBER, 1879, will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction; and unless payment is made before, will be sold on WEDNESDAY, tbe TWENTY-FOURTH day of DECEMBER, 1879, to pay the delinquent assessment, together with the cost of advertising and expenses of sale. By order of the Board of Directors. [Nov. 8.] J. M. BRAZELL, Secretary.

STOCK DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Office of the Gila Silver Mining Company, Room 7, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California, October 21st, 1879.—At a special meeting of the Stockholders of the above-named Company, held this day, a Stock Dividend of twenty per cent. was declared, payable immediately, out of the Capital Stock owned by the Company. All Stockholders are requested to send their Stock to the office of the Company before November 24th, 1879, and receive tbe dividend due thereon.

Nov. 8. WM. W. PARRISH, Secretary.

D. HICKS & CO.,

Bookbinders and Blank Book Manufacturers,
NO. 543 CLAY STREET.

☞ Blank Books Ruled, Printed and Bound to Order. [Nov. 8.

NOTICE.

At a meeting of the Local Board of Directors of the LIVERPOOL AND LONDON AND GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY, held October 11th, 1879, MR. GEORGE MEL was appointed Resident Secretary pro tem of the Pacific department of said Company.

Oct. 18. WM. F. BABCOCK, Chairman.

DOGS.

G. Everill, the Celebrated Canine Doctor from London, can be consulted for treatment or purchase. Fee, $1. Address,
G. EVERILL, 528 California street.

☞ Sure cure for worms, distemper, canker and mangs sent free by mail on receipt of $1. Oct. 18.

"PLEASURE'S WAND."

"We Obey no Wand but Pleasure's."—Tom Moore.

Herold's Concerts.—The last concert of the series was hnt fairly attended, unfavorahle weather militating against a large turn-out of the ladies. The programme was satisfactorily performed. A new series is announced to commence after Jannary 1st. The comparative failure of these matinees is a matter of great regret. They have heen the only opportunities offered this community to enjoy orchestral mnsic. While it is evident that on the part of the public there exists a total lack of the necessary appreciation, there are undoubtedly on the part of the management some short-comings. This place is, in most respects, an ahnormal one. It is cosmopolitan in the extreme; a camp of all nations, with tastes and ideas of all sorts. It is also a city where recreation and rest is almost unknown. In the frantic race for wealth it is husiness—husiness and nothing else. There is no class of people of leisnre, such as exists in all civilized conntries—people who possess means and enjoy them, and who form the foundation of art patronage. Afternoon performances in this city are therefore restricted to female audiences, with hut a slight sprinkling of the stronger sex. The management should take all these pecnliarities into consideration and he governed accordingly. A few suggestions present themselves, which seem to he advisable ones—a return to Platt's Hall, for the simple reason that it is in the midst of husiness traffic and therefore easy of access to the men; and then—however hard a sacrifice it entails upon true lovers of mnsic—popnlarization of the style of music weekly offered. This is not a musically educated community, and symphonies are to it meaningless and tedious compositions. Elahorate transcriptions, overtures, sensational orchestral works and popular waltzes—this is the style of music tbat pleases our barhariains. An adagio or a menuetto from some classical author may he introduced once in a while—at intervals. It is a sad confession to make, that this enlightened (?) city can not snpport an orchestra.

Baldwin's Theater.—The Day After the Wedding is an amusing trifle, of hut little importance. It was done more than justice to hy Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and Messrs. O'Neill and Bradley. This served as a lever de rideun for Our Boarding House, a comedy so well known on our hoards as to render any mention unnecessary. It was at hest hut fairly played. Miss Carey was the same sweet, meek "Beatrice Manheim" that all theater-goers remember from the time the piece was prodnced at the Grand Opera House. She invested the character with true womanly sentiment, and delineated the virtuous humility pervading the part with rare taste. "Fioretti" was rather indifferently acted hy Lewis Morrison. The dialect was spasmodically given, and be failed to reproduce the exaggeration of gesture common to the Latin race. Bishop, as "Gillypod," was—Bishop. As "Col. M. T. Elevator," Jennings lacked the hombast and self-confidence that constitute the characteristics of the sanguine specnlator. Little Maud Adams is a very natural child-actress, hut her singing is hardly on a par with her acting. Fair houses have heen the rule.

Standard Theater.—Dr. Clyde is a comedy requiring exceptionally good acting to he acceptahle. The plot is in itself tbin, and the characters demand strong individualization. There are no dramatic incidents to keep up the interest; this result must he achieved hy a forcihle and marked delineation of the different dramatis personæ. "Dr. Clyde," the central figure, is a man of cold and cynical exterior, with kindness and goodness of heart underlying it, a heing arbitrary and dogmatic in his knowledge of the world, but with a snhstrata of gentleness and affection. Mr. Chaplin's efforts to portray this character are singularly inefficient. There is no assumption of the ahove mentioned characteristics. It is simply a piece of declamation without intellectuality. Mr. Owens, as "Higgins," is irresistihly funny. It is a droll character in itself, hut in Owens' hands hecomes more so. It is a finished performance, perfect in every detail. Though the cast contained several names of talent, it can he said that the acting throughout was excessively mediocre.

Orchestral Union.—This organization of amateurs gave their first invitation concert on Monday evening. Under the ahle direction of Mr. Wm. Toepke, a well-known local musician, the orchestra has attained a degree of proficiency which, taking everything under consideration, is remarkahle and commendahle. The programme was a varied one, showing the possession on the part of the Union of an extensive repertoire. The different numhers were all, with the solitary exception of a gavotte, which was played ahout one-half too fast, excellently executed. Among the members of the Union are several able soloists, who distinguished themselves on this occasion. It is pleasant to record for this concert a thorough success.

German Theater.—The storm of Sunday somewhat interfered with a large attendance at this theater on that evening. Those present enjoyed themselves heartily, for it was an admirahle performance in all respects. Miss Fiehach was as charming as ever, and Mr. Urban succeeded in exciting the risihilities of the audience to the utmost hy his comicalities. All the rest of the cast were, as usual, in capital form. Mr. Diehl, whose efforts at the commencement of the season were decidedly unsatisfactory, has shown that this was due to his appearing in parts unsnited to his talents. He has since developed capital comedy capabilities, and has become quite a favorite. For to-morrow Durchgegangene Weiber, a posse of remarkahle humor, is announced.

Bush Street Theater.—The Magic Slipper has heen played a second week to fair houses. A few new songs have been introduced hy Roseau, Chapman and Roland Reed. A feature of this troupe is the excellent taste displayed in the costumes. They are all very pretty, and are worn with a good deal of chic by the bevy of fair girls. Prominent among them for good looks and grace are Miss Adah Lee and Miss Annie Deacon. The latter is an unusually heautiful girl. Next Monday Oxygen will he produced. This is a burlesque founded on a well-known story of Jules Verne's.

California Theater.—The reopening of this theater, on Monday evening, is an event upon which congratnlations are in order. Frank Mayo will appear as "Van," in Bartley Camphell's play, The Virginian. This is a play which has heen well received hoth in New York and London, and will undouhtedly be on this occasion well acted and produced.

Miss Ellen Coursen has made arrangements to give a series of operatic performances in costume. The initial performance, under the auspices of the ladies of tho French Choral Society, will take place at Dashaway Hall on Thursday, November 20, 1879.

Chit-Chat.—Mrs. George Francis Train died in New York on Octoher 29th, of paralysis of the heart.——It is announced that, for twelve performances to he given in Spain during the wedding festivities of King Alfonso, Christine Nilsson is to receive the sum of ninety thousand francs.——The Yale College Glee Clnh has decided to make a western trip during the Christmas vacation, and give five or six concerts.——Neilson will play four weeks at Baldwin's. Her terms are sixty per cent. of the gross receipts, guaranteed five hundred dollars a night.——Richard Wagner, the composer, contemplates passing the winter in Naples, Italy.——In Milan, Italy, there are eighty-five estahlishments engaged in the snpply of theatrical costnmes and properties, and no fewer than one thousand persons are employed in the manufacture of silk tights alone.——Jersey City hoasts of a dramatic critic who preaches on Sunday and practices on Saturday night.——Bennett's profits from the N. Y. Herald amounted last year to $156,000.——Felix Morris and wife have arrived in New York.——Herne and Belasco have reached Chicago. If they survive after producing there their original plays, tbey will next raid New York.

THE WOLF AND THE LAMB.

As a general rule, the Turk does not pose very well as a lamh, however naturally Russia might play the part of wolf; hut, in view of the alliance reported to be in contemplation between these Powers, seems likely to practically illustrate the old fahle. The idea of such an nnnatural union seems almost too absurd to entertain for a moment. If Turkey wishes to he hetrayed like Afghanistan, hullied like Roumania, sat npon like Persia, or subjugated like the Central-Asia Khanates, then let her conclude this treaty. But if she wishes to keep her place in Europe—shahhy though that place is—she bad hetter have no friendly dealings with the Muscovite. Out of debt and trouhle of every sort, England has always helped Turkey; not, perhaps, from entirely disinterested motives, hut still she has done it, and the motive, after all, was a secondary matter. It has been England's interest to see that the integrity of Turkey was maintained, especially so far as Russia could affect it. It is only yesterday that she saved Constantinople itself from the greedy Tartar's talons. Undouhtedly, if Turkey now assumes a hostile position toward her ancient henefactor and protector, it will still he England's policy to keep Russia away from Stamhoul; hut, in that case, it will no longer he allowed for the Turk to keep the city, either. Who, then, shall have it? We know a flag that floats wherever the sun shines. If the contemplated treaty should be concluded (and we do not helieve that it will he), that same flag will cast its shadow over the mosques of Constantinople as surely as this world goes round.

STANDARD THEATER.

M. A. Kennedy, Manager.--This (Saturday) Evening, Nov. 15th, Every Evening during the Week (except Sunday) and Grand Matinee this Afternoon at 2 o'clock. Sixth Week of the Popular Owens' Comedy Season. Will be produced, for the first time in San Francisco, after careful preparation, with New Scenery, Elegant Stage Appointments, and Great Star Cast, the 5-Act Comedy from the German, "Dr. Klaus," entitled

Dr. Clyde!

MR. JOHN E. OWENS as "Higgins" (the alleged factotum of Dr. Clyde, "as it were.") Special Engagement of MR GEORGE D. CHAPLIN (who will appear in his original character of "Dr. Clyde"); MR. BARTON HILL as "Lord Hammond;" Mr. Russell Bassett, Mr. M. A. Kennedy, Miss Adeline Stanhope, Miss Gertie Granville, Miss Kate Denin, Miss A. A. Adams. Sixth Owens' Comedy Matinee this (Saturday) Afternoon at 2 o'clock—DR. CLYDE. Reserved Seats can he secured six days in advance at the Box Office. Nov. 15.

BUSH-STREET THEATER.

Charles E. Locke, Proprietor.--Continued Success of the Famous COLVILLE OPERA BURLESQUE COMPANY, embracing the celebrated Vocalist, MISS EME ROSEAU, and 40 Artists. This (Saturday) Evening, Nov. 15th, last night but one of The Magic Slipper!

Supported by every member of the mammoth organization. This Afternoon—MATINEE of THE MAGIC SLIPPER. Sunday Evening—Last Time of THE MAGIC SLIPPER. Monday Evening, Nov. 17th—First time here of the new burlesque of Oxygen; or, Gas in Burlesque Metre.

CALIFORNIA THEATER.

W. B. Barton, Manager; Barton Hill, Acting Manager. Monday Evening, November 17th, Brief Engagement of the Eminent Actor, MR. FRANK MAYO, who will appear as in Bartley Campbell's great play of that name, produced with Entirely New Scenery by Porter, and a Complete Cast of Characters. Original and Attractive Music by the California Theater Orchestra, under direction of Wm. Withers, Jr. Seats at the Box Office. To follow in rapid succession: DAVY CROCKETT, MAN AND WIFE, and STREETS OF NEW YORK. Nov. 15.

Van, "The Virginian,"

THE BALDWIN THEATER.

Thomas Maguire, Manager.---Last Two Performances of the Great Comedy Bill, this (Saturday) Evening and Saturday Matinee.

A Day After the Wedding!

——AND——

Our Boarding House!

Mr. James O'Neill, Mr. Lewis Morrison, Miss Jeffreys-Lewis, Miss Eleanor Carey, and the entire Baldwin Company in the Bill. Sunday Evening—SARATOGA.

DASHAWAY HALL.

Ellen Coursen's First Opera Night,

THURSDAY EVENING.....NOVEMBER 20TH.

ADMISSION, 50 CENTS. [Nov. 15.

A MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION OF PHOTOGRAPHS FOR SALE,

Comprising Views of Palestine, Egypt, Rome and other parts of the World. The Collection was made by a gentleman, for many years a resident of Europe and Asia, at an expense of over $3,000. It comprises about 500 views in perfect condition, having suitable Portfolios, Albums, etc., together with a very large and powerful Magnifying Glass. Will be sold as an entirety.

SNOW & CO.,
Nov. 15. (Successors to Snow & May), 20 Post street.

DIVIDEND NOTICE.

The Home Mutual Insurance Company will pay its regular monthly dividend of One (1) Dollar per share on its capital stock on November 10th, 1879. CHARLES R. STORY, Secretary,
Nov. 15. 406 California street.

SPORTING ITEMS.

Bicycling. The News Letter has for some time agitated the getting up of a bicycle tournament, and at last it looks as if our action had borne fruit, as we see a sign hanging across Kearny street that informs passers-by that a bicycle tournament will take place at the Mechanics' Pavilion, with lady and gentlemen riders. The managers of the scheme have an office in a saloon on the corner of Dupont and Geary streets. They may be solid, substantial men, who will act fairly by the riders and the public, but we must confess that appearances, so far, are against them. We feel it our duty to warn intending participants in the tournament not to deposit their $100 entrance fee till they have good guarantee that all is square. In any case, the thing looks very one-sided. The winners are only to get the entrance money for prizes, so that the managers get their services for nothing. The gentlemen may be all right, and have money and experience enough to make the tournament a success; if so, it is an easy matter for them to show their responsibility. If they can do that to the satisfaction of any reasonable gentleman, we will be glad to publish the fact.——English riders have been making good records recently. Keen beat Cortis a one mile race; time, 2 min. 52 1-5 sec. Keen also beat Cortis in a five mile race; times, one mile, 2:56 4-5; two miles, 6:14 3-5; three miles, 9:19 3-5; four miles, 12:27 1-5; five miles, 15 m. 30 sec.

Coursing.—We omitted to publish the names of the winning dogs at the Merced meeting last week. They were: Ruler, first prize, $80; Minnehaha, second, $60; Master Joe, third, $30; Bulldozer, fourth, $30. Ruler was bred in this State of the best stock here. He is by King Cobb, out of Queen Emma; King Cobb by Spot, out of Minnette; Queen Emma by imported Factor, out of Bessie.——The San Joaquin Coursing Club announce their meeting to take place at Lockeford, November 29th. ——The Modesto local papers are crowing because a majority of the hares got away from the dogs of the Pacific Club. It is true that was the case, but it was neither the fault of the dogs or the speed of the hares, but the poor state of the ground that was to blame for it. They also state that "the strong ranch dogs of Modesto can catch a hare every time," a plain admission that lurchers are more thought of than true dogs in Stanislaus County. It is a positive fact that after two days rain had put the ground in shape the slowest, sickest greyhounds in any club in the State would capture a Modesto hare, or run it in the ground, in five minutes.——Members of the Pioneer Club are arranging for several private matches.——Smith's card in the Chronicle shows his true character. We congratulate the Pioneer Club on getting rid of him.

Pedestrianism.—Charles Carver is matched to run Albert Keating 150 yards, at West Mailtand, Australia, for £100 a side. Carver has won twelve important races since 1874, and is looked upon as the best 200 and 500-yard man in Australia. Keating has also a good record. He is a big man; his stride averages 7 feet 3 inches; his bight is 6 feet 2½ inches.—— Some of our local pedestrians are talking about getting up a joint stock go-as-you-please, managed by themselves, to come off in December. We wish them every success.——McIntyre and King Hedley are to run a quarter-mile race, for $500 a side.——J. Warburton ran ten miles, in England, October 11th, in 54 min. 6¼ sec., the best amateur time on record by 52½ sec. The English sporting papers agree that Warburton's performance gives promise that he can beat Deerfoot's time.——There is talk of holding an athletic tournament at the Union Grounds on Thanksgiving Day.

Swimming.—Captain Webb may be expected in San Francisco in a few days; his departure from Boston has been delayed by business.—— W. H. Daily is recovering from the effects of the accident he sustained in the fifty-mile swim. In a few weeks he expects to be able to travel; his intention is to visit his relatives.——W. Beckwith lowered two records, at Lambeth Baths, October 12th. Swimming with J. S. Moore, the amateur champion, and George Fearn, as coaches, he made 480 yards in 7 m. 8 3-5 sec., beating J. B. Johnson's best on record of 7 m. 14 sec. The 1,000 yards was made in 15 m. 27 4-5 sec., beating Jones' best on record of 15 m. 31½ sec. He failed to lower the 100-yard record, making it in 1 min. 9 3-5 sec., against Jones' record of 1 m. 9 2-5 sec.; but there is little doubt he will break that before another year.——We hear that great improvements are about to be made at the Neptune Baths, North Beach.

Shooting.—The late rain has made duck-shooting first-class all over the State, and good bags are in order. Mr. Orr bagged 139 ducks in about three hours at Paine and Beckwith's preserve on the Suisun marshes. That is the best bag we have heard of this season.——Sherman Island literally swarms with ducks.——We desire to caution our readers against purchasing the cheap shotguns advertised in the papers by Eastern dealers. Some we have seen are worthless, dangerous weapons, liable at any moment to burst and injure the user or any bystanders. It is better and safer to go to a dealer of established reputation. He will be careful not to sell a dangerous gun.

Yachting.—C. G. White, builder of the O'Connor, has challenged Mr. Gutte, owner of the Chispa, to a race with the respective yachts for $1,000 a side; race to come off next July, under the rules of the Pacific Yacht Club. In his challenge C. G. White intimates that he has been defamed and his models unjustly criticised in the Morning Call. We do not wonder at C. G. White feeling hurt at the Call's yachting articles, as it is plain to see they are written either by an ignorant person or a prejudiced one; but it is not likely that the owner of the Chispa wrote them or caused their insertion. If the challenge is accepted we expect an interesting race.

Baseball.—The circus of the Eastern Clubs took sick from our exposure, and finally snuffed out on bad weather.——A ball-ground will be laid out at the half-mile track.——Players are waiting for higher salaries before making next season's engagements. They may get a rise in California, but East the probability is that salaries will be reduced.——We hear that Carey, of the Chicagos, will have charge of the Renos next season.——The Union Grounds are not popular; they are hard to reach and are in a low district.

Rowing.—Hickey, ex-champion of Australia, has challenged Rush to any kind of a race, to come off on the Hunter River.——There is some talk of putting Riley against Hanlan, but we don't take much stock in it. ——The Call gave its readers the information, last Thursday, that Trickett was still champion of Australia, having beaten Laycock in their recent race. The Call is getting slow; the News Letter published an account of that race over one month ago.

Archery.—The season has closed with a good showing for California, which, on short notice, has produced some of the best shots in America. ——The match between the Pacific Club and the Bow Club, of Oakland, at Gates' Garden range, resulted in a victory for the Bow Club, whose aggregate score was 388 hits, 1,939 points, against 358 hits, 1,750 points, for the Pacific Club. Each club sent five members, who shot the American round, of thirty arrows each, at 40, 50 and 60 yards.——A. D. Havens and Dan O'Connell have challenged any two members of the Pacific Club, to shoot the York round, at Adams Point. We should think that they can get takers.——The talk about a telegraphic match with any Eastern club is altogether too late in the season.

ART JOTTINGS.

The first auction sale of paintings, for the season, took place at Newhall's on Thursday of last week. It was well attended, and the prices realized must have been satisfactory to the seller, if he had the slightest regard for values, as applied to pictures, and he ought to have, after a two years' stay in Europe. It was expected by many that Mr. Deakin would profit by his lengthened tour through the art centers of the world, but he has not. His pictures are neither better nor worse than they were before he left us. He is not the first artist who has become a painter of pretentious pictures—without a thorough knowledge of the rudiments of art—who has visited Europe without advantage. It was fortunate for Mr. Deakin that the first introduction the public had to his two score of paintings, was in the auction room, and that, too, during the first days of the week, when it is well known that the Press seldom, if ever, publishes any art notes except on Saturday.

The success of this sale will doubtless encourage others to do likewise. It is to be hoped they will make due exhibition of their works before the sale, in order that writers on art may have an opportunity to view them to their own and the public's advantage.

It will be remembered that, some months since, reference was made to auction sales of paintings by local artists, which were being made through the country by Messrs. Dampf & Childs, of this city. The works remaining unsold have been returned to the city, and Mr. Childs has opened an auction room at 720 Market street, where he proposes to sell the residue of his collection, and such other works as may be placed in his hands. Our prominent artists will do well to offer only such pictures as will be a credit to them; pot-boilers may pass in the interior, but here such daubs are sure to be known, and will do them more harm than the money realized will good.

Artists who aspire, and do, sell works for a large value, cannot, with impunity, turn off daubs and sell them in quantities for paltry prices. The past has been, without doubt, the dullest season for art ever known here; but this state of affairs cannot be bettered by a multiplication of poor pictures, and foisting them upon the public through the medium of the auction mart.

Now that the busy season has commenced, there ought to be a number of good pictures on exhibition for sale, but, in fact, there is next to nothing. At Morris & Kennedy's, Mr. Yelland has on view an excellent picture. It is, without doubt, a work of great merit, and does this conscientious and painstaking artist credit. At Snow & Co's, Rix has two small pictures by no means good, and Tavernier one which is worse. Hill has nothing new on exhibition, neither has Keith. Mr. Hill has given up his studio in Nevada Block, and is now painting at his residence in Oakland. Certainly, if patrons of art are scarce here, good pictures are also.

A NEEDED EXPOSURE.

A gentleman of London sends us the following account of his experience with a ticket-agent in this city, and tourists will do well to take warning:

SIR: Some short time ago, it was my fortune to purchase railway tickets in San Francisco for the purpose of going East. I bought them at the ticket-office under the Palace Hotel. I asked for tickets to St. Louis by way of Denver and Kansas City, but was told that I could not have them, but that, if I insisted on going that way, I must buy a ticket to Cheyenne and then on to Denver, which would cost me, I was told, $28 more. As I was anxious to go to Kansas City, I eventually determined to buy tickets through to Council Bluffs, and then southward by the Kansas City line. The person who spoke to me about the tickets was very anxious I should go by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy line, which, he said, surpassed all other American lines. He pestered me a good deal about this, but I absolutely declined unless it went to Kansas City.

I was provided with a ticket through to St. Louis, for which I paid $116. When I was some hundreds of miles on my journey I was informed that the coupon, "Council Bluffs to St. Louis," did not go via Kansas City. It seems that after all the agent had given me a "Chicago, Burlington and Quincy" ticket, and relied upon my being a foreigner and not finding it out until it was too late. I have found much courtesy in a long American tour, and I ultimately got the ticket changed by other railway authorities, and so went to Kansas City, where I "stopped over," and went on to Lawrence to see a friend of mine. I was told by an officer of the railway that this conduct of the ticket agent (who was not the same person who ultimately was paid) would be considered "smart," and that the company that he served would advance him in their service. Comparing "institutions," I can only say that I do not think that an English company would retain a person in its service one day after such an offense was proved.

A fellow passenger by the steamer was complaining to me of the same agent, and so I consider it due to all parties concerned that the facts should be known.

AN ENGLISH TOURIST.

LIVERPOOL, October, 1879.

The advantages of simplicity in traveling were peculiarly demonstrated by the two French Ministers, MM. Lepere and Le Royer, during a recent trip in Italy. On arriving at a hotel the latter gave his name simply as Le Royer, but his colleague replied grandiosely, "His Excellency M. Lepere, Minister of the Interior to the Government of the French Republic." When settling day came, M. Le Royer was charged 15s. daily for his room, but "His Excellency" had to pay £2, thanks to his title.

An elegant assortment of Gold Watches and Chains at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

"The World," the Flesh, and the Devil.

[By a Truthful Penman.]

The theology of the religious press is always curious, and often startling. Here is an example: "A missionary at a station in South-Africa was seated in the mission church when a heavy storm came on. A friend was preaching, and another interpreting near him. The fears of the missionary were excited that his friends hald head might attract the lightning. He was so valuable as a preacher that the missionary hreathed a short prayer that it might not be so. The preacher had just announced "Suffer the little children to come unto me, etc., when, amid the deafening noise of thunder and falling rain, a terrific crash broke over the chapel, and the missionary was felled to the ground, but not killed. A little child was asleep in its mother's arms close by; the lightning shock ran from its head to its feet, and after one gasp its spirit soared away to heaven." This paragraph, which is beaded "Quiokly and Literally Answered Prayer, involves some curious considerations. First of all it presents us with the thoroughly African conception of a malignant deity, not to be satisfied without a victim; and then with the grotesque notion of prayer operating to convert a poor Hottentot baby into a lightning conductor to save a missionary's bald head. Laymen may be excused if they think that religious journals in their fervor sometimes becoms very irreligious indeed.——That the Treasury would gain considerably from a reduction in the charges for the sending of telegrams we firmly believe. No one will say that ths revenue lost by ths adoption of the cheap postage charges introduced by the late Rowland Hill, nor will there be many ready to deny that the reduction of the telegram charges would, in like manner, prove a source of public profit and convenience. Moreover, if the Dutch can send a telegram of twenty words for 7d, why should not we he ahle to do it as cheaply? Before long, there is little douht, we shall see a revision and reduction in these charges, only it seems a great pity that so necessary a reform should be deferred.—Truth.——Stray torpedoes have more than once heen heard of rouud ahout Spithead and in Portsmouth Harhor, but a very erratic and dangerous specimen seems to have been exported from these shores to Peru. A torpedo sent out from the now famous Huascar as she was engaged off Antofogasta took it into its head to turn round and head straight for the turret vessel which had sent it out. This certainly was an awkward situation, and the Huascar bade fair to be hoisted with its own petard. The feat then performed by a young Peruvian officer was certainly as bold and skillful in its way as anything we have read of ashore or afloat. He plunged into the sea, swam toward the advancing torpedo, and guided it by main force astern of the Huascar. If Peru numhers many such men as this among her sailors it is scarcely surprising that, so far, she has got the better of the Chilian fleet.—Pall Mall Budget.——A medical man advertised the other day for "a gentlewoman as lady housekeeper," offering "a liberal honorarium and a comfortable home." He had upward of eleven hundred replies. A man also announced his intention of contesting a Parliamentary borough, and the next morning found five hundred letters on his desk asking for employment.—British Empire.——The Duchess of Montrose, wearing a brilliant peignoir, and sitting on a three-legged stool, milking a thoroughbred Alderney, in one of the loose boxes appointed to racehorses at the hack of Mr. Crawfurd's pretty residencs at the foot of the Bury Hill at Newmarket, recalls the early dairy-life of the second wife of ths first Marquis of Exeter. Nor ars ws inventing a romantic story. The occurrence happened during the recent Second October Meeting at Newmarket, whither the valuable cow in question, for whom her Grace gave something like £100, was sent, with special instructions as to feeding and milking during the journey. On being informed of its safe arrival, tbe Duchess sent a requast to Alec Taylor, her husband's trainer, to have the cow milked at once; but neither Taylor nor his hsad-lad was au fait at the business. Thereupon the Duchess, who was in the midst of her toilette, hastily slipped on a peignoir, and performed the operation with the skill of the most experienced milkmaid.——Talk of cheap prices for Italian Opera! In Verona there is the Arena Theater, admission three halfpence. In Naples there is more than one littls theater where the charge for admission is the round sum of one penny; and in the Teatro Fiorentini and the Teatro Rossini, which ars aristocratic resorts, the prics of admission is twopence.——Not only is the reading-room of the British Museum to be lighted with the electric lamp, but preparations are also heing made to illuminate the entrance by the same means. Two lamps have been fitted up between the portico and the entrance gatas, and will be ready for lighting in a few days.——President Grévy has resumed his official duties at the Elysée, after an exceedingly brisk shooting season. We are told he slaughtered, in his five weeks' holiday, sixty-three hares, 215 brace of partridge, and close upon 500 quail; a pretty good total, considering that he never shot in preserves, but always in open fields, and in the same guise and gaiters as any modest adepte de St. Hubert in the Jura.——The hnilding of a bridge across the Tiher at Rome and its public opening without ths presence of Pope, cardinal or priest, is a striking incident in the secularization of the old city. It is said tbat for a thousand years no new bridge has been built in Rome; hut in the new order of things, which is hringing the modern spirit into that cloistral atmosphere, five new bridges are projected, and it is proposed to bring Rome into conformity with the new industrial life which is springing up in Italy. In the olden time the Pontifex Maximus would, as the name implies, have beeu the very first figure in such a celebration. To-day he is not even invited to he present. ——The latest novelty in liquors is the Temperance Beer, manufactured with cinchona hark, and highly recommended in cases of confirmed inebriety. It is "hitter as coloquintida," and nohody yet has been known to prefer a request for more. Hence the secret of its great success.—— The Duchess of Montrose gave £2,000 the other day for a yearling which she intends to ksep and run herself.

INSURANCE.

HUTCHINSON & MANN,

INSURANCE AGENCY,

No. 322 & 324 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Fire Insurance.

GIRARD..... of Philadelphia.	LA CAISSE GENERALE.....of Paris.
HOME..... .....of Columbus.	ST. PAUL .....of St. Paul.
NEW ORLEANS ASSOCIATION.....	TEUTONIA .....of New Orleans.
PEOPLES.....of Newark.	BERLIN-COLOGNE.....of Berlin.
REVERE ....of Boston.	LA CONFIANCE.....of Paris.

Marine Insurance.

PARIS UNDERWRITING ASSOCIATION.....of Paris.
LONDON AND PROVINCIAL MARINE INSURANCE CO.....of London.

Capital Represented.....$23,000,000.

All Losses Equitably Adjusted and Promptly Paid.

HOME MUTUAL INSURANCE CO. OF CALIFORNIA.

Principal Office, 406 California Street, San Francisco.
Cash Assets, January 1, 1877, $595,291; Liabilities, $5,952; Surplus for Policy Holders, $589,330. J. F. Houghton, President; L. L. Baker, Vice-President; Charles R. Story, Secretary. R. H. MAGILL, H. H. BIGELOW, General Agents.

DIRECTORS.—San Francisco—L. L. Baker, John H. Redington, J. F. Houghton, R. B. Gray, Robert Watt, John Currey, L. L. Baker, W. F. Whittier, C. C. Burr, E. M. Root, W. H. White, J. L. N. Shepard, W. M. Greenwood, George S. Mann, Cyrus Wilson, W. T. Garratt, C. Waterhouse, A. P. Hotaling, A. Block, A. K. P. Harmon, G. S. Johnson, W. O. Wilson, A. W. Bowman, H. L. Dodge, Charles R. Story. Alameda County Branch—V. D. Moody, Chauncy Taylor, A. C. Henry, Robert S. Farrelly, Joseph B. Marlin, W. B. Hardy, T. B. Simpson. San Diego—A. H. Wilcox. Sacramento—Mark Hopkins, D. W. Earl, Julius Wetzlar, James Carolan. San Jose—T. Ellard Beans, B. D. Murphy, A. Pfister, J. H. Dibble, J. S. Carter, Jackson Lewis, Jacob Rich, John Auzerais, John Balbach. Stockton—H. H. Hewlett, Chas. Belding, J. D. Peters, A. W. Simpson, H. M. Fanning. Marysville—D. E. Knigbt. Grass Valley—Wm. Watt, T. W. Sigourney. Portland, Oregon—W. S. Ladd, C. H. Lewis, P. Wasserman, B. Goldsmith, D. Macleay. Virginia City, Nevada—John Gillig, Isaac L. Requa. March 17.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.--UNION INS. CO. OF S. F.

The California Lloyds.---Established in 1861.---Nos. 416 and 418 California street. Cash capital $750,000 in Gold. Assets exceed $1,000,000 Coin. Fair Rates! Prompt Settlement of Loses!! Solid Security!! DIRECTORS.—San Francisco—J. Mora Moss, N. G. Kittle, M. J. O'Connor, R. S. Floyd, Moses Heller, Adam Grant, Daniel Meyer, Antoine Borel, Charles Kohler, E. L. Goldstein, I. Lawrence Pool, A. Weill, Joseph Brandenstein, Charles Baum, James Moffitt, Benjamin Brewster, L. Cunningham, W. M. Hoag, Nicholas Luning, John Parrott, L. A. Booth, Julius Baum, Myles D. Sweeney, Jas. M. Goewey, Edward Cadwalader Bartlett Doe, Gustave Touchard, J. H. Baird, J. G. Kittle, George C. Hickox, C. Ducommun, Wm. Scholle, John Conly, Ig. Steinhart, W. B. Stone, J. O. Eldridge, A. B. Phipps.

GUSTAVE TOUCHARD, President. N. G. KITTLE, Vice-President.
CHARLES D. HAVEN, Secretary. GEO. T. BONEN, Surveyor. Aug. 31.

THE STATE INVESTMENT AND INSURANCE CO.

FIRE AND MARINE.

Cash Assets, $450,000.---Principal Office, 218 and 220 Sansome street, San Francisco. OFFICERS:—A. J. BAYANT, President; RICHARD IVERS, Vice-President; CHARLES H. CUSHING, Secretary; H. H. WATSON, Marine Surveyor. BOARD OF DIRECTORS:—Peter Donahue, James Irvine, C. D. O'Sullivan, A. Boequeraz, R. Harrison, A. H. Rutherford, R. Bailey, E. W. Corbert, George O. McMullin, A. J. Bryant, Frank M. Pixley, E Burke, H. H. Watson, Dr. C. F. Buckley, P. J. White, E. M. Root, M. Mayblum, Richard Ivers, John Rosenfeld, Daniel Callaghan. P. H. Russell, Sacramento. John G. Downey, Los Angeles. Wm. Hood, Sonoma County. H. W. Sealo, Mayfield. Geo. Rutherford, San Jose. Feb. 16.

THE MARINE INSURANCE CO. OF LONOON, ENGLANO.

[ESTABLISHED 1836.]

Whole Amount of Jo'nt Stock and Guaranteed Capital..$5,000,000.
Whole Amonnt of Capital paid up..... 900,000.
Cash Assets December 31, 1876..... 3,710,000.

Tho undersigned have been duly authorized to issue Policies at current rates on Freight and Shipments to or from England, Europe, New York, Japan, Cbina, Australian Colonies, Sandwich Islands, and Northern Coast Ports. If desired, policies made payablo at port of termination.

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents,
Aug. 10. 218 California street.

THE SWISS MARINE INS. COMPANIES COMBINED.

Switzerland, of Zurich, Capital 5,000,000 francs; Helvetia, of St. Gall, Capital 10,000,000 francs; Baloise, of Basle, Capital 5,000,000 francs. These three Companies are liable jointly and severally for all losses that may be sustained. Losses made payable in all the principal seaports of the world. In the settlement of all claims under an English policy, these Companies will strictly adhere to the conditions and customs adopted at Lloyds, and submit to English jurisdiction.

June 9. HARRY W. SYZ, Agent, 225 Sansome st., S. F.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSUR. CO. OF BOSTON.

Has transacted the business of Life Insurance for nearly thirty-five years. Its assets amount to over FOURTEEN MILLION DOLLARS. The law of Massachusetts makes all its Policies nonforfeitable. It is a Purely Mutual Company, dividing every cent of surplus among Policy-holders. This is the ONLY Company on the Pacific Coast governed hy tho Massacbusetts Lapse Law. This company has complied with tbe new Insurance Laws of California.

WALLACE EVERSON, General Agent.
Sept. 22.] 328 Montgomery street.

BRITISH ANO FOREIGN MARINE INS. CO. OF LIVERPOOL.

Capital $5,000,000.---Agents: Balfour, Guthrie & Co., No. 316 California street, San Francisco. Nov. 18.

BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OF CAL.

Attendance, daily, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., by the undersigned, to receive subscriptions and donations, and to furnish all information relating to the Society. J. P. McCURRIE, Secretary,
Oct. 23. 730 Montgomery street.

ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY,

No. 310 Sansome street, San Francisco, Wholesale Dealer in Furs. Sept. 21.

BALLAD OF BLUE CHINA.

There's a joy without canker or cark,
There's a pleasure eternally new—
'Tis to gaze on the glaze and the mark
Of China that's old and blue:
Who'd have thought they would come to us, who
That o'er loot of an empire would hang
A veil of Morrisian hue,
In the reign of the Emperor Hwang?

These dragons—their tails, you remark,
Into bunches of lotus-flower grew—
When Noah came out of the Ark,
Did these lie in wait for his crew?
They snorted, they snapped, and they slew,
They were mighty of fin and of fang,
And their portraits Celestials drew,
In the reign of the Emperor Hwang.

Here's a pot with a house in a park,
In a park where the peach-blossoms blew,
Where the lovers eloped in the dark,
Lived, died, and were turned into two
Bright birds that eternally flew
Through the boughs of the May, as they sang;
'Tis a tale was undoubtedly true
In the reign of the Emperor Hwang.

Come, snarl at my ecstasies, do,
Kind critic, your tongue has a tang,
But a sage never heeded a shrew
In the reign of the Emperor Hwang.
—Andrew Lang, in Scribner's Bric-a-Brac.

PHYLLOXERA VASTATRIX.

The ravages of phylloxera, the most destructive of all the numerous enemies of the vine, were first observed in Europe in 1865, in the department of Gard, France; but it was only in 1868 that M. Planchon, Professor of Sciences at Mont-Pellier, discovered the insect, and named it phylloxera vastatrix; the word phylloxera intimating the drying and withering of the vine leaf. It appears under two forms, the winged and the wingless. When largely magnified, the wingless insect has the appearance of a tortoise, only it has rather long legs and a trunk; the back is divided into squares, from which project little excrescences; the head is slightly bent under the body, and the brown eyes have numerous facetts. The phylloxera is an American insect, and appears, as already said, in two forms. The first (winged) forms galls on leaves, and is met with in all parts of America on the leaves of wild vines; the second seeks the roots, and is the only dangerous one. Both kinds are of a waxen yellow tint, but otherwise look like the common plant-louse, or aphis, only they are very much smaller—hardly the size of a very small pin's head. As ordinarily found, sucking the rootlets of vines, the insect is wingless, and all are females, or, at least, egg-layers; for there are no males for three or four generations, during which each of the insects may lay from 200 to 400 eggs apiece, which hatch in about ten days. About the fourth generation a winged form makes its appearance, whose wings are so large in proportion to their bodies that they have little control over them; but when they rise in the air they are carried wherever the wind may chance to take them. Those lay only three or four eggs each, which produce two kinds of phylloxera, large and small, the former being females and the latter males. This generation has no digestive organs, being destined exclusively for reproduction. The female lays but one solitary egg, which is especially tenacious of life, being destined to hibernate. From this egg is hatched, on the return of spring, the ordinary root-louse, whose vigor is thus annually renewed. It is the winged form, then, which renders possible the rapid spread already noticed; also, that its destruction would speedily put an end to the propagation of the species. But nature has provided against this contingency, for, in time of need some of the common egg-layers undertake to lay the large solitary egg which hibernates; and, moreover, in a mild climate some of the millions of comuon eggs, and a few egg-layers, also survive. These eggs can be destroyed by from twenty-eight to forty days' submergence, which can only be done in winter without injury to the vines.

This, so far, is the only absolute remedy found, except in very sandy soils, because it is too weak to crawl from one place to another, the grains of sand obstructing its progress. In adobe soils it crawls along the cracks. No one in this State, nor, I venture to say, anywhere, is better informed on phylloxera, or has better or more extensive appliances for demonstrating the life-history of this pest than Professor E. W. Hilgard, of our State University, and it is to his studies I mainly owe the substance of this short essay.

In France its ravages have been such that, as much as four years ago, vineyards were unsalable; no one would venture to spend any money in such property. As to California, it is fast sweeping the vineyards of Sonoma, and unless some desperate and ultimate measures be taken very soon, nothing can keep it from spreading through the adjacent valleys; and every day renders its extermination more and more difficult. How far submersion may he practicable in the Sonoma Valley, can only be decided by a survey of the creeks. But as the only absolute cure, the destruction of the "large egg," it should be had recourse to if possible, and the adjacent country compelled to contribute to the expense. The system of submersion was originated in France by a M. Faucon, whose vineyard of forty acres is situate close to the Canal de Durance. The submersion is made in October, and continued for forty days. Here are his results: The year 1867, the one preceding the invasion of the pest, the yield was 2,775 galls.; in 1868, first year of invasion, 120! 1869, second year, 105 gallons only! 1870, first year of submersion, 360 galls.; 1871, second year of submersion, 1,350, without manure; third year, with manure, 2,547 galls.; fourth year, with manure, 2,175 galls.; fifth year, with manure, 3,750 galls.; sixth year, with manure, 7,800 galls. So a vineyard that, in 1869, yielded only 105 gallons in all, in six years was brought back to yield more than twice as many gallons as it did before the invasion of phylloxera.

The reports from France just to hand say that the yield this year will hardly reach one-third of ordinary years before the invasion.

San Francisco, November 10, 1879. J. J. B.

BANKS.

THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital .....$3,000,000.
WM. ALVORD.....President.
THOMAS BROWN, Cashier B. MURRAY, Jr., Ass't Cashier

AGENTS:

New York, Agency of the Bank of California; Boston, Tremont National Bank Chicago, Union National Bank, St. Louis, Boatman's Saving Bank; New Zealand, the Bank of New Zealand; London, China, Japan, India and Australia, the Oriental Bank Corporation.

The Bank has Agencies at Virginia City and Gold Hill, and Correspondents in all the principal Mining Districts and Interior Towns of the Pacific Coast.

Letters of Credit issued, available in all parts of the world. Draw direct on London, Dublin, Paris, Berlin, Bremen, Hamburg, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Antwerp, Amsterdam, St. Petersburgh, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Christiana, Locarno, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland, Hongkong, Shanghai, Yokohama. Nov. 4.

FIRST NATIONAL GOLD BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Paid up Capital $2,000,000, Gold. President, R. C. Woolworth; Vice-President, D Callaghan; Cashier, E. D. Morgan.

DIRECTORS:—R. C. Woolworth, D. Callaghan, C. G. Hooker, C. Adolph Low, Peter Donahue, Isaac Wormser, Edward Martin, James Moffitt, N. Van Bergen.

CORRESPONDENTS—London: Baring Bros. & Co. Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China. Dublin: Provincial Bank of Ireland. Hamburg: Hesse, Neuman & Co. Paris: Hottinguer & Co. New York: National Bank of Commerce. Boston: Blackstone National Bank. Chicago: First National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact a general Banking business. Deposits in Gold, Silver and Currency received subject to check or on special deposit. Exchange for sale on the principal cities of the United States, Great Britain, Ireland and the Continent. Commercial Credits issued available in Europe, China and Japan. Collections attended to and prompt returns made at the lowest market rates of Exchange. Jan. 19.

BANK OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Incorporated by Royal Charter.—Capital paid up, $1,800,000, with power to increase to $10,000,000. Southeast corner California and Sansome streets. Head Office—28 Cornhill, London. Branches—Portland, Oregon; Victoria, New Westminster and Cariboo, British Columbia.

This Bank transacts a General Banking Business. Accounts opened subject to Check and Special Deposits received. Commercial Credits granted available in all parts of the world. Approved Bills discounted and advances made on good collateral security. Draws direct at current rates upon its Head Office and Branches, and upon its Agents as follows:

New York, Chicago and Canada—Bank of Montreal; Liverpool—North and South Wales Bank; Scotland—British Linen Company; Ireland—Bank of Ireland; Mexico and South America—London Bank of Mexico and South America; China and Japan—Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and Oriental Bank; Australia and New Zealand—Bank of Australasia, Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, and English, Scottish and Australian Chartered Bank.

May 18. FREDERICK TOWNSEND, Manager.

LONDON AND SAN FRANCISCO BANK, LIMITED.

Capital, $5,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is fully paid up as present capital. Reserve Fund, $360,000. San Francisco Office, 424 California street; London Office, 22 Old Broad street. Manager, ARTHUR SCRIVENER; Cashier, WILLIAM STEEL. London Bankers, Bank of England and London Joint Stock Bank; New York, Drexel, Morgan & Co.; Boston, Third National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact all kinds of General Banking and Exchange Business in London and San Francisco, and between said cities and all parts of the world. March 30.

THE NEVADA BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital Paid Up.....$3,000,000.
Reserve, U. S. Bonds..... 3,500,000.

Agency at New York, 62 Wall street.
Agency at Virginia, Nev.

Buys and sells Exchange and Telegraphic Transfers. Issues Commercial and Travelers' Credits. This Bank has special facilities for dealing in Bullion. Nov. 8.

SECURITY SAVINGS BANK.

GUARANTEE CAPITAL, - - - - - - - $300,000.

Officers: Vice-President, Jerome Lincoln; Secretary, W. S. Jones; Attorney, Sidney V. Smith. Loans made on Real Estate and other Approved Securities. Office: No. 215 Sansome street, San Francisco. Oct. 14.

THE GERMAN SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

Deutsche Spar und Leihbank, No 526 California street, San Francisco. OFFICERS: President, L. GOTTIG. BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—Fred. Roeding, Chas. Kohler, Edw. Kruse, George H. Eggers, N. Van Bergen, H. L. Simon, Peter Spreckels, Ign. Steinhart. Secretary, GEO. LETTE; Attorney, JOHN R. JARBOE. May 18.

THE ANGLO-CALIFORNIAN BANK, LIMITED.

422 California St., San Francisco.

London Office, 3 Angel Court; New York Agents, J. W. Selligman & Co., 21 Broad street. Authorized Capital Stock, $6,000,000. Will receive Deposits, open Accounts, make Collections, buy and sell Exchange and Bullion, loan Money, and issue Letters of Credit available throughout the world.

FRED. F. LOW, ION. STEINHART, Managers.
P. N. LILIENTHAL, Cashier. Sept. 13.

AGGREGATE ASSETS, $38,739,065.

Imperial Fire Insurance Co., of London..... .....Instituted 1803.
London Assurance Corporation, of London.....
.....Established by Royal Charter 1720.
Northern Assurance Corporation, of London.....Established 1836.
Queen Insurance Company, of Liverpool.....Established 1857.

A JOINT POLICY ISSUED BY THE FOUR COMPANIES.

ROBERT DICKSON, Manager.

W. LANE BOOKER, Agent and Attorney.

317 CALIFORNIA STREET, S. F. [Oct. 11.

CUMBERLAND MINE,

Yavapai County, Arizona. Office: No. 417 California st., San Francisco, California. President, GEOROE M. CIPRICO. Secretary, J. H. GRIFFITHS. Office Hours: 2 P.M. daily. Oct. 11.

R. H. LLOYD,

Attorney-at-Law, Room 13, Nevada Block.

THE SALARY PLEDGE.

The question whether the salary pledge given by a number of the Workingmen's candidates is a bribe to the electors, within the meaning of the law, appears to be determined in the affirmative by the decision of Judge Wright. The matter came before him on a demurrer to the complaint, and he decides that the allegation that a promise to pay a certain sum of money into the treasury, whereby the whole body of electors would be benefitted, was an offer of a bribe, and, as such, establishes a prima facie case that is entitled to be tried upon its merits. Attempt to refine away that pledge as we may, the bald fact remains that it was an offer of a bribe. It was a promise by certain candidates to the electors that, in return for votes enough to elect them, the candidates would, out of funds earned and owned by them, pay into the treasury certain stated sums, which payments would inure to the direct pecunious benefit of the voters. It was a conditional promise on the one hand, and a conditional expectation of personal profit on the other. A says to B: "You elect me to office, and, in return, I will profit you by paying part of your taxes out of my pocket, which you will otherwise have to pay out of your own." That is not only the plain effect, but the undoubted intention of the salary pledge. It was a promise of money to secure votes, else why give at all? The money, in the event of the candidate being elected, could have been returned without any promise having been previously made. Then why openly, publicly and most ostentatiously promise to do that which could equally well, and with better taste, be done without any promise? True charity vaunteth not itself. What was the motive of the promise? That's the question. No man doubts what the motive was. The clear and undeniable intent was to offer a money advantage, in order thereby to secure votes. That being so, the motive was a corrupt one, and corruption in any and every form is subversive of a republican form of government, and is very properly put under the ban of law. We had no manner of doubt of the illegality of the pledge at the time it was given, and so said. We confess, however, that we are no less surprised than pleased that one Judge is found who, in the face of popular clamor, dares to administer the law as he finds it. Thoughtful men have made a mental memorandum of his act, and will assuredly keep it on the tablets of their memory, until a fitting occasion arises for rewarding an honest and fearless Judge. Such acts are too rare to permit of their passing out of the public mind unbonored and unrewarded. The decision of Judge Wright is fruitful of good. It is calculated to teach a powerful body of men, who are inclined to lawlessness, that the law is supreme. When Kearney insisted upon his had pledge he knew it to be illegal, but that seemed to be its best recommendation in his eyes. He was told by every legal mind around him that such a pledge was in violation of the law. The convention, which he ruled, had confidence enough in Mr. Reynolds to unanimously nominate him for the important office of District Attorney; but when he declared that he couldn't take the pledge, because of its illegality, they withdrew their confidence and their nomination. He was admittedly competent to pass on grave questions of law affecting the lives and liberties of his fellow citizens, but to enlighten Kearney as to what constituted an offer of a bribe was quite another thing. Smoot accepted Reynolds' place, whilst he retained Reynolds' opinion of the law, and if he now loses the office to which he has been declared to be elected, it will be impossible for so clear headed a man to deny that something very like poetic justice has overtaken him. Then Clitus Barbour advised that he had grave doubts as to the legality of the pledge, but, though deemed competent to go to Congress, he was a legal nonentity when pitted against Kearney and Kearney's convention. The men who took the pledge were told that they were violating the law, and they were told it by counsel whom they sought to have employed by the city and State. They, therefore, knew the law and acted in defiance of it. If they pay the penalty, who will say that, under the circumstances, they are deserving of sympathy? Politicians of all parties must be taught respect for the law. Kearney is now declaring that if his men are not installed on the 1st of December, he "will wade knee deep in blood to know the reason why." If they are not installed on that day it will be because of a judicial decree determining that they are not entitled to be. Once let a decree of that kind issue, and law-abiding citizens will take care that it goes into effect, little Kearney's big talk to the contrary notwithstanding. They know him.

CHANGING THE OFFICERS.

It is now affirmed that Governor Irwin had a twofold motive for appointing W. F. White a Bank Commissioner. First, he thought the appointment would have a good effect in uniting the Workingmen and Democrats. Secondly, he thought that White's removal by the new administration would embitter the Workingmen against the Republicans. In the latter view he is likely to be more correct than in the former. It is, of course, expected that the Republicans will make a clean sweep of all the Democrats they may find in office. To the victors belong the spoils. Leading Democrats, no doubt, felt this, and for that reason no man of mark among them cared to accept the Bank Commissionership for the brief period of two months. White's appointment was a pleasant surprise to the Workingmen. It cost the Democrats but little and may bring them some gain. His removal by the Republicans will cause the Sand-lots to howl, and may make a difference at the ensuing Presidential election. Yet if anybody is to be removed, he ought to be; not because of his political opinions, but because he is incompetent. But is the new administration to act fully up to the principle that to the victors belong the spoils? We hope it will not. The other two Bank Commissioners are exceptionally well qualified for the most exceptional offices they hold. They have discharged their duties faithfully and well, and it is difficult to see how they can be replaced with advantage. Governor Perkins will find that his first difficulty will be his greatest one. Already he is beset by a host of hungry office-seekers. He will require firmness to say "No" to unworthy and doubtful men. He has shown that he knows how to man his ships with the best available officers. If he will man the ship of State with equal judgment the non-office-seeking portion of the people will have every reason to be satisfied. The best men will not be those who most persistently pursue him. True merit is often modest and retiring, but well worthy of being searched out. If blatant blatherskites capture the new Governor, as they have captured many previous ones, we shall be greatly mistaken in the man.

Married.—STONE-MAGRUDER—November 13th, in this city, at the residence of the bride, by Rev. J. Hemphill, Sherold D. Stone and Antoinette S. Magruder, daughter of the late Mrs. K. M. Magruder.

"MISSING."

"There is no flock, however watched and tended,
But one dead lamb is there;
There is no fire-side, howsoe'er defended,
But has one vacant chair."

Thus sings the Bard, and counsels resignation
To Death's decree. It is
Not with a foolish hope of emulation
I set my verse to his;

But that I would depict a deeper sorrow
Than that he seeks to soothe—
A grief that ever trembles for the morrow—
A wound no touch can smooth.

Our dead we can lament where they are lying—
Can almost watch them sleep;
We know they rest, then why with selfish crying
Disturb their slumber deep.

But there are homes where many a look caressing
Turns to a vacant chair,
Whose former occupant is simply "missing,"
They know not why or where.

He may be dead, or he may live! uncertain,
They can do naught but wait,
And vainly pray that God will lift the curtain
Which hides their dear one's fate.

BULLYING THE JUDICIARY.

The Bulletin has undertaken the discreditable task of bullying the Judiciary. The law says that a Grand Jury shall not consist of less than nineteen persons. Judge Blake holds that the law means what it says. For so holding, he and his decision are made the subjects of the Bulletin's most insiduous insinuations, which is saying not a little. In some undefined way, the Judge's ruling is to prevent the new Sheriff, Desmond, from summoning the jury that is to try Chas. De Young, and it is also to deprive Smoot of the pleasure of prosecuting him, and base indeed are the insinuations which follow. Now, the fact is, that, by setting aside the action of the last Grand Jury, the exact result is brought about which the Bulletin so much desires. If the parties had pleaded to the indictments found by the illegally constituted Grand Jury, their plea would have cured the defect, and they would have been tried by a jury summoned by the present Sheriff, and would be prosecuted by the existing District Attorney. By taking a course that will result in a reference to a future Grand Jury, the parties in interest do the very thing which will cause their cases to go over until the period when Desmond and Smoot assume office. The absurdity of the Bulletin's statement is thus demonstrated. A more conscionable journalist would be ashamed of the false position in which we place him. Then, again, Judge Wright has been, and still is being, shamefully bullied for saying that a bribe is a bribe. Able and honest as the Judge is known to be, he is being sneered at as being both a fool and a knave. No attempt is being made to answer his argument. The only reply vouchsafed is in the form of malignant insinuations, which the writer himself does not believe. The allegation that, as the Republican platform promised a specific reduction of expenditures, the promise so given was a bribe in the same sense as was the salary pledge, is a contention too absurd to be maintained for a single moment. The writer knows that there is no similarity in the two things. The one was merely a promise to spend the rate-payer's money economically, the other was promise, conditional upon being elected, that the candidate would pay his private funds into the Treasury, for the benefit of the private pocket of the rate-payer. The difference is a most substantial one, as the Bulletin writer perfectly well knows. He abuses where he is conscious he ought to praise. He well knows that putting offices up to a kind of auction is bad in law, bad in morals, and bad in every way. He knows that it is contrary to public policy, a dangerous precedent, and a menace to good government by the people. He knows full well that the salaries fixed by law are not too high for the efficient services of honest men. Whether too high or not, they are the salaries by law established, and now, as ever, it is had in morals to attempt to evade the law by indirection. Being the law, it is the will of the people, and remains so until repealed, or altered according to constitutional methods. Why the Bulletin seeks to hide these common sense principles we do not pretend to say; we simply point out that it is hiding them, when it might be much better employed in educating its allies of the Sand-lots as to the propriety of accomplishing their ends by legal methods. Above all, it is most abominably engaged when it abuses the judiciary for decisions which it knows are honest, intelligent, and in conformity with law. Why it pats Kearney on the back when he threatens to "wade knee deep in blood" if the decisions are not made to suit him, is something that it may well explain to its patrons. The trading, commercial and thoughtful portion of this community do not, we are well persuaded, approve of the Bulletin's present course.

The Health of the City.—Although there was a considerable reduction of the number of deaths last week, the health of the city cannot be said to be satisfactory. There was no diminution of zymotic deaths. Cholera infantum continues prevalent, and diphtheria was registered for six deaths, the highest number for several months. Typhoid fever is less prevalent, and as yet there had been but one death this week. Pneumonia is also prevalent, and fatal. Four deaths occurred last week, and six have already taken place this, with two days yet required to complete the week. A cold rain has fallen, and it is to be hoped the sewers will be well flushed out and the poisonous ferments destroyed.

At a small watering-place in Ireland, a lady strolled a long way up the shore for the purpose of indulging in a quiet bathe. She arrived at length at a secluded spot, and was just thinking of "divesting herself," when a native appeared on the scene. Guessing her evident intention, and, with characteristic generosity, thinking he would do her a service, Pat approached and said, "Sthrip, ma'am, and bedad oi'll kape watch for ye."

P.S.—The lady bathed not. —London Sporting Times.

The Home of the Cæsars.—The Custom House.

THE TOWN CRIER.

"Hear the Crier." "What the devil art thou?
"One that will play the devil, sir with you."

"He'd a sting in his tail as long as a flail,
Which made him grow bolder and bolder."

There is a silver lining to the cloud. All the clergymen that get into the papers are not wolves in sheep's clothing, and it is quite delightful to meet with a man like the Rev. Mr. Page, of Rushville, Illinois, whose sermons are considerably longer than his wit. This guileless father of a family wandered into New York, the other day, was accosted by a stranger (who found he had made a mistake when he heard the clergyman's name), and five minutes after was saluted by the son of an old friend, who wanted to show him some California tea. While they were sitting at tea, a Tennessecan came in, showed some money and cards, and asked if he might lose them. To show him how, the son of Mr. Page's friend turned the cards, and Mr. Page put a little money on them, and lost it. A policeman came in and hauled them off, and the Judge held the Rev. Mr. Page in default of bail. It is a sweet idyll.

Concerning future rewards and punishments, Harper's Magazine gives the following illustrations, which occurred in a Court in La Vega, where the testimony of a Chinese was objected to, on the ground that he could not understand or regard the obligation of an oath. To test him, he was interrogated thus: "John, do you know anything about God?" "No; have no belly well acquaint with Him." "Have you no Joss in China?" "Oh, yes, gottee heapee Joss." "Where do you go when you die?" "Me go to San Francisco." "No; you don't understand me. When Chinaman quit washee allee time, and no live any more, where does he go?" "Oh, yes, me sabe now. If he belly goodee man, he go uppen side. If he bellee hadee man, he go luppen down hellee, where allee Melican men go." The Court was satisfied with this orthodox statement, and admitted his testimony.

An ingenious gentleman, who signs himself J. M., writes to the Metia from Berkeley on the subject of elocution, to euggest that it is a great deal better to know how to epeak than not to know. This etartling question is supported by half a column of remarks equally surprising; and the whole ends with a brief and beautiful account of the origin of England in these words: "In the order of creation, a little island fell into the ocean, and hence the waves of English eound ehall spread until they cover the earth." This theory has one trifling defect: it omits to account for the island before it fell. Where did it fall from? And was it the only island that fell? And if so, why, and if not why not? And when the waves of English epeech cover the earth, will everybody write like J. M.?

The General Department of the Rhone, in France, has levied a tax of 25 per cent. of their income, on all unmarried men, who persist in their criminal loneliness. This is a beneficent and a wholesome tax, and one we would like to see it applied in California. Why should bachelors have such a jolly good time and not pay for it? Already they grumble at not paying for the public schools for other people'e children, and emoke all the cigars they please, while honest married men think all the hair off their heads and wear their old coats to save money for housekeeping. What the age demande is a "League for the Emancipation of Married Men and the Suppression of Bachelors." The Prevention of Cruelty to Business is a foolish game compared with this.

The invention of heliography is claimed hy the United States, as well as by England. There is nothing very strange in this, any more than there ie in the claims to the same discovery put forward by France, Germany, Spain, Italy and Belgium. The Bulletin gave on Thursday quite an article on the subject of Prof. Davidson's employment of the heliograph, just mentioning the use of it by the British in Afghanistan and Zululand. The name of Spain does not occur in this article, and yet the Spaniards have for years maintained communication with their African posts, across the Straits of Gibraltar, by these instruments. The fact is that the invention was probably made by some human being, and it is fully matters whether he was English, Dutch or Finn so long as other men can profit by it.

Prof. Tyndall will have to revise his prayer-guage. Miss Judd, of Buffalo, has been filled with aches, and misery, and bed-riddeu for more than two years, and might etill have been so but for Mrs. Mix, who told her to scatter her doctors, Hoxsie, and Davie, and Baethig, and even the good Lon See On, and just go in for a good, steady pull at prayer. It was a pull all together, a select assortment of Judds going it in a room not far away, while the eick girl "raised" in hed, as the paper has it. Now, of couree, she is training to walk against time, and just a leetle the speediest Buffalo girl a man could find. Cut this out and keep it for reference. It's an infallible cure.

"Darling," eaid Mr. Honeyslummer to his angel hride of three weeks, "shall we waft ourselves on the vesper breeze, and on thie rippling lake sweetly sail?" But she had eaten a green apple for lunch, and negatively murmured, "Nary eail, I've eole before, and after having sillen on a windy evening a decolleté polonnaiee with demi-sleeves and a trimming of valenciennes ain't worth more than a two dollar calico, with two years' wear out of it, hanging in a pawnbroker's ehop on Pacific street." And before ehe was married she used to turn up her glass-eye at the star-trimmed heavens, and talk about the sweetness of soulful love and the dulcet ventriclee that oscillated as one.

Now that the rainy season has begun, the inevitable croaking hegine also. Frogs are alwaye lively and loquacious in damp weather. The men who give their whole minds to the signs of a dry Winter are out in force. One cannot take up a paper without encountering solemn articles written to prove that there is every reason to conclude, from statistics of thirty years, that we shall have some wet weather and a few stalks of corn to look at before the next dry season. If anybody is more foolish than the croaker, it is the man who pilee up figures to prove that, when they shake their heads, there's nothing in them.

General Grant, it is affirmed, weighs thirty pounds more than when he started en his trip round tbe world. This increased weight is necessary of foreign origin, and hostile to the spirit of American liherty, made up of it, no doubt, British and monarchical in affinity; and the Republic hero we sent forth has come back to ue changed indeed. How can such a man sit in the Presideutial chair? Let free men he warned in time.

A lecture was deliverel at the First Baptist Church, in Oakland, on Thursday evening, on "The Secret of a Young Man's Success in Business." It seems that the young gentleman's parents dipped him, not long after his auspicious arrival in this world, and this, the lecturer declared, was the secret alluded to. We happen to know, however, that tho old man was on the inside and gave the young one points, which he made use of at the right moment. It was in the Sierra Nevada deal a year ago. Dipping is all well enough, but a wink in time is worth any number of bath-tubs.

Several of the Eastern papers share In the concern expressed by the sympathetic San Francisco press, as to the embarrasment of England, at her success in Afghanistan; and they all want to know where tho overburdened country is to find the money to pay for her triumph. Well, we don't mind letting them into the plans of the Government. It is the intention of Lord Beaconsfield to get up a Carnival of Authors, on the plan of the one so successful here, and pay for the Afghan war with the proceeds. The British Consul is now collecting information for the guidance of his Government.

The world is rarely as grateful as it ought to be for disguised blesings. Some curious persons have discovered that General Hooker meditated nothing less than two big histories of his campaigns; but his regretted death will deprive us of the mournful pleasure of having them read to us in the long winter eveuings. When we reflect that there are already eighty-five histories of the late unpleasantness, and about 12,000 officers, each with his indispensable work on the stocks, we feel that the ways of Provideuce are inscrutable, aud that history ie one of the exact sciences.

One of the up-country papers has an entirely truthful account of a Chinaman, who, without any instruction and eimply by watching the operation, has mastered the process of assaying, and now makes accurate gold and silver assays. So far tho country paper; but we can go him one better. We have private information that the German Government has offered this Chinese the position of Master of the Mint, with 800,000 marke a year, four carriages, unlimited heer, and the editor of the Eureka Leader for a doorkeeper.

Baltimore thinks she has done it now. She Las a new dancing Academy opeued in Mulberry street, a gorgeous affair, a model of heauty, "furnished and upholstered in Oriental magnificence," and, in ehort, "the palace Academy of the Continent." All for the light fantastic toe; but we can show something not to be despised on Pine street, and the dancing to be seen there, wheu there's a break in stocks, would leave the palace Academy nowhere.

Nobody need ask where virtue lives, after this, for she has found her natural home in the office of the Bodie Chronicle. That paper calls on a mining company to discharge a miner for lying; and very properly, too, since the man was not paid for that kind of work, which belougs exclusively to the Board of Directors and the Superintendent of any well regulated mining company. This flying in the face of authority must be discouraged.

A noble thinker, of the purest modern breed, declares in a daily paper that the "future success of our nation depends upon industry," and that the Chiuese waste nothing; therefore the Chinese must go. The logical sequence of these ideas is perfect, and affects the hearer like a strain of soft music. The softness of the epeaker, however, is not in his eare.

If our enterprising contemporaries, when they feel particularly good after looking at the balance-sheet, would invent some other expression of their feelings than the graceful, "upward and onward career" of the Snipetown Bungo, we should not be under the necessity of reminding them that a career of that kind is extremely like going up the spout.

This beats the boom. The Philadelphia Press has some tall writing on Mr. Gladstone's personal appearance, his fondness for out-door work, and the ring of his axe, which "has echoed even across the Atlantic." By cable, of course; for it was thought a tremendous feat, in days before telegraphs, when the "woode of Madeira trembled to a kiss."

Chas. H. Voorhies, Member of Congress from New Jersey, is short $350,000, abstracted from the bank of which he was President, and is now melancholy mad, his friends say. He never could have had any brains to epeak of. An M. C. who is brought to grief by a trifle like this is a poor creature, and New Jersey ought to he ashamed of herself.

Beecher says that eternal punishment for a momentary sin is nothing less than demoniac cruelty. Well, well, perhaps it is; but if you did not make eo much noise about it, Mr. B., that particular little sin of yours might be forgotten in the long run. Too much heat is had; and, then, suppose it ehould turn out to be warm down there, after all.

Mr. Pickering's paper quotes the remarks of a Scotch journal on the condition of the Chinese in California, the said Scotch paper being the Leeds Mercury. Geographical mattere are apt to be a little mixed in my two papers (both daily) anywhere but on the line from St. Louis to San Francisco.

Dr. Schliemann is coming to America to reside, when he has dug up all he can find in the Old World. Now's the time for the Captain Kidd and Cocos Island Treasure men to make a contract on favorable terms. The doctor can dig up whatever is needed, and prove it to be according to specifications.

The telegraph informs us that the Pope is to have an organ of his own, hut neglects to say whether it ie to he a hand-organ. This difficult joke we make to anticipate Punch and Puck, and establish a claim for damages when they come lumbering along with a half-column each on the same subject.

If any one has noticed a certain stiffness in the acting of the members of the Baldwin Theater this week, they will please to take into consideration the fact that Doctor Bishop vaccinated the entire company this week, as his first tribute of regard after graduating as an M. D. last week.

Good Words discovers that the cockroach is a most useful pet about a house to keep down the very small deer. Thanks, my lord! we shall never see the noble creature heneeforth in a gentleman's house, without thinking unutterable things.

Only think of it! Mark Twain stood up hefore the Army of the Tenneseee, on Wednesday, old soldiers all of them, and not one had the pluck or the patriotism to knock him in the head.

C. P. R. R.

Overland Ticket Office: Ferry Landing, foot of Market street.--Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879, and until further notice, ains Boats wil leave SAN FRANCISCO:

7.30 A. M. (daily), Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing — Connecting with Trains for Napa (Stages for Sonoma), Calistoga (the Geysers), and Sacramento. Connecting at Davis (Sundays excepted) for Woodland and Knight's Landing, and at Woodland for Williams and Willows.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:10 P.M.)

7.00 A.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) and via Livermore arriving at Tracy at 11:30 A. M. and connecting with Atlantic Express. Connects at Niles with Train arriving at San Jose at 10:15 A.M.
(Returning, train from Tracy arrives at 6:05 P.M.)

8.00 A.M. (daily), Atlantic Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland (Or.), Colfax, Reno (Virginia City), Palisade (Eureka), Ogden and Omaha. Connects at Galt with train arriving at Ione at 3:40 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 5:15 P.M.)

Sunday Excursion Tickets to San Pablo and Martinez at Reduced Rates.

10.00 A.M. (daily) via Oakland Ferry, Local Passenger Train to Haywards and Niles.
(Arrive San Fraucisco 4:05 P.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) San Jose Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry and Niles), stopping at all Way Stations. Arrives at San Jose at 5:20 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) Northern Railway Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to San Pablo, Martinez and Antioch.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily) Arizona Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Lathrop (and Stockton), Merced, Madera, Visalia, Sumner, Mojave, Newhall (San Buenaventura, and Santa Barbara), Los Angeles, "Santa Monica," Wilmington, Santa Ana (San Diego), Colton and Yuma (Colorado River Steamers), connecting direct with Daily Trains of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Arizona for Maricopa (Daily Stages for Phœnix and Prescott), and for Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma), and end of Track (Daily Stages for Florence and Tucson).
"Sleeping Cars" between Oakland, Los Angeles and Yuma.
(Arrive San Francisco 12:35 P.M.)

4.00 P. M. (Sundays excepted) Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing), connecting with trains for Calistoga, (the Geysers), Woodland, Knight's Landing and Sacramento; and at Sacramento with Passenger Train, leaving at 9:35 P.M. for Truckee, Reno, Carson and Virginia.
"Sleeping Cars" between Vallejo and Carson.
(Arrive San Francisco 11:10 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (Sundays excepted) Sacramento Steamer (from Wash'n St. Wharf), for Benicia and Landings on the Sacramento River.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:00 P.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily), Through Third Class and Accommodation Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) connecting at Lathrop with Train arriviug at Los Angeles on second day at 11:55 A.M. (Arrive San Francisco 9:05 A.M.

4.30 P.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to Haywards, Niles and Livermore. (Arrive San Francisco 8:35 A.M.)

5.00 P.M. (daily) Overland Emigrant Train (via Oakland Ferry and Northern Railway) to Ogden, Omaha and East.

Public conveyance for Mills Seminary connects at Semnary Park Station with all trains, Sundays excepted.

FERRIES AND LOCAL TRAINS

From "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

TO OAKLAND.		TO ALAMEDA.	TO FERNSIDE.	TO EAST OAKLAND.	TO NILES.	TO BERKELEY	TO DELAWARE STREET.
A. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.
B 6.10	12.30	7.00	B7.00	B 6.10	7.00	7.30	B 6.10
7.00	1.00	8.00	B9.00	7.30	10.00	8.30	8.00
7.30	1.30	9.00	B10.00	8.30	P. M.	9.30	10.00
8.00	2.00	10.00	P. M.	9.30	3.00	10.30	12.00
8.30	3.00	11.00	B5.00	10.30	4.30	11.30	P. M.
9.00	3.30	12.00	.....	11.30	TO SAN JOSE.	P. M.	1.30
9.30	4.00	P. M.	.....	P. M.		1.00	3.30
10.00	4.30	1.30	.....	12.30		3.00	4.30
10.30	5.00	2.00	.....	1.00		4.00	5.30
11.00	5.30	*3.00	.....	3.30		5.00	B 6.30
11.30	6.00	4.00	.....	4.30		6.00	.....
12.00	6.30	5.00	.....	5.30		B 6.30	.....
.....	7.00	6.00	.....	6.30
.....	8.10	p*7.00	.....	7.00
.....	9.20	B*8.10	.....	8.10	A. M.	Change Cars at West Oakland
.....	10.30	*1030	.....	9.20	7.00
.....	B11.45	B*1145	.....	10.30	P. M.
.....	.....	.....	.....	B11.45	3.00

To "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

FROM DELAWARE STREET.	FROM BERKELEY.	FROM NILES	FROM EAST OAKLAND.	FROM FERNSIDE.	FROM ALAMEDA.	FROM OAKLAND. (Broadway.)
A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	P. M.
B 5.40	B 5.40	7.00	B 5.10	B8.00	B*5.00	B 5.20	12.20
B 6.30	B 6.30	8.00	B 5.50	B10.00	B*5.40	B 6.00	12 50
8.00	7.30	P. M.	6.40	B11.00	*6.25	6.50	1.20
10.00	8.30	2.35	7.40	P. M.	7.00	7.20	1.50
12.00	9.30	4.30	8.40	B6.00	8.03	7.50	2.50
P. M.	10.30	FROM SAN JOSE.	9.40	.....	9.00	8.25	3.20
1.30	11.30		10.40	.....	10.03	8.50	3.50
3.30	P. M.		11.40	.....	11.03	9.20	4.20
4.30	1.00		P. M.	.....	12,00	9.50	4.50
5.30	3.00		12.40	.....	P. M.	10.20	5.20
B 6.30	4.00		1.25	.....	1.00	10.50	5.50
.....	5.00		2.40	.....	3.00	11.20	6.25
.....	6.00		4.40	.....	*3.20	11.50	6.50
Change Cars at West Oaklnd.			5.40	.....	4.00	.....	8.00
		A. M.	6.40	.....	5.00	.....	9.10
		7.10	7.50	.....	0.03	.....	10.20
		P. M.	9.00	.....	B*7.20	.....	.....
		1.30	10.10	.....	B*8.30	.....	.....
		.....	.....	.....	*10.00	.....	.....

B—Sundays excepted.
*Alameda Passengers change cars at Oakland.

Creek Route.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO—Daily—B5:40, B6:30, 7.20, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15 A.M. 12:15, 1:15, 2:25, 3:15, 4:15, 5:15, 6.15 P.M.

FROM OAKLAND—Daily—B5:30, B6:20, 7:10, 8:05, 9:05, 10:05, 11:05 A. M. 12:05, 1:05, 2:15, 3:05, 4:05, 5:05, 6:05 P.M. —Sundays excepted.

"Official Schedule Time" furnished by RANDOLPH & Co., Jewelers, 101 and 103 Montgomery St., S. F.

T. H. GOODMAN, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt.
A. N. TOWNE, General Superintendent.

SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD

Commencing Monday, Sept. 15th, 1879, and until further notice, Boats and Trains will leave San Francisco (Washington-st. Wharf) as follows:

3.00 P. M. daily (Sundays excepted), Steamer "James M. Donahue" (Washington Street Wharf), connecting with Mail and Express Train at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg, Cloverdale, and way stations. Making stage connections at Lakeville for Sonoma; at Geyserville for Skaggs' Springs; at Cloverdale for Ukiah, Lakeport, Mendocino City, Highland Springs, Bartlett Springs, Soda Bay and the Geysers.
☞ Connections made at Fulton on following morning for Korbel's, Guerneville and the Redwoods.
(Arrive at San Francisco 10:30 A.M.)

Sunday Excursions at Reduced Rates.

8.15 A.M., Sundays only, via Donahue, for Cloverdale and Way Stations.
Fares for Round Trip: Donahue, $1; Petaluma, $1.50; Santa Rosa, $2; Fulton, $2.50; Windsor, $3; Healdsburg, $3; Litton's, $3.50; Geyserville, $3.50; Cloverdale, $4.50.
(Arrive at San Francisco 7:00 P.M.)

Freight received from 7 a.m. till 2.30 p. m., daily (except Sundays).

Ticket Office: Washington st. Wharf.

A. HUGHES, Gen. Manager. JAS. M. DONAHUE, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt.

ROEDERER CHAMPAGNE.

Notice.--The Trade and the Public are informed that we receive the genuine LOUIS ROEDERER CARTE BLANCAE CHAMPAGNE, direct from Mr. Louis Roederer, Reims, over his signature and Consular Invoice. Each case is marked upon the side, "Macondray & Co., San Francisco," and each bottle bears the label, "Macondray & Co., Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast."
MACONDRAY & CO.,
Oct. 11. Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Natural beauty surpasses anything which can be imparted by artificial means. PHOSPHATE SOAP gives health to the skin simply by removing impurities and eradicating the poisons which give rise to skin diseases.

Not only for daily use on the face and hands, but for bathing the entire body, there is nothing equal to PHOSPHATE SOAP. It is a thorough disinfectant and removes offensive odors of every kind.

☞ Ask your Druggist for it.

NORTHERN DIVISION SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Commencing Monday, April 21, 1879, and until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave San Francisco, from Passenger Depot on Townsend street, between Third and Fourth streets, as follows:

8.20 A.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations ☞ Stages for Pescadero (via San Mateo connect with this train only.

9.30 A.M (Sundays only) for San Jose and Way Stations. Returning, leaves San Jose at 6 P.M.

10.40 A.M. daily for San Jose, Gilroy, Hollister, Tres Pinos, Pajaro, Salinas, Soledad and all Way Stations. ☞ At PAJARO, the Santa Cruz R. R. connects with this train for Aptos, Soquel and Santa Cruz. ☞ At SALINAS the M. & S. V. R. R connects with this train for Monterey. ☞ STAGE connections made with this train. (Pescadero Stages via San Mateo excepted.)

3.30 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose, Gilroy, Pajaro, Hollister, Tres Pinos and principal Way Stations.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The trains of the Santa Cruz R. R and the M. & S. V. R. R, which have been connecting with this train on Saturdays at PAJARO and SALINAS respectively, have been withdrawn for the season. Those intending to visit Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz or Monterey will take the train leaving San Francisco at 10:40 A.M daily.

3.30 P.M. (Sundays only) for San Jose and Way Stations.

4.25 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose and Way Stations.

5.00 P. M. daily (Sundays excepted) for Menlo Park and Way Stations.

6.30 P.M.—daily, for Menlo Park and Way Stations

Second-Class Fare.

Between San Francisco and San Jose.....$1.00

On Freight Trains only, leaving San Francisco at 4:00 A.M., San Jose at 8:30 P.M. (daily, Sundays excepted).

Excursion Tickets at Reduced Rates

To San Jose and intermediate points sold on Saturdays and Sunday mornings, good for return until following Monday inclusive.

Also, EXCURSION TICKETS to Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz and Monterey, sold on Saturdays only—good for return until the following Monday inclusive.

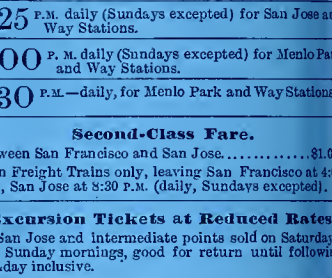
☞ Principal Ticket Office—Passenger Depot, Townsend street. Branch Ticket Office—No. 2 New Montgomery street, Palace Hotel.

A. C. BASSETT, Supt. H. R. JUDAH, A. P. & T. A.

SOUTHERN DIVISIONS.

Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879

☞ Passengers for points on the Southern Division of the road will take the cars of the Central Pacific Railroad via OAKLAND, leaving SAN FRANCISCO via Ferry Landing, Market street, at 4:00 P.M. daily (Arizona Express Train), and making close connection at GOSHEN for Sumner, Mojave, Los Angeles, Wilmington, Anaheim, Colton, Colorado River, YUMA, Maricopa and Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma). May 31.



Ladies who have injured the skin by the constant use of cosmetics may do much to restore their face to that beauty which nature alone can give by constantly using PHOSPHATE SOAP.

For chapped hands the constant use of PHOSPHATE SOAP will be recommended by all who give it one fair trial.

If you want a nice article of Toilet Soap and something that is beneficial to the skin, buy PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Ladies who wish to make the skin look beautiful and nature should use PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Manufactured by "Standard Soap Co. 204 Sacramento St., San Francisco.

NOTABILIA.

THE PEDDLER'S SONG.

white as driven snow;
black as e'er was crow;
sweet as damask roses;
r faces and for noses;
ecelet, necklace, amber;
for a lady's chamber;

Gold quoins and stomachers,
For my lads to give their dears;
Pins and poking-sticks of steel.
What maids lack from head to heel:
Come buy of me, come; come buy, come buy,
Buy, lads, or else your lasses cry.

WILLIAM SHAKSPEARE.

elers from Europe and the East remark and are surprised at ennial bloom and freshness of all San Francisco women; and one e visitors, an English man of science, speaking but a few days ago subject, asked us, "Are there really no elderly women in this city? se I see are youthful." It was explained to him that the use of Rachel's Enamel Bloom, the purest and most beneficent cosmetic own, had effectually kept off the marks of fleeting years; and he ardly believe his eyes when invited by C. Langley & Co., Front e streets, to examine this wonderful preparation.

as an experience, constantly renewed at the Author's Carnival, gnize one's friend in the thick of San Francisco's beauty and y by the only portion of his attire, visible in the press—his hat. whose fastidious and delicate taste had led them to purchase of ann, the renowned artist in historical and stylish head-gear, were ont at once by their friends in the throng. The exquisite outline hats designed by this prince of men, 336 Kearny street, cannot be en any more than the crest of Bayard or Henri Quatre in the head-harge of the French chivalry.

re is considerable discussion in the community concerning the ises for street railroads, so lavishly granted by the Board of Super- and public opinion is divided as to the advisability of multiplying channels of communication so very rapidly. At the worst, how- hey testify to the growth and enterprise of our city; and yet there vidence of these to he compared with the popularity of Swain's rant, 213 Sutter street. The approaches to this famous establish- re always crowded, so unrivaled is the table, so perfect the order e comfort.

gestion of the Lungs, Inflammation of the Throat, and Difficulty athing, frequently result from a severe Cold. The remedial pro- combined in Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, are especially designed to up feverish and inflammatory tendencies, remove Constriction of broat, and by bringing about a free expectoration, promote natural ation and a speedy cure. A reputation maintained for forty years s to all a guarantee of the practical merit of the remedy. Sold by & Brigham, San Francisco.

s impossible to take too great care of one's lungs, for consump- which does not spare even the lions of the Algerian Sahara or the us Bengal tiger, is the most dangerous and insidious foe of the n race. An obstruction in breathing, a weakness in the chest, should be disregarded. Trifling as the symptom may be, it calls for atten- and the simple rules of prudence command us to have always on F. & P. J. Cassin's Cordial Balm of Old Rye Whisky and Pure Candy.

le Jimmie, it is said, passed the night with a friend, a sudden in- f guests having crowded his home. In the morning he was invited e breakfast with those who had sheltered him for the night. "Well, ss not," he replied; "we have mighty good breakfasts when we ompany." This shows conclusively that Jimmie's parents were not led with Montanya's Union Range, for then the breakfasts would een mighty good, not once or twice, but always and forever.

arely gifted singer, who warbles in the New York Independent, describing with sweet similes and double-barreled adjectives an ex- y charming person, comes to this lofty climax: "She is she." Not are inclined to doubt it, and it is certain that all who look upon a hat has purchased his neck-gear and linen at Carmany & Crosett's, arny street, exclaim with one accord, so perfectly is he dressed: ly he is he!"

usekeepers are advised to call upon Hartshorn & McPhun, 112 n street, near Mission, for all kinds of carpets, oil-cloths, Linoleum gs, etc.; also, manufacturers of store and house window shades, r ornamented. Give them a call for first-class work, at the lowest in the city.

know Hop Bitters are above and beyond all as a nutritious tonic rative. See another column.

The "Moniteur Vinicole" declares that the losses by the failure of the vintage this year in the Champagne district will reach the enormous sum of 30,000,000 francs. Even should this figure prove to be an exaggeration, the truth will be bad enough to the wine growers as well as to their customers in other countries; and it is with a feeling of comfort, therefore, that we turn to the house of Landsberger and its ceaseless activity in filling orders from every quarter for the exquisite Private Cuvée, unsurpassed by the best brands of French wine.

It is a sad thing to have parted with the visions of beauty and grace among which we moved so freely and so happily in those precious evenings of the Carnival, all too quickly spent; but it gives comfort to remember that Bradley and Rulofson's matchless skill has perpetuated for us the loveliness of those fairy forms and faces. Looking on these counterfeit presentments, the mind is deluded with a dear delight.

Prof. Mohor's instructions in the noble art of swimming, as given at the Neptune and Mermaid Baths, at the foot of Hyde street, North Beach, are doing a great work for the health of our city. The translucent waters roll in, full of strength and tone, fresh from the mighty Pacific, upon a beautifully shelving beach, and under the open heaven, warm with sunlight.

It is a sad truth that too many of our eminent men in modern times fall victims to over-application and strain of the intellectual powers, under the feverish excitements of life, whether social, literary, political or commercial. Those who still enjoy the strength of their manhood should take warning in time, refresh and calm the system by the regular use of Napa Soda, and all will be well.

At the intensely interesting lecture given by Adolph Sutro before the Bullion Club of New York, on the 6th inst., it was noticed that all the California gentlemen present, including ex-Gov. Latham, Messrs. Whiting, Satterly, Luttrell, and others, had White's hats, from 614 Commercial street, and that these were far handsomer than any others in the room.

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

City and County of San Francisco, September 9, 1879.

Redemption of San Francisco Bonds,

ISSUE OF 1858.

Holders of Bonds of the City and County of San Francisco, issued under "An Act to provide for the Funding and Payment of the outstanding Unfunded Claims against the City of San Francisco, and against the County of San Francisco, as they existed prior to the first day of July, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six," approved April 20, 1858, are hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the above named Bonds will receive sealed proposals for the surrender of any portion thereof, at the City and County Treasurer's office, New City Hall, San Francisco, until 12 o'clock noon,

Wednesday, December 31st, 1879.

The amount to be applied to the Redemption of these Bonds is more or less, One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Dollars ($180,000).

Bidders will state at what rate they will surrender their Bonds, for payment in United States gold coin.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent. of the Bonds offered, or their equivalent in coin, or certified checks, and should the Bonds tendered not be presented within ten days after the award, the next lowest bid will be accepted.

No proposal above par will be entertained.

Proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for surrender of Bonds, issue of 1858."

A. J. BRYANT, Mayor,
COLIN M. BOYD, Auditor,
CHAS. HUBERT, Treasurer,
Commissioners of the Funded Debt.

Sept. 13.

AVERILL MIXEO PAINT,

The Best, Most Durable and Beautiful of All Paints.

PREPARED READY FOR USE,

AND OF ANY SHADE OR COLOR DESIRED.

O. S. ORRICK, General Agent,

Sept. 27. 329 Market st., Opposite Front.

COKE CHEAPEST FUEL.

Reduction in Price: Wholesale Price, 50 cents per barrel; Retail Price, 60 cents per barrel, at the works of the SAN FRANCISCO GAS-LIGHT COMPANY, Howard and First streets, and foot of Second st. Jan. 12.

$25 to $5000 Judiciously invested in Wall St. lays the foundation for fortunes every week, and pays immense profits by the New Capitalization System of operating in Stocks. Full explanation on application to ADAMS, BROWN & Co., Bankers, 28 Broad St., N. Y.

SCHWAB & BREESE,

New Art Gallery, 624 Market street, opposite Palace Hotel. Oil Paintings, Engravings, Wax and Artists' Materials.
ADMISSION FREE. Sept. 13.

SNOW & CO.,

No. 20 Post street, opposite Mechanics' Institute, Importers and Manufacturers of Pictures, Frames, Mouldings, and Artist's Materials. Established 1849. Sept. 20.

W. Morris. MORRIS & KENNEDY, J. F. Kennedy.

Importers and Dealers in Moldings, Frames, Engravings, Chromos, Lithographs, Decalcomanie, Wax and Artists' Materials, 21 Post street, nearly opposite Masonic Temple, San Francisco. Feb. 4.

NOTICE.

For the very best photographs go to Bradley & Rulofson's, in an Elevator, 429 Montgomery street. Oct. 29.

MADAME WALDO COHEN,

Finishing Lessons--Piano. $3 Per Lesson.

Sept. 20. 507 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

WHAT IS DENNIS AFTER NOW?

Mary Kelly has been declared by one Commissioner in Lunacy to be insane, but there is so much method in her madness that she can't be got into the Lunatic Asylum, and one prominent citizen has failed, up to the present time, in all his efforts to get rid of her threats and of her impassioned importunities. The Police Court has for some time been trying to arrive at a determination as to what it can do with her. At this point Dennis Kearney comes on the scene. He thinks the young woman had better emigrate, and he believes Australia is her proper destination. She "must go," though the Chinese do not. Why she should is not made apparent. There are many more unmarried males than females in the State. Greater statesmen than ever Dennis Kearney have declared that such disparity in the number of males and females is not good for any country. Law-makers, in some States, legislate to prevent it by inducing female immigration. That is what they have long done in Australia, and, as a consequence, there are nearly as many women as men, and the former are not at as great a premium as they are here. Why, then, should the wise man of the Sand-lots send this woman from a land in which her sex are comparatively scarce to one in which they are over-abundant? There is money in it—or, at least, Miss Kelly says so. Dennis importuned her to go, and, she says, he undertook to get her one thousand dollars from the citizen alluded to, as an inducement for her to make her exit through the Golden Gate. Seriously, isn't there something fishy about this interference on the part of Dennis? How did he know he could get the thousand dollars? Did he hope to get it voluntarily, or did he expect to extort it? Surely he has been treading on treacherous ground! His enemies say that he originally belonged to a piece club, and that he is still on the make. We don't believe it. But we won't be answerable as to what our belief may be if he attempts levying largess for the benefit of abusive females.

AFTER THE MEDICOS AGAIN.

The News Letter has stayed its hand for some time in regard to quacks and quackery, because it desired to see how the new anti-quackery law worked. That law has done much good, and the officers of police selected to enforce its provisions have done so with ability and fidelity. Many convictions have been obtained, and many rascally quacks have been compelled to suspend their nefarious operations. We rejoice at what has been accomplished. The present condition of affairs is a great improvement upon that which the News Letter found existing when it took its now memorable task in hand. But much, very much, remains to be done, and we propose to do it. A number of men have obtained licenses by means that we may hereafter describe. Our friends Deane and Whitney, Sr., have got over into the regular fold, and we propose to show why and how, and we propose to inquire whether, having obtained licenses, they are other than they were. The two medical schools are making doctors at a wonderfully and fearfully rapid rate. It will be proper to inquire into the business and learn how it is conducted. If students are accepted who are ignorant hoors, and who are dismissed as full-fledged doctors, being still unacquainted with the duties of their profession, the public ought to know it, in order that they may estimate a California-made doctor at his proper value. Along Kearny street there are licensed men who are as guilty as Cynthia Hodgdon has been declared to be. They want ferreting out and bringing to trial, as she has been. Their offense is a most abominable one, that merits, and must be made to receive, the highest penalty known to the law. Stories come to us which must be inquired into, and, if found to be true, must be told, regardless of consequences. In short, another well-directed fire along the whole line of licensed and unlicensed quackery will inure to the benefit of the profession and of the public.

The occupation of the journalist is beset with perils, just in proportion as he attempts to discharge his duty to the public, for whose benefit he exists. He needs, more than all other men, wisdom that is never betrayed into folly, judgment of persons and the stories which they bring to him, which is never at fault, and almost omniscience to determine between truth and falsehood. Even with these qualifications, the man who conducts a newspaper is often betrayed into giving place in his columns to what never should have crept into them. The editor is simply human, and as liable to err as the average heir of frailty. The value of these remarks is just now in their application. A few days since, an article on the Baldwin Hotel, in this city, was brought to us for publication. Its substantial correctness was vouched for by a person whose position in life entitled him to confidence, and who appeared, in this case, to be uninfluenced hy malice. The circumstances charged, if true, demanded publication at the hands of a fearless and unfettered press. In that view the article was accepted, and, with some modification, admitted to our columns. We believed it true in substance and in fact.

Since the article appeared there have been made some discoveries which alter the complexion of the article in some essential particulars. The source from which it emanated proves not free from prejudice. When a man has himself been dismissed from a hotel for conduct which it is alleged has made him the subject of severe criticism and complaint on the part of other hoarders, his views of the house and its inmates are not worth either credence or publication, and such, we are assured, was the fact with reference to the author of the article in question. We now understand this to be the case, and had we known it the article would not have had our indorsement nor gone to the public through us.

Mr. Baldwin's prosecution of the News Letter is a matter of total indifference to us. We have faced libel suits so often, and come off so invariably unscathed, that the summons to meet a District Judge, or a warrant from the Police Court, have no terrors. But we put our views of the article in question upon a very different ground. We are not satisfied with the source from which the facts purport to come. We have investigated the writer's statements, and believe we have been imposed upon. We take this occasion to say, and for the reason stated, that we regret the publication in question.

Mr. Kertel, the gifted carver in wood, on Post street, near Stockton, whose characteristic works have excited the admiration of all who pass that way, has lately essayed, with complete success, the line of portrait busts in plaster. His first work in this branch of art is a bust of A. Colman, Esq., one of our prominent business men, a person so well known to thousands that any failure in the likeness would have been fatal to Mr. Kertel's pretensions. To have met and surpassed expectation, is therefore a proof of rare merit in this young artist, and he is to be heartily congratulated.

The growth of Oakland is only less rapid than that of San Francisco, and every day, what used to be a kind of country resort, ta more and more the appearance of a great city. Already her hotel modations are of the first class, and a few days will add to th "Galindo," a large, new hotel, fitted up in the finest style, with recent improvement, and occupying nearly the whole block on and Franklin sts. This splendid establishment contains 150 rooms admirably arranged and lighted, with ample corriders, and will be the management of Geo. D. Hodges, who has made a most enviable tation in his profession. The "Galindo" will undoubtedly bec favorite residence for families and visitors of refinement.

J. M. Litchfield & Co., 415 Montgomery street, have the ver cutter and fitter in the city, and the reputation of the house for th quality of goods and thorough work has never been excelled. O yet to find a customer of theirs who is not perfectly satisfied wi style and fit of his clothes.

A Tramp got a new suit of clothes out of the Sidney, O., autb in a very original way. He committed some slight offense, for wh was put into jail. As soon as he was behind the bars he deliberatel off his cloths and cut them into shreds, including his boots. Of co new suit had to be purchased for him so that he could appear for tr

A man who is always going in for figures has arrived at the foll calculation: That, if a person were born in a railway carriage, an to be continually traveling till he was killed by a railway accide would, according to the average number of deaths and passenger nine hundred and sixty years.

Ben. Butler in oil! It seems that they put him up in that wa every election, to keep him fresh and sweet for the next one. G Grant builded better than he knew when he called the hero of a tho spoons, "Bottled Butler."

HIGHEST STOCK QUOTATIONS
For the Week Ending Nov. 14th, 1879.
COMPILED BY GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO., 230 MONTGOMERY STREET.

NAME OF MINE.	SAT.	MONDAY.		TUESDAY.		WEDNESDY		THURSDAY.		FR
		A.M.	P. M.	A.M.	P M.	A.M.	P. M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.
Argenta	1	—	1	—	1	—	1	—	1	—
Andes	1⅜	1½	1¼	1⅜	—	—	—	1⅜	—	—
Alpha	14	13⅜	—	13¾	—	13⅜	—	13⅜	13½	—
Alta	5⅜	5⅜	—	5½	5½	5⅜	—	5⅜	—	—
Alps	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Bullion	6½	6½	—	6½	6	6⅜	6½	6½	—	—
Belcher	3⅜	4	—	4	—	—	—	3⅜	—	—
Best & Belcher	21	21	26⅜	20⅜	20	20⅜	20⅜	20⅜	—	19⅞
Beuton	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜	—	3⅜	—	—	—	—
Bodie	14	—	13¾	—	13	—	12	12	—	12½
Cons Imperial	1½	1	—	1	—	⅞	—	—	—	—
Crown Point	3⅜	3⅜	—	3⅜	—	3⅜	—	—	—	—
*Chollar	8⅜	8⅜	8½	8	7⅞	8½	8½	8½	8	7⅞
California	5⅜	5⅜	5½	5⅜	5⅜	5⅜	—	—	—	5½
Con. Virginia	5½	5⅜	5½	5⅜	—	5⅜	—	—	—	5½
Caledonia	2½	2½	—	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	—	—	—	1⅜
Confidence	11	11	—	11	—	—	—	—	—	—
Eureka Con	25⅜	—	25½	—	26½	—	26	26	25⅞	26
Exchequer	4⅜	4⅜	—	4⅜	—	4⅜	—	—	—	—
Fairfax	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Gould & Curry	11½	11	10½	10⅜	10½	10⅜	10⅜	10⅜	—	—
*Gila	½	—	⅜	—	⅜	—	⅜	—	⅜	—
Grand Prize	—	—	2	—	2	—	—	—	2½	—
Hale & Norcross	19	20⅜	18	18	18	19⅜	18⅜	18⅜	17⅜	17⅜
Julia	3⅜	3⅜	—	3½	3½	3½	—	3½	3½	—
Justice	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜	2½	—	2⅜	—	—	—	—
Jackson	—	—	4	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Kentuck	4	4	—	4	—	4	—	—	—	—
Leopard	½	—	½	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Lady Wash'n	1⅜	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	—
Leviathan	⅜	⅜	—	—	—	—	—	½	—	—
Leeds	—	—	—	—	⅜	—	⅜	—	⅜	—
*Mexican	33½	31	31⅜	30⅜	30⅜	34½	33⅜	32½	32½	32
Modoc	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Manhattan	—	—	—	2⅜	—	2⅜	—	—	—	—
Northern Belle	5⅜	—	5⅜	—	6	—	6	—	6⅜	—
Ophir	31⅜	31½	31½	31	30⅜	32⅜	32	31½	30⅜	30½
Overman	9	9	—	8½	—	8⅜	—	—	—	5½
*Potosi	—	—	—	—	—	5⅜	—	5½	—	—
Raymond & Ely	1½	—	1½	—	1½	—	1½	—	1⅜	—
*Savage	15⅜	16⅜	16⅜	16¼	—	—	16½	15½	15⅜	15
*Sierra Nevada	56	53½	57½	56	—	57	55½	54⅜	54	53½
*Silver Hill	1½	1½	—	1	1	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	—
*Seg Belcher	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
*Solid Silver	½	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Succor	½	½	—	½	—	½	—	—	—	—
Silver King, Ara	—	—	6½	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Silv King South	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Tip-Top	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	2	1⅜
Union Con	81½	72	—	65	—	69½	68	66	—	67
*Utah	20	19	—	19½	—	20	—	19	—	18½
Yellow Jacket	16	15½	15½	15½	15½	15½	15½	16⅜	—	16½

Assessments are now due on the Stocks above marked thus *

OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL STEAMSHIP CO.,

For Japan and China, leave wharf, corner First and Br nan streets, at noon, for YOKOHAMA AND HONGKONG, connectin Yokohama with Steamers for Shanghai.

GAELIC ..... December 6th, February 28

BELGIC ..... January 17th, April 10

Cabin Plans on exhibition and Passage Tickets for sale at No. 2 New Montgon street.

For Freight, apply to GEORGE H. RICE, Freight Agent, at the Pacific Mail St ship Company's Wharf, or No. 218 California street.

T. H. GOODMAN, General Passenger Agent.

LELAND STANFORD, President. Nov.

SITUATION WANTED.

An English gentleman, with several years' experience California, thoroughly acquainted with hook-keeping and general busin and with a knowledge of farming, is anxious for employment as clerk, oversee other position. Best of references. Address "S," this office. Oct. 1

"BIZ."

...ainy season is upon us in right good earnest, giving a fair degree ...an to the agriculturist that he can plow and sow with hope and ...e that he will in due season reap an abundant harvest. Now ... farmers that have been withholding their grain from market ... Wheat—until they were measurably sure of a sufficient rainfall ... a crop, can now afford to sell at least a good portion of their ...n warehouse. Two cents per pound is a very remunerative price. ...y in the season we have had a full average rainfall, particularly ...thern portion of the State, notably in the San Joaquin valley, ...h we so greatly rely for our export trade in Breadstuff. Stock- ...houses now contain over 50,000 tons of Wheat, and this large re- ... now gradually melt away, provided shippers will pay in the ...d of $2 25 per cental. Up to this date $2 15 is the highest ..., but at this writing a lot of 1,000 tons is offered at $2 10, and ...ly bid. This, be it remembered, is for only 1,000 tons. At this ...re have on the European berth a fleet of 28 vessels, of 46,493 reg- ...ns, and these vessels must have dispatch or else soon come under ...ge. It is well known that a portion of the Wheat necessary to ...the shire has already been bought, to arrive from the interior, but ... to be purchased sooner or later. Of course, all eyes are watch- ...European marts to know the ups and downs of the Liverpool ...received daily by cable at the Exchange. Our prices now, as they ...ly, are full up to the English price, freight, insurance, etc., added. ... in the season our merchants, as a whole, have done a very suc- ...business in this line, and hope to do as much more before the close ...pping season.

...July 1st we have exported to Europe 140 cargoes of Wheat and ...ained at $4,715,000, against 142 vessels same time last year, of ...0.

...ceipts of Wheat and Flour from the interior since Harvest, July ...vember 13th, for the past three years stands thus:

	Flour, 50lb. Qr. Sks.	Wheat, Ctls.
.....	656,802	6,457,411
.....	719,435	5,658,367
.....	570,303	2,115,300

...tal exports of Wheat and Flour to all countries for two seasons ...ding from July 1st to November 13th, are as follows:

	Flour, Bbls.	Wheat, Ctls.
.....	159,650	5,461,069
.....	170,196	5,202,967

...is to say that about one-half of our Wheat crop has now been ...ld, and our farmers well satisfied with prices already realized.

...nts and Charters.—There has been felt a dullness in the freight ...for two weeks past, ship-owners asking 65@70s. for Wood and ... a direct port—Havre or Liverpool. We know of no charters ...this month. A good many ships are arriving here in ballast, ...cargoes. The disengaged tonnage now in port numbers eighteen ...of 20,900 registered tons. A good many vessels have entered port ..., having been chartered prior to arrival, which accounts in a good ...r the present quietness of the freight market. We hope to see ... in the freight market ere long.

...y.—The market is very quiet for lack of an export demand. We ...rewing 95c@$1, Coast Feed 75c, Barley Feed 85c ₩ ctl. Cheva- ...rce, and wanted at $1 45@$1 70 ₩ cental.

...p—The market is strong at 22½@37½c, as extremes—all new crop ... many being shipped East by rail.

...c.—Stocks are light, and the market active within the range of ...8 ₩ lb for Fall clip.

...d.—Dry are in good request at 19@20c; Wet Salted, 9@10c.

...llow is in limited request at 5½c.

...lmon.—The market is very firm under reduced stock of 1-lb tins. ...s for the past fortnight, here and en route, aggregate 35,000 cases, ...ne range of $1.35@1.45 ₩ dozen, according to brand. The stock ...ly held by one house, and the above sales reduce the cost of the ...r to about $1.05 ₩ doz.; thus making the large venture a remu- ...speculation. There are no 2 lb tins of Salmon in market.

...rk.—There is no change to be noted in the market-price, say 6@7c. ...wo grades.

...ps.—The market for Grain Sacks and piece goods is very firm. ...80,000 yards Hessians is reported at 8@8¼c. Standard Grain ... held with firmness by the Combination at 10@12c. The great ...in freights at Calcutta causes enhanced cost for all goods, and ...at strength to holders.

...e—We have no cargo sales to record. Prices, for the most part, ...as for months past. The Pacific Coast supply being large keeps ...wn to bed-rock rates.

...ee.—Stocks of all kinds are running low, pending the arrival of a ...om Ceylon, now about due. We quote Rio 16@17c, Central ...n 19@20c, O. G. Java 26c.

...a—Stocks of all kinds are running light. We quote Japans, in ..., 7½@40c.

...ls.—There continues to be a good demand for Native. This year's ...will probably exceed 6,000,000 galls. The Colima, via Panama, ...o New York 29,000 galls. To-day S. L. Jones & Co. will sell, at ... 120,000 galls. stock and goodwill of the Buena Vinicultural Soci- ... to be the largest vineyard in the world.

...s—There is a pause in the late upheaval of the markets, and ...es are more or less nominal. There is, in fact, but very little Pig ...other stock in first hands, and all the trading done now is from ...r jobbers' hands. We may add that the general jobbing trade of ...n is good.

...ksilver has declined to 40c., with very few sales and light stock.

Whaling Fleet.—Some eight or ten whalers from the Arctic ...ave arrived here within the week, bringing some 7,500 bbls. Whale ...00 lbs. Whalebone, and of Ivory some 15,000 lbs. The hulk of ... will be re-shipped to New Bedford and the Bone sent East for a ... also the Ivory.

CRADLE, ALTAR, AND TOMB.

CRADLE.

BLECHER—In this city, November 9th, to the wife of Wm. Blecher, a son.
OAKLEY—In this city, November 12th, to the wife of John F. Oakley, a daughter.
CANTY—In this city, November 4th, to the wife of T. Canty, a son.
LESSER—In this city, November 9th, to the wife of Jacob Lesser, a daughter.
MCGINN—In this city, November 9th, to the wife of Eugene McGinn, a son.
NAYLOR—In this city, November 10th, to the wife of Charles E. Naylor, a daughter.
PETERSON—In this city, November 9th, to the wife of John F. Peterson, a son.
PERALTA—In this city, November 7th, to the wife of F. Y. Peralta, a son.
SCHWERIN—In this city, November 9th, to the wife of Wm. E. Schwerin, a son.
SLATTERY—In this city, November 9th, to the wife of James Slattery, a son.
STEINBACH—In this city, October 12th, to the wife of F. H. Steinbach, a son.

ALTAR.

BRUNN-DAVIDSON—In this city, November 9th, Jacob Brunn to Susannah Davidson.
DIETERICH-FASS—In this city, November 8th, Christian Dieterich to Ernestina Fass.
HALL-PERRY—In this city, November 11th, John C. Hall to Anna J. Perry.
HAUSCHILDT-ARWTT—In this city, November 10th, H. Hauschildt to Minna Abwtt.
MIGNON-PETERS—In this city, November 8th, Abell Mignon to Jessie Peters.
MACOMBER-GOLDEN—In this city, November 8th, C. A. Macomber to Mollie Golden.
MEYER-ROUPP—In this city, November 8th, Wm. Meyer to Mary Roupp.
PERRY-JOYCE—In this city, November 8th, Thomas Perry to Mariah M. Joyce.
SKEY-REYNOLDS—In this city, November 8th, George F. Skey to Mrs. M. Reynolds.
WARNER-WHITLEY—In this city, November 10th, Sumner Warner to M. Whitley.
WATTERSON-TILLMAN—In this city, November 3d, G. T. Watterson to Lucy Tillman.

TOMB

AYERS—In Oakland, November 7th, Ira Ayers, Jr., aged 40 years and 4 months.
ASHLEY—In this city, November 12th, Melinda W. Ashley, aged 58 years.
BLETHEN—In this city, November 7th, Julia C. Blethen, aged 31 years.
CUMMING—In this city, November 9th, Jennie Cumming, aged 25 years.
CULINOVICH—In this city, November 7th, B. G. Culinovich.
FENERAN—In this city, November 11th, Wm. Feneran, aged 26 years.
HALLIDAY—In this city, November 11th, John Halliday, aged 48 years.
HORTON—In this city, November 12th, Mrs. Abby H. Horton.
JURGENSON—In this city, November 12th, Hulda M. Jurgenson, aged 20 years.
KILLPATRICK—In this city, November 8th, Wm. Killpatrick, aged 52 years.
PENNYCOOK—In this city, November 11th, Sarah L. Pennycook, Jr., aged 27 years.
RODDA—In this city, November 11th, Clara J. Rodda, aged 33 years.
STEWART—In this city, November 12th, George D. Stewart, aged 24 years.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

Industrial History of the United States. By Albert S. Bolles. Norwich, Conn.: The Henry Bill Publishing Company, 1879; pp. 936.

Mr. Bolles is Lecturer in the Boston University, and the author of several works on economic subjects. In the present volume he has brought together, so far as we know, the most complete outline of the history and present condition of the numerous vast industries of the United States that has ever been produced. The work consists of seven Books, comprising fifty-two chapters, and gives a well written and concise account of every important industry of the country, with ample illustrations and sufficient statistics to enlighten the general reader on every subject treated of. In a rapidly living age like the present, this record of an industrial development, such as the world has never seen before, will prove invaluable as a work of reference, on a great variety of subjects, to those who wish to have a compendium of industrial information in a readily accessible form. Mr. Bolles has done his work well, and the book deserves the widest circulation.

THE SYDNEY MAIL, of September 20th, comes to us with an extra, giving a fine view of the International Exhibition building and grounds, as seen from the spire of St. Joseph's Church, with, of course, a broad sweep of country, hill, dale and river beyond; a work that does great credit to the enterprise of the paper and the resources of the city.

THE LONDON GRAPHIC, of October 18th, has a noble picture, in an extra sheet, of Cetewayo, the captive Zulu King, escorted by the guard into Cape Town. The composition is broad and simple, and the figure of the grand savage stands out in a very striking manner. One such plate is worth the year's subscription to the paper.

St. John's Presbyterian Church, Post street, between Mason and Taylor. Rev. Dr. Scott, Pastor, will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock; also at 7½ P. M. Sunday School and Bible Classes at 9½ A. M. Prayer and Praise Service at 6½ P. M.

Sterling Silverware.—A large assortment of elegant designs at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The Company's steamers will sail as follows at 12 M: CITY OF PEKING, Nov. 15th, Feb. 7th, May 1st—CITY OF TOKIO, Dec. 27th, March 20th—for YOKOHAMA and HONGKONG.

GRANADA, November 19th, for PANAMA and NEW YORK, calling at MAZATLAN, SAN BLAS, MANZANILLO and ACAPULCO, connecting at Acapulco with Company's Steamer for all Central American ports—calling at SAN JOSE DE GUATEMALA and LA LIBERTAD to land passengers and mails only.

Tickets to and from Europe by any line for sale at the lowest rates; also to Havana and all West India ports.

CITY OF SYDNEY, Nov. 24th, at 12 o'clock M., or on arrival of the English mails, for HONOLULU, AUCKLAND and SYDNEY. $10 additional is charged for passage in Upper Saloon.

CITY OF CHESTER, Nov. 20th, for VICTORIA, PORT TOWNSEND, SEATTLE, and TACOMA, connecting at TACOMA with Northern Pacific Railroad for PORTLAND, Oregon. Tickets must be purchased before 11 A.M. on day of sailing, at Wharf Office. For freight or passage apply at the office, cor. First and Brannan streets. [Nov. 15.] WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents.

PACIFIC COAST STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

Steamers of this Company will sail from Broadway Wharf for PORTLAND, Oregon), every 5 days, direct, and for LOS ANGELES, SANTA BARBARA, SANTA CRUZ, SAN DIEGO, SAN LUIS OBISPO and other NORTHERN and SOUTHERN COAST PORTS, leaving SAN FRANCISCO about every third day.

For Day and Hour of Sailing, see the Company's Advertisement in the San Francisco Daily Papers.

Ticket Office, No. 214 Montgomery Street, near Pine.
GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents,
March 15. No. 10 Market street.

LET IT PASS.

Be not swift to take offense;
Let it pass!
Anger is a foe to sense!
Let it pass!
Brood not darkly o'er a wrong;
Which will disappear ere long;
Rather sing this cheery song—
Let it pass!
Let it pass!

Strife corrodes the purest mind;
Let it pass!
As the unregarded wind,
Let it pass!
Any vulgar souls that live,
May condemn without reprieve:
'Tis the noble who forgive.
Let it pass!
Let it pass!

Echo not an angry word!
Let it pass!
Think how often you have erred;
Let it pass!
Since our joys must pass away
Like the dew-drops on the spray,
Wherefore should our sorrows stay?
Let it pass!
Let it pass!

If for good you've taken ill;
Let it pass!
Oh, be kind and gentle still!
Let it pass!
Time at last makes all things straight;
Let us not resent but wait,
And our triumph shall be great;
Let it pass!
Let it pass!

Bid your anger to depart;
Let it pass!
Lay those homely words to heart;
"Let it pass!"
Follow not the giddy throng;
Better to be wronged than wrong;
Therefore sing the cheery song—
Let it pass!
Let it pass!

—All the Year Round.

AN OUNCE OF CIVET.

It is doubtful which is the most offensive form of cant, but there is no doubt whatever that the periodical twaddling of the papers on the subject of kitchen service for women is a nuisance and a bore. It seems to these enlightened organs of public opinion a very remarkable thing that women do not like to become cooks and housemaids, and every few days some solemn nonsense is brought out concerning the dignity of labor, and some plan is proposed for the education of young women in menial duties, so that, instead of overcrowding the lists of applicants for position as teachers, our daughters may inscribe their names on the roll of aspirants for the post of head-cook in the Hon. Mr. Swipes's family. "The dignity of labor" is one of the phrases which once had some meaning, but are now mere sound and fury, signifying nothing, or, rather, signifying the exact contrary of their obvious meaning. Nobody in America sees any dignity in labor; and if one fact in our social life is more menacing than another, it is the invincible aversion of the American to anything like real toil. The number of Americans who really work with their hands diminishes at a frightful rate, year after year, and the first duty of those who undertake to preach to women as the chief sinners is to look this fact in the face. The responsibility for this state of things lies partly with the women, no doubt, simply because they are part of the people, and responsible, half-way at least, for the existence of Americans; but the men have made the country what it is, with all its evil, and they are not to shirk their punishment. Labor, in our eyes, is something coarse and brutish and sordid, and we get rid of it if we can.

Our mechanics and workingmen, our farmers and errand-boys talk about honest industry—for others—after they themselves have got forward in the world; and when they have once become rich they out-Herod Herod in sneering at tradespeople and the vulgar work-a-day folk. This is the simple truth, familiar to every one of us in every day's experience; but, with our innate love of cant, we think the cause of public morality requires us to repeat before men the old parrot-phrase about dignity of labor.

A great deal of rhetoric is wasted on the accomplishments, to which women devote so much time that were better spent in tossing flap-jacks. The hollowness of all this is patent. Ask one of these able editors who talks so glibly about the smattering of French and the piano-music that young ladies will aspire to, to send his own daughter into the kitchen with Biddy and Ah Lee.

No doubt it is a hopeless case for many who attempt the French grammar, but the attempt itself is exactly in the line of right intellectual life. Every human being has aspirations, and desires to improve his condition; and not to be interested in the movement of ideas, and the general social effort toward refinement, one must have a very sluggish or a very sensual mind.

If kitchen work is to be raised to a higher plane, so that bright and refined girls can take hold of it, it must be by a radical reform first operated in the masculine appetite for dainties. It is not the necessary preparation of the little wholesome food needed to keep body and mind sound and sweet, that makes the kitchen a greasy, foul, repulsive place; it is the insatiable appetite for something far-fetched, highly-spiced, unwholesome and every way abominable.

There will be no reform in the manner of living; and even if a miracle were accomplished in this direction, the cooking of meals and cleaning of dishes would still be an irksome and unpleasant task, only to be approached through dire necessity; and the girl who dislikes the very thought of it is right, and true to herself.

KILLED BY WILD BEASTS AND SNAKSS.

The returns of deaths by wild beasts and snakes in British India is appalling and discreditable. That little short of 20,000 persons should have fallen victims to the ferocious vermin of an English dependency in a single year (1877) is past comprehension. It is true that more than £10,000 is spent annually in the shape of rewards for the destruction of snakes and wild beasts, but either the effort must be insufficient or misdirected, or more would be done to remedy the evil. The question arises whether a systematic attempt has yet been made to rid the country of these formidable creatures by poison or otherwise. The claims and rights of sport cannot be recognized when they clash with the interests of human life, and they could, of course, only apply to the preservation of a select few of the larger "game." Snakes do not, happily, fall under this description, and the sportsman would be only too glad to be rid of them. We cannot help thinking the notion of exterminating the poisonous and destructive reptiles of India, as wolves have been exterminated in northern countries—by a reward per head—is puerile. When the evil is so great, it calls for a proportionately comprehensive remedy. Let a commission of experts be appointed to consider whether it would be possible to devise measures which should go more directly to the root of the matter, and, perhaps, by dealing in detail with small districts progressively destroy the eggs and nests from which these vermin come. The subject is one of such great and urgent interest that we cannot think public opinion either in India or at home will allow it to remain much longer in abeyance.—Lancet.

LEAKY ROOFS!

To prevent your roofs from leaking, have them painted with PRINCE'S IRON ORE PAINT, the most reliable fire and water proof metallic compound. It is a new experiment. In use throughout the United States. Note that each genuine without the manufacturers' name. For sale by

C. T. RAYNOLDS & CO.,
No. 9 Front Street, San Francisco. [C

E. M. Fry. FRY, WATTLES & CO., J. B. W
Stock Brokers,
303 Montgomery Street, S. F., Under the Nevada
☞ Money to loan on active accounts.

Geo. C. Hickox. E. C. McI

GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO.,
Commission Stock Brokers (San Francisco Stock change, No. 230 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

J. A. RUOKIN,
Member S. F. Stock and Exchange Board, 423 Cali street. STOCKS Bought and Sold on Commission. Liberal made in Active Accounts.

E. E. Eyre.] Members S. F. Stock and Exchange Board. [J. H

EYRE & JONES,
Stock Brokers,
320 PINE STREET, SAN FRANCISCO. [Se

ANDREW BAIRD,
Negotiator of Loans and Commercial Paper
Broker in Local and State Securities,
No. 312 California Street.....San Fra
[P. O. Box 1,208.]

D. V. B. Henarie. Edward I

E. MARTIN & CO.,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Wines and Li
Proprietors of Miller's Extra Old Bourbon and J. I ter Extra Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies.
April 5. 408 Front Street, San Fran.

HIBERNIA BREWERY,
Howard Street, Between Eighth and Ninth
Dec. 7.] M. NUNAN, Propr

TABER, HARKER & CO.,
IMPORTERS AND WHOLESALE GROCERS,
108 and 110 California St., S. F.
[April 19.]

Henry B. Williams. Henry B. Wi

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,
SHIPPING AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS
No. 218 California st., S. F.

Newton Booth, C. T. Wheeler, Sacramento. | J. T. Glover, W. W. Dod

W. W. DODGE & CO.
Wholesale Grocers, corner Front and Clay street Francisco.

CASTLE BROTHERS,
ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1850.
Importers of Teas and East India Goods, Nos. 213 a Front street, San Francisco.

J. M. Neville. REMOVAL. Geo. H.
BAGS, TENTS AND HOSE.
NEVILLE & CO.,
No.'s 31 and 33 California Street, S. E. corner of D
San Francisco.

L. H. Newton. NEWTON BROTHERS & CO., M. N
Importers and wholesale dealers in Teas, Foreign Goo Groceries, 204 and 206 California street, San Francisco, Cal

WM. F. SMITH, M.D.,
Oculist and Aurist, 313 Bush Street.
Aug. 16.] Office Hours, from 12 M. to 3

J. C. MERRILL & CO.,
Shipping and Commission Merchants, Agents for th wich Islands Packet Lines, 204 California street, S. F.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Gold Medal, Paris, 1878.
Sold by all Stationers. Sole Agent for the United MR. HENRY HOE, 91 John street, N. Y.

$777 a year and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. A
June 7.] P. O. VICKERY, Augusta,

THE DAY BOOK
FROM
Saturday to Saturday.

Paris, November 7th.—The French revenue for ten months of the present year, ending with October, exceeds the estimates by 123,000,000 f. ——Letters from Constantinople confirm the reports of the existence of distress in the financial matters of Turkey. Even the Pilgrimage to Mecca, which has hitherto been provisioned at the expense of the government, is unable to get any assistance—an event which has never before occurred since the establishment of the Ottoman Empire. ——New York, November 8th.—Since the first of January, 24,933 German emigrants landed at Castle Garden, against 18,713 the corresponding period of last year.——London, November 9th.—The Times' dispatch from Calcutta says that there seems to be little doubt of the Ameer's treachery. The general opinion is that he will be sent as a State prisoner to India.——A Berlin dispatch to the Times says that news has been received at Moscow that the troops on the expedition into Turkestan are in a miserable condition. They have lost half their number.——Berlin, November 9th.—The Russian expedition in Turkestan will make a fresh advance as soon as reinforced.——Paris, November 9th.—Marshal Canrobert, Bonapartist, was to-day elected Senator from the Department of Lower Charente.——London, November 10th.—A Calcutta dispatch says: The principal event of the past week has been the junction of the Thal and Jellalabad columns, effected at Kutty Singh on Thursday. The junction having been effected, the Khyber and Jagdelak route will become the sole line of communication with Cabul. The English troops are housed in the Shirpur cantonments, which are very comfortable. Winter seems to be setting in early, and nine degrees of frost have already been registered. The suspicion which rested on Yakoob Khan, and which was temporarily removed by his joining General Roberts at Kushi, is again settling down on him. It has been discovered that on the night before the Battle of Charasiah, he was visited in his tent by Naib Mahomed, who commanded the enemy next day, and it is also stated that a plan for his escape from our camp has been found out. Yakoob Khan is now practically a prisoner, and has been removed from Hussang to Shupnar under escort of the Ninth Lancers. All his attendants, except four, have been dismissed. A sentry is constantly on duty inside his quarters, and strong guards outside. The mystery as to what has been done with the bodies of Major Cavagnari and his companions is not yet cleared. Preparations continue to be pushed forward in India with unabated vigor. The Sukkur and Dadu Railway is open for engines nearly to Jacohadad, and is being constructed at the rate of over a mile a day. A large number of carts and a quantity of war material are being shipped at Bombay for Kurrachee. Sir Richard Temple is personally superintending the arrangements along the Bolan line. General Hughes has reached Candahar from Khelat-i-Ghilzai. Everything is going on there. The publication of General Roberts' proclamation announcing the continuance for the present of the existing regime, has confirmed the waverers there may have been, and the people look on their emancipation from Cabul as complete.——Washington, November 11th.—The annual report of the General Land Office has been handed in to the Secretary of the Interior. It shows that during the fiscal year ended June 30th last, 9,333,353 acres of public lands were disposed of, and 9,484,996 acres were surveyed, in addition to 734,591,236 acres previously surveyed. The total number of acres of public domain still unsurveyed is about one thousand and eighty-one million. The disposals were mainly as follows: Homestead entries, 5,260,111 acres; timber culture entries, 2,766,574 acres; cash entries, 622,574 acres (including 165,996 acres entered under the Desert Land law); grants to railroads, 278,334 acres; swamp lands patented to States, 85,388 acres; other grants to States, 186,392 acres. The amount of land surveyed the last fiscal year exceeds by 414,769 acres the total area surveyed in the preceding twelve months, and the whole report shows a falling off of some 773,000 acres in cash sales, State selections, scrip locations and lands patented for railroad grants. The increase in area taken up by settlers under the Homestead and Timber Culture laws, has been sufficient not only to counterbalance this falling-off, but to make the aggregate disposals for the year greater by 647,204 acres than the total for the previous year. The increase in Homestead entries was 841,766 acres, and in timber culture entries 896,139 acres. Owing to existing laws for disposal of public lands for homesteads and timber culture, it is shown that during the last fiscal year, with a larger disposal of land, there were received, from all sources, $1,833,113, less by $139,418 than the amount received during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878.——San Francisco, November 12th.—Registrar Kaplan makes the following analysis of the majority of voters on the City Register: Ireland, 10467; Germany, 6,704; England, 1,751; France, 805; Scotland, 563; Italy, 439; other foreign countries, 3,267; United States, 20,769. The foreign-born citizens outnumber the natives by 3,227.

Knotty Legal Point.—Pomponious, a celebrated law teacher of Rome in the sixth century, entered into a contract with a Roman citizen to instruct his son in the law. This was the contract: So many coins if the pupil became learned in the law, the test to be that he should win his first case before the tribunal. Pomponius turned over his pupil as perfected in his sudies. The father brought suit against the master to set aside the contract, and retained his son to plead thiis his first case. "If Pomponius gains his case the contract is made void. If he loses I am not bound." Pomponious answers: "If I fail in my defense the son wins his case and I am entitled to my money. If I gain, the court gives me the money hy its decree." Which side had the law?—Irish Law Times.

Gustave Le Bon has made hosts of friends in this city by his article in the Revue d'Anthropologie, which declares that "small heads are frequently accompanied by great energy."

Coat furred tongue, bad tasting mouth and miserable feeling, says you need Hop Bitters.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.
Recorded in the City and County of San Francisco, California, for the Week ending November 7th.

Compiled from the Records of the Commercial Agency, 401 California St., S.F.

Monday, November 3d.

GRANTOR AND GRANTEE.	DESCRIPTION.	PRICE
Chas H Webber to Geo L Bradley	s Morton, 70 e Stockton, e 45x90	12,500
Anne C Tice to Thos Clements	N Bush, 137.6 e Laguna, e 25x120	5
Nellie T Maloney to Bridget Wallace	S Oak, 137.6 e Octavia, e 23x120	3,750
G Hageman to Emelia T Hageman	S Bush, 112.6 e Mason, 25x137.6, being lot 35-v 257	Gift
Frank Barnard to E W Burr	50-v lot 3, blk 118 W A	5
F M Hopwood to Louisa Hopwood	W Elgin Park, 185 n Ridley, n 21x75	Gift
Elirth Crain to Patrick Murphy	S Bush, 100.8 w Mason, w 18.10x80	3,050
C Schmidt to Michl Reese	Nw Spring and Sammer, n 43x50	2,200
Elliath Sproul to J H Smith	Ne 9th av and I street, n 150, e 45, s 151, w 35:6 to beginning	100
Mary Ann Sproul to same et al	Same	300
Patk Handley to Jas F Handley	W Montgomery, 37:6 n Filbert, n 25x87:6 being 50-v 1476	3,000
Same to Martin H Hoadley	Same 62.6 n Filbert, n 25x87:6, being in 50-v 1476	300
Jos McGill to Wm Hollis	E Octavia, 110 n Geary, n 27.6x110, being in W A 156	5
W Hollis to J D McLennan	Same	7,000
Wm Trenonth to J A Robinson	Outside Property	1
W O Campbell to Lou S Campbell	N Turk, 137.6 e Broderick, 68.9x137:6—W A 509	Gift
J Eagan to W C Campbell	Same	3,391
Wm Scott to Thos Magee	Block 2 Horner's Addition	500
Thos Magee to P G Partridge	Same	500
Wm Sublette to Mary Ann Sproul	5 acres Outside Lands	300
Wm G Fookes to J Barnes	E Chattanooga, 200 n 22d, 26x125	1
Elizth Shaw to Henry T Scott	S Clay, 60 e Franklin, e 25x100	3,000
F Haughey to Daniel Sullivan	Se Minna, 215 sw 1st, 23x80	3,150
Mary Moran to E 3 Badlam	W Franklin, 60 n Bush, n 30x70—W A 127 subject to morig $2101	2,900

Tuesday, November 4th.

Daniel E Martin to W J B Waroer	Lot 10, blk 307 Case tract	$ 450
E Manderville to Mary Manderville	E Folsom, 272:6 n 22d, n 32:6x122:6, being in M B 54	Gift
Robt Gunn to Wm Center	N 21st, 100 w Columbia, 25x100	6
W Hollis to Grace F Lawton	W Steiner, 70 s G'Farrell, s 22:6x92:6—W A 385	1
Same to Sallie B MacNeill	E San Jose ave, 75 n 25th, n 37x90	4,500
D R Chisholm to Anthony Dwyer	S 24th, 80 w York, 20x80	2,500
G E Harrington to W Harrington	Undivided one-eighth e Webster, 120 n Fulton, n 17:6x137:6	5
Margt E Durney to Anna E Ball	W Scott, 102:8 s Clay, 25x81:3	950
H A Cobb to Chas Aston	Ne Montgomery and Jackson, 60x60—50-v 189 in trust for Cath Heydenfeldt	9,400
Jas McLeod to Geo Storey	S 20th, 205 w Guerrero, w 25x114	4,000
Michl Jordan to Anna H Jordan	W Stockton, 114:7 n Greenwich, s 24 x 137:6; w Stockton, 90 n Greenwich n 18:9x137:6	Gift
P G Partridge to H C Wright	Sw Stewart, 320:10 se Market, se 1:4 x 137:6—B & W 621	421
Chas Hare to same	Same	100
Wm Fourness to A E Wickersham	E York, 182 n 24th, n 26x100	1,200
Wm Moore to Geo Morrow	Lot 28, blk 643, Pt Lobos Ave Hd Ex	227
J S Armstrong to Jas D Halsey	E Williamson, 650 n Pt Lobos ave, n 27; se 121:3, s 9:½, w 120 to beginning	3
Walter W Gollin to D Redmood	N California, 60 w 21st ave, 60x100	300

Wednesday, November 5th.

F Pellegrini to Charlotte Forcade	S Greenwieb, 206:3 e Stockton, 16x137:6	$3,000
Gnslav Marcus to Mary Smitb	E Valencia, 135 n 18th, 75x80—Mission Block 69	5,400
Lau Hill Cem Asn to Jane Houlder	Lot 2340	72
Walter Young to City and Co S F	E Valencia, 970:3 ne 29th, s 104:1, se 45:6, nc 83:6, n 77:12, etc to com	5,351
Geo T Vincent to Geo Morrow	S Clay, 238 e Drumm, 1 37x59:9	1
F F Low to same	City Slip Lot 66	1
Michl Murray to Delia Hasty	W Polk, 24 s Fulton, s 24x82:6	2,850
Same to Joo Dollard	Sw Polk and Fulton, same	4,100
S Brignardello to J W Whiting	Undivided one-half, s Pacific, 101 w of Montgomery Avenue, 23x137:6	3,550
Carsten Hillebrandt to H Dosober	Sw O'Farrell and Pierce, 87:6x25	7,000
Cath McGill to W Hollis	E Octavia, 110 n Geary, n 27:6x110	5
Francis Monahan to C Monahan	S Geary, 231:3 e Gough, e 43:4x120	1
Jerome Lincoln to Geo Morrow	City Slip lots 63 and 64	750
P A Hermano to Wm Wetzel	E Bryant, 156 s 23d, s 26x100	700
W R McKee to Michl Landers	Se Howard and 22d, 95x100	6,300
A A Lansinghi to same	Same	10
Edwd Bosqui to Helen M Bosqui	N Lombard, 122:6 w Taylor, w 42:6, n 137:6, e 27:6, s 7:6 e 15, s 30	Gift
Adolpb C Weber to Sine Joboson	Se Oak and Buchanan, e 37:6x120, being in W A 219	4,600
W Hollis to S S Smitb	N Post, 137:6 e Webster, 55x137:6	5,000
P Caduc to W Hollis	Same	5
H S Tibbey et al to same	Sw Buchanan and Sutter, w 275, e 55, n 137:6, e 220, n 137:6 to com	4,534

Thursday, November, 6th.

Annie Sheridan to Jas E Howe	S Liberty, 225 e Guerrero, 25x115	$2,350
Nicholas Castro to Jno D Daly	All property whatever for the benefit of creditors at No 917 Market street	1
Harriet F Behrens to M A Hackett	Lots 385 and 386 Holliday Map A	500
Adelaide E Boone to Annie Smith	W Bartlett, 195 s Grove, 35x100	100
Geo McKibbin to Mary A Nunn	S Union, 125 e Laguna, 25x137:6	....
Jos A Ford to L S Welton	W Fillmore, 30 e Lombard, n 60x110, being in W A 341	3,500
H L Davis to Natl Gold Bk & T Co	Lots 45, 9, 10, 11, Tiffany & Dean Tract, and c Old San Jose Road, 65x90	25,000

Friday, November 7th.

Jno Simpson to Hermavin Granz	S Ellis, 137:6 e Devisadero, 42:6x137:6	$ 5
Alex H Bailey to Jno Runge	N Greenwich, 110 n Montgomery, e 27:6x137:6—50-v 1464	800
A P Hodgdon to Belle C Harms	N 16th, w Mission, 30x135	3,300
Dani E Martin to Henry Schroeder	Lots 11, 12, blk 307 Case Tract	900
Henry Bonner to Mary Bonner	Lot 331 Gift Map 4	Gift
Chas E Blake Sr to City & Co S F	S Army, at e line of Pat Cumolings lot ne 150, n 44, w 54, thence 64, etc	50
David Hunter to same	W Dupont, 22 s Bush, s 20x30	10,932
R E Kerrison to same	N Army st, at e line Wiebakec lot, s 30, e 146, n 49, sw 144 to beg	50

A ROUND TOUR.

We take from the Court Circular, of October 25th, the following lively and appreciative notice of our city, which will surprise none of those who were so fortunate as to meet the accomplished writer, Mr. Maddox, and his charming wife, during their sojourn here:

Having had our haggage examined by the Customs officers, not a hand-bag being allowed to escape these lynx-eyed officials, I proceeded with joyous heart to the Palace Hotel, San Francisco. I had heard much of this wonderful establishment, but took the glowing accounts with a grain of salt. Hence my surprise was the greater to find that no description I had received did justice to this most perfect of all hotels, and I speak with some little experience as a traveler in Europe and America. Australia I will not mention, as it does not possess an hotel worthy the name of one. San Francisco possesses at least some half-dozen other hotels, any one of which would put the best in London into the shade. But the Palace Hotel stands "monarch" of all. In this magnificent establishment five meals are served each day—breakfast, luncheon, dinner, tea and supper—the latter up to 12 o'clock at night. Thus gourmand and gourmet are equally satisfied. The appearance of the grand dining-room, lighted by electric light, is extremely effective. The waiters are all colored men, neatly dressed in black, with the most expansive and immaculate of shirt-fronts, collars and white ties. Many a visitor looked with envy upon Pompey's lily-white breast covering, highly glazed, and fitting like a cuirass. The most perfect order prevails in every department. The army of waiters are under the control of a number of captains; and in the breakfast and dining-rooms nearly every order from the captain to his men is given by a motion of the hand, talking amongst themselves in the public rooms being strictly forbidden. Any infraction of this rule meets with instant dismissal. As Mr. Sharon laughingly remarked, the privilege of talking belongs only to our visitors. It can, however, be readily imagined how well this system works. Waiters are told off to their respective tables, and it would seem as though it were more than their lives were worth to leave them, unless commanded by a guest to execute an order. The most surprising feature of the whole is the extraordinary low tariff. Three dollars and a half a day (or about 14s.) is the charge for a bed and bath-room such as I have described, including full board of five meals. I have paid more money for a bed-room only at many hotels, and nothing approaching the "Palace" in the luxury of fittings. The basement of this marvelous hotel is like a small town, and is occupied by the provision stores, wine stores, kitchens, laundries, and twenty other extensive departments. Order and perfect control are apparent in every place, and Mr. Sharon is to be congratulated upon having so excellent a manager as Mr. Smith, and efficient officers in every department. The high opinion I have ventured to express of the Palace Hotel is the result of a fortnight's residence in it, and I feel great pleasure in making known my experience.

San Francisco is what may be termed a jolly place, and the San Franciscans as jolly as they are kind and good-hearted, at the same time full of business enterprise and speculation. Millionaires abound in this center of mining industry. The mansions, indeed they may be called palaces, of many of the mining kings and railway magnates, are magnificent in the extreme. Don't let it for a moment be imagined there is anything approaching the outre in any of these houses. All that unlimited wealth, judiciously expended, could obtain in the way of perfect architecture, artistic decoration and splendid upholstery is apparent. One of the most pleasant evenings I spent in San Francisco was at the magnificent house of Mr. Charles Crocker, Vice-President of the Central Pacific Railroad. All honor is deservedly due to the few men, of whom Mr. C. Crocker is one, whose giant intellects conceived and successfully carried out one of the most marvelous undertakings of modern times, viz., the great railway that unites the Atlantic with the Pacific Ocean. The wealth that has accrued to the projectors has been as honorably earned as it has been most hardly worked for, and the Pacific Railway will be a lasting monument to their fame.

A principal topic of conversation during my stay in the city of San Francisco, was the "New Constitution," which has been carried by that free and independent class of voters called the "working class." The object sought to be obtained is of a most leveling character, and as far as I could make out was of the kind desired by an Irish member who said he should vote for a "general division of all the property in 'Frisco," and on being asked what he would do when he had spent his share, replied, "By my sowl, I'll vote for another division." Whether this simple desire of the "down-trodden working man" is obtained time will show.

One of the sights of 'Frisco is to visit the Mining Exchange during the business hours, or, I believe, more properly speaking, a morning or afternoon "Session.' The scene almost baffles description. The Exchange is a very handsome building, surrounded by a commodious gallery for use of the general public, who are admitted by cards easily obtained of any stockholder. At the end of the hall is a dais about 3ft. above the level of the floors, on which is placed the desk of the "caller" and his staff of clerks. The members of the Exchange sit within a circular rail in front of the "caller," Mr. Howard Coit. Outside the rail are assembled the clients of the brokers, who pay for the privilege of this part of the building, and are thus enabled to see the transactions entered into on their behalf. It is a pity that the London Stock Exchange does not afford similar facilities to speculators, who would thus be able to watch the operations and judge for themselves the tone of the market. There are only a certain number of members, and when one dies or retires his seat has been known to fetch as much as $40,000, it being a kind of freehold. The proceedings, as far as I could make out, were as follows: The Chairman has on his desk a list of the mines dealt in. In front of him are congregated the eager and excited crowd of brokers. With a voice resembling the roll of a big drum, Mr. Coit calls out the first mine on his list, say Union Consolidated; immediately the most terrific uproar ensues. Some member shouts that he will sell a hundred shares at 80. He is instantly in the center of a surging crowd, fighting to buy them, each man declaring he will buy, but until the seller is enabled to hit his selected buyer on the head and say "sold," the fighting continues. Buyer and seller at once go to the desk and record their names. In event of any dispute, such as another broker declaring he was the buyer, the Chairman decides, and there is no appeal. The Chairman calls the next mine, and so on to the end of the roll. The fighting, screaming and wild gesticulations that go on over every transaction resemble the antics of a body of madmen turned loose to tear each other to pieces. The Chairman, however, is invested with the most ample powers to keep this wild flock in order. As soon as he considers they have had fight enough he sounds a gong, and if quiet is not restored on the instant, his voice, rolling like thunder o'er the uproar, proclaims that he fines A B or C $25, and the effect is magical. There is no secrecy about the transactions, or the extent of them, as on the London Stock Exchange, and, above all, to the advantage of the public, there are no jobbers, with their "between prices." At the end of the "Session" all the brokers assemble in front of the Chairman's desk and listen to the recording clerk calling out the transactions, which the brokers check. The number of shares bought and sold of each mine are published in the morning papers. Mr. Coit is most deservedly popular, and his decisions are always respected.

Domestic life in San Francisco is as charming as it is bright and cheerful. This is to be attributed, I think, to the great love of music, which all Americans possess, and which is cultivated to the highest degree. An invitation to an amateur musical entertainment in a private house in America is often superior to a professional concert, and I hope my friend Mr. M'Alister, the eminent San Francisco lawyer, will not be offended at my making public the fact, that I should say it would be almost impossible to find in one private family three more delightful singers than are to be met with in the persons of his two charming daughters and equally charming and amiable wife. I can only add that the evening I spent at their hospitable residence will long be remembered as affording a musical treat of a truly artistic character.

An Italian Opera Company, under the direction of the popular manager, Mr. Max Strakosch, were delighting San Francisco at the time of my visit. The bright particular star was the charming Mdme. Marie Roze, who seemed to have won all hearts, judging from the handsome presents sent on the occasion of her benefit, and the magnificent floral tributes that were showered on the stage.

The Chinese town is an interesting but very unsavory quarter of 'Frisco, and not the safest place in the world to take a walk in after dark. The streets and alleys are of the filthiest. There is a theater, if such it can be called, being merely an old wooden building, at the end of which is a platform, without curtains, wings, or stage fittings of any kind, upon which are performed the most startling dramas, regardless of the want of scenic effects. John Chinaman freely indulges in gambling and opium smoking, and a visit to one of his dens will not induce you to make a second.

One of the most extraordinary sights is to be seen from the Cliff House Hotel, a delightful hour's drive from the city; it is that of the seal rocks, standing high out of the sea, and not a hundred yards from the shore. These rocks are literally alive with huge sea lions, and the largest ever exhibited in England would be a baby in comparison to the monsters that swarm here. The place is strictly preserved by the Government, and no one is allowed to disturb them under severe penalties. Just as a splendid specimen was waddling up a rock, a young lady suddenly remarked to her companion: "Oh, my! look at that one! What a lovely jacket he'd make. Her friend replied: "Yes, indeed, I wish he would give us his coat." A capital breakfast at this same Cliff House Hotel, and a lounge on the balconies, watching the sportive mammals, afford a most enjoyable morning's amusement.

BEACONSFIELD AT THE GUILDHALL.

Lord Beaconsfield's long-expected speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet has at last been spoken, and the world at large is somewhat disappointed at its tenor. The present Premier has made it a custom, more than any of his predecessors, to unlock his lips on current events at this annual feast, and to give, not the guests, but the English people and foreign powers, as clear a view of what the Government's policy really is as discretion will allow. On this occasion, he has diverged from this self-imposed rule, and has been singularly reticent concerning the country's foreign relations. The signal success of the British arms in Afghanistan and in Zululand was, of course, a theme for congratulation, as was also the predicted approach of an era of universal prosperity; but, in the opinion of millions of expectant listeners throughout Europe, a grave sin of omission was committed when the Eastern question, now apparently more serious than ever, was not so much as touched on. Another disappointment was caused by the fact that Lord Beaconsfield was less defiant than is his wont, and far less so than was expected of him on this occasion. England has been holding a very tight check upon Russia during the past two or three years, and has held so well the high ground she has taken that it was confidently believed the Lord Mayor and his guests would hear some very plain language. On the contrary, Russia is delighted to find that her existence on this planet was utterly ignored by the Premier, and the Russian press takes care to let the world know that this is a sign of British sentiment being less belligerent than formerly. In our opinion there never was a greater mistake. There is just now a crisis in the relations of England and Russia which renders it impossible for the English Premier to say what he would if those relations were less involved. There is no disguising the fact that unless Russia shortly adopts a different course from that which she has been pursuing of late years, war between her and Great Britain is inevitable. In these days the reputation of a nation—often, indeed, the securing of respectable allies—and certainly the sympathy of civilization depend upon the provocation which she gives or receives as a casus belli. France, through the vain and headstrong folly of one man, brought a war upon herself, for which everybody—even her friends—was compelled to blame her. When she was defeated, the universal verdict was: "Served her right." A minister who places England in this position would deserve the execration of his countrymen. If war must come, England will not shirk it; but she must not seek it. At the present critical juncture, a single incautious word might be construed as an insult by a nation as sensitively proud as the Russians, and they are certainly crafty enough to take advantage of any slip which would justify their quarrel in the eyes of Europe. It is no wonder, then, that the astute Premier left Russia out of his speech, especially when he has certain ironclads at his back, which can speak to better purpose in time of need.

But about one part of Lord Beaconsfield's speech there was no uncertain ring. Its meaning was deep, and the words in which it was couched will not easily be forgotten. They were these: "In assuming that peace will be maintained, I assume that no great Power would shrink from its responsibility. If the most extensive and wealthiest empire in the world, with a perverse interpretation of its insular character, turns an indifferent ear to the feelings and the fortune of Continental Europe, I believe the country is endangered. It is to such an indifference that I attribute many fatal wars; but if the power and advice of England are felt and heard in the councils of Europe, I have the conviction that peace will be maintained for a long period. If England deserts her natural post in the councils of Europe, war is too probable."

We may rest assured that, while Beaconsfield lives and governs, there is very little danger of England endangering itself by "a perverse interpretation of its insular character." Her "power and advice" have been "felt and heard in the councils of Europe" for centuries, and if, a decade ago, her prestige was thought to be lessening, it was owing to the mismanagement of a very different man from d'Israeli the Younger. It is the very "insular character" that gives England a weightier voice than any of the Continental Powers. She can invade but can never be invaded.

A HAPPYMAN.

If the following statement of the New York Times is true, Benjamin Abbott must have been a happy man: Mr. Abbott, one of our old citizens, died in this town recently, in the eighty-second year of his age. He was a nephew of the celebrated Rev. Benjamin Abbott, the great Methodist revivalist of the early part of this century, and came to this State from New Jersey when a young man and settled in the "Neck," east of this town, where his active life was mostly spent. But the notable feature in Mr. Abbott's otherwise uneventful life is the remarkable fact of being the seventh husband of his widow, who survives him. This much-talked of and much-published event (for it went the round of the press of the nation), when he for the second and she for the seventh time bowed before the altar of Hymen, occurred on June 30, 1875, he then being seventy-eight and she eighty-two years old.

Mrs. Abbott's history in the marital relations of life stands perhaps without a parallel in the records of the nation, and tradition has it that is to be yet another. It is currently stated, without contradiction, that some years ago she had a vision, in which eight men stood before her in a peculiarly impressive manner, which she has ever regarded as prophetic of the number of conquests she was to make. The eighth is just as likely to as reasonable as the seventh, and already public gossip is beginning to mark this and that man as the victim of the next conquest. Her maiden name was Williams, and she has been successfully Mrs. Traux, Mrs. Riggs, Mrs. Farrow, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Pratt, and Mrs. Abbott. In every instance save the first she has married widowers, each of them with a good number of children. She never had any children of her own. All her life has been spent in this vicinity, and all her husbands were buried by the same undertaker.

Price per Copy, 10 Cents.] ESTABLISHED JULY, 20, 1856. [Annual Subscription, $5.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS LETTER

California Advertiser.

DEVOTED TO THE LEADING INTERESTS OF CALIFORNIA AND THE PACIFIC COAST.

Vol. 30. SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, NOV. 22, 1879. No. 19.

Office of the San Francisco News Letter, Merchant Street, Nos. 607 to 615, San Francisco.

GOLD BARS—820@910—SILVER BARS—5@15 ₱ cent. disc. Mexican Dollars, 6@6½ per cent. nominal.

☞ Exchange on New York. ¼@1-5 per cent.; On London, Bankers, 49¾@49⅞; Commercial, 50⅛@50¼. Paris, eight, 5 france per dollar. Telegrams, 30-100@¼ per cent.

☞ Latest price of Sterling, 481½@484½.

☞ Price of Money here, ¾@1 per cent. per month—bank rate. In the open market, 1@1½. Demand active.

SILVER.

Judging by the utterances of Secretary Sherman, as repeated by is claqueurs of the press, it is to he apprehended that an organized effort ill be made at the next session of Congress to do away with the coinage standard silver dollars. The excuse sought to be given is that the peoe don't want them, in proof of which the monometalists point to the 2,000,000 in silver in the Treasury. Now, we might as well say that ere being $171,000,000 in gold in the same Treasury (November 1st), is roof five and a-half times as great that the people don't want gold. In uth, there is nothing in such an argument. What the people do require that silver shall he made a legal tender equally with gold or currency. one sense of the word, that is now the case; for instance, when silver redeemed at the various Treasury offices; but every citizen is not ithin reach of a Treasury office, and meantime must submit to a shave, nposed by Government, not for its own benefit, but that of the banking nd money-changing classes.

There is no use in monometaliste hugging the idea that the recent Eastrn elections decided anything in their favor, as they will find to their ost should they attempt any restrictive legislation in Congress. A paper rrency, besed upon bullion deposits, is far superior to coin of any ind in every way, and it appears that the masses are gradually begining to believe that a greenback currency issued hy the Government, upon he public faith, is as good a medium of exchange as any yet invented. eanwhile, uutil a majority have concluded to accept this view, they will ntinue to demand equal rights for the "dollar of our daddies." One of ur Pacific Coast "silver Senators" recently expressed the opinion that he silver men held the balance of power, and could and would compel he Secretary of the Treasury to fulfill the law in every respect. For any reasons the ensuing Congressional session will be one of the most xciting on record, and we miss our mark if the silver question does not ause a stirring up of delinquent officials.—S. F. Merchant.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The market opened very groggy at the commencement of the week, and uffered a sharp decline under liberal sales from the inside, which had the ffect of encouraging the hear brigade, and succeeded in bringing out a ood line of shorts. The break was of short duration, however, for a sudden turning of the screws cent pricee booming again, and the unlucky horts were "taken in and done for" in the usual approved style. Leadng hrokers were well supplied with purchasing orders, and for a time it ooked as though the long expected hoom was at hand. But the fates ere against it, and prices took another tumble under the realizing proess. From all the reliable news obtainable, the situation at the North nd is most encouraging for the development of a large ore body; hut time nd patience is required of the stockholders for a while longer. The oisting of ore from the Sierra Nevada and Union mines has already heun, end from this time forth hullion shipments will he in order. At the lose the market continued weak and unsettled. Outside stocks are dull nd on the down grade.

The Winter arrangement on the Southern Pacific Railroad went nto operation yesterday. The trains now leave: 8:30 A.M. for San Jose nd way stations; 10:30 A.M. for San Jose, Gilroy, Hollister, Tree Pinos, Pajaro, Salinas, Soledad and way stations; 3:30 P.M. for San Jose, Gilroy and principal way stations; 4:30 P.M. for San Jose and way stations; nd 6:30 P.M. for Menlo Park and way stations. The extra Sunday raine for San Jose and way stations have been discontinued.

It is with sincere pleasure we are able to announce the return of Gov. Stanford early in December, the health of Mrs. Stanford having greatly improved during her Eastern trip.

PRICES OF LEADING STOCKS AND GOV. BONDS.

San Francisco.....November 21, 1879.

Stocks and Bonds.	Bid	Asked	Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked
Cal. St. Bonds, 6's,'57. (nom)	100	102	Home Mutual Ins. Co.....	85	90
S. F. City & Co. B'ds, 6s,'58	Nom.	Nom.	State Investment Ins Co ..	105	108
S. F. C. & Co B'ds, 7s (nom)	Nom.	Nom.	Union Ins. Co.....	112	115
Montg'y Av. Bonds (nom)..	65	70	City R R.....	35	40
Dupont Street Bonds	80	90	Central R. R. Co.....	50	55
Sacramento City Bonds....	26	28	Clay Street Hill R. R	20	22
Stockton City Bonds, 6's...	90	95	Market Street R. R.....	6	—
Yuba County Bonds, 8's....	103	103	N. B. and Mission R. R.....	66	70
Santa Clara Co. Bonds, 7's .	105	107	Omnibus R R	30	32
C. P. R. R. Stock.....	85	90	Potrero and Bay View R. R.	30	35
C. P. R. R. Bonds	110¼	110½	Giant Powder Co	150	160
Oakland City Bonds, 8's....	112	115	Atlantic Giant Powder.....	95	100
Bank of California (new st'k)	122	125	S. F. Gaslight Co (ex div)...	90½	91
First National.....	95	100	Oakland Gas Co.....	34½	35½
Pacific	115	120	California Powder Co.....	95	98
California Ins. Co.....	108	112	S. V. W. W. Co (ex div)....	85	85½
Commercial Ins. Co.....	75	80	Nevada Co. N. G. R. R. Bds	93	95
Fireman's Fund Ins. Co....	118	120	Virginia & Truckee " "	100	102½

The business in Local Securities during the week has heen quite large. Were there more first class Investments in the market they would he eagerly secured, especially such as would yield from 6 to 8 per cent. per annum interest. The Balances in the Savings Banks are increasing, as they will not lend except on what they describe as improved ineide property.

ANDREW BAIRD, 312 California street.

THE HEALTH OF THE CITY.

There was a reduction of twenty per cent. in the mortality last week, and a still further reduction is promised this. It would he very discouraging if human health could not he maintained under the bright and genial weather of the last ten days. Diphtheria and typhoid fever are decreasing, but phthisis and pneumonia are still fatal. This week there is also a high mortality from diseases of the nervous system: 2 apoplexy, 2 alcoholism, 5 brain disease, 5 infantile convulsions, and 1 convulsion of adults. The condition of the water supply needs the attention of the Board of Health. Private consumers should also look to the condition of their cisterns. Impure water is the frequent cause of sore throate, diphtheria and typhoid fever.

The "Commercial Herald" has the following: "A Canadian paper states that work is nearly finished on the 416 miles of railway between the head of Lake Superior and Winnipeg. Another 100 milee contract from Winnipeg west has heen awarded. Sixty-five thousand tons of steel rails have been purchased in England, which will lay 700 miles of road. It is estimated that the railway from Winnipeg west to the Rocky Mountains will cost $10,000 per mile, and through the Rocky Mountains $15,000 per mile. The intention is to keep the railway built fifty miles ahead of settlement. The Bankers' Magazine says that the road is to run northwest from Montreal, skirting the north shore of Lake Superior, which it touches at Fort Williams, and which is to he the summer port for the western regions further on."

Of the many candidates now presenting their claims to Governor Perkins for responsible positions under the State government, no one is more entirely fitted to do good service than Col. J. Henley Smith, one of those named as Prison Commissioners. Col. Smith has made an enviable reputation in this community, and is also widely known throughout the State as a man of high qualities, intelligent, independent, honorable and capable. It would he impossible to bring forward a better man.

According to the report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, there are 144,806 children enrolled in the public schools of California. The number of teachers employed is 3,453, at average monthly salaries of $82 12 for men and $66 37 for women. The total annual cost of the schools is $3,010,907 13.

Californians Abroad.—October 30th, 1879.—PARIS: J. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hecht. BORDEAUX: Miss L. L. Lynch. GENEVA: Wm. Hacker. ROME: Miss Cordiell, Mrs. Driscoll and family, Fred Woodworth. DRESDEN: Mrs. Col. Catherwood and family.—The Continental Gazette, Paris.

A Column of "Lies of the Day" unavoidably omitted.

Printed and Published by the Proprietor, Frederick Marriott, 607 to 615 Merchant Street, San Francisco, California.

AT SEA.

With voyagers, who watch for land
Across the endless wastes of sea,
Who gaze before and on each hand,
Why look ye not to what ye flee?

The stars, by which the sailors steer,
Not always rise before the prow;
Though forward nought but clouds appear,
Behind they may be breaking now.

What though we may not turn again
To shores of childhood that we leave,
Are those old signs we followed vain?
Can guides so oft found true, deceive?

Oh, sail we to the South or North,
Oh, sail we to the East or West,
The port from which we first put forth
Is our heart's home, is our life's best!

—The Spectator.

EASTERN INVESTORS IN PACIFIC STATES' MINES.

There is no longer any doubt that the monopoly that San Francisco has practicslly had of the mining husiness is passing from its grasp. The great success of a few Californians hss slowly and silently infected the enterprisiug and avaricious of other large cities, and in New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia, there is arising an inordinate desire for the realization of rapid fortunes. These Eastern beholders, to whom distsnce has lent enchantment, are making up their minds that they are going to rival the score or two of fortunate mining men in this city; they are going to speedily accumulate millions, huild palatial residences, and hecome the wonder of the city where they dwell. They may have lived to middle age, or heyond it, without dazzling the world; hut at last, in their comparative obscurity and seclusion, there has been revealed to them the open sesame which will unlock the exhaustless treasures of gold and silver hidden in the earth, and they are preparing to put forth their hands, and with unerring certainty grasp wealth greater than that "of Ormus or of Ind." Having drunk of the eternal fountain of hope, and fashioned out, in the crucible of their unconfined fancy, such aerial castles as human nature, in all ages, has had a supreme faculty for huilding, they have risen far above the regions of doubt, and left hehind them all the limits within which uncertainty in their opinion dwells. They are going to startle the world with new and hrilliant strokes of magical fortune, and leave hehind them name and fame such as will put to the hlush their more timid neighhors and their descendants for generations yet to come. They have the capricious goddess fortune in their keeping, so that there is little left for them to do hut to call in the aid of the soaring imagination of the famous Orient, in order that they may he ahle to describe the possihle wonders tbat the gold and silver earth is ahout to yield up to them.

To unsophisticated minds, this is a magnificent picture of the future, as far they think as human eye can see, and they are quite content with this vision of the world and all the wonder that will be. At last they fancy they see what God placed them in the world for, if indeed this was not the chief object of the creation itself. To us, however, pioneers and others, the spectacle of the present and the vision of the future do not appear in such roseate colors. We have learned hy hitter experience that the dark night comes after the hrilliant sunset, with a longer or shorter shadow of soft, gray twilight to hlend the contrast. To us there is no such present, no such future, and other lotus-eaters than Californians will come to this same conclusion when they are rudely awakened from their fond, delusive dream, and find that the gold and silver earth is, in most cases, hut a harren nursing-mother. Californians had to be awakened from this dream, and so must others, whose minds wander in the same direction.

It is evident, however, that San Francisco is no longer to he the exclusive center of the mining husiness. The few wealthy men among us cannot own everything, and the rest of the community of mining proclivities are too poor to monopolize even the best enterprises. Many of our most active and most energetic men are turning their hack on this city, and betaking themselves to the Eastern cities, where capital is more ahundant, and husiness is larger and more varied. In these new fields there is, douhtless, ample room for success, and it is not likely that the scourge of manipulators and stock-deals will ever attain the predominance, as they have done here, to the ruin of the hest interests of the State and the great hody of the people. In this extension of the area of mining investors, we believe the hest hope of legitimate mining lies, though no community new to mining can comprehend the risks they run. There will, therefore, he inevitahly great disappointment, and frequently great hardship, hut there will in all prohahility he less waste, less deliherate rohhery, and fewer criminal deeds, than have attended on miuing hy manipulators in this city. We cannot regret that other cities should share with ours the hurden we have undertaken, and which in reality we cannot fulfill. It will he hetter for ourselves, hetter for the State of California, and for all the States and Territories west of the Missouri river. The mineral region is an enormous one, and the Eastern cities will he of material assistance in exploring, developing and settling this vast domain. It is hut natural that the largest enterprises should gravitate toward the cities that command the largest capital; and in this closer connection hetween New York and the other Eastern cities, on the one hand, and the Pacific States on the other, we foresee that vast henefits will result to the latter. California has a wealth of gold mines as yet awaiting the advent of the capitalist, and, in the impoverished condition of our people, he is more likely to come from the East than to spring from our own midst. Endless enterprises, hoth in hydraulic and quartz-mining, are lying in idleness, and, with modern appliances for mining and for reduction, it is very probahle that California never hefore offered to the mining investor such a promising field as it does to day. The same may he said of Arizona, a country that has heen as yet hut little prospected, though known to ahound in valuahle mineral. It is only now heginning to feel the henefits of railway communication, and it will douhtless develop rapidly under the stimulus of rapid and ahundant communication. Colorado and New Mexico are also advancing speedily in the path of mining enterprise, and Nevada, though falling off in the amount of its production, is still the greatest hullion-producing State in the Union. The interest in mining which is now heing manifested in the Eastern cities is very important to all the Pacific States, and we hope it will he turned into legitimate channels, so that investors may have all the favorahle chances of the husiness. We are certain, nevertheless, that the expectations of Eastern people are exaggerated, and that they have many disappointments in store for them; they will doubtless, however, he less sanguine and less speculative than we Californians have heen, and the caution and prudence of older, settled communities will save them from taking hair-hreadth risks. The Californians that have heen lately, and are still, moving to the Eastern cities, to transact this mining husiness, can hardly fail of success—that is, those whose charscter, antecedents and knowledge of mines and mining will hear investigation—and we wish them God-speed.

LEAKY ROOFS!

To prevent your roofs from leaking, have them painted with PRINCE'S IRON ORE PAINT, the most reliable fire and water proof metallic compound. Not a new experiment. In use throughout the United States. None genuine without the manufacturers' name. For sale by

C. T. RAYNOLDS & CO.,
No. 9 Front Street, San Francisco. [Oct. 18.

TAXES! TAXES!
1879-80.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Taxable Property of the City and County of San Francisco, Real Estate and Personal Property (subsequent Assessment Book included), for the Fiscal Year 1879-80, has this day been received; that the State, City and County TAXES for said Fiscal Year are now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall, and the Laws in regard to their collection will be strictly enforced.

TAXES will become delinquent on the First Monday in January, 1880, and unless paid prior thereto, five per cent. will be added to the amount thereof.

WILLIAM FORD,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.
San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. I.

ASSESSMENT OF LANOS
BENEFITED BY
WIDENING DUPONT STREET.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Real Estate which is subject for the Payment of Principal and Interest upon "Dupont-street Bonds," as directed by an Act of the Legislature of California to authorize the Widening of Dupont street, in the City of San Francisco, "Approved March 23d, A.D. 1876," has this day been placed in my bands for collection The Laws in regard to tbe collection of the ssme will be strictly enforced.

WILLIAM FORD,
Tax Collector of tbe City and County of San Francisco.
San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. I.

MONTGOMERY AVENUE ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of Real Estate, which is subject to assessment to defray expenses incurred by the Opening of Montgomery Avenue, bas this day been placed in my hands to collect the Assessment thereon.

Said Assessment is for the Fiscal Year of 1879-80, and is now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall. All Assessments remaining unpaid on tbe FIRST MONDAY IN JANUARY, 1880, will bave five per cent. added thereto.

WILLIAM FORD,
Tax Collector for tbe City and County of San Francisco.
San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

WAKELEE'S AUREOLINE

Produces the Beautiful Golden Hair so Much Admired.

SUPERIOR TO THE IMPORTED ARTICLE
—BY REASON OF ITS—
FRESHNESS AND CARE USED IN ITS PRODUCTION.

PRICE, LARGE BOTTLES. $2.

Manufactured by H. P. WAKELEE & CO., Druggists, corner Montgomery and Bush streets, S. F. [Aug. 2.

CALIFORNIA SUGAR REFINERY,

Manufacturers of the Standard Syrup, a superior article put up in barrels expressly for bome consumption. Also, Extra Heavy Syrup in barrels for Export. Refined Sugars at lowest market rates. Office, 215 Front street, up stairs. Dec. 21.

JOHN JENNINGS

Hooper's South End Warehouses, corner Japan and Townsend streets, San Francisco. First-class Fire-Proof Brick Building, capacity 10,000 tons. Goods taken from the Dock and tbe Cars of the C. P. R. R. and S. P. R. R. free of charge. Storage at Current Rates. Advances and Insurance Effected.

EOWARD BOSQUI & CO.,

Printers, Engravers, Lithographers and Bookbinders,
Leidesdorff street, from Clay to Commercial.

UNITED STATES AND FOREIGN PATENT OFFICES.

C. W. M. Smith, Counselor and Advocate in Patent Cases, 429 Montgomery street, San Francisco. Established 1862. Specialty: Patents, Trade-Marks, Patent-Law. Sept. 20.

QUICKSILVER.

For sale---In lots to suit, by Thomas Bell & Co., No. 308 Sansome street, over Bank of California. Nov. 16.

ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY,

No. 310 Sansome street, San Francisco, Wholesale Dealers in Furs. Sept. 21.

A ROUND TOUR.

We take pleasure in laying before our readers this week another of the brilliant letters from the London Court Circular of November 1st, by Mr. Maddick, upon whom the claims of California have evidently made a deep impression. It is fortunate that our social life has fallen under the observation of a critic, at once so acute and so friendly, and able to gain the ear of all that is best in England:

The theaters of San Francisco are well patronized and prettily decorated; but the great attractions are the Opera house and Baldwin's Academy of Music, both of which are very handsome buildings, and no expense has evidently been spared in the decorating and furnishing, especially in regard to Baldwin's Theater, which presents a most elegant appearance, and is attached to the fine hotel bearing the same name.

A most interesting souvenir of 'Frisco has been published by Mr. F. Marriott, the enterprising proprietor of the San Francisco News Letter. It is a handsome picture representing the auditorium of a theater, in which are assembled all the celebrities of that part of the world, with a sprinkling of visitors unknown to fame, but gracefully included by the designer.

There are a large number of chevaliers d'industrie in San Francisco, whose mode of living is interesting if not strictly honorable. They await the arrival of passenger ships and mark down their prey. I felt flattered by being deemed a "soft one," and duly ticketed for plunder, as I had always deemed myself rather "knowing-looking;" but my vanity was taken down, although I was not taken in. Walking along the principal street the day after my arrival, I was accosted by a mild young man who extended his hand, exclaiming, "Oh, how do you do?" I shook his "extremity" and replied, "Very well, thank you," and added that for the moment I could not remember him. "Why," he audaciously resumed, "I came over in the same ship with you." "Oh, yes," I replied, determined to let him have his fling. His face brightened, and hoping I liked San Francisco asked me to come and "have a drink," saying, "I quite forgot your name." I immediately replied "Jackson." "Why, certainly," he confidently replied. I excused taking a drink, saying I had an appointment, but daresay I should see him again. On leaving the Palace Hotel next morning I was accosted by a well-dressed man who said, "Why, how d'ye do, Mr. Jackson?" My look conveyed that I did not know him, but he quickly said, "I came over in the 'City of New York' with you." "That's right," I replied, "but I'm Brown to-day, Jackson yesterday, good morning." That man's face was a picture. On the other side of the way was my friend of the previous day. What visions of "pickings and stealings" I had dispelled. I saw the two in company later on, and smiled at them like the "Heathen Chinee." How thoroughly ahead of the old country are the Americans in many things, especially the one pertaining to traveling. Luggage is a matter of no moment. During the journey a baggage man takes your name and address, hands you a ticket for the number of your trunks, and upon arrival at your destination they will reach your hotel or house almost as soon as yourself. A stranger about to quit San Francisco for New York or any other part would find himself somewhat confused to arrange his route and get his tickets, were it not for the enterprise of the various railways, who appoint agents to look after bewildered travelers; and even old stagers avail themselves of the services of these gentlemen, whose business it is to recommend the particular line of railway to which they are attached. Now, many surly English travelers might be induced to reject the services of an agent in the belief that he would have to present an honorarium for the benefits received. Let me at once relieve the minds of such by saying that not only are fees not expected, but their offer would be at once rejected. This I know from experience. I mention this because the agents are a gentlemanly set of men, and the time and trouble they bestow on one are purely in the interest of the lines they serve. They receive their commissions from the passengers hooked by them. From my own experience and that of a large number of friends, I feel great pleasure in speaking of the services rendered by the well-known railway agent, Mr. T. D. McKay, of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway, "The Great Burlington Route," whose office is at the famous Palace Hotel, San Francisco, and I would recommend travelers in this part of the world to put themselves in his hands, and they need worry themselves no farther about tickets or luggage.

I must now bid adieu to 'Frisco, and in doing so can truly say that there is no place I could revisit with greater pleasure. Starting by the great Pacific Railroad, one of the wonders of the world, we halt at a station called Reno, a few hours' ride, where I change carriages, my destination being Virginia City, which is reached next morning about 10:30. I was awoke by the following conversation: "What sort of a place is Virginia?" "O, it's a very good place to go and die in," was the reply. "How's that?" continued the first speaker. "Because you couldn't live very long in it; that's why."

This is a great mining locality, where is situate the Comstock Mines, discovered by the world-famed John W. Mackay and his partners, all of whom are veritable Monte Christos. One does not hear a tithe of Mr. Mackay's noble acts of generosity; for he is one of those men who really does do good by stealth, and would blush to find it fame. With my wife I had the pleasure of making his acquaintance on the spot from which has sprung all his wealth; and a more kindly, unassuming and gentlemanly man one could not meet. His home is really in Paris, where his wife and family dispense their hospitality. Mr. Mackay spends a great part of each year at his mines, the wonderful and enormous amount of machinery necessary to work them being of a surprising character. Having spent a most interesting morning in going over the works, and being presented with an interesting souvenir in the shape of a small block of silver, we return to our hotel, the International, and next morning pursue our way by the Pacific Railroad to Chicago, a trip of five days.

Now five days and nights in a railway train sounds somewhat startling, and suggests a most wearying and tiring journey; so it doubtless would be if taken in a European railway train. But, as I have before remarked, Americans know how to make traveling as comfortable as sitting in one's own house. For a little extra money, a compartment can be secured in the train termed a drawing-room. It is furnished and fitted with every convenience. At night the servant in attendance converts it into a bed-room, and you retire to rest at your own pleasure. A restaurant car is attached to the train, and while you are rattling along at forty miles an hour, you walk into this salle a manger out of your own carriage with the same ease as walking into an hotel. Having selected your table, there is a bill of fare to choose from as varied in appetizing dishes as could be furnished by Messrs. Spiers & Pond or Bertram & Roberts. Wines and spirits are also provided of the best quality. It can be well understood that a week's railway journey, under such circumstances, is divested of all fatigue and monotony.

The journey across the Continent is full of interest, and the scenery in many parts supremely grand. It seems almost incredible that little more than a dozen years have elapsed since the prosperous towns and villages that now exist all along this wonderful line of railway were but hunting grounds of wild Indians. The construction of the road was a most exciting work for surveyors, engineers, and workmen, the red-skinned gentlemen making a dash for their white brethren's scalps upon every opportunity and with too frequent success. However, all is now civilization along the line, and every town possesses a large number of peaceable working Indians.

Chicago is now reached, and here I halt for a couple of days to have a look at this wondrous city. My last visit was in 1859. Shortly after it was entirely burnt to the ground, but with that extraordinary energy which characterizes the Americans, and while the firemen were still playing on the smouldering ruins, plans were prepared, as if by magic, and the laborers were at work raising a city that stands second to none in the Union. It is interesting to read a tablet on a wall of the Grand Pacific Hotel, one of those tremendous buildings for which America is famous, announcing that within one year from the time of its destruction by fire it was entirely rebuilt, furnished, and again opened to the public. It is amusing to contrast the snail-like progress of building in London, and also reflect upon the loss of interest and capital expended. At the corner of Northumberland-avenue, Strand, there is being erected a large hotel. The builders were at work for many months before I left England. I have been absent fourteen months, and I should say, looking at the progress made, that another twelve months will be required to finish and open it. Why, the Americans would build an entire city of marble palaces in half the time. Take Chicago as an example. During my stay here Arthur Sullivan's Pinafore had broken out like the measles; everybody was attacked, and enjoyed it immensely.

After paying a flying visit to Niagara Falls, and being carefully searched by the zealous American Custom-officials on crossing the bridge into the U. S. territory, we have a pleasant journey into New York, and drive at once to the well-known Everitt House, Union Square, which is conducted on what is termed the European principal, that is, so much a day for your apartments, and meals a la carte. The ordinary American hotels make a fixed charge of four or five dollars a day, which includes board and lodging. The former is the most satisfactory arrangement, as it leaves one free to revel in the luxuries of the celebrated Delmonico's Restaurant, situate in Fifth Avenue. I know nothing more delightful than, with a few genial spirits, to secure a table at one of the windows of this famous restaurant, and, leaving the dinner to the chef, I warrant the cares of the world will at once be forgotten. I know of no place where life can be rendered more enjoyable than in New York. Charming society, handsome clubs, and amusements as varied as in London.

One of the most marvelous "creations" of late years is "Coney Island." But a short time since it was a desolate swamp on the sea shore, situate about an hour's ride from New York. A few dashing speculators saw a splendid opportunity to form a kind of Brighton. No sooner thought of than done. Some millions of dollars were wanted; they were found, and in a comparatively few months there has sprung up the most marvelous of sea-side retreats. Colossal hotels, fine villas, grand promenades, and a railway running along the sea front, which carries visitors from one point to another. Amusements are provided to satisfy the mildest and the wildest. Racing, yachting, theatrical, musical, fireworks, etc. Judging from the hundreds of thousands that visit the place during the season, it seems to me that the promoters are on the road to realize gigantic fortunes.

After a most enjoyable three weeks spent in the delightful city, I reluctantly bade "Adieu" to a large number of kind friends and sailed by the White Star steamer Germanic for England, home, etc. Life on board an Atlantic steamer has so often been described that I need only say, there was the usual Sunday service, and collection afterwards for the Sailors' Orphan Asylum, amusements in the saloon when the weather permitted, and loud cries for the steward when it did not.

A run of nine days brought us to Liverpool, and here I made my first growl in old England. Arriving at 8 P.M., we landed on the open wharf (some 200 passengers), and there, exposed to the cold night air (fortunately it did not rain), we had to wait until our luggage was got off the ship into the Custom House. The accommodation is simply shameful. Only some twenty persons are admitted at a time to go through the farce of having their trunks examined, the remainder of the passengers standing shivering on the landing stage. As an American truly remarked, "Well, for a free-trade country, this sort of thing is pretty rough on a man's constitution." However, I am bound to say that the extreme amiability of the chief official when I did struggle inside the shed took away all my wrath. The least the authorities can do is to provide ample covered accommodation for the passengers.

The run up to London by the North Western express brings my "Round Tour" to an end, and though I thoroughly enjoyed my trip I have come to the conclusion that the poet was right who declared there was no place like home.

A Promising Young Æsthetic.—Old Boy: "Ullo! what's your name?" New Boy: "Dante Michael Angelo Salvator Rosa Nupkins!" Old Boy: "Is that all? What's your father?" New Boy: "Poet, painter, sculptor, architect, and musician." Old Boy: "Crimini! Is he great?" New Boy: "The greatest that ever lived." Old Boy: "I never! And what are you going to be?" New Boy: "The same as my father, only greater." Old Boy: "Oh my!" [Kicks young Nupkins, and exit.]—Punch.

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

Bullion Mining Company.—Location of Principal Place of Business, San Francisco, California.—Location of Works, Gold Hill Mining District, Storey County, Nevada.—Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the first (1st) day of November, 1879, an assessment (No. 12) of Fifty (50c.) Cents per share was levied upon the capital stock of the Company, payable immediately, in United States gold coin, to the Secretary, at the office of the Company, Room 3, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California.

Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on WEDNESDAY, the THIRD day of DECEMBER, 1879, will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction; and unless payment is made before, will be sold on WEDNESDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of DECEMBER, 1879, to pay the delinquent assessment, together with the cost of advertising and expenses of sale. By order of the Board of Directors. [Nov. 8.] J. M. BRAZELL, Secretary.

STOCK DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Office of the Gila Silver Mining Company, Room 7, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California, October 21st, 1879.—At a special meeting of the Stockholders of the above-named Company, held this day, a Stock Dividend of twenty per cent. was declared, payable immediately, out of the Capital Stock owned by the Company. All Stockholders are requested to send their Stock to the office of the Company before November 24th, 1879, and receive the dividend due thereon.

Nov. 8. WM. W. PARRISH, Secretary.

A MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION OF PHOTOGRAPHS FOR SALE,

Comprising Views of Palestine, Egypt, Rome and other parts of the World. The Collection was made by a gentleman, for many years a resident of Europe and Asia, at an expense of over $3,000. It comprises about 500 views in perfect condition, having suitable Portfolios, Albums, etc, together with a very large and powerful Magnifying Glass. Will be sold as an entirety.

SNOW & CO.,
Nov. 15. (Successors to Snow & May), 20 Post street.

DIVIDEND NOTICE.

The Home Mutual Insurance Company will pay its regular monthly dividend of One (1) Dollar per share on its capital stock on November 10th, 1879. CHARLES R. STORY, Secretary,
Nov. 15. 406 California street.

SITUATION WANTED.

An English gentleman, with several years' experience of California, thoroughly acquainted with book-keeping and general business, and with a knowledge of farming, is anxious for employment as clerk, overseer, or other position. Best of references. Address "S," this office. Oct. 18.

"PLEASURE'S WAND."

"We Obey no Wand but Pleasure's."—Tom Moore.

California Theater.—Bartley Campbell's star as a dramatist has lately been rising, and his plays are being produced here and there with success. It is a matter of surprise that his abilities should have so long remained unrecognized. His play of Van, the Virginian, is a well written, admirably constructed and powerful drama. The theme is one which, in its exaggeration of what constitutes true heroism, is sickly. For want of a proper expression, it might be called a case of hyper-Ossipism. In the Danicheffs, the peculiar condition of society in Russia, the absence of divorce laws, and the utter absence of any other solution but the one portrayed, gave to the self-abnegation of the Serf and its surrounding circumstances an air of plausibility. Besides, a good part of the sympathy expended on that moral hero is dependent on the ability of the actor. In the case of "Van," the sacrifice is one of more importance. It involves the renunciation of the adored woman, in the possession of which happiness and prosperity have been attained. It is more than the abandonment of prospective bliss; it is a sacrifice of all that life is worth living for, an existence blighted, a living death. It is a double martyrdom, for it involves a life of daily torture for the loved one. It is the culmination of moral heroism; a terrible, pitiless bondage of all the sentiments to an ungrateful master—conscience. In the abstract, such deeds are absurd and unnecessary. In this practical, sensible land, there are remedies for such contingencies as form the foundation of this play. Dramatic license must naturally be considered, and emphatically so on this occasion, as the excellence of the treatment excuses the motive. There are a few inconsistencies here and there, but lost in the general cleverness of the work. It is, for instance, unnatural that "Kate Calvert" should acquiesce in "Van's" understanding of what is right without some show of resistance. Her ready submission to what he considers her duty is not consistent with the power womanly hearts wield over their minds. The motive of the omission of any reference to the child, in the last interview between "Van" and "Kate," is too apparent—it is simply with a view to an effective tableau. The first act is the weakest. It is a mistake to make "Kate's" love for "Calvert" so prominent, as it diminishes the sympathy created by her subsequent troubles, and is an argument in favor of the theory of females inconstancy. This play enjoys the novel possession of two different endings. As played this week, the curtain falls on the tormented woman. It is proposed to play it now with the only other possible culmination—the death of "Calvert" and the happy reunion of "Van" and "Kate." This is an innovation in dramatic works. As the hero, Frank Mayo does the best acting that he has as yet done. The character is, in many respects, similar to "Davy Crockett," and is treated by the star accordingly. "Van" is a man of rugged honesty, noble sentiments and goodness of heart, under a rough exterior—a man but semi-educated, the lack of acquired knowledge being replaced by a wealth of common sense and an instinctive appreciation of things. Mayo is very successful in this delineation. It is true that in no way does he indicate dialectically or otherwise, his supposed provincialism, but this is an indifferent matter, as the traits portrayed are essentially American, and not circumscribed by any geographical lines. Miss Osborne presents an exquisite picture of the poor victim of circumstances, and revives the favorable impression her former appearance in this city had produced. But in matter of dress she was sadly at fault, and deserving of strong censure. The wife of a country blacksmith arrayed in silks and furs is, to say the least, a remarkable inconsistency. The play was otherwise well cast. The little tot who represented, naturally and charmingly, "Hattie," "Van's" daughter, deserves particular mention.

Bush-Street Theater.—The Colvills Folly Company is a clever organization in many respects, but one that can stand some improvements. Two of them are here submitted: A strap and a gag. The strap for Maflin's ankles. The mercurial activity of this man's legs is exasperating in its incessantcy. Evening after evening he hops, skips, jumps, tumbles, and somersaults around the stage, until the relieving curtain falls. Possibly he continues afterward. It is ths nearest discovery to perpetual motion as yet. The worst feature of it all is its contagious character. The male members of the company are permeated with the infection, and an epidemic of clownism is the result. The gag—for Miss Roseau's voice. In many ways it is a good voice, of good timbre and great power, but under present auspices it is distasteful and annoying to any musical ear. However pure it may be in itself, it loses all sweetness and purity through vulgar cultivation and flashy intonation. Its chief defect is an indescribable gurgling sound accompanying the delivery of the notes, which is disagreeable in the extreme. There is also about this lady a lack of fitness existing between the immaturity of her manner and the maturity of her appearance. The company is severely handicapped by the two mentioned artists. Oxygen is an absurd burlesque, but full of good points. Some of the situations are very ludicrous, and when the actors have elaborated their rôles, it will undoubtedly be a success wherever produced. The puns are execrable, it is true, but this is a time-honored custom in burlesques. Besides, it is only puns of this character that are appreciated. Audiences never see the points of good ones. Roland Reed is a very clever comedian, suggesting, in many things, Nat Goodwin. Graham has good burlesque qualifications. Chapman is a very useful actor. The women shine pre-eminently, through good looks and grace. Oxygen gives the costumer a good opportunity, and it is admirably taken advantage of. The costumes are all of beautiful design, those particularly noticeable being Roseau's and that of the Herald. This character is assumed by Miss Annie Deacon, undoubtedly the handsomest woman in the troupe. The female chorus is a very good one; the male less so, being more addicted to hellowing than to singing. This company is under good direction; all the members play well together. There are no hitches, no waits; something particularly noticeable on Monday evening, as Oxygen was to most of the troupe a new burlesque. All this evidences that Mr. Forrester, the stage manager, is the right man in the right place. There are some attractive novelties in preparation.

Baldwin's Theater.—The bill this week has been well received. Saratoga is a play of many characters, but the company at this theater is equal to any call of that kind. The play was well cast and well acted. Miss Carey, in the picnic scene, sang a little song with taste and feeling. On Sunday evening James O'Neill takes a benefit, appearing in his original part of "Jean Renaud," in The Celebrated Case. For Monday the latest New York success, Forget-me-not, is announced.

Schmidt Quintette.—The second concert of the series was held on last Tuesday evening. The programme was as carefully played as it was selected. The opening quartette for strings B flat (op. 4, No. 2), Rubenstein, of which two movements, allegro moderato and scherzo, were given, was played perfectly, and received a hearty and deserved encore, showing that both composition and rendering were appreciated. Two other quartettes were on the programme, Schumann's "Traumerie," arranged as such, and a menuette by Bernh. Scholz. The first of these is a well-known composition—perhaps too well known—but in this dress it sounded new and pleasing. The menuette is a quaint little gem, and was so graphically played that the prim figures of ages ago seemed to dance, in their stately, graceful way, before one's very eyes. Miss Alice Schmidt, notwithstanding she suffered from ailing fingers, played admirably, both in her part of St. Saen's Trio (F Major, op. 18) a remarkably difficult composition, and in her solo, Mendelssohn's Prelude and Fugue (E minor, op. 35). Her rendition of the last selection was a performance seldom equaled by resident artists. Clifford Schmidt gave Wieniawski's Airs Russes. This young artist is improving rapidly. He seems to labor under an excess of nervousness, but this is something which age and experience will cure. The vocalist of the evening was Miss Jenny Landsmann. Her voice is a fair one, but troubled with huskiness in the upper medium and head tones, which is particularly noticeable in piano passages. Her selections were fairly received, but it cannot be said that her singing was satisfactory. The next concert is announced for Tuesday, December 2d.

Miss Laura Honey (Mrs. Church), the composer of the Wreck of the Pinafore, takes a benefit to-morrow (Sunday evening) at the Standard. This lady has rewritten the operatta, and it will be produced on this occasion in its new form. It should be a pleasure with the public to patronize talent, and in this respect Mrs. Church possesses strong claims, for she is a gifted writer, singer and composer. The talented vocalist, Miss Leonora Simons, will make her first appearance since her return from Mexico. We are pleased to announce that during her absence from the city she met with great success, receiving numerous testimonials of her ability.

German Theater.—The performance on Sunday evening was a most amusing one. As "Nanni," an Austrian country wench, Miss Fiehach did an exquisite bit of acting. She spoke the musical dialect of the country very naturally, and graphically delineated the brusque, free and easy, but virtuous peasant girl. Besides being a clever little actress, Miss Fiehach possesses the additional charms of youth, beauty and grace. She has become a favorite, although it can not be said that she is heartily appreciated. Her style is a little too refined and subdued for the masses. Freeman, Urhan and Diehl were, as usual, capital.

On next Sunday evening Mr. Max Freeman will take a benefit at the California Theater. Under this talented artist's direction, the German theater in this city has attained a remarkable degree of excellence, suggestive of old-established theaters in great cities. He has proven himself a finished actor and an intelligent stage manager. Our English-speaking public has also had opportunity to appreciate his ability, notably in connection with the late Authors' Carnival. The programme consists of a most laughable comedy from the French, entitled Tricoche and Cachelet. It is to be hoped the beneficiary will have his deserved bumper.

Standard Theater.—Dr. Clyde has been drawing strongly—a fact due to the admirable acting of Mr. John E. Owens. It is a most complete and finished comedy impersonation. "Higgins" is a compound of pomposity and ignorance, ludicrous and comical in his ways and misuse of professional terms. Manager Kennedy makes a deserved hit. His "Tottbury Simms" is active in a neat and refined style, free from exaggeration.

Mr. Henry Heyman announces a concert for Thursday, December 4th. This artist is one of our best local violinists, and deserves all possible patronage. He is always ready to respond with his valuable assistance to all deserving calls, and his name is rarely absent from the programmes of charitable entertainments. He will present an artistic musical entertainment, details of which will be published later.

Orchestral Union.—It will please all interested in music to know that this organization is meeting with great success in its efforts to gain associate members. The annual subscription is but a trifle, and the cause a praiseworthy one. The more solid the footing this orchestra will obtain in this community, the more rapid will be the local development of musical taste.

Manager Kennedy's friends are contemplating a testimonial benefit, to be offered to him at the Grand Opera House, on December 6th. Kennedy is one of those men who possesses the happy faculty of making friends and keeping them. An attractive bill will be offered for this occasion.

Chit-Chat.—Carmen has been arranged as a ballet.——Van Bulow is in doubt whether to retain his present position of Director of the Hanover Opera House, or to accept the professorship formerly held by Louis Brassin at the Brussels Conservatory.——Konig Wilhelm thinks glass balls an improvement on pigeons.——Goldmark is composing a new opera on an Italian libretto.——Strauss is hard at work on his new operetta, The Lace Handkerchief.——Oates is going to sing "Carmen!" Angels and ministers of grace defend us!!——At Kieff the Director of Police has ordered that the audience must not hiss the actors; that applause is allowed only at the end of each act, and that only three recalls will be permitted.

DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Office of the Bodie Consolidated Mining Company, Room 62, Nevada Block, San Francisco, Nov. 17th, 1879.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the above-named Company, held this day, a Dividend (No. 5) of Fifty Cents (50c.) per share was declared upon the capital stock of the Company, payable on MONDAY, December 1st, 1879, at the office of Messrs. Laidlaw & Co., New York, only on the stock issued from the Transfer Agency in that city, and at the San Francisco office only on stock issued here. Transfer books will close on Thursday, Nov. 20th, 1879, at 3 P.M. [Nov. 22.] WM. H. LENT, Secretary.

DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Office of the Eureka Consolidated Mining Company. Nevada Block, Room No. 37, San Francisco, Nov. 15, 1879.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the above named Company, held this day, a dividend (No 49) of One Dollar per share was declared, payable on THURSDAY, Nov. 20th, 1879. Transfer Books closed until the 21st instant.

Nov. 22. W. W. TRAYLOR, Secretary.

A. BUSWELL & CO., Book Binders, No. 521 Clay street.

SPORTING ITEMS.

Rowing. Dan Leahey and Henry Hoyt have at last arranged terms for a race, as follows: The race to be for $500 a side, $250 down on signing articles, the remainder to be put up ten days before the race. The course to be five miles, properly surveyed. Charles G. Yale, Secretary of the San Francisco Yacht Club, was chosen referee, with full powers to decide all questions not set down in the articles. The match is to be strictly play or pay, and will be rowed under the rules of the Pacific Amateur Rowing Association. There can be no doubt about the match being for blood. The public may be sure that Charles G. Yale will not lend himself to the least suspicion of hippodroming, and he is too well versed in such matters to be hoodwinked, even if the men so desired; but the past career of both men is untarnished. City front men and watermen generally support Hoyt. Leahey is a favorite with the rowing clubs, who think their champion can't be beaten, especially by Hoyt, who is supposed to understand no boat but a Whitehall. That is not the case. He owned the first shell ever seen on the Pacific coast, and what is more, could beat any of his contemporaries in it. It is true he has not done much shell rowing of late years, but he is as clever as any sculler we have seen, and certainly possesses wonderful endurance. He will most likely scull with a stationary seat; but as he is, like Harry Kelly, remarkably handy with his legs in a boat, that is no disadvantage, and in case of rough water a decided gain. Leahey's performances recently are well known to all our readers. Probably the good form he showed in his last two races is the reason the club men who backed him think he is good to put the pot on. We shall not be surprised to see Hoyt beat him, as we consider the length of the race an advantage to Hoyt that more than counterbalances Leahey's recent practice.——The race between Leahey and W. Cotsford, of Victoria, B. C., is not yet settled. Colsford's representative was in town this week, ready to make a match for $1,000 a side, $200 expenses to be allowed, to be rowed in Victoria barbor, ou or abont May 24, 1880; $100 deposit down at signing, the remainder as agreed. Leahey proposed to row in San Francisco and make the match for the first of December, or earlier. Upon Cotsford's refusal he agreed to his terms, on condition that a referee for the race be accepted by both parties before depositing any coin, and that the match he P. P. To this Cotsford's agent agreed, promising to forward articles in a few days for signature. This looks as if the race will come off. If it does, it will be an honest race all round. The betting will depend very much on the form Leahey shows in his race with Hoyt, so far as San Francisco is concerned. In Victoria Cotsford will be backed at evens, or a shade of odds, for almost any amount.——It looks as if we had heard the last of Hanlan and Courtney, at least till next season.

Bicycling.—The bicycle race, advertised to take place at the Mechanics' Pavilion, has been placed under the management of M. Jacobi & Co., the proprietors of the Union Baseball grounds. The entrance fee has been reduced from $100 to $50, and other inducements have been held out to competitors. The prizes offered are liberal, but the distance to be covered, 400 miles, will be found a greater task than anticipated. There is a grade in the floor of the Pavilion that will interfere with the making of any great record. We are informed that six men will ride, and, as a further attraction to the public, there will be a race between lady riders. The match commences at 10:30 P. M., Saturday, November 29th, lasting seventy-two hours. H. G. Shaw, a gentleman much respected in athletic circles, has been selected to act as referee. Entries for the match close Wednesday evening next.

Yachting.—The owner of the Chispa has not yet answered C. G. White's challenge to sail his yacht against the O'Connor for $1,000 a side. ——The Call has a ready excuse for the charge of ignorance and animus in sporting matters, brought against it by the News Letter and other sporting journals. In its issue of Thursday, Nov. 20th, it says, speaking of yachting: "It is yet in its infancy, and such concessions should doubtless be made, which, when the sport gets more fairly established, would not be entertained." That is a very roundabout way of saying the Call was wrong. Its criticisms were senseless, but they were good enough for a sport yet in its infancy.

Coursing.—The Sacramento Coursing Club have decided to hold their meeting November 27th and 28th.——The meeting of the Livermore Club is postponed till further notice.

Baseball.—The managers of the Chicago and Cincinnati Clubs, finding that the public had no confidence in them, and refused to patronize their game, have taken a new departure. Three of the Chicagos were dispensed with, their places being filled by local celebrities, doubtless with a view to create fresh excitement. The club still retains the title of the Chicago Club. They will keep up the circus for another month with the Cincinnatis, using the Recreation Grounds. Ostensibly, the two Eastern clubs are under contract to Fritz & Shear, of the Recreation Grounds, but we are informed on good authority that Charles E. Locke will continue to pull the strings.——A. Piercy will receive a benefit at the Union Grounds to-morrow; the game will be between the Californians and Unions. We hope Andy will net a good sum—he has done much for the game in San Francisco.——The game last Sunday between the Knickerbockers and Chicagos was very close and interesting. The visitors won; score, 5 to 4. ——The Central Pacific Railroad clerks of this city are organizing a club, to play next season.——The California League will hold a business meeting to-night.

Football.—A number of football players met last week and organized a club. They will play their first game at Oakland Cricket Grounds to-day. All lovers of the game are invited to attend and join the club in time to arrange for future matches. We hope for a good attendance. Football is the best of all winter games, and, as the club have decided to play under the Rugby Union Rules, there is no fear of accidents.

Pedestrianism.—The California Pedestrian League is the title adopted by a number of local leggists, who intend in future to manage their own affairs without letting speculators get most of the profits of their exertions. It is their intention to give a six-day mixed race in the Mechanics' Pavilion about Christmas. If they conduct it honestly, success is certain.——Chenowith and Wilcox are astonishing the natives at Reno.

Shooting.—Reports still tell of abundance of ducks and snipe in all their usual haunts. We hear of good bags being made at Clear Spring Lake. The islands in the lower Sacramento literally swarm with snipe in splendid condition. Canvas-backs are unusually abundant, and as fat as their Eastern relatives.

Swimming.—W. H. Daily, champion swimmer of California, returned from the East last Tuesday. His injured leg is so much better that he altered his determination to winter in Boston. He informs us that Captain Webb refused to swim him for any money, much less for the $5,000 challenge issued by the Englishman. So much does Webb fear Daily, that when he heard he was returning to California, he changed his publicly expressed determination to visit San Francisco, concluding, no doubt, that his reputation is safer in New York.

GRAND CREDIT SALE

—OF—

THOROUGHBRED STOCK,

—ON—

Tuesday, November 25th, 1879,

AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M.,

AT THE FARM OF

C. B. POLHEMUS, ESQ.,

On the Stockton Rancho,

Adjoining San Jose.

CATALOGUE.

HORSES AND MARES--Niagaras.

1--Young Niagara, a fine young Stallion, 16 hands high; sired by Old Niagara; dam Fanny, the dam of Atlantic; a powerful young horse; fine style and action; trots in 2:50.

2--Molly, a beautiful bay Mare, 15¼ hands high; sired by Niagara; dam Ethan Allen mare; no record, but has trotted half-mile private in 1:12.

3--Flora, large bay Mare, 16 hands high; sired by Niagara; dam Lady Lancaster; trots in 2:50.

4--Julia, beautiful bay Mare, 16 hands high; trots in 2:50; sired by Niagara, dam Julia Livingston, imp. Grey Eagle mare.

5--Gerty, a large bay Mare, 16 hands high; sire Niagara; dam Lady Lancaster; no record, but has trotted ½ mile in 1:16.

6--Lucy, bay Mare, 16½ hands high; sire Niagara; dam Lady Lancaster; can trot in about 3 minutes.

7--Harry, a large bay Horse, 18 hands high; full brother to Lucy; fine traveler, and they make a fine carriage team.

8--Lady Thorne, bay Mare, 15½ hands high; sire Old Niagara; dam Lady Lightfoot; a thoroughbred imported mare.

9--Stella, bay Mare, 15¾ hands high; sired by Old Niagara; dam a Grey Messenger mare.

10--Susie, bay Mare, 16 hands high; sire Old Niagara; dam Lady Lightfoot.

11--Bess, brown Mare, 16 hands high; sire Old Niagara; dam Julia Livingston; who trotted in 2:22.

12--Mike, a bay Horse, 15¾ hands high; sire Niagara; dam a Canadian mare.

13--Chicago Jack, a bay Horse, 16 hands high; sire Niagara; dam Bay Kitty.

Also,

30 head of Trotting and Driving Horses. Some of the best Roadsters in the State.
Several span of Carriage Horses.
6 Thoroughbred Jersey Cows.
3 Thoroughbred Jersey Bulls.
11 Graded Durham Devon Holstein and Alderney Cows.
15 Pure Essex Pigs.

TERMS OF SALE:

Cash on all sums under $100; one-half cash on all sums over $100, with interest at 10 per cent. per annum on approved notes on balance. Ten per cent. of purchase money to be paid to Auctioneer at time of sale.

J. A. CLAYTON, Auctioneer.

☞ S. P. R. R Train leaving San Francisco at 8:20 A.M., and the S. P. C. R. R. Train (Narrow Gauge) leaving at 9 A.M., will stop at Polhemus Station to leave and receive passengers. Nov. 22.

BUSH-STREET THEATER.

Charles E. Locke, Proprietor.--Continued Success of the Famous COLVILLE OPERA BURLESQUE COMPANY, in its entirety. This Evening and Saturday Matinee, the Great Double Bill, comprised of Oxygen; or, Gas in Burlesque Metre.

To commence with the farce of LOST CHILD AT NORTH BEACH, and followed by Medley Overture. This Saturday and Sunday Evenings, and Saturday Matinee, last times of OXYGEN. "Whose ripples of merriment create waves of laughter." Monday, Nov. 24th—BABES IN THE WOOD and WHO KILLED COCK ROBIN?

THE BALDWIN THEATER.

Thomas Maguire, Manager.--This (Saturday) Matinee, Nov. 22d, Last Performance of Saratoga!

Mr. James O'Neill, Mr. Lewis Morrison, Mr. J. W. Jennings, Mr. A. D. Bradley, Miss Jeffreys-Lewis, Miss Eleanor Carey, Miss Jean Clara Walters, Miss Mollie Revel, and the Great Baldwin Company. This (Saturday) Evening, November 22d—Benefit of MR. JAMES O'NEILL,

A Celebrated Case!

Monday, November 24th—First time in America of the present reigning success in London, FORGET ME NOT. Nov. 22.

CALIFORNIA THEATER.

W. B. Barton, Manager; Barton Hill, Acting Manager. This (Saturday) Evening, Nov. 22d, instant success and last night but one of FRANK MAYO, supported by MISS ROSE OSBORNE, in Bartley Campbell's great play,

Van, "The Virginian."

Produced with Entirely New Scenery by Porter, and a Complete Cast of Characters. Original and Attractive Music by the California Theater Orchestra, under direction of Wm. Withers, Jr. ONLY VAN MATINEE SATURDAY. Monday, November 24th, Mr. Mayo will appear in his world-famous character, DAVY CROCKETT.

STANDARD THEATER.

M. A. Kennedy, Manager.--This (Saturday) Evening, Nov. 22d, and Grand Matinee this Afternoon at 2 o'clock. Second Week and Last Performances of the Great Success,

Dr. Clyde!

JOHN E. OWENS and a Most Powerful Cast. Standing Room Only during the Past Week. In future there will be no Extra Charge for Reserved Seats at this Theater. This (Saturday) Afternoon—SECOND DR. CLYDE MATINEE. Fifty Cents to all parts of the House. No Extra Charge for Reserved Seats. Sunday Evening, Nov. 23d, Grand Complimentary Benefit tendered to MISS LAURA HONEY. Monday, Nov. 24th, First Production of SELF. Nov. 22.

"The World," the Flesh, and the Devil.

[By a Truthful Penman.]

In a French paper Madame Marie Escudier gives the following account of the death of Paganini: "On the 27th of May, 1840, I was at Nice, and heard of Paganini's death. I sought out the narrow and obscure alley where the violinist dwelt. As I mounted the stairs I met a girl weeping. I asked her the cause of her tears. She answered that her master, M. Paganini, was just dead, and she had lost her place. Curiosity drove me to enter the chamber. There, on a truckle bed, lay the celebrated violinist I had so often applauded with transport in Germany, England and France. A napkin was around the dead man's neck, and a plate stood near containing the remains of a pigeon. 'The poor man,' said the girl, 'seemed to foresee he would not finish the pigeon. When he gave me the money for the day's expenses, he said, "Zulietta, I should like to have a pigeon." "Well, sir, give me twelve sous more." "Twelve sous," he replied, making a worse grimace than usual, "twelve sous! Too dear, Zulietta; get one, my good girl, for eight sous, for you know, my child, there are very many hones in a pigeon." And yet people tell me he was rich.' I ceased to listen to her talk; my eyes fixed themselves on the corpse of Paganini; the countenauce, dry as his violin, had, in spite of its ugliness, the solemn character which death imparts. His violin hung mute on the wall. Some old women came to perform the last rites to the dead millionaire. I determined to pay funeral honors to his Stradivarius. I placed a white cloth on a table, and laid on it gently the body of the violin. When I touched it it gave out a feehle sound that made me shudder as if I had heard a voice proceeding from the lifeless breast of Paganini. I gently wrapped up the violin, placed a chaplet of immortelles at one end and two lighted tapers at the other, and slowly quitted the apartment, where a young artist was hurriedly sketching the face of the immortal violinist. As Paganini had died without the rites of the church, the authorities refused to grant interment to his remains. The steamboat for his native place, Genoa, refused to take the body. It was kept for some days in a cellar, and it was necessary to appeal to Rome to have it transferred to the Villa Gajona, near Parma, where, five years after his decease, the great virtuoso was interred with pomp, like the meanest of mankind."—Figaro of London.——As a sample of the state of things in the west of Ireland, a correspondent writes as follows: A lady has just written to me to say that two tenants who had the audacity to bring her their rent were nearly murdered on their way home. The next day they had five cows and nine sheep destroyed.——Here is a true and amusing story of the "distress" in Ireland: The landlord is sitting in his library collecting such of his rents as he can secure, and there enters to him the occupier of a small farm. "So you have come to pay your rent, Flanagan?" he asks. Flanagan sighs heavily, and assumes an aspect of deep distress. "Shure, your honor, the times is cruel hard, and it's wanting to do my duty I am, but it's a mighty difficult thing to scrape a few pounds together," he answers. "Well, and what do you propose to do, Flanagan?" "Well, your honor, I wish it was my rent I could pay, the whole fifteen pounds of it; hut scrape and scrape as I might it's ouly the ten pound note I could get together, and I had to sell the pigs to make that." Flanagan exhibits the note, hut is reluctant to part with it, and looks at it lovingly, though he cannot read the inscription. "That's all I could find hy all of pinching and scraping, your honor, and I was hoping that, seeing how had the times is, yonr honor might he plazed to forget the rent for the half year, for the crops is nothing, and its huying everything I have to he." The landlord, however, stretched out his hand for the note. "Times are hard, Flanagan, as you say, though your crops are scarcely as bad, I fancy, as you make out. I'm afraid I must take the ten pounds, but I'll give you the change. You have taken the wrong note out of your cash box; this is for £100.——Herr Koogerpolder, of the German community at St. Petersburg, who died the other day, was a bit of a wit. His favorite story was an encounter which he had with an English Ritualistic clergyman some years ago, while he was supposed to he dying from tumors in the stomach. All the physicians in St. Petersburg, including Dr. Botkin himself, had given him over as a dead man, and it was to attempt to cure him of his well-known infidel views that Mr. Chasuble determined to see him. Arrived at the door of the sick man's room, Chasuble gave one or two quiet knocks. "Who's there?" demanded Koogerpolder. "Mr. Chasuble, who has come to pray for you," replied the footman. "Show him in—confound him!" exclaimed Koogerpolder, hurying his head heneath the hedclothes. The clergyman entered and approaching the hedside said, with awful solemnity, "Mr. Koogerpolder—sir, your illness proceeds from God." "It's a lie!" roared the invalid from under the clothes; "Botkin was here au hour ago, and he say it proceeds from ze stomach!" Mr. Chasuble closed his book, and in "holy anger and pious grief" walked from the house without uttering another word. Curiously enough, the repartee saved the sick man's life. His immoderate laughter at the Englishman's discomfiture broke the tnmors in his stomach, and cured him of his disease.——All the Jesuit papers in France are bristling just now with wonderful telegraphic accounts from Lourdes, relating miracles after miracles, apparently due to the admirable virtue of the holy waters in the grotto. Cripples have been seen walking, invalids casting off their crutches, blind men reading the Figaro. The following miracle, however, which took place on the road to the shrine, has not received from the same papers the attention to which it was entitled: A paralytic in an easy chair had heen placed in the pilgrim train. At one of the railway stations there was a change of carriages, and it happened that the easy chair, with the psralytic in it, had just been put down on the line, when a train running from the opposite direction was suddenly seen hearing right down upon it. There was a general stampede, and a cry of terror; everyhody thought the paralytic mnst he killed; when, to the intense astonishment of all witnesses, he was seen to rise from his armchair and walk off hriskly, just in time to escape the traiu. The mere thought of the holy waters seems to have heen sufficient to cure this pilgrim.

INSURANCE.

HUTCHINSON & MANN,

INSURANCE AGENCY,

No. 322 & 324 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Fire Insurance.

GIRARD..... of Philadelphia.	LA CAISSE GENERALE.....of Paris.
HOME.....of Columbus.	ST. PAUL.....of St. Paul.
NEW ORLEANS ASSOCIATION.....	TEUTONIA.....of New Orleans.
PEOPLES.....of Newark.	BERLIN-COLOGNE.....of Berlin.
REVERE.....of Boston.	LA CONFIANCE.....of Paris.

Marine Insurance.

PARIS UNDERWRITING ASSOCIATION.....of Paris.
LONDON AND PROVINCIAL MARINE INSURANCE CO.....of London.

Capital Represented.....$23,000,000.

All Losses Equitably Adjusted and Promptly Paid.

HOME MUTUAL INSURANCE CO. OF CALIFORNIA.

Principal Office, 406 California Street, San Francisco. Cash Assets, January 1, 1877, $595,291; Liabilities, $5,952; Surplus for Policy Holders, $589,339. J. F. Houghton, President; L. L. Baker, Vice-President; Charles R. Story, Secretary. R. H. MAGILL, H. H. BIGELOW, General Agents.

DIRECTORS.—San Francisco—L. L. Baker, John H. Redington, J. F. Houghton, R. B. Gray, Robert Watt, John Currey, L. L. Baker, W. F. Whittier, C. C. Burr, E. M. Root, W. H. White, J. L. N. Shepard, W. M. Greenwood, George S. Mann, Cyrus Wilson, W. T. Garratt, C. Waterhouse, A. P. Hotaling, A. Block, A. K. P. Harmon, G. S. Johnson, W. O. Wilson, A. W. Bowman, H. L. Dodge, Charles R. Story. Alameda County Branch—V. D. Moody, Chauncy Taylor, A. C. Henry, Robert S. Farrelly, Joseph B. Marlin, W. B. Hardy, T. B. Simpson. San Diego—A. H. Wilcox. Sacramento—Mark Hopkins, D. W. Earl, Julius Wetzlar, James Carolau. San Jose—T. Ellard Beans, B. D. Murphy, A. Pfister, J. H. Dibble, J. S. Carter, Jackson Lewis, Jacob Rich, John Auzerais, John Balbach. Stockton—H. H. Hewlett, Chas. Belding, J. D. Peters, A. W. Simpson, H. M. Fanning. Marysville—D. E. Knight. Grass Valley—Wm. Watt, T. W. Sigourney. Portland, Oregon—W. S. Ladd, C. H. Lewis, P. Wasserman, B. Goldsmith, D. Macleay. Virginia City, Nevada—John Gillig, Isaac L. Requa. March 17.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.--UNION INS. CO. OF S. F.

The California Lloyds.---Established in 1861.---Nos. 416 and 418 California street. Cash capital $750,000 in Gold. Assets exceed $1,000,000 Coin. Fair Rates! Prompt Settlement of Loses!! Solid Security!! DIRECTORS.—SAN FRANCISCO—J. Mora Moss, N. G. Kittle, M. J. O'Connor, R. S. Floyd, Moses Heller, Adam Grant, Daniel Meyer, Antoine Borel, Charles Kohler, E. L. Goldstein, I. Lawrence Pool, A. Weill, Joseph Brandenstein, Charles Baum, James Moffitt, Benjamin Brewster, L. Cunningham, W. M. Hoag, Nicholas Luning, John Parrott, L. A. Booth, Julius Baum, Myles D. Sweeney, Jas. M. Goewey, Edward Cadwalader Bartlett Doe, Gustave Touchard, J. H. Baird, J. G. Kittle, George C. Hickox, C. Ducommun, Wm. Scholle, John Conly, Ig. Steinhart, W. B. Stone, J. O. Eldridge, A. B. Phipps.

GUSTAVE TOUCHARD, President. N. G. KITTLE, Vice-President.
CHARLES D. HAVEN, Secretary. GEO. T. BOHEN, Surveyor. Aug. 31.

THE STATE INVESTMENT AND INSURANCE CO.

FIRE AND MARINE.

Cash Assets, $450,000.---Principal Office, 218 and 220 Sansome street, San Francisco. OFFICERS:—A. J. BRYANT, President; RICHARD IVERS, Vice-President; CHARLES H. CUSHING, Secretary; H. H. WATSON, Marine Surveyor. BOARD OF DIRECTORS:—Peter Donahue, James Irvine, C. D. O'Sullivan, A. Bocqueraz, R. Harrison, A. H. Rutherford, R. Bailey, E. W. Corbert, George O. McMullin, A. J. Bryant, Frank M. Pixley, E Burke, H. H. Watson, Dr. C. F. Buckley, P. J. White, E. M. Root, M. Mayblum, Richard Ivers, John Roscnfeld, Daniel Callaghan. P. H. Russell, Sacramento. John G. Downey, Los Angeles. Wm. Hood, Sonoma County. H. W. Seale, Mayfield. Geo. Rutherford, San Jose. Feb. 16.

THE MARINE INSURANCE CO. OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

[ESTABLISHED 1836.]

Whole Amnunt nf Jnint Stnck and Guaranteed Capital..$5,000,000.
Whole Amnunt nf Capital paid up..... 900,000.
Cash Assets December 31, 1876..... 3,710,000.

The undersigned have becn duly authorized to issue Policies at current rates on Freight and Shipments to or from England, Europe, New York, Japan, China, Australian Colonies, Sandwich Islands, and Northern Coast Ports. If desired, policies made payable at port of termination.

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents,
Aug. 10. 218 California street.

THE SWISS MARINE INS. COMPANIES COMBINED.

Switzerland, of Zurich, Capital 5,000,000 francs; Helvetia, of St. Gall, Capital 10,000,000 francs; Baloise, of Basle, Capital 5,000,000 francs. These three Companies are liable jointly and severally for all losses that may be sustained. Losses made payable in all the principal seaports of the world. In the settlement of all claims under an English policy, these Companies will strictly adhere to the conditions and customs adopted at Lloyds, and submit to English jurisdiction.

June 9. HARRY W. SYZ, Agent, 225 Sansome st., S. F.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSUR. CO. OF BOSTON.

Has transacted the bnsiness of Life Insnrance for nearly thirty-five years. Its assets amount to over FOURTEEN MILLION DOLLARS. The law of Massachusetts makes all its Policies nonforfeitable. It is a Purely Mutual Company, dividing every cent of surplus among Policy-bolders. This is the ONLY Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Lapse Law. This company has complied with the new Insurance Laws of California.

WALLACE EVERSON, General Agent.
Sept. 22.] 328 Montgomery street.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN MARINE INS. CO. OF LIVERPOOL.

Capital $5,000,000.---Agents: Balfour, Guthrie & Co., No. 316 California street, San Francisco. Nov. 18.

BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OF CAL.

Attendance, daily, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., by the undersigned, to receive subscriptions and donations, and to furnish all information relating to the Society. J. P. McCURRIE, Secretary,
Oct. 23. 750 Montgomery street.

MY SHEAVES.

The time for toil is past, and night has come,
The last and saddest of the harvest eaves;
Worn out with labor, long and wearisome,
Drooping and faint the reapers hasten home,
Each laden with his sheaves.

Last of the laborers, Thy feet I gain,
Lord of the harvest! and my spirit grieves
That I am burdened not so much with grain
As with the heaviness of heart and brain;
"Master, behold my sheaves!"

Full well I know I have more tares than wheat,
Brambles and flowers, dry stalks and withered leaves;
Wherefore I blush and weep, as at thy feet
I kneel down reverently and repeat,
"Master, behold my sheaves!"

Few, light and worthless, yet their trifling weight,
Through all my frame a weary aching leaves;
For long I struggled with my helpless fate,
And stayed and toiled till it was dark and late,
Yet these are all my sheaves.

And yet I gathered strength and hope anew;
For well I know thy patient love perceives
Not what I did, but what I strove to do;
And though the full, ripe ears be sadly few,
Thou wilt accept my sheaves. —Public Opinion.

ENGLAND AND TURKEY.

When there is so much idle and vague speculation concerning the British programme in Turkey, and so much criticism based upon prejudice, it is well to take a common sense glance at the question, whereby we may possibly get nearer to reality and avoid imagination. From Russia's plan of conquest, it is evident that India is her objective point. General Skobeleff, in a recent interview in England, admitted this plainly, and his opinion is worthy of credence. The great lack of Russia is a navy, and she can never obtain one of the first-class until not only the Black Sea, but the Dardanelles, are in her possession. The Turkish regime is at last aware that it is only a tenant at will, and that the British sovereign is lord paramount. It may he a part of the crooked and faithless policy that has always characterized the Ottoman Government to play their ancient role of duplicity towards both parties, in the hope that by involving these enemies in an exhaustive war, their own territorial integrity may ultimately he preserved. This is doubtless the correct view from a Turkish standpoint, and, judging by the past, it is not altogether useless, but considering the overshadowing importance of the Indian question, and that neither of the great powers interested are in a mood for trifling, it is certain that in any conflict that may ensue, the fabric of Ottoman sovereignty will he forever crushed.

Russia's movements on the Western Khanates has been met and checked, at least temporarily, hy the recent conquest of Afghanistan, but it appears to he the intention of the Beaconsfield ministry to precipitate a crisis, if necessary, that will end in a definite settlement of the long-standing Eastern question.

As a matter of judgment, England has never occupied a stronger position both as to men, material and military position, than at the present time. On the other hand, Russia has just emerged from an exhaustive war, when the flower of her army was destroyed purposelessly, and the only outcome of which, so far, has been an immense increase of her national debt, with its consequent increase of taxation. Nihilism has seized upon these and other pretexts to inaugurate dissensions that can only cause internal weakness. The Court of St. Petershurg, however, true to its traditional policy, never relaxes its efforts to extend the houndaries of the Empire. Hence while revolution is only kept down hy iron measures at home, diplomacy and the army are endeavoring to recoup their losses abroad.

As the case stands, England will he derelict in duty to herself if she neglects profiting hy the weakness of her great adversary. It is within her power to seize Constantinople and turn the Black Sea into a British lake; then by extending the borders of Greece and Austria, she can obtain interested allies, who will always be necessitated to fight her battles. A railroad through Asia Minor and Persia into India would then cement her conquests and render her position impregnahle. There may not happen such an another opportunity in a generation, and it appears that the British Cahinet, taking a hroad view of the question, intend using it to solidify their position.

CURIOUS RELICS.

On the 4th of August, 1498, a small squadron of three vessels, under the orders of Christopher Columbus, was anchored off the southwestern extremity of the Island of Trinidad. Late at night Columhus, it is related hy Washington Irving, suddenly saw a wall of water approaching towards the fleet from the south. His own vessel was lifted up so high by the oncoming wave that he feared it would be either submerged or dashed on shore; while the cable of one of the other ships parted under the strain to which it was subjected. The crews of the vessels gave themselves up for lost; but after a time the wave, which it is surmised must have been caused by an exceptionally large body of water coming suddenly down one of the rivers flowing into the Gulf of Paria, ebbed back again. This sudden rise of the waters of the gulf is mentioned by Columbus' son, Ferdinand, who adds that the fleet suffered no damage, save the loss of one anchor. It is this anchor which has now heen found; and, strangely enough, it was dug up from a depth of 5 ft. below the surface of the ground, at a spot 372 ft. from tye nearest point of the coast line. The land, it is well known, is gaining upon the sea along the shores of Venezuela, so that where once ships rode at anchor gardens are now planted. The anchor itself is of simple form and comparatively rude manufacture, the stock being 8 ft. long, and round, with a ring at one end 1 ft. in diameter, to which to make fast the cahle, and with flukes 5 ft. long, the whole weighing 1,100 lbs.

O, why will you let that invalid friend suffer that Hop Bitters will certainly cure. Read advertiscment.

BANKS.

THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital .. .. .. $3,000,000.
WM. ALVORD ..... President.
THOMAS BROWN, Cashier B. MURRAY, Jr., Ass't Cashier

Agents

New York, Agency of the Bank of California; Boston, Tremont National Bank Chicago, Union National Bank; St. Louis, Boatman's Saving Bank; New Zealand, the Bank of New Zealand, London, China, Japan, India and Australia, the Oriental Bank Corporation

The Bank has Agencies at Virginia City and Gold Hill, and Correspondents in all the principal Mining Districts and Interior Towns of the Pacific Coast.

Letters of Credit issued, available in all parts of the world. Draw direct on London, Dublin, Paris, Berlin, Bremen, Hamburg, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Antwerp, Amsterdam, St. Petershurgh, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Christiana, Locarno, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland, Hongkong, Shanghai, Yokohama. Nov. 4.

FIRST NATIONAL GOLD BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Paid up Capital $2,000,000, Gold. President, R. C. Woolworth; Vice-President, D Callaghan; Cashier, E. D. Morgan.

Directors:—R. C. Woolworth, D. Callaghan, C. G. Hooker, C. Adolph Low, Peter Donahue, Isaac Wormser, Edward Martin, James Moffitt, N. Van Bergen.

Correspondents—London, Baring Bros. & Co Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China. Dublin: Provincial Bank of Ireland. Hamburg: Hesse, Neuman & Co. Paris: Hottinguer & Co. New York: National Bank of Commerce. Boston: Blackstone National Bank. Chicago: First National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact a general Banking business. Deposits in Gold, Silver and Currency received subject to check or on special deposit. Exchange for sale on the principal cities of the United States, Great Britain, Ireland and the Continent. Commercial Credits issued available in Europe, China and Japan. Collections attended to and prompt returns made at the lowest market rates of Exchange. Jan. 19.

BANK OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Incorporated by Royal Charter.—Capital paid up, $1,800,000, with power to increase to $10,000,000. Southeast corner California and Sansome streets. Head Office—28 Cornhill, London. Branches—Portland, Oregon; Victoria, New Westminster and Cariboo, British Columbia.

This Bank transacts a General Banking Business. Accounts opened subject to Check and Special Deposits received. Commercial Credits granted available in all parts of the world. Approved Bills discounted and advances made on good collateral security. Draws direct at current rates upon its Head Office and Branches, and upon its Agents as follows:

New York, Chicago and Canada—Bank of Montreal; Liverpool—North and South Wales Bank; Scotland—British Linen Company; Ireland—Bank of Ireland; Mexico and South America—London Bank of Mexico and South America; China and Japan—Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and Oriental Bank; Australia and New Zealand—Bank of Australasia, Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, and English, Scottish and Australian Chartered Bank.

May 18. FREDERICK TOWNSEND, Manager.

LONDON AND SAN FRANCISCO BANK, LIMITED.

Capital, $5,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is fully paid up as present capital. Reserve Fund, $360,000. San Francisco Office, 424 California street; London Office, 22 Old Broad street. Manager, ARTHUR SCRIVENER; Cashier, WILLIAM STEEL. London Bankers, Bank of England and London Joint Stock Bank; New York, Drexel, Morgan & Co.; Boston, Third National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact all kinds of General Banking and Exchange Business in London and San Francisco, and between said cities and all parts of the world. March 30.

THE NEVADA BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital Paid Up.....$3,000,000.
Reserve, U. S. Bonds..... 3,500,000.

Agency at New York, 62 Wall street.
Agency at Virginia, Nev.

Buys and sells Exchange and Telegraphic Transfers. Issues Commercial and Travelers' Credits. This Bank has special facilities for dealing in Bullion. Nov. 8.

SECURITY SAVINGS BANK.

GUARANTEE CAPITAL, ... $300,000.

Officers: Vice-President, Jerome Lincoln; Secretary, W. S. Jones; Attorney, Sidney V. Smith. Loans made on Real Estate and other Approved Securities. Office: No. 215 Sansome street, San Francisco. Oct. 14.

THE GERMAN SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

Deutsche Spar und Leihbank, No 526 California street, San Francisco. Officers: President, L. GOTTIG. Board of Directors.—Fred. Roeding, Chas. Kohler, Edw. Kruse, George H. Eggers, N. Van Bergen, H. L. Simon, Peter Spreckels, Ign. Steinhart. Secretary, GEO. LETTE; Attorney, JOHN R. JARBOE. May 18.

THE ANGLO-CALIFORNIAN BANK, LIMITED.

422 California St., San Francisco.

London Office, 3 Angel Court; New York Agents, J. W. Seligman & Co., 21 Broad street. Authorized Capital Stock, $6,000,000. Will receive Deposits, open Accounts, make Collections, buy and sell Exchange and Bullion, loan Money, and issue Letters of Credit available throughout the world.

FRED. F. LOW, IGN. STEINHART, Managers.
P. N. LILIENTHAL, Cashier. Sept. 13.

AGGREGATE ASSETS, $38,789,065.

Imperial Fire Insurance Co., of London..... .....Instituted 1803.
London Assurance Corporation, of London.... .....
.....Established by Royal Charter 1720.
Northern Assurance Corporation, of London.....Established 1836.
Queen Insurance Company, of Liverpool.....Established 1857.

A JOINT POLICY ISSUED BY THE FOUR COMPANIES.

ROBERT DICKSON, Manager.
W. LANE BOOKER, Agent and Attorney.
317 CALIFORNIA STREET, S. F. [Oct. 11.

CUMBERLAND MINE,

Yavapai County, Arizona. Office: No. 417 California st., San Francisco, California. President, GEORGE M. CIPRICO. Secretary, J. H. ORIFFITHS. Office Hours: 2 P.M. daily. Oct. 11.

R. H. LLOYD,

Attorney-at-Law, Room 13, Nevada Block.

HOTEL LIFE—WHAT IT OUGHT TO BE, AND WHAT IT IS AT THE BALDWIN.

Under the above title we published an article, some five weeks ago, that has since had a little history of its own. It came to us from a person who had long been a dweller in the Baldwin, and who professed to know whereof he wrote. He occupied an important position in one of the first mercantile houses in the city, and, instead of having cause to distrust his statements, we thought we could surely rely upon their being free from prejudice, and true in all their parts. We did so rely, and published them. A libel suit was in consequence brought against the News Letter by Mr. Baldwin's manager. So long as we had confidence in our informant, we stood by him and his, and defied the other side. But there came a change, which we were unable to control. Our contributor failed us in several of his most important allegations. That being the case, we consented, in all honor and good faith, to say that "we had been imposed upon, and regretted the publication." The words went that far, but no further; they were formulated by Mr. Baldwin's attorney, who, to do him justice, showed great amiability toward everything that savored of an amicable settlement. The suit was dismissed, and Mr. Baldwin obtained the publication he asked for. We abide by what we consented to do. We believed that it was proper, and therefore did it. The past has settled itself, and we do not propose to unsettle it. Our present and future course, is, however, a very different matter, which, in the interests of the public, we dare not bargain away.

We may say that, while the late case was pending, we were the victims of most unfortunate accidents. The contributor to whom we have referred, and upon whom we relied, lost the position which brought him his living, and an unsuccessful attempt was made to have him lose his quarters in the Palace Hotel. Thus troubled in mind, we were less ready to blame him than we should otherwise have been. Then our attorney, Mr. E. C. Marshall, approved our terms, accepted our case, went into Court, was advised as to the nature of the expected inquiry, and read a drastic affidavit in support of a continuance, and yet afterward failed us and withdrew, feeling, as he expressed it, that he "could not afford" to conduct the defense against Baldwin. We do not blame him; on the contrary, we give him credit for announcing his difficulty, instead of misleading us, as many other attorneys would have done. We don't say that we admire his courage, or the strength of his back-bone, but we do appreciate his honest confession of weakness. His withdrawal was an untoward accident which we did not expect. Then, again, we were unfortunate as to several persons who had been suggested to us as witnesses. All at once they took themselves off and could not be found. These purely accidental circumstances ought to have been foreseen and prevented, not that any difference could have been made to the case. We are merely confessing accidents, not blaming any one. Without one particle of feeling as to the past, we are entirely free from malice as to the present. Now that so much has been said about the Baldwin and its management, it is due to ourselves, to our readers and to the hotel, that matters should not stand as they do. The public have a right to say to this organ of their's, "Let us have the whole truth about the hotel." We propose to give it to them:

THE BALDWIN AS IT IS.

The right and duty of the Press to criticise the management of our large hotels is beyond question. Not so very long ago they were licensed, subject to the surveillance of the Police, whose duty it was to report upon their every defect, and at whose instance they might be altogether closed. The time came when people liked not to see the hand of the common Policeman too often intruded into social affairs. They thought that public opinion was a better power, the cultivation of which could be intrusted to the Press. Hotels exist by the patronage of the public, and therefore, as a matter of right, the public demand to know whether they are entitled to that patronage. Hotels bid for family support. They ask fathers and mothers, sisters and daughters, to take up their abode there, and enter into an implied guarantee that the surroundings shall be as free from objection as it is possible for skilled management to make them. Looking at these facts, and at the important functions those institutions fill in the social economy of this great city, it is eminently fitting that they should be amenable to fair criticism. If the criticism is the offspring of good motives, and is indulged in to promote justifiable ends, then it is the work of a fearless Press, that merits, and will assuredly receive, the sanction and support of a truth-loving and well-served public. Purely in that spirit have we set on foot recent inquiries as to the management of the Baldwin, and with the best of motives we propose to set forth the results, without fear on the one hand, and without affection on the other.

The Baldwin is a large, commodious, richly furnished, well located, and high priced hotel, that presumedly bids for the highest class of customers. In it there are many decent families, and not a few of our best people. Education, culture, and the higher morals have representatives there. It has been extensively advertised abroad as a desirable stopping-place for tourists. It claims to be eminently respectable and high-toned. We believe the intentions of its proprietor are as good as he knows how to frame them, and that they are better conceived than practiced. We think he would, if he could, make a high-toned hotel in every respect, but we suspect that he has, by reason of his lack of training, experience, and high moral standing, a more than ordinarily difficult task to encounter. Baldwin's reputation for morality has long been known. Every interested reader can solve for himself the question as to whether a man with such a reputation can personally interfere in the management of a first-class hotel with advantage to himself, with profit to the house, and with the entire good will of refined and virtuous guests. If a man is notoriously fast, if he has figured in the courts most unenviably, if he is at this moment the subject of criminal indictments, then of a verity he is not the man to run a first-class hotel. If his domestic relations have recently been maintained in violation of good morals, he ought to gravely consider whether he should not keep away from his hotel all evidences of those relations. If he does not, surely his duty of chiding others for a like offense, if committed in the hotel, would be difficult, and probably almost useless. In short, the difficulties in the way of Mr. Baldwin running a first-class hotel seem to us very great, if not insuperable. We say so because he is inexperienced in the business, because he has been mixed up most unfortunately with undesirable matters, because he does not seem to know how to surround himself with fitting employees, and because he does not exercise the best discretion in regard to flouting his domestic relationships in the face of those from whom it were better that they were hidden. We say these things with regret. We recognize Mr. Baldwin's enterprise, but the spending of two millions ought not to justify evil. There have from time to time been persons in the hotel who had better have been somewhere else. McAhee, the manager, was an honest mechanic, but he certainly is not calculated to fill the bill of manager of such a hotel as the Baldwin ought to be. He is comparatively ignorant, utterly unrefined, and very frequently indulges in a free use of liquor. Mr Baldwin is often away at his Los Angeles ranch. During his absence McAhee is in full charge. That is a mistake which, while it lasts, must tend to retard the progress of the Baldwin. With the proprietor away and the manager in the condition McAhee sometimes is, it is possible to imagine how the house is running itself meanwhile. Much might be said as to the evening employment of the clerk Fassett, and of his interest therein. Criticism might truly proceed from the male to the female employees; indeed, it might proceed much further. Then the existence of the theater within the hotel is objectionable in several particulars. The inflammable material that surrounds it renders the Baldwin liable to take fire, and what a terrible calamity that would probably prove may be more easily imagined than described. The underwriters asked so enormous a premium that, we understand, the hotel is not insured. I they think the risk of losing their money is so great, what a bright consolation the fact is for the guests. When we remember the loss of life at the St. Louis Hotel, the Brooklyn Theater, etc., we feel that a word of warning can do no harm. Life is precious, and should be cared for more than money or property. Then many persons, who have either had a connection with the theater, or claimed they had, were guests of the hotel, and not always to its benefit. In one important respect, the hotel has been unfortunate through no fault of its own. The social evil of the city has largely housed itself in that locality. Ellis, Eddy, Powell and Fifth is thereabouts almost exclusively occupied by Mr. Baldwin is to be commiserated upon being so surrounded. We are sure, when he asks their aid, good citizens will unite with him in an endeavor to have the evil thing removed to less conspicuous places. With great good will, we tender Mr. Baldwin a piece of advice calculated to benefit himself, and promote the best interests of his house. Let him get a first-class hotel-keeper to do for him what he is not well fitted to do for himself. In that way the Baldwin may be made the most desirable house in the city. Failing that, we are persuaded that its future is hard likely to be a success. So much for the Baldwin. We shall soon deal the same spirit with at least two other hotels, that need to be spoken in plain terms.

MORE IRISH MARTYRS.

Lord Beaconsfield spoke a truth which factious Irishmen would do well to lay to heart, when he told them, at the recent Guildhall dinner, that they could do no good to themselves, or their country, by violent political agitation. Unmindful of this advice, however, they have kept up their seditious and short-sighted policy, until at length a number of them have been arrested and charged with "using language calculated to incite a breach of the peace," "making incendiary speeches," and conducting themselves seditiously. Nor are the culprits mere ignorant peasants; one is a well-known editor, several are said to be clergymen, and others are public speakers of more or less notoriety.

Now, we expect to hear a good deal of characteristic comment on the state of affairs from the Press of this country. Our anglophobe editors have not had a chance to vent their spleen for some time past, and we are sure that they will not miss this opportunity. Beyond a doubt we shall be told that the British Government, being about to crumble to pieces, is vainly trying to put off the evil day by resorting to tyrannic and despotic measures. The beauties of the liberty of free speech will likewise be descanted on, and the fact pointed out that that liberty exists no longer in England. Certain comparisons will be made between the repressive measures adopted against the Nihilists, and those taken by cruel England against the poor, oppressed Irish. And so on to the end of the chapter. But it will never occur to these same editors to inquire into the nature of these "seditious" speeches, and see whether the arrest of those who made them was justifiable and necessary. Perhaps they are ignorant of the fact that a free speech in Ireland means not only counsel to rebellion, but also to the shedding of innocent blood, and generally results in murder. With regard to the accused, we may be certain of two things: First—That they will receive a fair trial, though Mr. O'Connor Power seems to think they won't; second—That if found guilty they will be severely punished. In this connection it may also be well to remember that if we in San Francisco had entertained the same ideas about what true liberty of free speech is, we should not now be daily insulted by the foreign blackguard, who with impunity rains blood and fire from the lips at the Sand-lots.

THE ROSE-HAYWARD WEDDING.

The beautiful residence of Alvinza Hayward at San Mateo, one of the most exquisite spots west of the Rocky Mountains, was the scene of a most happy gathering of friends on Wednesday last, to attend the marriage of his only daughter with Mr. Andrew W. Rose, a scion of one of the oldest and most distinguished families of New Jersey. Rarely is it given to any to see the fruition of the hopes cherished in childhood; and it adds to the interest of this auspicious event that it gives form to the early dreams of the youthful pair. A special train left the depot in the city at 11 A.M. with the party, and the day, as if in sympathy with the maiden life now about to take on higher and more solemn duties, was one of perfect loveliness, the mellow sunlight flooding with unutterable tender radiance the stately trees and broad avenues and the happy garden in which had passed the unclouded childish days of the daughter of the house.

Owing to recent family afflictions the wedding was strictly private; but the house was decorated with a wealth of flowers, especially in the north parlor, where the ceremony took place. The bridal party entered the room at half-past twelve o'clock, following the Rev. Dr. Brewer, the officiating clergyman. A solemn hush as all took their places, and then the impressive services began, and the few words were spoken that bound the lives in one. Surely upon none could the gates of the unknown future open with fairer promise than on these; and with the congratulations of the personal friends who stood by cannot but mingle the respectful, heartsympathy of the people, to whom the name of Alvinza Hayward is synonym for large-hearted generosity and wealth worthily administered.

The balance of trade was $269,000,000 in our favor for last year.

THE TOWN CRIER.

"Hear the Crier!" "What the devil art thou?
"One that will play the devil, sir, with you."

"He'd a sting in his tail as long as a flail,
Which made him grow bolder and bolder."

The New York Tribune fights an old battle over again with the London Examiner about the "Trent" affair. The London paper says that Mr. Deland, in noticing this incident in his extremely wild "Life of Lincoln," just published, omits all mention of "arguments in the shape of troops and ships," which brought the American Government to reason, and the release of Mason and Slidell. Whereupon the Tribune cries out: "You're another;" and goes on to show how magnanimous we were in those "difficult and delicate negotiations," and how generously we stood in our own way rather than commit the shadow of an injustice. If this comforts the Tribune it is easily comforted, but the plain facts remain: we committed an outrage on the English flag; we cried "well done!" and praised each other for it, from Seward and Everett down to the pot-house politicians; and we crept out of the business with alacrity when we found that England would not submit to it.

The coming extradition of the Italinn criminal, Meli, suggests a way to relieve the over-burdened people of this State of the support of non producers. An agent, specially fitted for the purpose, should be sent to Europe to read up the criminal records of various countries, and select cases, for which the men might be found to match in our State Prison. Reports of the crimes committed by these men might be published in our daily press, every issue of which is carefully studied by the statesmen and jurists of Europe; and by return mail we should have a demand from England, or Germany, or France, or Italy, for the delivery of the notorious fugitive from justice. In this wny we should secure a great economy in the public expense, and the moral tone of the republic would be sensibly raised by the disappearance of a dangerous class.

There have been indications for some little time that, together with the Grant boom, some people are working very hard for a Cuban boom. The latest sensation is a thrilling story about a German named Muñoz, an American citizen, whose wife and brother, Juana and Ciprian Muñoz, have been thrown into jail at Santiago de Cuba, and he appeals to the American eagle, very naturally. The names of these Germans have such an unmistakable flavor of beer and sourkrout that one is tempted to buckle on his armor at once, and ask General Blanco what he means by it, and whether he knows that a sharp flurry with the Dons would be very acceptable in the present state of American politics. Even if this case should be settled, the supply of American Germans named Muñoz is practically unlimited.

The Russians have such a disgust against the control of the cotton market by Liverpool, that they have gone to buy up the crop of Egypt, and so make themselves independent of perfidious Albion. The decisive action is commendable, but the logic of buying from Englishmen in Egypt rather than at Liverpool reminds us of the Connecticut patriot in Revolutionary times, who so hated the very name of the mother-country that he proposed, in the Assembly, to abolish the use of the English language and adopt the Greek in its place. Roger Sherman said he was quite willing to have the change, if only the English were forced to adopt the Greek, and he could continue to use his native language; and the rest, as Pepys has it, "to laugh." Perhaps Liverpool may continue to influence the cotton market.

Gen. Grant would do well to take up once more his great original character of "The Silent Man," in which he achieved such immense success. Since he came back from his tour he has talked, and, not to put too fine a point upon it, he talks nonsense. At Galena, the other day, he told a reporter that he thought "San Francisco, Chicago and New York the three great cities of America where a stranger can go and not feel he is alone." We leave out San Francisco, which loves everyhody and will take the stranger in, hut suppose Gen. Grant were the insignificant U. S. Grant of the year 1850, could he manage to feel lonely in New York or Chicago? It is a question which has the greater command of face—Grant, when he says such things, or the man who hears them without replying "Bosh."

The New York "Star" says: "A woman inmate of an asylum for the insane at Maysville, Cal., imagining that she was imprisoned by enemies, and that pen and ink were denied her, made a statement of her cass in needlework and threw it out of the window." With a few corrections the Star's story is exact. The asylum is not at Maysville, hut on the Farallones, all of them, and the woman did not state her case in needle work, hut on eggshells, furnished her by the gulls through the window as required. The writing was a trifle illegible across the greenish-hlue of the shells, hut enough was made out to curdle ths hlood in the heefsteak for the Superintendent's dinner. The woman has since disappeared, and is thought to he avenging herself on the gulls in the Star office.

The generous devotion of one great-souled actor to the little waif left at his door has so wrought upon the feelings of the profession, notoriously a tender-hearted one, that a society is now in process of formation for the "Protection and Relief of Unexpected Infants." Tha members are to he actors and actresses exclusively; and the funds are to be made up hy a weekly contribution, proportionate to the salary of the member. The number of infants is strictly limited hy the total of names inscribed upon the roll; one infant being allowed to each name. Any waifs received in excess of this number will he not only unexpected hut unwelcome, and will be sent to the Pound. Charity has to draw the line somewhere.

It makes the T. C. feel good to think of a good time coming, when nohody shall gamble in stocks, or speculate, or take the chances on anything sxcept his hash. In those days no man will make a mistake; hut every investment, honestly made; shall hring in its honest two per cent. a month, and the T. C. will just manage to scratch along on his share of the spoil. For, of course, there is to he a spoiling of somebody for the good of everyhody else, or what is the use of reform?

"I am going to hreak up that meeting, if I leave there a corpse." These heroic words of Kearney's will he repeated hy the rising reformers of all coming time with emotions of pride and gratitude, and whatever else is pretty good; for the meeting was not broken up, hut the corpse of Kearney did leave it. It was not a pleasant corpse before, hut now it is one of the deadest poor things that ever were forgotten.

"The only good Indians are the dead ones," is the meaning of the articles in most of the papers on the quarrel with the Utes. Quite a number of dead men are dead, both red and white; but there must be a way of living with red men, after all, since they manage to do it in Canada, without these periodical battues. Most of our plans on this side the border seem to come to grief, which is odd, since we have a good many newspapers to do the governing gratis; and perhaps we might make good Indians by establishing a few Morning Calls among them, or fighting them with able editors on the spot. An editor with a belief in the "extermination of red devils" would be of priceless value for the suppression of Ouray and the rest of them.

The Boston Transcript has drawn upon itself a good deal of ridicule for comparing "old Trimountain" to Venice. A cockney must admit that there is a hen in each; but nobody can go beyond that. At the same time, it is the plain truth that Boston is the most picturesque of American cities; and the eye finds continual delight in its broken vistas and unexpected curves, in the style and dignity of its buildings, and the infinite variety of the sky line. The streets are not repetitions of each other, and one can hardly feel too thankful at escaping from the scraps of New York and Philadelphia, which make up the other cities of the Union.

If things go on in this way at Oakland, it will soon be one of the great cities. The little unpleasantness between Messrs. Dwinelle and Tyler in Judge McKee's Court was worthy of a metropolis. More cultivated kicks have rarely been exchanged between gentlemen, and the swearing on both sides was most scholarly. It seems a pity that the tedious fashion of arguing cases before Judges, at the cost of great time and much wind, can not be laid aside in favor of the brief and manly logic of the fist. This has everything to recommend it; and even the man who lost his case would have, as compensation, the enjoyment of a jolly set-to, and the pleasure of seeing his lawyer thrashed.

The Board of Education has held its last meeting, and vented a great deal of righteous indignation against one of its members, with whom, stoutly declared some of the august body, they could not sit in council and keep their self-respect. Good boys! They ought, at least, to leave us a souvenir in the shape of their photographs, or a stray lock of hair or so; and we offer our congratulations on the lucky chance which brought the wickedness of their scapegoat to light only just as the end of their official term came round. It is so pleasant to make a parade of virtue without being forced to do anything!

The dispatches report a simple way of conducting elections in Mississippi. When a negro voter approached, he had to show his ticket. If this did not please the guardians of the ballot-box, they knocked the negro down. After a few hours of this monotonous sport, pistols were drawn and fired in the air; and all the negroes ran away. The counting of the ballots was greatly facilitated hy this method of business; hut the chief advantage of it consists in the fact that it furnishes excellent material for a Solid North, and it is just barely possihle that it was invented for this end.

We regret to see that the Call has gone into a secret association with a hook-house of this city to divide profits on the sale of Webster's Dictionary. It is estimated that at least 10,000 of the subscribers to that valnable journal must bs eternnlly flahhergasted whsn they come across such a heading as "Lacustrine Disasters;" and, as a matter of fact, there has been, ever since those ominous words appeared, a remarkably active demand for the octavo Webster. It might have been thougbt that the experience with chloral hydrate would have proved sufficient, hut nature is strong.

A Solomon is wanted in the Probate Court to decide whether Mrs. Passmore was Mrs. Mason, or Mrs. Mason was Mrs. Passmore. Solomon, after all, had a plain case. It was easy enough to find the real mother hy threatening to cut the child in two; hut how to find the real husband, when there is an estate to be divided, might puzzle even the wisest of Kings. What mother's love can he compared, for intensity, to the passionate ardor with which heirs cling to the ohjsct of their affections?

The December Atlantic has an article on John Brown which gives us, as of equal importance, his personal experiences in life and his sharp criticisms of European fortifications. What good purpose can he answered hy making this enthusiast appear in a wholly ridiculous light, it is difficult to see; but no more certain way to this could have been devised than the publication of his utterly crude talk on military affairs. We might as well have been favored with his opinion on the comparative merits of the Hebrew and Greek langnages.

Col. J. J. Tobin's California history is a little mixed, and perhaps it might he well for him to read up a a little before he talks about ths Comstock and the Argonauts of '49. Most of the men who came here in those piping times are supposed to have heen wide awake, and yet not one of them ever knew, till Col. Tohin told them on Thursday, that the Comstock had brought them here. If this is all Col. Tohin knows about the Comstock, he is every way fitted to address the "intelligent public."

Under this 'ere heap of stones
Lie the remains of Mary Jones;
Her name was Smith, it wasn't Jones,
But Jones was put to rhyme with stones.

A sickness of a very peculiar and distressing nature has broken out lately, and now rages violently, in the Western Addition. The cause of this singular malady is supposed to he the very high-class comedy played hy the young gentlemen of that district; and ths symptoms, which are very painful to the heholder, are extraordinary contortions of the face, with convulsive rolling of the eyes, and a curious tendency to relaxation in the muscles of the knee.

A German gentleman, of Sohngen, has recently heen allowed to change his name of Julius Jackass for one more pleasantly suggestive. This deserves notice, because it points the difference hetween a German jackass and an American one; the latter never perceiving that he could he in any way improved. We give the palm to the late Jnlins J.

There is a great deal of noise made over that doleful voice from the Toombs, of Georgia, but, for the life of us, we can't see why. If a man is spoiling for a fight he has a right to say so, and those that want to let him alone can do it.

C. P. R. R.

Overland Ticket Office: Ferry Landing, foot of Market street.--Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879, and until further notice, Boats will leave ains

SAN FRANCISCO:

7.00 A. M. (daily), Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing — Connecting with Trains for Napa (Stages for Sonoma), Calistoga (the Geysers), and Sacramento. Connecting at Davis (Sundays excepted) for Woodland and Knight's Landing, and at Woodland for Williams and Willows.
(Arrive San Francisco 3:10 P.M.)

7.00 A.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) and via Livermore arriving at Tracy at 11:30 A. M. and connecting with Atlantic Express. Connects at Niles with Train arriving at San Jose at 10:15 A.M.
(Returning, train from Tracy arrives at 6:05 P.M.)

8.00 A.M. (daily), Atlantic Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland (Or.), Colfax, Reno (Virginia City), Palisade (Eureka), Ogden and Omaha. Connects at Galt with train arriving at Ione at 3:40 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 5:15 P.M.)

Sunday Excursion Tickets to San Pablo and Martinez at Reduced Rates.

10.00 A.M. (daily) via Oakland Ferry, Local Passenger Train to Haywards and Niles.
(Arrive San Francisco 4:05 P.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) San Jose Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry and Niles), stopping at all Way Stations. Arrives at San Jose at 5:20 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) Northern Railway Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to San Pablo, Martinez and Antioch.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily) Arizona Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Lathrop (and Stockton), Merced, Madera, Visalia, Sumner, Mojave, Newhall (San Buenaventura, and Santa Barbara), Los Angeles, "Santa Monica," Wilmington, Santa Ana (San Diego), Colton and Yuma (Colorado River Steamers), connecting direct with Daily Trains of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Arizona for Maricopa (Daily Stages for Phœnix and Prescott), and for Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma), and end of Track (Daily Stages for Florence and Tucson).

"Sleeping Cars" between Oakland, Los Angeles and Yuma.
(Arrive San Francisco 12:35 P.M.)

4.00 P. M. (Sundays excepted) Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing), connecting with trains for Calistoga, (the Geysers), Woodland, Knight's Landing and Sacramento; and at Sacramento with Passenger Train, leaving at 9:35 P.M. for Truckee, Reno, Carson and Virginia.
"Sleeping Cars" between Vallejo and Carson.
(Arrive San Francisco 11:10 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (Sundays excepted) Sacramento Steamer (from Wash'n St. Wharf), for Benicia and Landings on the Sacramento River.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:00 P.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily), Through Third Class and Accommodation Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) connecting at Lathrop with Train arriving at Los Angeles on second day at 11:55 A.M. (Arrive San Francisco 9:05 A.M.

4.30 P.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to Haywards, Niles and Livermore. (Arrive San Francisco 8:35 A.M.)

5.00 P.M. (daily) Overland Emigrant Train (via Oakland Ferry and Northern Railway) to Ogden, Omaha and East.

Public conveyance for Mills Seminary connects at Seminary Park Station with all trains, Sundays excepted.

FERRIES AND LOCAL TRAINS

From "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

TO OAKLAND.		TO ALAMEDA.	TO FERNSIDE.	TO EAST OAKLAND.	TO NILES.	TO BERKELEY	TO DELAWARE STREET.
A. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.
B 6.10	12.30	7.00	B7.00	B 0.10	7.00	7.30	B 6.10
7.00	1.00	8.00	B9.00	7.30	10.00	8.30	8.00
7.30	1.30	9.00	B10.00	8.30	P. M.	9.30	10.00
8.00	2.00	10.00	P. M.	9.30	3.00	10.30	12.00
8.30	3.00	11.00	B5.00	10.30	4.30	11.30	P. M.
9.00	3.30	12.00	.....	11.30		P. M.	1.30
9.30	4.00	P. M.	.....	P. M.		1.00	3.30
10.00	4.30	1.30	.....	12.30		3.00	4.30
10.30	5.00	2.00	.....	1.00		4.00	5.30
11.00	5.30	*3.00	.....	3.30		5.00	B 6.30
11.30	6.00	4.00	.....	4.30		6.00	.....
12.00	6.30	5.00	.....	5.30		B 6.30	.....
.....	7.00	6.00	.....	6.30
.....	8.10	B*7.00	.....	7.00
.....	9.20	B*8.10	.....	8.10	A. M.		Change Cars
.....	10.30	*1030	.....	9.20	7.00		at
.....	B11.45	B*1145	.....	10.30	P. M.		West Oakland
.....	.....	.....	.....	B11.45	3.00

TO SAN JOSE.

To "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

FROM DELAWARE STREET.	FROM BERKELEY.	FROM NILES	FROM EAST OAKLAND.	FROM FERNSIDE.	FROM ALAMEDA.	FROM OAKLAND. (Broadway.)
A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	P. M.
B 5.40	B 5.40	7.00	B 5.10	B8.00	B*5.00	B 5.20	12.20
B 6.30	B 6.30	8.00	B 5.50	B10.00	B*5.40	B 6.00	12 50
8.00	7.30	P. M.	6.40	B11.00	*6.25	6.50	1.20
10.00	8.30	2.35	7.40	P. M.	7.00	7.20	1.50
12.00	9.30	4.30	8.40	B6.00	8.03	7.50	2.50
P. M.	10.30	.....	9.40	.....	9.00	8.25	3.20
1.30	11.30		10.40	.....	10.03	8.50	3.50
3.30	P. M.		11.40	.....	11.03	9.20	4.20
4.30	1.00	FROM SAN JOSE.	P. M.	.....	12.00	9.50	4.50
5.30	3.00		12.40	.....	P. M.	10.20	5.20
B 6.30	4.00		1.25	.....	1.00	10.50	5.50
.....	5.00		2.40	.....	3.00	11.20	6.25
.....	6.00		4.40	.....	*3.20	11.50	6.50
			5.40	.....	4.00	.....	8.00
	A. M.		6.40	.....	5.00	.....	9.10
Change Cars at	7.10		7.50	.....	6.03	.....	10.20
	P. M.		9.00	.....	B*7.20	.....	.....
West Oaklnd.	1.30		10.10	.....	B*8.30	.....	.....
.....	.....		.....	.....	*10.00	.....	.....

B—Sundays excepted.

*Alameda Passengers change cars at Oakland.

Creek Route.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO—Daily—B5:40, B6:30, 7.20, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15 A.M. 12:15, 1:15, 2:25, 3:15, 4:15, 5:15, 6.15 P.M.

FROM OAKLAND—Daily—B5:30, B6:20, 7:10, 8:05, 9:05, 10:05, 11:05 A. M. 12:05, 1:05, 2:15, 3:05, 4:05, 5:05, 6:05 P.M. —Sundays excepted.

"Official Schedule Time" furnished by RANDOLPH & Co., Jewelers, 101 and 103 Montgomery St., S. F.

T. H. GOODMAN, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt.
A. N. TOWNE, General Superintendent.

SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD

Commencing Sunday, Nov. 16th, 1879, and until further notice, Boats and Trains will leave San Francisco (Washington-st. Wharf) as follows:

3.00 P. M. daily (Sundays included), Steamer "James M. Donahue" (Washington Street Wharf), connecting with Mail and Express Train at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg, Cloverdale, and way stations. Making stage connections at Lakeville for Sonoma; at Geyserville for Skaggs' Springs; at Cloverdale for Ukiah, Lakeport, Mendocino City, Highland Springs, Bartlett Springs, Soda Bay and the Geysers.

☞ Connections made at Fulton on following morning for Korbel's, Guerneville and the Redwoods.
(Arrive at San Francisco, week days, 10:10 A.M.; Sundays, 11 A.M.

Freight received from 7 a.m. till 2.30 p. m., daily (except Sundays).

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Sunday Excursion Trips are discontinued until further notice.

Ticket Office: Washington st. Wharf.

A. HUGHES, Gen. Manager. JAS. M. DONAHUE, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt.

ROEDERER CHAMPAGNE.

Notice.--The Trade and the Public are informed that we receive the genuine LOUIS ROEDERER CARTE BLANCAE CHAMPAGNE, direct from Mr. Louis Roederer, Reims, over his signature and Consular Invoice. Each case is marked upon the side, "Macondray & Co., San Francisco," and each bottle hears the lahel, "Macondray & Co., Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast."
MACONDRAY & CO.,
Oct. 11. Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Natural beauty surpasses anything which can be imparted by artificial means. PHOSPHATE SOAP gives health to the skin simply by removing impurities and eradicating the poisons which give rise to skin diseases.

Not only for daily use on the face and hands, but for bathing the entire body, there is nothing equal to PHOSPHATE SOAP. It is a thorcugh disinfectant and removes offensive odors of every kind.

☞ Ask your Druggist for it.

NORTHERN DIVISION SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

Commencing Friday, Nov. 21st, 1879, and until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave San Francisco, from Passenger Depot on Townsend street, hetween Third and Fourth streets, as follows:

8.30 A.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations. ☞ Stages for Pescadero (via San Mateo) connect with this train only.

10.30 A.M. daily for San Jose, Gilroy, Hollister, Tres Pinos, Pajaro, Salinas, Soledad and all Way Stations. ☞ At PAJARO, the Santa Cruz R. R. connects with this train for Aptos, Soquel and Santa Cruz. ☞ At SALINAS the M. & S. V. R. R. connects with this train for Monterey. ☞ STAGE connections made with this train. (Pescadero Stages via San Mateo excepted.)

3.30 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose, Gilroy, and principal Way Stations.

4.30 P.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations.

6.30 P.M.—daily, for Menlo Park and Way Stations.

☞ The Extra Sunday Trains to San Jose and Way Stations have been discontinued for the winter season.

Second-Class Fare.

Between San Francisco and San Jose.....$1.00.

On Freight Trains only, leaving San Francisco at 4:00 A.M., San Jose at 8:30 P.M. (daily, Sundays excepted).

Excursion Tickets at Reduced Rates

To San Jose and intermediate points sold on Saturdays, and Sunday mornings, good for return until following Monday inclusive.

Also, EXCURSION TICKETS to Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz and Monterey, sold on Saturdays only—good for return until the following Monday inclusive.

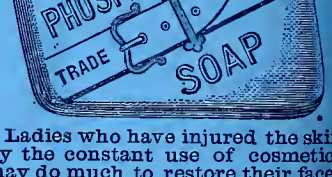
☞ Principal Ticket Office—Passenger Depot, Townsend street. Branch Ticket Office—No. 2 New Montgomery street, Palace Hotel.

A. C. BASSETT, Supt. H. R. JUDAH, A. P. & T. A.

SOUTHERN DIVISIONS.

Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879,

☞ Passengers for points on the Southern Divisions of the road will take the cars of the Central Pacific Railroad via OAKLAND, leaving SAN FRANCISCO via Ferry Landing, Market street, at 4:00 P.M. daily (Arizona Express Train), and making close connection at GOSHEN for Sumner, Mojave, Los Angeles, Wilmington, Anaheim, Colton, Colorado River, YUMA, Maricopa and Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma). Nov. 22.



Ladies who have injured the skin by the constant use of cosmetics may do much to restore their faces to that beauty which nature alone can give by constantly using PHOSPHATE SOAP.

For chapped hands the constant use of PHOSPHATE SOAP will be recommended by all who give it one fair trial.

If you want a nice article of Toilet Soap and something that is beneficial to the skin, buy PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Ladies who wish to make the skin look beautiful and natural should use PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Manufactured by "Standard Soap Co.," 204 Sacramento St., San Francisco.

$25 to $5000 Judiciously invested in Wall St. lays the foundation for fortunes every week, and pays immense profits by the New Capitalization System of operating in Stocks. Full explanation on application to ADAMS, BROWN & Co., Bankers, 28 Broad St., N. Y.

NOTICE.

For the very best photographs go to BRADLEY & RULOFSON'S, in an Elevator, 429 Montgomery street. Oct. 29.

NOTABILIA.

THE PEDDLER'S SONG.

...as white as driven snow;
...s black as e'er was crow;
...as sweet as damask roses;
... for faces and for noses;
...-bracelet, necklace, amber;
...me for a lady's chamber;
Gold quoips and stomachers,
For my lads to give their dears;
Pins and poking-sticks of steel.
What maids lack from head to heel:
Come buy of me, come; come buy, come buy,
Buy, lads, or else your lasses cry.

WILLIAM SHAKSPEARE.

...is remarkable that Paganini, the unequaled violinist of the world, ...miserly to an extreme degree. The spending of three or four cents ...nch for an article would make him unhappy; and even on his death-...e higgled over the cost of a pigeon ordered by the physician, because ...re were a good many bones in a pigeon." Yet even Paganini, close-...l as he was, would have been glad to procure such unequaled under-...ing and neck-gear as those furnished hy Carmauy & Crosett, 25 K...ny street. The best-dressed gentlemen of the day supply themselves at ...is store.

...e Snblime Porte has called upon Sir Austen Henry Layard to ex-... the approaching movement of the British squadron to Turkish wa-..., and it is said that the English Minister found it extremely easy to ...a plain and prompt explanation. This we may well believe; but it ... easier to give a reason for the simultaneous and continual movement ...dies aud gentlemen towards Swain's Restaurant, 213 Sutter street. Th... are hungry, and that is the best, the most elegant and most com-...hle place in town for a breakfast or a dinner.

...nos, in Switzerland, is one of the high and dry health resorts in that ...tiful country, heing at least 5,000 feet above the sea-level and screened ...ery side from the humid winds, so that even the dreaded Foehu has ...fect on its climate. Consumptives throng to this place from every pa... of Europe, and yet many of them go hut to die. If, instead of los-...me and means and hope in this vain effort, they would take to using ...P. J. Cassin's Cordial Balm of Old Rye Whisky and Pure Rock C...y, there would he a different record.

...e Favorite Palace, rented hy Ismail Pasha, the ex-Khedive, has ...st everything that could make a residence delightful; exquisite ..., stately halls and chambers, grand stairways and colonnades, ...ds most heautifully laid out with flowers and shruhhery and shady ...s; preserves of game; the presence of the glorious Bay of Naples; ...irs and entire seclusion. Only one thing is wanting—that which ... house in San Francisco can have—the matchless Montanya Union ..., to give peace and comfort in the kitchen.

...e was n(ot) a Careful Man."—Jollihoy: "Well, old hoy, I'm ... to see you looking so down. What's the matter?" Friend; "Oh, ...ost a cousin of my wife's." Jollihoy: "Dear! dear! Why, it was ... the other day I met you, you had lost your mother-in-law's sister. ...t a careless man you are!"—Punch.

...prevalent and so fatal has Consumption become, that it is now ...where dreaded as the great scourge of humanity: and yet, in their ...ative stages, all Pulmonary Complaints may he readily relieved and ...olled hy resorting promptly to Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, a curative ...ally adapted to soothe and strengthen the Bronchial tubes, allay in-...mation, and loosen and remove all obstructions. It is a certain remedy ... asthma, and also for Coughs and Colds. Sold hy Crane & Brigham, San Francisco.

...ats, it is said, were first manufactured in London hy Spaniards some-...e about 1511, but there is a little uncertainty as to the precise date. ...thing, however, is heyond cavil; since the Anglo-Saxon head was ...beautified hy this ornament, there has been no more remarkable ar-...n the adaptation of forms to the natural poise and carriage of the ...than Herrmann, the Hatter, of 336 Kearny street, and a study of ...atalogue will satisfy any one of this fact.

...e future Queen of Spain was dressed in pink satin trimmed with ...and real flowers, and wore a magnificent diadem of precious stones, ...e audience of renunciation of her right of succession to the Austrian ...n. Her splendidly clear complexion, remarkable even among the ...ties of the Viennese Court, is maintained in its unchanging freshness ...e use of Madame Rachel's Enamel Bloom, the only perfectly harm-...osmatic known.

...r sinking spells, fits, dizziness, palpitation and low spirits, rely on ... Bitters. Read advertisement.

It is one of the satisfactions of living in these days of rapid communication that, even at this distance from the world's center, we may enjoy the gossip of the clubs, and look in upon the halls of London, and even study, at Bradley & Rulofson's superb gallery, the dreamy and pensive beauty of the reigning belles of the season. The matchless style in which these photographs are finished is a continual delight to the eye.

Now that it has been shown how especially fitted the American vines are to resist the ravages of the phylloxera, the future opened before the vineyards of California is positively unbounded; and among all the vintages which have already made their fame in the market, Landsberger's Gerke Wine stands without a rival. The extension given to the production of this exquisite table wine this year is unprecedented.

One feature of the Paris correspondence, published in our daily Press, must have impressed every reader. While much is said of the American Colony in the wonderful city, and often not to its credit, it is never remarked that those from California find it necessary to buy Paris hats. The reason they do not is plain: they provide themselves at White's, 614 Commercial street, and need no more.

The Root of Irish Troubles. However it may be with the crop of 'taters, the crop of agi-tators never seems to fail.—Punch.

The classic ground of San Francisco, for the exhilarating sea-bath, is at the foot of Hyde street, North Beach, at the Neptune and Mermaid Baths, where the water shoals conveniently, open to the grand sweep of the inrolling tide, and sheltered by the curving shore. Instruction in swimming is given by Prof. Mohor.

Housekeepers are advised to call upon Hartshorn & McPhun, 112 Fourth street, near Mission, for all kinds of carpets, oil-cloths, Linoleum mattiugs, etc.; also, manufacturers of store and house window shades, plain or ornamented. Give them a call for first-class work, at the lowest prices in the city.

One of the most frequent causes of sudden death in our State is heart disease, induced too often hy neglect of symptoms which call for treatment by Napa Soda, the most natural and unfailing regulator of the system and cooler of the blood.

Price's Carvers.—Send a set East to your friends for Christmas. No. 415 Kearny street. Grinding and Repairing.

AVERILL MIXED PAINT,

The Best, Most Durable and Beautiful of All Paints.

PREPARED READY FOR USE,

AND OF ANY SHADE OR COLOR DESIRED.

O. S. ORRICK, General Agent,

Sept. 27. 329 Market st., Opposite Front.

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

City and County of San Francisco, September 9, 1879.

Redemption of San Francisco Bonds,

ISSUE OF 1858.

Holders of Bonds of the City and County of San Francisco, issued under "An Act to provide for the Funding aud Payment of the outstanding Unfunded Claims against the City of San Francisco, and against the County of San Francisco, as they existed prior to the first day of July, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six," approved April 20, 1858, are hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the above named Bonds will receive sealed proposals for the surrender of any portion thereof, at the City and County Treasurer's office, New City Hall, San Francisco, until 12 o'clock noon,

Wednesday, December 31st, 1879.

The amount to be applied to the Redemption of these Bonds is more or less, One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Dollars ($180,000).

Bidders will state at what rate they will surrender their Bonds, for payment in United States gold coin.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent. of the Bonds offered, or their equivalent in coin, or certified checks, and should the Bonds tendered not be presented within ten days after the award, the next lowest bid will be accepted.

No proposal above par will be entertained.

Proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for surrender of Bonds, issue of 1858."

A. J. BRYANT, Mayor,
COLIN M. BOYD, Auditor,
CHAS. HUBERT, Treasurer,
Sept. 13. Commissioners of the Funded Debt.

COKE CHEAPEST FUEL.

Reduction in Price: Wholesale Price, 50 cents per barrel; Retail Price, 60 cents per barrel, at the works of the SAN FRANCISCO GAS-LIGHT COMPANY, Howard and First streets, and foot of Second st. Jan. 12.

SCHWAB & BREESE,

New Art Gallery, 624 Market street, opposite Palace Hotel. Oil Paintings, Engravings, Wax and Artists' Materials.
☞ ADMISSION FREE. Sept. 13.

SNOW & CO.,

No. 20 Post street, opposite Mechanics' Institute, Importers and Manufacturers of Pictures, Frames, Mouldings, and Artist's Materials. Established 1849. Sept. 20.

W Morris. MORRIS & KENNEDY, J. F. Kennedy.

Importers and Dealers in Moldings, Frames, Engravings, Chromos, Lithographs, Decalcomanie, Wax and Artists' Materials, 21 Post street, nearly opposite Masonic Temple, San Francisco. Feb. 4.

MADAME WALDO COHEN,

Finishing Lessons--Piano. $3 Per Lesson.

Sept. 20. 507 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

THE BOYER EMBEZZLEMENT CASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20, 1879.

Editor "News Letter:" I ask your indulgence, for the purpose of making the record of the Boyer embezzlement case clear. I had the man Boyer arrested and held in $10,000 bonds, for embezzling 10,000 shares of stock, which bad been placed in his bands as collateral security for a loan of $500, which he was to negotiate for me. This loan never was made, and he, for his own reasons, refused to return ths stock, though often requested so to do. Learning tbat be had disposed of the stock, (and this he acknowledged on the witness stand), I caused his arrest. Tbe examination occupied the afternoon of Friday, ths 31st ultimo, and resulted in the dismissal of the case, simply upon the tecbnicality that a matter of $74 50, which I bad received on account of considerable services done at the request of Boyer, was claimed by his attorneys to be a payment from bim to me upon the collateral note. Had it not been for this, tbe case was clearly proved. Ths following morning I made a tender of the amount, and demanded tbe note and stock. Boyer's lawyers, Messrs. Lloyd, Newlands and Woods, at once addressed me a letter, to the following effect:

"We are instructed by Mr. Z. P. Boyer to make a compromise with you in regard to the Ajo stock, by accepting $74 50 and surrendering the stock. If you will bring tbe money, etc., we will turn over to you the 10,000 shares of Ajo stock."

This being the property withheld from me by Z. P. Boyer, I accepted the "compromise," and have yet to discover that I am in any way compromised by either foregoing anotber complaint, or by having endeavored to enforce the one that was dismissed. Z. P. Boyer is entitled, under the circumstances, to this explanation, and a revisw of the svidence be gave in his own behalf in the case must always be to him a most interesting remembrance. I had fully intended to have allowed this self-styled "Col." Boyer to drift along on the surface of this community, charitably thinking that his "lesson in Court" would at least suggest to him that a still tongue would best serve his personal interests. He, bowever, bas chosen to publicly denounce the suit I brought against him as blackmail, and myself as a blackmailer, so I am fully justified in stating the stubborn facts in the case.

I bave an interesting story in reserve for this so-called "Peunsylvania Capitalist;" but it will not decay if kept cool for a short time longer. Some years ago I had an experience with Alfred Paraf, and in this Boyer business I find its counterpart. It is about time that Eastern "manipulators" sbould be brought to a proper realization of the fact that people in California have some rights that they are bound to respect. Paraf is learning his lesson behind the bars of a Cbilean bastile.

VERNON SEAMAN.

SIMON L. JONES.

This gentleman is the senior partner in the well-known Auction House of S. L. Jones & Co. For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Jones has been an active, untiring auctioneer, honest and upright in all his dealings, and eminently successful in business, notwithstanding the many and varied ups and downs of his remarkable life. Mr. Jones takes his departure for Australia on Monday next per steamer City of Sydney. We have known Mr. Jones intimately all these years, and no man of our acquaintance has so won upon the public regard as he for honest, upright dealings—a pattern for all young men to follow. Mr. Jones leaves his son in charge of his auction firm, and we have no douht that he will walk in his honored father's footsteps and retain the patronage of the public. We have only to wish Mr. Jones a prosperous journey and a speedy return to his post of duty.

Grand Sale of Thoroughbred Stock.—Mr. James A. Clayton will sell by auction, on Tuesday next, at the farm of C. B. Polhemus, Esq., on the Stockton Rancho, near San Jose, a magnificent collection of pure-bred stock, horses, mares, cattle, bulls, and Essex pigs. Many of the horses are of Niagara hlood, trotters of unsurpassed bottom and speed. Some have done their half mile in 1:12 min.; others their mile in 2:50 min. Besides the Niagara, the Blackhawk, Ethan Allen, Morgan and Messenger hlood are all represented iu this list of nearly fifty superh animals. There are also several unsurpassed farm horses. The cattle are thoroughbreds and imported Jerseys, and the bulls, all young, are Durhams, Devons, Holstein and Alderneys. Besides the other choice animals, there is a matchless Ayrshire heifer. The sale will begin at 10 A.M. The 8:30 train from the city will stop at Polhemus Station, as will the narrow-guage train from San Francisco at 9 A.M. Afternoon return train will stop for passengers.

What Oakland is Doing.—It is hut a few years since that the entire people of the city of Oakland held a grand juhilee over their success in obtaining the terminus of the Central Pacific Railroad. This was done hy conveying to the railroad company some 500 acres of the Oakland water front, and hy ceding most of the remaining water front property to the Oakland Water Front Company. The railroad company has mors than performed all its pledges, as has the Water Front Company, hut now the city seeks to recover this property from these companies, and confiscate not only these lands, but the millions that have heen expended thereon in improvements. A more shameless attempt to repudiate a solemn contract was never made hy any people. We think Oakland will sooner or later learn that "honesty is the hest policy."

A novel enterprise has been taken in hand hy Mr. M. J. Flavin, proprietor of the Great IXL store on Kearny street, a man so gifted with business tact that whatever he touches is sure to succeed. Mr. Flavin has leased the Mechanics' Pavilion for twenty days, from the 10th Decemher, and will open it as a monster hazaar for the sale of holiday goods. Counters on the main floor will he covered with every kind of plate and fancy goods to the value of near $100,000. There will he a band of music in attendance every afternoon and evening, and the galleries will he opened as promenades. The idea is a grand one, and that it will be grandly carried out Mr. Flavin's career makes certain.

Cumberland Lode, Arizona.—Work still progresses in tbe Cumberland Mine, the outlook being extremely hright. Captain Daniel Hanlon, Superintendent of the Cumherland Mine, has shipped 200 pounds of rich ore, which will he received at the company's office, 417 California street, some time next week. This ore is from Shafts 1 and 2, and, although extremely rich, is only presented as an average sample of the mine. These mines are creating wide-spread attsntion.

There is no such cutter and fitter in the city as the one employed hy J. M. Litchfield & Co., 415 Montgomery street, the well-known and long estahlished merchant tailors, equally popular for the high quality of their goods and for first-class work.

Artistic Novelties, manufactured from California quartz, at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

Thanksgiving Day.—Thursday, November 27th, will he observed usual in St. John's Presbyterian Church, Post street, when the Rev. D Scott will deliver a discourse suited to the day and the occasion, and which the people are cordially invited. Good music thrown in.

St. John's Presbyterian Church, Post street, hetween Mason a Taylor. Rev. Dr. Scott, Pastor, will preach Sunday morning at o'clock; also at 7½ P. M. Sunday School and Bible Classes at 9½ A. Prayer and Praise Service at 6½ P. M.

HIGHEST STOCK QUOTATIONS
For the Week Ending Nov. 21st, 1879.

COMPILED BY GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO., 230 MONTGOMERY STREET.

NAME OF MINE.	SAT.	MONDAY.		TUESDAY.		WEDNESDY		THORSDAY.		FRIDAY
		A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.
Argenta.....	1	—	1	—	⅞	—	⅞	—	⅞	—
Andes	1	1	1	1⅛	1	—	—	1⅛	1	—
Alpha	13½	13½	—	13	—	12⅞	13	12⅛	12	11⅞
Alta.....	5	4⅝	4⅞	4⅞	—	4	—	4⅝	—	—
Bullion	5⅝	6⅛	6	5⅞	—	5⅝	—	6⅛	5⅝	—
Belcher.....	3⅝	3⅝	3⅛	3⅛	—	3⅜	—	3⅛	5⅛	3⅛
Best & Belcher..	19⅛	19	18	13⅜	18½	18	18⅞	20	—	18⅛
Benton	3½	3⅛	—	3	3⅛	3⅛	3⅛	3⅜	3⅛	—
Bodie.....	12⅛	—	12⅝	—	13⅛	—	12⅞	—	12⅛	—
Boston Con	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅜	12⅞
Cons Imperial.. ..	⅜	⅜	—	⅜	—	⅜	—	—	—	—
Crown Point.....	3⅜	3⅛	—	3⅜	—	3	3	3⅛	—	3
Chollar	7⅜	7⅜	7	7	7	6⅞	7⅛	7½	—	7⅜
California.....	5⅜	4⅜	—	5	5⅛	5	5⅜	5⅛	—	—
Con. Virginia....	5⅛	5⅛	5⅛	5⅛	5⅛	5⅜	5⅛	5⅜	—	5⅜
*Caledonia	1⅜	1⅜	—	1⅜	1⅜	1⅛	1⅜	1⅜	—	—
Confidence.....	10½	—	—	18	10	9⅛	—	11	—	—
Con Pacific.....	6⅛	—	6	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Eureka Con	25⅛	—	22⅞	—	—	—	20⅛	—	18	18
Exchequer	4½	4⅜	4⅛	4	4	—	4⅛	4½	—	—
Fairfax	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Gould & Curry..	10⅛	10	9½	9⅝	9⅞	9⅜	10⅛	10½	—	—
Gila	⅜	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Grand Prize.....	2⅛	—	2	—	2	—	—	—	2	—
Hale & Norcross.	17⅛	16⅞	—	15	14⅜	14	14⅛	15⅜	14⅛	14
Juba	3	2⅞	2⅜	2⅛	2⅞	2⅝	2⅜	2⅝	2⅝	2½
Justice	2⅛	2⅝	2⅛	2⅜	—	2⅛	—	2⅛	2⅛	—
Jackson.....	—	—	3⅛	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Kentuck	—	—	—	3⅞	—	—	—	—	—	—
Leopard	⅛	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Lady Wash'n	1	1	—	⅞	—	—	—	⅞	—	—
Leviathan	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
*Mexican	31	29	26⅞	28⅛	23⅜	28⅛	—	31⅛	29⅛	28⅛
Modoc	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Manbattan	—	—	—	—	2⅛	—	2⅞	—	—	—
Nortbern Belle ..	6	—	6⅛	—	6⅜	—	6	—	6⅞	6⅛
Ophir.....	29⅜	28⅛	—	27⅜	29⅛	28⅛	29	31⅛	29⅛	29
Overman	8⅛	8⅜	8⅛	8⅛	—	8⅛	—	8⅛	—	—
Potosi	5⅜	4⅜	4⅛	4⅞	4⅜	4⅜	—	4⅜	—	4⅛
Raymond & Ely.	1⅜	—	1⅛	—	1⅛	—	1⅛	—	—	—
*Savage	14⅛	13⅜	12⅜	12⅜	12⅛	12⅛	12⅜	13⅛	12⅛	12
*Sierra Nevada ..	51⅛	46⅞	44	46⅛	46	47⅛	47⅛	50	46	47⅛
*Silver Hill.....	1⅜	1⅜	1⅛	1⅜	—	1⅜	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛	—
*Seg Belcher	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	15	—	—
*Solid Silver	¼	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Succor	—	—	—	—	—	¼	—	—	—	—
Silver King, Ara.	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	5½	—
Silv King Soutb.	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
Tip-Top.....	1⅜	—	1⅜	—	1⅝	—	1½	—	1⅛	—
Union Con.....	62⅜	58	—	60	—	61	—	66⅜	63⅛	62
*Utab	18	16⅛	16⅝	17	—	17	—	17⅛	—	17
*Yellow Jacket..	16⅛	15⅜	15	15⅛	15⅛	15⅛	15⅛	16⅛	—	15⅜

Assessments are now due on the Stocks above marked thus *

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The Company's steamers will sail as follows at 12 CITY OF TOKIO, Dec. 27th, March 20th—CITY OF PEKINO, Feb. 7th, 1st—for YOKOHAMA and HONGKONG.

CHINA, November 28th, for PANAMA and NEW YORK, calling at ACAPUL Tickets to and from Europe hy any line for sale at the lowest rates; also to vana and all West India ports.

CITY OF SYDNEY, Nov. 24tb, at 12 o'clock M., or on arrival of the Englisb ma for HONOLULU, AUCKLAND and SYDNEY. $10 additional is charged for sage in Upper Saloon.

DAKOTA, November 29th, for VICTORIA, PORT TOWNSEND, SEATT and TACOMA, connecting at TACOMA with Nortbern Pacific Railroad for PO LAND, Oregou. Tickets must be purchased before 11 A.M. on day of sailing. Wbarf Office. For freight or passage apply at the office, cor. First and Bran streets. [Nov. 22.] WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agent

PACIFIC COAST STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

Steamers of this Company will sail from Broadway Wh for PORTLAND, Oregon), every 5 days, direct, and for LOS ANGELES, SAN BARBARA, SANTA CRUZ, SAN DIEGO, SAN LUIS OBISPO and other NOR ERN and SOUTHERN COAST PORTS, leaving SAN FRANCISCO about ev tbird day.

For Day and Hour of Sailing, see the Company's Advertisement in tbe San F cisco Daily Papers.

Ticket Office, No. 214 Montgomery Street, near Pine.

GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents,
March 15. No. 10 Market stree

FOR PORTLAND AND ASTORIA, OREGON.

The Oregon Steamship Company and Pacific Coast Ste ship Company will dispatch every five days, for the above ports, one of t new A1 Iron Steamships, viz.: OREGON, GEORGE W. ELDER, and STATE CALIFORNIA.

Sailing Days

Oct. 4, 9, 14, 19, 24, and 29. | Nov. 3, 8, 13, 18, 23, and
At 10 o'clock A. M.

Connecting at Portland, Oregou, with Steamers and Railroads and their connec Stage Lines for all points in Oregon, Washington and Idaho Territories, Br Columhia and Alaska.

K. VAN OTERENDORP, Agent O. S. S. Co.,
No 210 Battery street, San Francisc
GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents P. C. S. S Co.,
Oct 4. No. 10 Market street, San Francisc

"BIZ."

The weather for the past week has been perfectly glorious. A bright, [illegible], and a mild, delicious atmosphere. Business continues active. Interior demand for general merchandise quite active at the late rise values. The general impression among wholesale grocery jobbers is that prices of staple goods are bound to go higher, chiefly by reason of the short and rapidly diminishing stock, not only here, but in supply ports from whence we derive needed supplies. We propose to run down the list and give a bird's-eye view of the situation. In Calcutta, by reason of the flood of waters, the Jute crop has been cut short, and prices of the raw material, as well as of Hessian piece goods and Burlap Grain Bags, have advanced very much. This makes a great difference to us, as jobbers now have to pay a big advance for their Grain Sacks. Freights from Calcutta have also jumped up from $13 to $18 per ton. Last sales were of 22x36 Bags for May and June delivery, 10c.

Coffee crops are said to be below the average, while stocks of all kinds, both here, in New York and elsewhere, are said to be smaller than for many years past. In fact, our market is bare of Coffee in first hands, and will be until the new Central American crop arrives here in January next. In the interim we get some Rio Coffee from New York; price 15, 16 to 18c. We quote Central American 18@21c.; O. G. Java, 26c.

Cordage has been advanced one cent per pound during the current month, by reason of the great advance of Hemp in Manila.

Coals do not advance materially, by reason of free receipts from British Columbia mines, Seattle and other Pacific Coast mines. The California Mt. Diablo mines furnish Steam Coals at $4@4 50 for Screened and Screened, respectively. The Seattle Mine is under a contract to the Central Pacific for 5,000 tons or more per month, at or about $5 50, while the Nanaimo Mine is under contract to the Pacific Mail Company at low figure for the year. Thus it is that these two large consumers are out of the market. The Gas Company draws its supply mainly from the Australian colonies, at $6 50@$7 ₱ ton. The Wellington Mine North supplies a good portion of the house wants at $8@10, while the Coos Bay Mine furnishes a moderate quantity at $6@7. We have, then, all supply of Anthracite, Lehigh, etc., in store, selling for less than cost, while Cumberland, for smith's use, rules above all others.

Building Materials.—Lumber of all kinds has been advanced from $5 to $6 ₱ M. during the month. This has been done by a combination of dealers and producers, while some half dozen mills upon Puget Sound have been subsidized, and will remain idle during the year, thus bringing supplies down to about our consumptive requirements. Lumber exports during the past year have been light. The Burrard Inlet mills have long been idle. Our stocks of Lumber, both here and at the mills, is excessive.

Canned Goods.—Salmon and Canned Fruits generally all maintain the late advance, with an active trade requirement for most articles in the line, notably Eastern Oysters, that are sold here in quantities. Columbia River 1-lb Salmon are held strong at $1 35@$1 45 per doz., according to brand. As for our choice Canned Fruits, such as Cherries, Peaches, Plums, etc., the shipping demand is large and steadily increasing.

Metals.—Stocks of nearly all kinds have passed out of first hands into those of the jobbers, who, by reason of diminished supplies, are enabled to keep up the late rise in prices for nearly all staple articles in the line—such as Pig Iron, Tin Plate, Bar Iron, Steel, Zinc, Sydney Block Tin, etc., the latter now held at 25c from second hands.

Oils of all kinds are the turn dearer. The whaling fleet, thus far, brings us 12,728 bbls. Polar Oils, worth 35c@40c. Coal Oils are also higher.

Quicksilver.—The market has collapsed, prices within a month having risen from 34½c up to 50c, and now down to 38c, the market closing dull and quiet.

Rice.—The stock of Hawaiian Table is light; price, 6c@6½c. No. 1 China do, 6c. China Mixed is in demand at $4 65 per 100 lbs; No. 2 China, 5¾c.

Spirits.—Our Native California Brandies, notably those of H. Nagus, is fast displacing the French product. It being really the pure juice of the grape distilled, and being aged, is pronounced by all experts par excellence.

Spices of all kinds are running light in stock, and of course command good prices—Cloves, 50c; Pepper, 16c to 18c; Nutmegs, 95c.

Sugar.—Stocks here are very meagre, and holders firm at the late rise, 14c for White, 12½c for Golden. Messrs. C. Adolphe Low & Co. and associates propose to incorporate a new Sugar Refinery, capital $300,000, and hope to be able to have the same in working order within the next six months. We have been shown samples of California Beet Sugar during the week; it was of good quality White Granulated, and held at 12½@13. It is probable that our two Beet Sugaries across the Bay will turn out this season at least 5,000 bbls. of Sugar of different grades. A Paris cablegram, dated November 17th, has this to say about the French beet crop: "The beet crop is even worse than was anticipated, and the price of sugar has sensibly risen. Many Refineries have come to a standstill, and nearly all are likely to terminate their operations by the end of December. The quality of the crop is inferior, and the quantity deficient.

Salt.—Stocks are light and the market firm for all good to choice Liverpool stoved.

Tobacco.—Stocks of all manufactured liberal, and holders firm in their demands. Prices not yet advanced to correspond with the Eastern rise.

Teas.—Stocks are light, and prices of all Japan Greens are the turn dearer. We quote Paper Teas at 35@40c.

Wines.—Our native product is steadily gaining friends the world over, chiefly owing to its purity. Purchasers should patronize well known owners and dealers when seeking to buy large or small lots. On the 15th instant S. L. Jones & Co., auctioneers, sold at Sonoma 120,000 galls. Buena Vista Vinicultural Society Wines, White and Red, the former at 24@40c ₱ gall., all in single puncheons, for the naked liquor. The contributor brought some 6c or more ₱ gall. The Red was not so eagerly sought for, but sold at 12½@17½c ₱ gall. naked, casks extra.

Freights and Charters.—Two or more ships have been chartered this week for Wheat to Cork, U. K., at 6s., to the Continent 6s. 6d. We have in port, disengaged, less than 20,000 tons. Freights generally dull.

Domestic Produce.—We have had rather a quiet market during the week, No. 1 Milling selling at $2 05@2 07½; good No. 2 Shipping has been bought freely at $2, which may be called the established rate of the day. Up to this date, for the season we have exported 300,000 tons of Breadstuff, and our available stock of Wheat in the State is estimated at 313,000 tons. Our total receipts of Wheat from July 1st to November 19th, Flour included, 7,500,000 ctls.; same time last year, 6,700,000 ctls. Our exports of Flour and Wheat for the past two seasons compare thus:

	Flour, Bbls.	Wheat, Ctls.
1879	175,922	5,640,600
1878	208,341	5,289,150

We have at this date on the European berth a fleet of 27 vessels, of 37,562 registered tons. These vessels are having good dispatch. At date our farmers are not disposed to sell Wheat freely. They first want more rain to secure crops next season.

Barley—The market is langnid at 95c to $1 for Brewing; Feed, 65 to 85c ₱ ctl. for Coast, and Bay Chevalier is scarce and wanted at $1 40@$1 70 ₱ ctl.

Oats.—The demand is light at $1 25@$1 35 ₱ ctl.

Corn.—Supply is free and the demand good at one cent per pound.

Rye.—Small sales for export at $1 20 ₱ ctl.

Alfalfa Seed.—A sale of 40 tons may be noted for Hamburg, via New York by rail; price, 7c.

Beans.—The demand has lessened and prices ease off; stock large.

Wool.—The stock of all kinds about 2,000,000 lbs. The range of price, 15@30c for all grades.

Tallow.—Supply free and prices low, say 5½@7½ for crude and refined.

Hides.—The market is active, at 20@21c for Dry; Salted, 8@9c.

Leather.—Stocks of all kinds light and prices hardening.

GEO. STREET, Agent News Letter, 30 Cornhill, E. C., London.

SAVORY and MOORE'S BEST FOOD FOR INFANTS.

NOTICE.—The Best Food for Infants, prepared by Savory & Moore, and supplied to the Royal Nurseries of England, Russia, etc., contains the highest amount of nourishment in the most digestible and convenient form.

IT IS THE MOST PERFECT substitute for healthy Mother's Milk, possessing all the elements necessary for the health, growth and vigor of the child.

MALTED ON LIEBIG'S principle, it has only the sugar natural to milk, and is consequently free from the artificial and injurious sweetness of other foods.

THOROUGHLY COOKED, it is always ready for use, saving Mothers and Nurses much time and trouble—tins, 1s., 2s. 5s., and 10s. each.

SAVORY & MOORE, 143, New Bond street, London, and Chemists, etc., everywhere. July 19.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Finest and Cheapest Meat-flavoring Stock for Soups, Made Dishes and Sauces. March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT

Is a success and boon for which Nations should feel grateful. See "Medical Press," "Lancet," "British Medical Journal," etc.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Caution—Genuine only with fac-simile of Baron Liebig's Signature, in blue ink, across Label. "Consumption in England increased tenfold in ten years." March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

To be had of all Store-keepers, Grocers and Chemists. Sole Agents for the United States (wholesale only), C. David & Co., 43, Mark Lane, London, England. March 2.

CHARLES LANGLEY & CO.,

Wholesale Druggists,

Importers of Pure English, French and German Drugs,

PATENT MEDICINES, Etc.,

100 and 102 FRONT STREET,

SAN FRANCISCO. [Sept. 6.

CUNARD LINE.

British and North American Royal Mail Steamships between NEW YORK and LIVERPOOL, calling at QUEENSTOWN, sailing from New York EVERY WEDNESDAY.

ALGERIA.....November 26th.
SCYTHIA.....December 3d.
ABYSSINIA.....December 10th.
BOTHNIA.....December 17th.
OALLIA.....December 24th.
ALGERIA.....December 31st.
SCYTHIA.....January 7th, 1880.
ABYSSINIA.....January 14th, 1880.

Passage can be secured and all information given on application to WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Nov. 22. 218 California st.

OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL STEAMSHIP CO.,

For Japan and China, leave wharf, corner First and Braunan streets, at noon, for YOKOHAMA AND HONOKONO, connecting at Yokohama with Steamers for Shanghai.

OAELIC.....December 0th, February 28th.
BELGIC.....January 17th, April 10th.

Cabin Plans on exhibition and Passage Tickets for sale at No. 2 New Montgomery street.

For Freight, apply to GEORGE H. RICE, Freight Agent, at the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Wharf, or No. 218 California street.

T. H. GOODMAN, General Passenger Agent.

LELAND STANFORD, President. Nov. 1.

CRADLE, ALTAR, AND TOMB.

CRADLE.

BOYLE—In this city, November 15th, to the wife of Wm. P. Boyle, a son.
COHEN—In this city, November 13th, to the wife of B. Cohen, a son.
MCCLELEN—In this city, November 10th, to the wife of John McClelen, a son.
HIRSCHFELDER—In this city, November 7th, to the wife of C. Hirschfelder, a son.
KOHLSERG—In this city, November 15th, to the wife of M. P. Kohlberg, a son.
PARKHURST—In this city, November 18th, to the wife of H. Parkhurst, a daughter.
SCHELD—In this city, November 16th, to the wife of H. W. Scheld, a daughter.
SMITH—In this city, November 16th, to the wife of Wm. Smith, Jr., a daugbter.

ALTAR.

CROPLEY-ASEL—In Milpitas, November 5th, Charles H. Cropley to Henrietta Abel.
LOUDON-WILSON—In this city, November 17th, James Loudon to Mary Wilson.
MCDONALD-MCLEAN—In this city, November 4th, D. McDonald to Mary A. McLeau.
REAGEN-FOGERTY—In this city, November 12th, Daniel Reagen to Maria Fogerty.

TOMB

ANGELSECK—In this city, November 17th, Johann D. Angelbeck, aged 46 years.
BIGGS—In this city, November 18th, Abel R. Bigga, aged 61 years.
BRYANT—In this city, November 14th, Mrs. Kate Bryant, aged 47 years.
CARL—In this city, November 18th, Peter James Carl, aged 39 years.
HARDIMAN—In this city, November 17th, Patrick Hardiman, aged 54 years.
KENNA—In this city, November 15th, Josepb Kenna, aged 39 years.
MAOILTON—In this city, November 15th, Carrie M. Magilton, aged 21 years.
MCNEIL—In this city, November 16th, Archibald McNeil, aged 35 years.
WREN—In this city, November 13th, Bartholomew I. Wren, aged 45 years.

GOSSIP ABOUT MEN, WOMEN AND AMUSEMENTS.

PARIS, October 19, 1879.

Again, as in the Imperial days, it is a delight to hail one of the neat little Victorias, and at forty sous an hour roll out the Champs Elysees to the Bois, and there mingle with the crowd of beauty, fashion, intellect and note. See, there is Sarah Bernhardt, in her low, handsome carriage, her mettlesome horses prancing past in an eye-wink. Even in that short space of time we feel the influence of her profound, dark eyes. Fate wills that the carriage which follows Sarah's should contain the Earl and Countess of Dudley. Ah, what a witching beauty is that of Lady Dudley! I venture to say that in a hundred thousand women you could not find her equal. Mrs. Langtry's beauty is always challenged at first, and it is only after seeing her repeatedly that one gets under the fascination of her turquoise blue eyes. But I never heard other than one opinion concerning the Countess of Dudley. Exquisitely exquisite at any time, in any costume, whether as now, swathed in crape for her father's loss, or when, in nobby afternoon get-up, she drives her white ponies in Hyde Park, or when, arrayed in court train, with the queen of Spain's finest jewels on her neck and arms and head, she kisses the hand of royalty. Beauty allied to high position; this is something, indeed, is it not? So prudent, too; always by the earl's side—never anyone else's; no doubt a most virtuous lady, as she is a most beautiful one. Whence comes the sting, then, on seeing this couple? Simply that, if a man may not marry his grandmother, no more should a woman marry her grandfather.

But how goes the adage? Better be an old man's darling than a young man's slave. And a darling she is of the thrice pecunious nobleman, an admirable gentleman, by the way; the greatest patron of musical art and artists the British nobility hoasts. He only opens his letters once a fortnight, and the story goes that he has just purchased a magnificent dinner service in old Dresden for the sum of $60,000, which on his fortnightly opening of letters he found had been previously offered him for fifteen thousand dollars.

Why, bless my life, there's Cora Pearl! On horseback as usual, the lithe creature, her light hand holding the reins of her thoroughbred as easily and familiarly as other women handle a lace handkerchief. She is almost as slight as Sarah Bernhardt, and the perfect figure you see in fashion-plates, with the round, slim waist, the swelling hust, the sloping shoulders. The announcement of her death, with long obituary notice, appeared a night or two ago in an evening paper, and while everybody was reading it in the cafes and elsewhere, Cora herself, dressed in a stunning latest, was applauding Jeanne Granier in "Le Petit Duc" at the Renaissance. She is a wondrous work of art, so far as her face goes. She is enameled to such a point that when she laughs it must make beautiful crackle of her. Her hair is canary color, and always elaborately dressed, generally with a long girlish curl or two streamers down her back. She retains her magnificent teeth, her finest feature, still even as it was in her youth. It is a pity that, for morality's sake, such a woman could not write her memoirs. A truthful recital of her life would not fail to show how false and unsatisfactory must he the strass brilliancy of the existence of Paris cocotte.

Paris is Paris again this year. Two spectacular pieces occupy the boards of the Porte St. Martin and the Chatelet respectively; one is the old story of "Cinderella," presented with a luxury of detail, a brilliancy of costume, and a magnificence of scenery which must be seen to be believed; and the other is the black venus, a fictitious record of the voyage of a French explorer in Central Africa. The whole front of the theater—that is, the lobbies and foyer—is turned into a museum for the study of the geography of Central Africa. Portraits of Stanley and Livingstone hang in conspicuous places; extracts from their works are used as elucidation of various pictures, many of them showing the cruelties of the slave trade; tools, implements of war, articles for domestic use, elephant's tusks, beautifully polished, and the thousand and one strange objects employed by this almost unknown people, are arrauged with care and skillfully ticketed with information. All this enhances marvelously the interest of the play. And on the stage what marvels are presented! The Nile, with its low banks and strange vegetation is presented, not as a painted picture, but as a "set;" and how true it is to nature the least traveled person has but to consult the great photographs to realize. On this Nile come steaming the dahakieh of tourists, meeting a heavily-laden, quaintly-rigged slaver, whose inhumanly-packed crew the former quickly rescue. And then the crossing of the desert! The real camels, the elephants, the giraffes, the sacred hulls, the zebras, the donkeys, in endless number.—The Republic.

Hint for the Winter (in advance).—How to keep your rooms warm: Keep your grates coal'd.—Punch.

An elegant assortment of Gold Watches and Chains at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

E. M. Fry. FRY, WATTLES & CO., J. B. Wattles.
Stock Brokers,
303 Montgomery Street, S. F., Under the Nevada Bank.
☞ Money to loan on active accounts. Nov. 8.

GEO. C. HICKOX. E. C. MCFARLANE.
GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO.,
Commission Stock Brokers (San Francisco Stock Exchange, No. 230 Montgomery street, San Francisco. May 4.

J. A. RUOKIN,
Member S. F. Stock and Exchange Board, 423 California street. STOCKS Bought and Sold on Commission. Liberal Advances made on Active Accounts. Oct. 26.

E. E. EYRE.] Members S. F. Stock and Exchange Board. [J. H. JONES.
EYRE & JONES,
Stock Brokers,
320 PINE STREET, SAN FRANCISCO. [Sept. 27.

ANOREW BAIRO,
Negotiator of Loans and Commeroial Paper,
Broker in Local and State Securities,
No. 312 California Street.....San Francisco.
[P. O. Box 1,208.] July 19.

D. V. B. Henarie. Edward Martin.
E. MARTIN & CO.,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Wines and Liquors,
Proprietors of Miller's Extra Old Bourbon and J. F. Cutter Extra Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies.
April 5. 408 Front Street, San Francisco.

HIBERNIA BREWERY,
Howard Street, Between Eighth and Ninth.
Dec. 7.] M. NUNAN, Proprietor.

TABER, HARKER & CO.,
IMPORTERS AND WHOLESALE GROCERS,
108 and 110 California St., S. F.
[April 19.]

Henry B. Williams. Henry B. Williams.
WILLIAMS, BLANCHARO & CO.,
SHIPPING AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
No. 218 California st., S. F. [July 27.

NEWTON BOOTH, C. T. WHEELER, Sacramento. | J. T. GLOVER, W. W. DODGE, S. F.
W. W. OODGE & CO.
Wholesale Grocers, corner Front and Clay streets, San Francisco. April 1.

CASTLE BROTHERS,
ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1850.
Importers of Teas and East India Goods, Nos. 213 and 215 Front street, San Francisco. Jan. 13.

J. M. Neville. REMOVAL. Geo. H. Bryant.
BAGS, TENTS AND HOSE.
NEVILLE & CO.,
No.'s 31 and 33 California Street, S. E. corner of Davis,
SAN FRANCISCO. [Aug. 2.

L. H. Newton. NEWTON BROTHERS & CO., M. Newton.
Importers and wholesale dealers in Teas, Foreign Goods and Groceries, 204 and 206 California street, San Francisco, Cal May 25.

WM. F. SMITH, M.O.,
Oculist and Aurist, 313 Bush Street.
Aug. 16.] Office Hours, from 12 M. to 3 P.M.

J. C. MERRILL & CO.,
Shipping and Commission Merchants, Agents for the Sandwich Islands Packet Lines, 204 California street, S. F. April 13.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Gold Medal, Paris, 1878.
Sold by all Stationers. Sole Agent for the United States MR. HENRY HOE, 91 John street, N. Y. Jan. 5.

$777 a year and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address June 7.] P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

DOGS.
G. Everill, the Celebrated Canine Doctor from London, can be consulted for treatment or purchase. Fee, $1. Address, G. EVERILL, 528 California street.
☞ Sure cure for worms, distemper, canker and mange sent free by mail on receipt of $1. Oct. 18.

O. HICKS & CO.,
Bookbinders and Blank Book Manufacturers,
NO. 543 CLAY STREET.
☞ Blank Books Ruled, Printed and Bound to Order. [Nov. 8.

NOTICE.

At a meeting of the Local Board of Directors of the LIVERPOOL AND LONDON AND GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY, held October 11th, 1870, MR. GEORGE MEL was appointed Resident Secretary pro tem of the Pacific department of said Company.
Oct. 18. WM. F. BABCOCK, Chairman.

NEW BOOKS.

The Coming Crisis. By One of the Many. Dedicated to the Workingmen of California. A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco.

The preface to this little book must have cost the gifted and anonymous author throes,

——such as press
The life from out young hearts,

as we tremble while we quote it: "This little volume is intended as a book of suggestions, bearing upon the safety and happiness of individuals and nations in the turn of the coming crisis. Some of the most enlightened nations may fall in the effort to step forward. The social, religious and political world will go up or down in the approaching conflict. If any thoughts or suggestions in these pages will ward off any danger, or in the least degree ameliorate the condition of down-trodden and suffering humanity, my most sanguine hopes will be realized. C. M. S." We may as well relieve our down-trodden humanity from cherishing any unfounded hopes. C. M. S. is not the expected Moses. His time has been too much occupied with deep and awful themes to admit of his making acquaintance with such trifles as grammar and the first rules of composition; and, as his knowledge of the social, religious and political world is the very flimsiest and most chaotic we have been forced to encounter in print, we cannot look upon his book as anything but a small futility.

Letters from a Cat. Published by her Mistress for the Benefit of all Cats and the Amusement of Little Children. By H. H. With Seventeen Illustrations, by Addie Ledyard. Billings, Harbourne & Co., San Francisco. Roberts Brothers, Boston.

An entertaining book for young children. Pussy is the pet of a little girl named Helen (Mrs. Hunt herself), who has gone on a visit to some friends; and her favorite writes an account of all that happens to her in the absence of her natural protector. The language and the ideas are such as might be expected from an intelligent kitten, brought up in a good family, and just old enough to be interested in the beautiful whiskers of the neighbor's cat, Cæsar.

In the Princeton Review for November, President Porter, of Yale, deals with Prof. Huxley's flippant book on Hume. Mr. Goldwin Smith, in treating of "University Questions in England," has a few plain words on the athletic mania of the day: "Rowing a shell or walking against time is almost as little connected with anything useful as trundling a hoop. . . . Drill and rifle practice are almost as good a recreation as any one; they are not exhausting like athletics; they are likely to give the bookish student just the bracing and the tone he needs." Ex-Pres't Hopkins criticises, with what result may be guessed, Tyndall's theory of the origin of the cosmos. Mr. Porter, of Chicago, in an article bristling with figures, assures us of the progress the country is making, and invites us pathetically enough, to have "deeper faith in the future of the Republic. Dr. Atwater takes up the cudgel for Calvinism against Dr. Iron, from whom he accuses of making weak concessions to Profs. Clifford and Huxley. Prof. W. G. Sumner demolishes the bimettalist in a paper that may be called conclusive, so long as it is not answered, for it seems to be quite difficult to get at any accepted truth in finance as in politics. The points of contact between Science and Revelation are set forth by Principal Dawson, of Montreal, in a style of which the following extract gives a good example: "If it is true that the seventh or Sabbath day of creation still continues, and was intended to be a day of rest for the Creator and the intelligent creature man, we find in this a substantial reason for the place of the Sabbath in the Decalogue." The strongest and most interesting paper of this number is the last one, by President M. Cosh, on Spencer's "Data of Ethics." Temperately, but with most vigorous logic, he shows the wide gaps in the reasoning of this volume, and how far it is from justifying its title.

Appleton's, for November, has a slight sketch of Antwerp, distorted by the theological bias of the writer, whose fitness for his task may be estimated when it is known that he seriously treats the Middle Ages as dark. A notice of Otway is very well done, and the responsibility for his miserable end justly put, where it belongs, with bimself. Besant & Rice's novel is continued, as well as "Vivian, the Beauty." The other selections are George Saintesbury's admirable article on Lever and Gautier, more especially the latter, which is written at Matthew Arnold; the Malakan, a kind of Russian Presbyterians; Mattbew Browne's review of the Edinburgh Reviewers, "A Walk in a Wood," by Anthony Trollope, and a partial translation of Mme. de Remusats, "Memoires," in which the First Consul appears anything but heroic. The editor breaks a lance with Mr. Froude, on the subject of aristocracy, but nobody is hurt; and all the hook reviews are, as usual, well doue.

The Portfolio, for October, gives us the last of Mr. Lang's Oxford Papers, a rapid summary of the influences at work in the life of the University city; the fourth of Mr. Hamerton's Notes on Aesthetics, which continues the subject of the Love and Hatred of tbe Artificial; a sketch of Franz Defregger, the Tyrolese painter, who belongs, however, to the school of Piloty; and a few pregnant words by Mr. Hamerton on the painting of Albert Dürer's "Melencolia," which is the chief illustration of the number. The others are: "The Visit," by Defregger; "Iffley Mill," and "Floods at Oxford."

The November number of the Coast Review notices, among otber matters of importance to the insurance world, the withdrawal of the New Zealand Company from fire risks in this State; and calls attention to what it denominates underground insurance on the part of two or tbree entirely nominal companies. The Review is excellently conducted, and all business men should consult its pages.

The Western Lancet for November.—This number of the "Western Lancet" is greatly superior to its predecessors. It affords an excellent resumé of the progress of Medicine and Surgery, and will be read with profit by the practitioners of this State.

Pit District Pity.—Willum: "Heered aboot Peggy Wilson?" Betty: "Naw." Willum: "Ben an' fell 500 feet down the mine and killed herself." Betty: "Well, aw've known that garl sinst iver she wor a child, an' though she be allus careless, aw niver heered on her a-dewing such a thing afore." Willum: "Perhaps thus 'ull be a caution tew her."—Fun.

Sterling Silverware.—A large assortment of elegant designs at Ranolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Recorded in the City and County of San Francisco, California, for the Week ending November 14th.

Compiled from the Records of the Commercial Agency, 401 California St., S.F.

Saturday, November 8th.

GRANTOR AND GRANTEE.	DESCRIPTION.	PRICE
Leon Mejasson to L de Bourmont	S Washington, 180 e Montg, 25x65	$ 1
E Cordier to same	Same	2
Jas L Hicks to Hannah Cooney	S Union, 91.8 e Montgomery, e 22:11 x 68.9; s Filbert, 137:6 w Montgomery, w 27:6x137:6, etc	5
Geo W Frank to Morritz Mayblum	S Clay, 110 e Battery, e 30x69:9	10
Ann M Powers to John Ryan	E Laguna, 137:6 n Bush, n 22:6x80, subject to Mortgage $600	1,600
L Enricht et al to Andrew Downey	Ne Union and Jones, e 20x77:6	1,025
Chas W Garland to Robt Clifford	Portion lot 5, blk 156 S S F ll'd and R R Association	250
Margt T Gallagher to E E Eyre	Nw Sac and Leavenworth, 55x137:6, w Kimball Place, 100 n Sac, n 37:6x78:11	750
Caroline Hawes to Saml J Tattle	Sw 0th, 250 nw Bryant, nw 25, sw 185, se 22, ne 85, se 3, no 100 to com; aw Bore, 229 nw Bryant, nw 46x85	5,000
P Merle to Eugene Bolese	E Stockton, 55 n Filbert, n 27:6x87:6, being in 50-vara 457	1
M Reese by Exrs to M Rosenbaum	N California, 161:10 w Battery, 20x70	26,750

Monday, November 10th.

Gustav Marcus to L Thompson	E Valencia, 210 n 18th, 25x80, subject to Mortgage of $1,200	$2,200
J M Ward to Savs and Ln Society	N Folsom and 2d, nw 75x50; also nw of Howard, 91:8 ne Main, 21:11x137:6	7,700
Jno Best to Edwd Naughton	W Leavenworth, 77:6 s Vallejo, s 20 x 137:6, being in 50-v 1198	3,000
Philip Cohen to Rosanna Maloney	Se Howard, 200 sw 12th, 25x137:0	1,000
Jno Roach to Mary Bennett	S Bryant, 215 ne 4th, ne 50, se 80 etc being 50-v 169	5
Bd Tide Ld Comrs to same	Same	22
Andrew D Smith to Wm E Carlile	N California, 75 w Leavenworth, w 32:6 x 75, being in 50-v 1185	1
Wm E Carlile to Mary E Carlile	N 22d, 50 e Harrison, e 25x100, n 22d, 25 w Alabama, w 50x100 M B 141	Gift
Hib Savs and Ln Soc to E Maher	S Lombard, 80 e Mason, e 67x85	5,000

Tuesday, November 11th.

D E Martin to F Bohnenberg	Lot 27, blk 307, Case Tract	$ 350
Ssvs and Ln Socy to Ed F Jones	N M st, 125 e Guerrero, e 50x114, being in H A blk 13	850
Elizth Chapman to J C Wagner	N Pacific, 62 w Lsrkin, 48x67:8	1,500
Jno N Billings to J Sullivan	Ne cor 50-v 1478, 26x80	400
Msrgaret P Yreston to J Gillespie	W Van Ness, 48 s Fell, 24x82:9; also nw Wildey and Fillmore, n 25x81:3	5
J I Bornemann to C B Duvenick	N 18th, 125 w Eureka, 30x75	390
G M Connell to Leo Bagsla	Se 25th and Alabama, s 50x100	2,300
F W Tracy to C D Postel	Se Pacific and Taylor, s 80x46	6,000
Ann Leddy to Michl Raggett	E Nebraska, 300 s Sierra, s 33:4x100	400
F Cunningham to A B Stout	E 12th av, 185:6 s S st, s 240:5, etc, O L 1113 and propty in Alameda Co	250
L J Allen to Wm L Walker	Lots 3 and 4, blk 7, Misn & 30th St Hd.	700
Margt Gillin to M McLaughlin	N Fell, 137:6 e Laguna, e 27:6x120	5
R Mehrtens to H C Lange	Nw 22d and Dolores, n 26, etc	6,100

Wednesday, November 12th.

J H Miller to W H Miller	E Selina Place, 117:6 n California, 20x58	$ 5
E Lane to E J Bowen	W Stockton, 137:6 n California, n 30.6, w 128, s 53, e S, n 4:2 etc, to com, subject to Mortg $2,850	10
J S Alemany to Col Notre Dame	E Dolores, 110 s 16th, s 295, e 113:2, n 1, ne 187 etc to comencement	13,000
Caroline C Stevens to Jno Hunt Jr	Sw Berry and 5th, sw 91:8x275	750
John Hamill to Rose Hamill	S Dorland 184 w Guerrero, 50x115	Gift
Thos H Morrison to Nathl Curry	W Howard, 165 s 20th, 50x245	10,500
Emannel Berri to Michl Reese	Nw Stockton and Pacific, w 137:6x137:6 being 50-v 84	630
O A Williams to Chas N Willisms	Lots 1518, 1550, 1522, Gift Map 2, lots 9 to 12, block 519 as per msp in liber 742 of Deeds page 390, and also property in other counties	5
Danl Jones to Andrew Helmer	N Fern ave, 59 e Van Ness, e 25x50	1,700
Lee We to Lee Doon	N Commercial, 68:9 e Dupont, e 34:4x50; 50-v 53 subject to Mortg $7,000	1,600
Wm H Miller to Jno H Miller	W Selina Place, 110 n California, n 27:6 58, being in 50-v 131	5

Thursday, November 13th.

J C Flood to Jas L Flood	W Taylor, 67:6 n O'Farrell, n 50, w 193:6, s 75, e 56, n 25, e 137:6 to com	$ 10
Odd Fel Cem to J L Megannon	Lot 13, Rebekah Grove See Plat 5	504
A Krogh to Harris Solomon	N Valparaiso, 183:3 w Mason, 23x60, subj to mortg $1,400	2,925
F E Lntz to Danl R McNeill	E Noe, 57 s 19th, s 57x105	400
Hugh Whittell to S Mead	E Front, 68:9 s Sacramento, s 22:9x97:10	26,850
D Goldstein to Lena Jones	E Mission, 160 s 17th, s 50x122:6	Gift
B Duffy to J B Mahoney	N 24th, 80 e Diamond, 60x114—Harper's Addition 185	1,200
Damaso Viadero to J McCormick	N McAllister, 142 w Bachanan, 37x137:6	4,000
E R Harris to F S Spring	Block 2 University Mound Survey, lot 211 Precita Valley, except lot 50x80; also lot 2, Harris Map 2	3,600
Nelson Chase to same	Same	3,600

Friday, November 14th.

J M Lord to Owen Hackett	Sw 2d, 81-3 se Brannan, 25x80	$2,500
T Tanfaran to J A Robinson	160 acres, com 424 feet, s of Stake, at sw cor lot surveyed for Merritt & Co.	1
M F S Hopkins to C P Huntington	N Bush, 102:6 e Battery, e 45x91:8; also sundry lots throughout the city; also property in Sacramento	1
J Furness to W B Bradbury	E Church, 208 s 22d, s 52x125	4,000
Michsel O'Brien to Marie Postel	N 9th ave, 75 e K st, 25x100 sub lot 218, blk 163, Central Park Hd	300
Savs and Ln Soc to Alex Murdoch	Nw Howard, 91:8 ne Main, ne 22:11x137:6..B snd W 709	4,200
E P Williams to E P Heald	S Powell Ave, 125 e Mission, 25x100	2,500
A J Morrell to Henrietta M Cox	Nw Brannan, 150 ne 2d, ne 25x80—100-v 107, subj to mortg $3,400	5
City and County S F to Jas Thom.	E Alabama, 208 n 23d, n 26x100	....
Wm S Cook to W J Gunn	S Pine, 231:3 w Webster, 25x127:6	10

PRISONERS OF CONTENT, FAREWELL!

Hollow and vast-starred skies are o'er us,
Bare to their blue, profoundest hight;
Waves and moonlight melt before us,
Into the heart of the lonely night.

Row, young oarsman; row, young oarsman!
See how the diamonds drip from the oar!
What of the shore and friends? Young oarsman,
Never row us again to shore.

See how shadow and silver mingle
Here on the wonderful wide, bare sea;
And shall we sigh for the blinking ingle—
Sigh for the old-known chamber—we?

Are we fain of the old smiles tender?
The happy passion, the pure repose?
True, we sigh; but would we surrender
Sighs like ours for smiles like those?

Row, young oarsman, far out yonder,
Into the crypt by the night we float;
Fair, faint moon-flames wash and wander,
Wash and wander about our boat!

Not a fetter is here to bind us,
Love and memory loose their spell;
Friends of the home we have left behind us,
Prisoners of content, farewell!

Row, young oarsman, far out yonder,
Over the moonlight's breathing breast;
Rest not. Give us no pause to ponder;
All things we can endure, but rest!

Row, young oarsman; row, young oarsman;
See how the diamonds drip from the oar;
What of the shore and friends? Young oarsman,
Never row us again to shore!

[From Mr. W. H. Mallock's "Dialogue on Human Happiness," in the Nineteenth Century for September. We have supplied a title to it from the poem itself.]

BAKING POWDERS—ALUM IN BREAD.

There is a lively contention going on at present in this city, and, to all appearance, more or less all over the States, concerning the goodness or otherwise of powders to be used as substitutes for yeast, in rendering bread porous and light. And, as there is so much vim thrown into the puffing of certain baking powders just now, the conclusion is that the consumption is large and the profits in proportion. It then can hardly help being both interesting and profitable to the public to know clearly what these different baking powders are made of, and which of them are dangerous to health, and which are not, for some of them undoubtedly are injurious.

Among the many attempts to make light bread without yeast, one which for a time was thought likely to become of general use was made under the process patented a few years ago by the late Dr. Danglish and Mr. Bousfield, and consisted in preparing the dough with common water, highly charged with carbonic acid. The bread was good, but the flour did not absorb water enough to render the business profitable.

Next come the dry and portable baking powders, which, to be harmless, should have no deposit in the bottom of the glass when a teaspoonful has been dissolved in a glass of water, and left to stand for a short time. This test is certain, for if alum has been used in making the powder, there will be a very considerable deposit of white matter. But if, on being dissolved, there is no deposit, or so little as to be of no account, then the powder is safe for general use, and has been prepared either with tartaric acid, or possibly citric acid. Of course, those acids are far dearer than ammonia alum. On account of its extreme cheapness, this ammonia alum has been and is used by many makers of yeast powders, to the great injury of individual health—especially of babes and young persons; in fact, the amount of injury done can hardly be estimated, when we reflect that it is in the villages and country places, where malt yeast cannot be obtained easily, that the housekeeper has daily recourse to the baking powder, and that of the kind made with alum, being induced to buy it on account of comparative cheapness and lying testimonials to its harmlessness.

The chemical formula of ammonia alum is

So it will be observed that it consists of ammonia, alumina, and quite a quantity of sulphuric acid (oil of vitriol). Now, granting that neither the ammonia nor the sulphuric acid are very injurious in the form in which they exist in the bread, yet alumina—that which forms the white deposit when a teaspoonful of the powder is mixed in a glass of water—is dangerous to all in some degree, but most highly dangerous, not to say certainly injurious to babes and young growing persons. Those who use alum-powders in bread-making, really are helping on the Darwinian theory of "Natural Selection," so admirably expressed by Herbert Spencer, when he described the results of development as "the survival of the fittest." This alumina, when set free into the bread, as it is when the sulphuric acid leaves it to go over to the soda and set the carbonic acid free, is in the finest state of division, and gets rapidly mixed through the dough. Baking does not alter it. When taken into the stomach it is utterly indigestible; but, what is worse, it has a direct tendency to adhere to the digestive surfaces of the stomach and of the intestines, deranging them, causing constipation, and laying the certain foundation for dyspepsia and its long train of suffering so well known by millions in the United States. But, again, alum is largely used by the bakers of this city in the ordinary way of bread-making, and is sold under the name of Hards. A few weeks ago, the passer-by might have seen lying about on the sidewalks before the door of the London Tea Warehouse, Third street, near Jessie, quite a number of moderate sized sheets of paper with the word Hards printed in good-sized letters—of course, a hint to rascally bakers, but the meaning of it mere Greek to the uninitiated.

Of alum, Dr. Danglish (a first-class authority) writes, as "considered in relation to its action on the digestive organs," its effect on the system is that of a topical astringent on the surface of the alimentary canal, producing constipation and deranging the process of absorption. But its action in neutralizing the efficacy of the digestive solvents is by far the most important and unquestionable. The very purpose for which it is used by the baker is the prevention of those early stages of solution, which spoil the color and lightness of the bread while it is being prepared, and which it does most effectually; but it does more than needed, for, while it prevents solution at a time when it is not desirable, it also continues its effects when taken into the stomach, and the consequence is that a large portion of the gluten and other valuable constituents of the flour are never properly dissolved, but pass through the alimentary canal without affording any nourishment whatever." All the while it is the alumina which does the mischief.

THE MONUMENT TO GENERAL COLTON.

This magnificent addition to the many costly tombs, which make our Laurel Hill at once a consecrated spot and a home of art, is to be begun at once, though it is estimated that eighteen months will be needed for its completion. The designs are made by Mrs. Colton herself, and the material selected is Ravaccioni marble. The monument is in the form of a chapel in the Corinthian style, and will be placed in the center of a wide platform, approached by eight marble steps. A buttress on each side of the chapel supports a bronze tripod. The bronze doors are to be cast at Munich. The marble floor will be a mosaic of six different colors, and in the center is to be a Greek Cross. The dome is supported by four pilasters of gray Scotch granite with Italian marble capitals. Three Columbaria are on each side of this chamber; and the whole is lighted by a beautiful memorial window, presented by Mrs. Cook. The base of the exterior is of California granite, on which rest the pilasters, ten in number, that support the cornice, from which rises a marble balustrade. The monogram D. D. C., on a panel above the entrance, is inclosed with lilies and forget me-nots. The name, Colton, is cut in high relief on the frieze; and a shell-shaped finial, two feet in diameter, and ornamented with poppies, surmounts the pediment. The work, which is to be 20 feet square and 35 feet high, will cost about $50,000.

Grant's Favorite Topic.—About nine out of ten of the brief speeches made by Gen. Grant since his return from abroad have contained the singular announcement that none of the European Powers are hankering after a war with the United States. This, the General says, he knows from his own observation, for he has seen that the crowned heads of the Old World and their slavish subjects at length appreciate to the full the might, majesty, and dominion of this glorious nation. This may be all very true, and we hope it is, but where is the necessity for so constantly reminding us of it? Have we only just begun to be a powerful nation, or are we to be flattered to learn, on such high authority, that Europe does not utterly despise us? One would imagine that we lived in constant dread of being gobbled up by some foreign Power to see the way in which the General keeps patting the American Eagle on the head and telling it not to be afraid.

The Right Man in the Right Place.—The Evening Post, of last Tuesday, published a long array of names of people who are willing to serve the State under our incoming Governor. In the list, we notice that B. H. Monson is named for the position of Superintendent of State Printing. We have known Mr. Monson for over thirty years, and during that time he has done a large amount of printing for us, always in the most satisfactory manner. He stands in the front rank of thoroughbred printers, and his appointment to the position would do equal credit to the appointing power, to the office and to Mr. Monson, and we feel sure would be applauded by the press and the printing craft throughout the entire State.

Here is what a veteran said: "It was before the trenches at Petersburg, and remarkably hot, when you consider we were in December. Our regiment was charging up a side-hill, raked fore and aft with batteries and sharpshooters. One fellow near me dropped on his hands and knees, and crawled on in that position towards the enemy, when the Colonel caught him in the rear with the flat of his sabre. 'Get up, you darned fool! Do you think you are cavalry?'"

The New Orleans Times has been publishing for some weeks a series of admirable articles signed "Catherine Cole; of course, a nom de plume. The gifted writer, whose productions have received high commendation from Eastern journals, is a lady, formerly a resident of this city, and greatly respected for her entertainments in the literary circle she adorned. It is gratifying to her friends in California to know that her rare talents meet with recognition in the Crescent City.

What is home without a mother? Not more desolate than would be a Thanksgiving Day without those mince-pies, for which the Original Swain's Bakery, 213 Sutter street, has an unrivaled reputation. So great is the rush for these that orders, to be attended to, must go in without delay. There are but five days left.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS LETTER.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:

United States.....$5 a Year. | Foreign.....$6 a Year.

Postage Prepaid

The following firms are authorized to receive subscriptions and advertisements for the San Francisco News Letter;

LONDON, ENG.—W. H. Smith & Sons, 186 Strand, W.C.; George Street & Co., 30 Cornhill, E.C.; F. Algar, 8 Clement's Lane, E.C.; American Exchange and Reading Rooms, 449 Charing Cross, W.C.; Delizy, Davies & Co., 1 Cecil street, Strand, W.C.; Wm. Wilson, 6 Talbot Court, Eastcheap, E.C.

PARIS, FRANCE.—Charles Legay, 1 Rue Scribe; "Anglo-American Bank," 19 Boulevard de la Madelaine.

NEW YORK.—S. M. Pettengill & Co., 37 Park Row; George P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce street; A. Brentano, 37 Union Square; MacKenzie, Phillips & Co., 115 and 117 Nassau street; E. Duncan Sniffen, 31 and 32 Astor House offices; John F. Phillips & Co., 27 Chatham street.

BOSTON, MASS.—S. M. Pettengill & Co., 10 State street.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Rowell & Chesman, corner Third and Chestnut.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Cook, Coburn & Co.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN.—S. M. Pettengill & Co., 701 Chestnut street.

CINCINNATI.—E. N. Fleshman & Co., N.E. corner 4th and Race streets.

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—H. P. Hubbard.

VICTORIA, B. C.—T. N. Hibben & Co.

SACRAMENTO.—A. S. Hopkins.

[February 2.

Price per Copy, 10 Cents.] ESTABLISHED JULY, 20, 1856. [Annual Subscription, $5.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS LETTER

California Advertiser.

DEVOTED TO THE LEADING INTERESTS OF CALIFORNIA AND THE PACIFIC COAST.

Vol. 30. SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, NOV. 29, 1879. No. 20.

Office of the San Francisco News Letter, Merchant Street, Nos. 607 to 615, San Francisco.

GOLD BARS—890@910—SILVER BARS—5@15 ₱ cent. disc. Mexican Dollars, 4@5 per cent. nominal.

☞ Exchange on New York. ¼@1-5 par cent.; On London, Bankers, 49¾@49¾; Commercial, 50⅛@50d. Paris, sight, 5 francs per dollar. Telegrams, 3-10@¼ per cent.

☞ Latest price of Sterling, 481½@484.

☞ Price of Money here, ⅜@1 per cent. per month—bank rats. In the open market, 1@1½. Demand active.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The past week has witnessed a snccession of breaks, which has completely demoralized the Stock-dealing fraternity, and made sad havoc among the margin buyers. Large blocks of Union and Sierra Nevada were forced upon the market by leading brokers, which have been the principal cause of the decline, and with the weeding out of weak margin holders, we are inclined to the belief that a resuscitation of values may be expected. A winze is about to he started at a point between the S. Nevada incline and the Union shaft, to facilitate the opening of the 2400-ft level, which will answer all the purposes of the shaft. Tbe drift leading to this winze already shows fine ore for a distance of 36 feet, so that something encouraging is looked for in the winze. The west cross-cut in Sierra Nevada 2300-ft level is generally regarded as a failure, inasmuch as the drift reveals only 15 feet of ore, where the diamond drill reported over 60 feet without reaching the west wall. The break in Sierra Nevada was undoubtedly occasioned by the official confirmation oi this fact, demonstrating as it does the norrowness of the ledge at this point. The balance of the list were at the mercy of the fancy gambles, and suffered in the general demoralization. In the absence of any important information from others of the mines, tbe balance of the market is dull and devoid of interest. Outside stocks are generally neglected and difficult of sale. At tbe close a slight shading off from opening prices was noticeahle, witb very moderate business transacted.

We note that the stock of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, $6,000,000, was admitted to the free list, and its $6,000,000 of bonds to the regular list of the New York Stock Exchange on the 12th inst. The company is four months old, and consolidates all the railway and steamship lines of Oregon into a close monopoly. The official statement gives the net earnings for October at $247,000, and for the last four months, $638,657, out of which a quarterly dividend of two per cent. on the capital was paid November 15th, leaving a cash surplus of $500,000. The company has four new ocean steamships, plying between San Francisco and Portland, a fleet of 28 steamboats on the Columbia, and lines of railway hetween various points. The bonded indebtedness bears 6 per cent. interest. The stock was bid at 101 when listed, but sales have since been made at 120.—S. F. Merchant.

Beerbohm's Telegram. — LONDON AND LIVERPOOL, November 28th, 1879.—Floating Cargoes, steady with fair demand; Cargoes on Passage, quiet; Mark Lane Wheat, quiet but steady; No. 2 Spring off Coast, 53s.; Red Winter off Coast, 55s.; California off Coast, 55s. 6d.; California Nearly Due, 56s. 6d.; California Just Shipped, 57s.; No. 2 Spring for Shipment, 52s.; Liverpool Spot Wheat, firm; California Club No. 1 Standard, 11s. 9d.; California Club No. 2 Standard, 11s. 7d.; California Average—Western, 11s. 3d.; White Michigan, 11s. 4d.; Red Western Spring, 9s. 2d.@9s. 8d.; Extra State Flour in London, —; Extra State Flour in Liverpool, —; Livsrpool Western Mixed Corn, 4s. 7½d.; Liverpool Canadian Peas, 8s. 4d.; N. Y. St. Ex., 81@84d.; English Country Markets, firm.

The Health of the City.—There was a further declins of deaths last week from 86 to 80, and the zymotics were reduced to eleven. Typhoid fever still prevails, hut of a mild type; there have been two deaths this week. Scarlatina is also prevalent—a death was marked last week and one has occurred this. The colder weather is proving fatal to the aged—three deaths from old age are registered. The dryest weather is seemingly less fatal to consumptives. The deaths this week are less than usual. Measles have caused a death—the first from this cause for many weeks. Croup and diphtheria each count one death. Pneumonia is on the decline.

PRICES OF LEADING STOCKS AND GOV. BONOS.

San Francisco.....November 28, 1879.

Stocks and Bonds.	Bid	Asked	Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked
Cal. St. Bonds, 6's,'57, (nom)	100	102	Home Mutual Ins. Co.....	85	90
S. F. City & Co. B'ds, 6s, '58	Nom.	Nom.	State Investment Ins. Co ..	105	108
S. F. C. & Co. B'ds, 7s (nom)	Nom.	Nom.	Union Ins. Co.....	114	116
Montg'y Av. Bonds (nom)..	65	70	City R R.....	35	40
Dupont Street Bonds	80	90	Central R. R. Co.....	50	55
Sacramento City Bonds....	26	28	Clay Street Hill R. R	20	22
Stockton City Bonds, 6's...	90	95	Market Street R. R.....	6	—
Yuba County Bonds, 8's....	103	106	N. B. and Mission R. R.....	66	70
Santa Clara Co. Bonds, 7's .	105	107	Omnibus R R.....	30	32
C. P. R. R. Stock.....	85	90	Potrero and Bay View R. R.	30	35
C. P. R. R. Bonds	108	110	Giant Powder Co	155	165
Oakland City Bonds, 8's....	112	115	Atlantic Giant Powder.....	95	105
Bank of California (old st'k).	72½	75	S. F. Gaslight Co (ex div)...	90½	91
First National.....	95	97½	Oakland Gas Co.....	34½	35
Pacific	120	125	California Powder Co.....	95	98
California Ins. Co.....	108	112	S. V. W. W. Co (ex div)....	85	85½
Commercial Ins. Co.....	75	80	Nevada Co. N. G. R. R. Bds	93	95
Fireman's Fund Ins. Co....	115	120	Virginia & Truckee " "	100	102½

The demand for first-class Securities continues, and thers ars indications that Money is leaving here for investment elsewhere. The credit of this State could hardly be above what it is at present. Issue of long Bonds would eagerly be absorbed on the basis of from 5 to 5½ per cent. per annum interest, and it is to he hoped that the new Legislature will adopt some plan of public improvement that will not only give activity to this idle capital that is now going away seeking employment elsewhere, but will also give employment to ths mass of white laborers who complain that they can get nothing to do.

ANDREW BAIRD, 312 California street.

We regret sincerely to note the death of Mr. Delany, aged 60, the talented managing editor for so many years of the world-renowned London Times. In 1869 we called on Mr. Delany at his private residence, in Edgeware Road, London, with Mr. Sampson, the editor of tbe city articles, and it was at the instigation and request of Mr. Delany that the proprietor of the News Letter wrote the first letters direct from San Francisco which appeared in that journal. These letters were followed by the correspondence of Mr. Donald Frazer, and his notices were followed afterward by the able articles of Mr. Ed. Jackson, and those no lees distinguisbed of Mr. Barr Robertson.—ED. NEWS LETTER.

Conger vs. Conroy.—The contest for the Senatorship of the Ninth Senatorial District was resumed yesterday morning before Justices Pennie and Joachimsen; James Tierney, Kane Mahoney, W. W. Traylor, A. L. Stone, Benj. Dorr, W. Wilson, C. E. Weise, J. Delavan, J. King, A. McPherson. The evidence of the workingmen was almost all hearsay, and the last witness confessed that he had been arrested four or fivs times for fighting, and had been in jail thirty or forty days. The W. P. C. made a very pretty showing.

Gen. Grant and the Eastern Press.—Public opinion is evidently changing in relation to Grant and ths third term. Some of the most influential papers in the country are now out and openly against him. The Cincinnati Commercial, one of the leading Republican papers of the West, slashes at Grant in a savage and wholesale way in a recent issue; while Don Piatt, in the Washington Capital, calls Grant "a brute on ths field and an imbecile in the Cabinet." This is only specimens of the way noted Eastern editors are serving up Grant and ths "hoom" business.

Death of S. B. Wattson.—This gentleman, one of the oldest merchants of the city, died suddenly on Tuesday last, of paralysis of the brain, and at the comparatively early age of fifty-four. Mr. Wattson was a native of Edinburgh, a man of strict integrity and honor, and of great business capacity. Hs had been a member of the firm of B. C. Horn & Co., and later a partner in the house of Parker, Wattson & Co., and when he died was at the head of the largs cigar and tobacco firm of S. B. Wattson & Co.

Correction.—We stated last week, on the authority of the Coast Review, that the New Zealand Insurance Co. had ceased taking fire risks in this State. A letter from the manager informs us tbat this is an error, and that the Company continues to underwrite fire risks in this city and county, in Oregon and in Washington Territory, as well as Marine Risks.

Received too late for notice this week: Appleton's Journal and ths North American for Decsmber.

Printed and Published by the Proprietor, Frederick Marriott, 607 to 615 Merchant Street, San Francisco, California.

SKELETON SKETCHES.--No. 13.

[BY T. A. HARCOURT.]

A Terrible Adventure.

I do not believe in ghosts of the orthodox sort—very few people do in these matter-of-fact days—nor have I any fixed creed with regard to the secrets of nature which, as a class, are erroneously called "supernatural;" hut that there are such secrets I firmly helieve, and that they are occasionally half revealed to us when we least expect a revelation I also believe. Who is there that has gazed upon the corpse of a friend without heing filled with awe and wonder? All that we saw in life lies there. We might dissect the body, yet the most powerful microscope could discover nothing to be missing. Every part of the wonderful machine is pefect, hut it has stopped running, and all the science and iugennity of man can nevermore set it going. But though we cannot measure, or define, or even imagine it, we know that something is missing—we know that the man himself is missing. This empty shell, mouldering into dust before our very eyes, is not the friend we knew. Our friend was an invisihle essence, and this was his habitation. He looked through those eyes, not with them, and now that he has departed, the windows are darkened and the house is silent forever. To think that we never saw him or be us-- that we each only saw the perishable ahode of the other—is hoth strange and sad, but it is true. No man ever yet looked upon his fellow—in this life at least. As well might he say that he looked upon a musical instrumeut and beheld the sound.

It was with such gloomy thoughts as these that I occupied myself one winter night, now many years ago, when it wae my melancholy duty to watch heside the dead body of one whom I had dearly loved in life. He had died in the vigor of his manbood, had heen cut off in the blossom of his hope and strength, and the cause of his death had completely haffled the physicians. I was staying on a visit at his country house, or rather palace, for he was enormously wealthy, and his life had heen suddenly snuffed out, as it were, while we sat talking together. Yes, only the night before I had sat by the fire in this very armchair with him opposite to me there, and when I looked up to see why he did not answer a lazy question I had just put to him, he was dead. Now his body lay decked for the grave in the next room, and I sat here by tbe fire alone.

When I say tbat the body lay in the next room, I am not exact. It really lay at the farther extremity of the room in which I sat, hut an arch divided this lofty and spacious chamber, and from the arch hung heavy curtains of ruby-colored velvet, which I had drawn to keep the heat of the fire from the hody and the cold from myself, for it was a freezing night. It was with the ancients, and is with some people at the present day, an actual helief that to leave the corpse unwatched for a eingle instant would endanger the departed spirit. But I entertained no euch ideas. What harm could come to that poor, vacant tenement, still less to the "something" that had left it? And if harm should come, surely no vigil of mine could prevent it. I sat with the hody because I loved it, not that I might protect it.

I have said that I am not superstitious, and during the first half of the night no thoughts save the speculations I have mentioned and vain regrets for the loss of my friend occupied my mind. It was, as nearly as I can remember, ahout an hour after midnight that I hegan to experience a sort of nervous uneasiness for which I was at a loss to account. I was seized with an indefinable dread—of what, I knew not—and this feeling hecame momentarily stronger. In vain I tried to shake it off, telling myself tbat the agitation and grief of the past twenty-four hours had weakened my mind and hody. In vain I huddled over the fire and strove to think of other things. It was no use. I found my eyes wandering constantly to the closed curtains, and I was unmistakahly afraid. At length, vexed at my own weakness I crossed to the other side of the hearth and seated myself with my back to tbe curtains, in the great armchair which the dead man had occupied the night hefore. For a few moments I felt easier; then on a sudden my terror returned with tenfold force. I no longer douhted. I now knew tbat there was something to be afraid of. I heard nothing, hut, as distinctly as if I saw it, I felt that there was a presence in the room, and that it was behind me.

My heart stood still; my hlood, aye, the very marrow in my hones was frozen with inexpressihle horror. I would eooner have died than look round, yet I was irresistibly impelled to do so. Slowly, O so slowly! I turned in my eeat and advanced my face to the side of the chair (the hack was too high for me to see over witbout rising). Witb ashen face and staring eyes, I peered round at the curtains, and there, hetween them —O, God! shall I ever forget it!—there, hetween the parted curtains, stood the dead man in his grave clothes!

His eyes were open, and he gazed steadily at me with a look of such devilish malice as I hope never to see in a human face again. I could no more stir or utter a sound than if I had heen carved in granite. For what was perhaps a minute, though it seemed to me a lifetime, we remained thus; I peering at him round the side of the chair, he glaring at me from hetween the curtains. Then I saw him slowly crouching to the eartb. Gradually he shrank down till he almost squatted on the ground, and then, with hands outstretched like distended claws, his foamy lips drawn hack from his teetb, and his eyes riveted on mine, he hegan to creep toward me. Still I could not move until he had got within six feet of me. Then I saw his hody quiver from side to side (as yon have seen a cat's, just hefore she springs upon her prey), and, leaping up with a shriek, I raised the massive chair like a feather and dasbed it upon him as he rushed forward. Of the fearful struggle that ensued I can remember little; all that I distinctly recollect is the rushing in of the servants. After that all hecame a hlank.

It was nearly three weeks hefore I regained my senses, and as soon as I was strong enough to converse on the subject, tbe doctors told me how it all came ahout. It seems that my friend bad not heen dead, hut in one of those extraordinary trancee whicb simulate death so closely as to deceive the most skillful scientific men. As is frequently the case in such instances, the horror of the situation in which he found himself upon returning to consciousness, together with the shock whicb his system had received, turned the restored man into a lunatic, though his madness was of a more violent character than is usual.

It was more than a year before my friend entirely recovered from his insanity. But I could not face him again, and have not seen him since.

Artistic Novelties, manufactured from California quartz, at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

A REMARKABLE CAREER.

The career of M. Dejean, the proprietor of the Circus in the Champe Elysees and on the Boulevards, who has just died at the age of 94, is a remarkable one. He started in life as a hutcher's apprentice, and his good looks drew all the cooks in the neighborhood to the shop of his master, who, on retiring, left him the business. Having amassed a comfortable fortune he started the Circus, kept it going for half a century, and realized very large profits. He was remarkable for his Herculean strength, and for his attachment to the Napoleon family, which the late emperor requited by making M. Dejean an officer of the Legion of Honor. Of his strength stories are told that border on the marvelous, in which fiction mingles very largely with fact. Thus it is stated that soon after starting the Circus a tiger escaped from a menagerie he was exhibiting, and made etraight for him. Dejean quietly open his arms, then closed them; when he re-opened them the tiger fell dead at his feet, smothered in his terrihle embrace.

TAXES! TAXES!
1879-80.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Taxable Property of the City and County of San Francisco, Real Estate and Personal Property (subsequent Assessment Book included), for tbe Fiscal Year 1879-80, has this day been received; that the State, City and County TAXES for said Fiscal Year are now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall, and the Laws in regard to their collection will be strictly enforced.

TAXES will become delinquent on the First Monday in January, 1880, and unless paid prior thereto, five per cent. will be added to the amount thereof.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector of tbe City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

ASSESSMENT OF LANDS
BENEFITED BY
WIDENING DUPONT STREET.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Real Estate which is subject for the Payment of Principal and Interest upon "Dupont-street Bonds," as directed by an Act of the Legislature of California to authorize the Widening of Dupont street, in the City of San Francisco, "Approved March 23d, A.D. 1876," has this day been placed in my hands for collection. Tbe Laws in regard to the collection of the same will be strictly enforced.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

MONTGOMERY AVENUE ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of Real Estate, which is subject to assessment to defray expenses incurred by the Opening of Montgomery Avenue, has this day been placed in my hands to collect the Assessment thereon.

Said Assessment is for tbe Fiscal Year of 1879-80, and is now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall. All Assessments remaining unpaid on the FIRST MONDAY IN JANUARY, 1880, will have five per cent added thereto.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector for the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

WAKELEE'S AUREOLINE
Produces the Beautiful Golden Hair so Much Admired.

SUPERIOR TO THE IMPORTED ARTICLE

—BY REASON OF ITS—

FRESHNESS AND CARE USED IN ITS PRODUCTION.

PRICE, LARGE BOTTLES. $2.

Manufactured by H. P. WAKELEE & CO., Druggists, corner Montgomery and Bush streets, S. F. [Aug. 2.

CALIFORNIA SUGAR REFINERY,

Manufacturers of the Standard Syrup, a superior article put up in barrels expressly for home consumption. Also, Extra Heavy Syrup in barrels for Export. Refined Sugars at lowest market rates. Office, 215 Front street, up stairs Dec. 21.

JOHN JENNINGS

Hooper's South End Warehouses, corner Japan and Townsend streets. San Francisco. First-class Fire-Proof Brick Building, capacity 10,000 tons. Goods taken from the Dock and the Cars of the C. P. R. R. and S. P. R. R. free of charge. Storage at Current Rates. Advances and Insurance Effected.

EDWARD BOSQUI & CO.,

Printers, Engravers, Lithographers and Bookbinders,

Leidesdorff street, from Clay to Commercial.

UNITED STATES AND FOREIGN PATENT OFFICES.

C. W. M. Smith, Counselor and Advocate in Patent Cases, 429 Montgomery street, San Francisco. Established 1862. Specialty: Patents, Trade-Marks, Patent-Law. Sept. 20.

QUICKSILVER.

For sale---In lots to suit, by Thomas Bell & Co., No. 305 Sansome street, over Bank of California. Nov. 16.

ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY,

No. 310 Sansome street, San Francisco, Wholesale Dealer in Furs. Sept. 21.

MADAME WALDO COHEN,

Finishing Lessons---Piano. $3 Per Lesson.

Sept. 20. 507 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

A MOONLIGHT MEMORY.

The moonbeams through my window-pane
Right cheerily are blinking;
The moon-beams rouse my drowsy brain,
And set me fast a thinking.
Comes back a night of long ago,
When I with May was walking;
My heart beat fast, and her's, I know,
Was much too full for talking.

We strolled beyond the village bound,
Through country lanes and byways;
For Love is startled by a sound,
And ever shuns the highways.
The loving words I sought to speak
My tongue refused to utter;
The crimson flush upon May's cheek
Betrayed her inward flutter.

And so we kept our silent pace
Until the moon, quite kindly,
Behind a cloud concealed her face,
And left us walking blindly.
Young Love, like Evil, fears the light,
But in the dark grows bolder;
So there, upon that happy night,
My tale of love I told her.

And when the moon, serene and fair,
Once more illumed the heather,
She shone upon the happiest pair
That ever walked together.

Will Hatch Smiley, in The Republic.

CHECKING BIGOTRY.

Some cases have recently occurred in New York and Massachusetts, illustrating the natural tendency of the ecclesiastical mind toward the most arbitrary, higoted and eveu illegal methods in enforciug what tbey are pleased to call church discipline. Most of your zealous clerics are quite willing, nay eager, to use their influence with members of the church, in order to crush a recalcitrant into submission. This applies to denominations generally, although, in the present instances, it is Catholic clergymen who have got themselves in hot water. In New York a member of tbat Church, who subsequently joined tbe order of Masons, purchased a family burial plat in the Catholic cemetery, wherein several of his family were interred. At his decease it was desired to bury bis remains in the same plot, hut the Church resisted, and a law-suit ensued. The Court decided tbat the plot had been sold for burial purposes, and paid for, and that deceased, as purchaser, was entitled to interment. The fact of consecration of ground not being recognized by the common law, could not be taken into consideratiou. Tbis decision, therefore, satisfactorily settles a long mouted point. In this country, wbere mixed marriages are so common, it cannot but he a consolation to wives and hushands of different faith to know that no barrier of higotry can separate their last resting-placea.

In Massachusetts a Canadian priest excommunicated one of his congregation—a hackman—becauae the latter attended the services of an unfrocked priest, who bad left his original Church and started one of his own. Moreover, the congregation from which the hackman had been cast out were warned that, if they patronized him in any way, the priest would neither baptize, marry nor bury them. A suit for damages ensued, wherein it was proved that the priest bad not only used the language complained of, hut bad actually turned away a funeral procession because it came in plaintiff's backs. Defendant alleged that he acted hy order of bis ecclesiastical superiors, and denied any malice. Court instructed the jury that, if they found tbe words to he used in fact, they were also used in malice. The jury found for plaintiff in $3,433.50 damages. Exceptiona were filed, and an appeal will be taken, hut the judgment is sure to he affirmed. During the trial an attempt was made by defendant to settle the suit so as to prevent it being of record, hut plaintiff refused all overtures.

Still another case in tbe same communion was that of a parish priest in the Bay State, who refused his parishioners the sacraments while they continued sending their children to the public scbools. Some of tbe congregation appealed to Archbishop Williams, of Boston, who very curtly dismissed them, saying the priest knew his business. Tbis, of course, must he a great hardship to Catbolic parents who are unable to pay the parochial charges for the so-called Catholic free schools. Where a child is admitted whose parents are unable to pay, he is a mark for scorn and neglect, all tbe care and kindness being lavished on tbe children of those wbo do pay. It is no wonder that an indignant protest has gone up from a majority of church members, and it is not the less indignant because silent. Such wanton stretcbes of authority can only serve to bring the Church into contempt, and deservedly so.

Other denominations have nothing to boast of. The cases are numerous, especially in small towns, where a man's business has been secretly ruined by ministerial influence, on account of "backsliding." From these, and similar cases, acting on public opinion, the outside Church is stronger tban the inside, and able to maintain civil rights in spite of all the crooked and bigoted methods of those who are willing to ruin men "for the love of God," in order to force tbem into the fold from which they had gladly escaped.

The Drug Nomenclature of the Unwashed."—Among some original specimens, the Chemist and Druggist gives the following: "Balocks and Hunney," "parragrack," "holowaya," "extract hyoxyemus," "antyburlas pills," "Loddom," "aotne withen" (stone whiting). Another cbemist is asked to prescribe for a child "sick and no apletight," for another troubled with "a dredful roaring in his inside;" some one wants "a hottle of scent for diarrhœa in his head." Other requirements are "combination soda" (carbonate), "commode for the hair" (pomade), "bitter alice," "asissik assik" (acetic acid), "brucks" (horax), "fires of halsam," etc.

George Mel has been appointed Resident Secretary for San Francisco of the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance Company.

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

Bullion Mining Company.--Location of Principal Place of Business, San Francisco, California. Location of Works, Gold Hill Mining District, Storey County, Nevada. Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the first (1st) day of November, 1879, an assessment (No. 12) of Fifty (50c.) Cents per share was levied upon the capital stock of the Company, payable immediately, in United States gold coin, to the Secretary, at the office of the Company, Room 3, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California.

Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on WEDNESDAY, the THIRD day of DECEMBER, 1879, will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction; and unless payment is made before, will be sold on WEDNESDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of DECEMBER, 1879, to pay the delinquent assessment, together with the cost of advertising and expenses of sale. By order of the Board of Directors.

[Nov. 8.] J. M. BRAZELL, Secretary.

STOCK DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Office of the Gila Silver Mining Company, Room 7, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California, October 21st, 1879.—At a special meeting of the Stockholders of the above-named Company, held this day, a Stock Dividend of twenty per cent was declared, payable immediately, out of the Capital Stock owned by the Company. All Stockholders are requested to send their Stock to the office of the Company before November 24th, 1879, and receive the dividend due thereon.

Nov. 8. WM. W. PARRISH, Secretary.

A MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION OF PHOTOGRAPHS FOR SALE,

Comprising Views of Palestine, Egypt, Rome and other parts of the World. The Collection was made by a gentleman, for many years a resident of Europe and Asia, at an expense of over $3,000. It comprises about 500 views in perfect condition, having suitable Portfolios, Albums, etc, together with a very large and powerful Magnifying Glass. Will be sold as an entirety.

SNOW & CO.,

Nov. 15. (Successors to Snow & May), 20 Post street.

PACIFIC COAST STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

Steamers of this Company will sail from Broadway Wharf for PORTLAND, Oregon), every 5 days, direct, and for LOS ANGELES, SANTA BARBARA, SANTA CRUZ, SAN DIEGO, SAN LUIS OBISPO and other NORTHERN and SOUTHERN COAST PORTS, leaving SAN FRANCISCO about every third day.

For Day and Hour of Sailing, see tbe Company's Advertisement in the San Francisco Daily Papers.

Ticket Office, No. 214 Montgomery Street, near Pine.

GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents,

March 15. No. 10 Market street.

BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OF CAL.

Attendance, daily, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., by the under- signed, to receive subscriptions and donations, and to furnish all information relating to the Society.

J. P. McCURRIE, Secretary,

Oct. 23. 730 Montgomery street.

GEO. STREET, Agent News Letter, 30 Cornhill, E. C., London.

JOYCE'S SPORTING AMMUNITION.

[ESTABLISHED 1820.]

The attention of Sportsmen is invited to the following Ammunition, of the best quality, now in general use throughout England, India and the Colonies; Joyce's Treble Waterproof and F 3 Quality Percussion Caps; Chemically-prepared Cloth and Felt Gun Wadding; Joyce's Gas-Tight Cartridges, for Pin-fire and Central-fire Breech-loading Guns; Wire Cartridges, for killing game at long distances, and every description of Sporting Ammunition. Sold by all gun-makers and dealers in gunpowder.

FREDERICK JOYCE & CO., Patentees and Manufacturers,

Sept. 20. 57 Upper Thames street, London.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF SPURIOUS IMITATIONS OF

LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE, which are calculated to deceive the public, Lea and Perrins have adopted A NEW LABEL, bearing their signature, "LEA & PERRINS," which is placed on every bottle of WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE, and without which none is genuine.

Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see name on wrapper, label, bottle and stopper. Wholesale and for export by the proprietors, Worcester; Crosse & Blackwell, London, etc., etc., and by grocers and oilmen throughout the world. To be obtained of Nov. 16. MESSRS. CROSS & CO., San Francisco.

ROWLAND'S

MACASSAR OIL strengthens the Hair and prevents it falling off. The bottles have a glass stopper, and not a cork.

KALYDOR beautifies the Complexion and eradicates Freckles, Tan, Prickly Heat, Eruptions, etc.

ODONTO whitens the Teeth, prevents and arrests decay, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath.

EUKONIA is a new and delicate toilet powder.

Ask for ROWLAND'S articles, of 20, Hatton Garden, London, and avoid cheap imitations. Sold by Druggists, Bazaars, etc., all over the world. May 3.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Finest and Cheapest Meat-flavoring Stock for Soups, Made Dishes and Sauces. March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT

Is a success and boon for which Nations should feel grate- ful. See "Medical Press," "Lancet," "British Medical Journal," etc.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Caution--Genuine only with fac-simile of Baron Liebig's Signature, in blue ink, across Label. "Consumption in England increased tenfold in ten years." March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

To be had of all Store-keepers, Grocers and Chemists. Sole Agents for the United States (wholesale only), C. David & Co., 43, Mark Lane, London, England. March 2.

CHARLES LANGLEY & CO.,

Wholesale Druggists,

Importers of Pure English, French and German Drugs,

PATENT MEDICINES, Etc.,

100 and 102 FRONT STREET,

SAN FRANCISCO. [Sept. 6.

"PLEASURE'S WAND."

"We Obey no Wand but Pleasure's."—Tom Moore.

Baldwin's Theater.—Forget-me-not is the most interesting and forcible play produced on our stage since Diplomacy. Although the plot is in all respects a different one, there are touches of character here and there that correspond to those of the principal personages in that chef d'œuvre. The heroine "Stephanie" has the same aim in view that "Zicka" has, but she is working toward that point openly and without deception. This makes the character stronger and more powerful. The causes that may have brought this woman to her pariah-like condition are immaterial in themselves; they are simply the results of modern society, with its absurd code. The woman shown us is a vicious, cruel, heartless outcast. A being who, by her incessant warfare upon mankind, by the destruction, through her artifices and wiles, of the nobler sentiments of her victims, forfeits all claims upon what sympathy and pity the irresponsibility of her fall may create. The woman ceases to exist; it is a viper, a crawling, seething thing, that remains to be crushed under the heel of Truth. This "Marquise de Mohrivart" is a being possessed of cunning and ingenuity, experience and knowledge of mankind—all the qualifications in fact that can aid her in her designs—a perfect she-devil. With nothing to lose and everything to gain, her confidence is natural. For a moral combat she has the strongest weapon—a tongue—lashing and cutting in its intellectual force, against physical coercion, she holds as defense a terrible secret. It is a wonderful character. It is a fiend incarnate. The authors, who are evidently writers of talent, have expended all of it on this woman. They have made this being as perfect a character as possible. Around this figure they have built a plot which in its inception is clever and forcible, but they have failed to work it out satisfactorily; the climax being weak and perhaps ridiculous. In a woman of "Stephanie's" strength and wealth of resources, physical fear could only be a momentary emotion. The thought of physical violence at the hands of the revengeful Corsican, might produce a temporary paralyzation of all her faculties, leaving but the desire of personal safety; but a strong will and a reliance in the protection of the law would have soon asserted themselves. There are so many other dramatic points that suggest themselves in this connection, that it is strange the authors have adopted this weak ending. The play is one which will, perhaps, fail to attract the masses. There are no scenery effects to charm the eye, and no dramatic incidents for the unthinking. But the cultivated will find in it an interest and a charm. The dialogue is excessively clever and witty. The lines are crisp and epigrammatic. The thoughts are expressed in short, pithy sentences, that strike the understanding and imprint themselves. There is humor of the refined kind, and there is truth forcibly expressed. As the heroine, Miss Jeffreys-Lewis achieves a deserved success. Carelessness and indifference have lately been the chief characteristics of her efforts, and have marred everything she attempted. Her "Zicka," once a talented impersonation, has become an over-acted, exaggerated performance. Her "Stephanie" is a compensation for all this. She plays it as she has never played "Zicka." One of the chief traits of the latter was hypocrisy, and Miss Lewis' delineation of this was the weak spot in the character. It always seemed as if "Dora" and the Beauclercs should have seen her true nature at once. But "Stephanie" makes no concealment of herself, and her viciousness is frank and above-board. Miss Lewis gives the different phases of the Marquise with remarkable effect. The consciousness of a supposed unassailable position, the knowledge of the power she wields—all of this asserted with the grace and wit of a woman of the world—are characteristics that Miss Lewis portrays with rare skill. She gives the true meaning to every line she speaks. The persiflage with "Welby" is in that cold, easy way that denotes the heartless woman. The scorn, the defiance, the subsequent pleading, all indicating wonderful vigor and life are depicted with true appreciation of the character. It is a piece of acting deserving study and attention. As "Sir Horace Welby," O'Neill was eminently satisfactory. It is a part requiring simple dignity of manner and ease of speech. Morrison was a poor representative of a poor character. He was entirely too melodramatic. The humility and abject manner were too exaggerated, as it lacks consistency with "Welby's" description of the man. Miss Carey, in her part, was colorless and listless. Mr. Bradley, as "the Prince," was entirely out of his line. Miss Revel ditto. Miss Walters seemed to be in the dark as to "Mrs. Foley," for it was a nondescript performance. The talent of make-up is not a feature in this company, a fact noticeable more particularly in the case of Miss Lewis. "Stephanie" is a well preserved woman of forty, not a young girl of twenty. As this play will undoubtedly enjoy a deserved run, opportunity will be afforded to further review piece and actors.

Bush Street Theater.—The chief merit of the Colville Troupe lies in the beauty of its female members, assisted by the taste of the costumer. This is amply exemplified by the performances of Babes in the Wood. This clever extravaganza is rather indifferently played, and still it possesses attractiveness. The male comedians, Roland Reed and Graham, are a little disappointing in their efforts to amuse. The fair ones, though, shine this week with increased effect. Ella Chapman is as sprightly and trim as ever. Annie Deacon, Kate Everleigh and Adah Lee, appear in beautiful costumes, and do the little assigned them gracefully. A most meritorious member of the troupe is Miss Fanny Wright, a thoroughly conscientious artist. As "Sally," Miss McHenry displays the possession of dramatic ability far above the usual standard of burlesquers. She gives the character intelligently, with a wealth of clever detail and byplay. Being, also, a very pretty girl, it is not to be wondered at that she is rapidly becoming a great favorite. Mr. Maffin deserves mention for his very amusing conceit, the educated "Donkey." Full houses are the rule at this theater.

California Theater.—Davy Crockett is so well known a play that little of it can be said. It is undoubtedly one of the very best of American plays on the stage. It is free from the contamination of variety and minstrel shows, being without one of those idiotic stage dialectic characters. It is a simple story of events in the backwoods, tinged with romance. In its plot and incidents, its characters and its deductions, it is essentially indigenous, allowing naturally for dramatic license. Mr. Mayo has been seen in this character so often in this city that criticism is unnecessary. He improves the impersonation yearly, and it stands out to-day as a piece of acting admirable in its vigor and naturalness. Miss Woodthorpe is slightly overweighted as "Eleanor Vaughn," but does remarkably well. This young lady is brimful of talent, which is rapidly developing. She has chosen the true course, that of commencing at the foot of the ladder. The scenery and properties deserve favorable mention.

German Theater.—For his benefit, last Sunday evening, Max Freeman had an immense audience, who testified their appreciation of his talents by numerous floral offerings, and also, it is rumored, by a more substantial presentation. Tricoche and Cacolet is from the French of Mulhar and Halevy, and has been produced in English under the name of P. P. It is a most amusing farce in the original, but one which loses most of its fun as translated into the heavier forms of Saxon languages. The multifarious disguises of the two principals giving numerous opportunities for clever assumptions and effective make-ups, were done full justice to by the beneficiary and Mr. Urhan. The support was, as usual, admirable. The decrees of Fashion, which are at best but vagaries, meet with but little opposition nowadays, but it is to be hoped that the innovation introduced by the little soubrette, of dresses very short in front, will be considered a provincialism. It is a style only suited to fair Cinderellas.

Standard Theater.—Dr. Clyde for the last time to-night. On Monday a new play—The Man from Cattaraugus, with a capital part for Owens. On December 6th the proposed benefit for Manager Kennedy will take place at the Grand Opera House. A varied and amusing programme has been arranged, and tickets are being rapidly sold. A full house is already assured, an agreeable fact to chronicle.

An excellent move has been made by Mission Star Lodge No. 160, I. O. G. T., in the miscellaneous entertainments given on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, at King's Hall, Mission street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets. Besides addresses on Temperance, Musical and Literary selections are given.

Woodward's has a superb programme for to-day and to-morrow. The great Roman gladiators, the famous Allen Sisters, Mr. A. Sich, the great Berlin whistler, Saveniers, the cornet soloist, and the amazingly funny pantomime of the Lone Fisherman. No extra charge.

Vienna Gardens.—The managers have taken heed of the suggestions made in this column in regard to ventilation, and have perfected improvements which make the place a delightful resort, both for pleasure and comfort.

Chit-Chat.—Fraseuelo, the famous bull-fighter, whose shocking death has been graphically pictured in print, and whose immense funeral has been eloquently described, is getting along very well, having almost recovered from his injuries.——Ruskin's Modern Painters has been translated into Polish by Mme. Modjeska.——Linda Dietz has made a hit in London.——Leonille LeBlanc, notorious as an actress, etc., has applied for re-admission to the Comedie Francaise.——Tschalkowsky, the Russian composer, has just finished an opera entitled Joan of Arc.——The new theater at Geneva, Switzerland, is said to rank, in beauty and extent, next to the Opera Houses of Paris and Vienna. The cost has been defrayed from the proceeds of the Brunswick legacy, and, including the value of the land, exceeds $1,000,000.——Australia is the paradise of circus managers. The Colville beauties are creating havoc among our fellows.

ART JOTTINGS.

The near approach of the holiday season instills a little life into art affairs. Many of our artists are sending their works to the auction room; at any rate, we are told by the auctioneer that "this magnificent collection of real works of art are gathered from the most talented and meritorious studios in the city, and many of them exhibition masterpieces by our best artists." In the array of names we find those of Tojetti, Straus, Bush, Holdridge, Jenks, Denny, Rouse, and others. And such paintings! No one would suppose that the most industrious studio scavenger could gather together such a lot. They have but to be glanced at to be appreciated to the full. We are also told that many of the gims offered are by other artists than those named, the painters withholding their autographs for some unexplained reason, but obviously because the works would bring too much coin, and the dear public be thereby swindled—considerate that! In the meantime, the art stores are full of good things for the holidays; excepting works by local painters, these are scarce, and if any are to be found, the price demanded exceeds by far the figures at which similar pictures are nightly sacrificed at in the auction shop. True, there may be a difference in the quality, but the public are not always discriminating enough to see it, and then, too, they are taught to believe that each painting, as it leaves the easel of the painter, is his last and best work. Vain belief—deluded public.

Truly, it must be said that local art is in a bad, very bad way, and no one is responsible for it but the artists themselves. If they have not respect enough for their profession to keep from painting such pictures and gorging the market with them, they must expect the public—the better part of it—to decline to pay large values for their works, though they are of a better quality.

FIRE MARSHAL DURKEE'S REPORT.

The "Commercial Herald" has the following summary of Fire Marshal Durkee's report for the year ending June 30, 1879: It shows that the total of fires and alarms was 387, of which number 323 were actual fires. In these there were 385 buildings destroyed, besides six outside fires of hay, jute, etc., and one tug-boat. There were 17 incendiary fires during the year, aggregating a total loss of $12,269 12, of which $7,555 75 was insured. The fireworks of our national celebration caused no less than 52 fires on July 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th of the present year. There being 323 actual fires, there was one fire during the official year to every 74 buildings of the city. The average loss per fire was $1,122, a low rate for San Francisco. Forty buildings were totally destroyed; 70 damaged over $300 each; the remainder under $300 apiece. Forty-five fires were extinguished without damage. Loss on buildings was $124,419 37; general insurance on buildings, $906,324 30. Insurance on loss, $75,447 96. General insurance on stock, furniture, etc., $1,355,881; loss, $238,097; insurance thereon, $133,019. Total loss on buildings, stock, etc., was $372,506. Insurance paid, $214,781. Cigar factories, Chinese laundries, and Chinese stores appear frequently on the list. The heaviest losses were on August 21, 1878, Murphy, Grant & Co., dry goods, loss $44,300; and January 14, 1879, Giant Powder Works, loss $38,200.

Krug Champagne.—Private Cuvee, in quarts and pints; Shield—Krug—in quarts and pints; Premiere Qualite, in quarts and pints. For sale by Hellman Bros. & Co., corner Front and Jackson streets.

SPORTING ITEMS.

Football.—Rugby is par excellence the school for football. Its disciples place that game far ahead of any nther out-door sport. Other large colleges and schools only accord football a secondary place, and practice it for lack of better sport during the winter months. The reason for this difference of opinion is easily explained. It needs the Rugby Union rules to make football popular, both to players and spectators: without them it lacks science, and puts a poor hand on an equality with a brilliant player. Under the Association rules, football has failed to create even a passing ripple of excitement in San Francisco, but under the Rugby Union rules its popularity is an assured fact. This is proven by the interest taken in the games played at Oakland, and the number of clubs, with good membership rolls, already started. The credit of this enthusiasm in the splendid game is in a great measure due to Messrs. Sanderson and Theobald, who, we believe, were the first to propose the new regime. Others soon flocked to their standard; the St. George's Rowing Club enlisted almost to a man, the Neptune Rowing Club sent a strong body nf recruits, and now we learn that the Olympic Club have formed a band to wrestle with the egg-shaped leather. The practice game at the Oakland Cricket Grounds last Saturday was in every respect a great success. The Olympian Football Club played fifteen men against the St. George's Club with seventeen. The attendance was good, the grounds were in good order, and the weather perfect. Following are the teams: Olympians—Forwards—Theobald, Whittaker, Whitehead, McCarty, Williams, Roxburgh, Foster and Catton; Half-backs—Dean, P. Thompson, Lachlan and Mathieu; Backs—Sanderson (Captain), Johnson and J. Thompson. St. George's—Forwards—Lawton, White, G. Brown, Belcher, O'Kell, G. Page, A. Page, Beesley, Cohen and Friedlander; Half-backs—Nicholson, Ferguson, Lucas and Girven; Backs—Wallace (Captain), Blackie and C. R. Brown. The Umpires were Messrs. Page and Thompson, who deserve credit for their efforts to make the games successful. The ball opened at 2:50 P. M. by a kick off for St. George, who carried the leather into the enemies country and kept it there, till Ferguson made a touchdown and goal for them at three minutes to three. The remainder of the play failed to produce another goal for either side—three twenty-minute and one fifteen-minute game being played, with one goal and one touchdown for St. George, against two touch-downs for the Olympians. Some of the players are first-class, especially Nicholson, Dean, Ferguson, Thompson, Theobald, Sanderson, C. R. Brown, Wallace, Girvin and Catton. Several of the others lack practice, the game being evidently new to them, for they exhibited a dread of scrummages that nothing but ignorance of their nature could inspire. It was noticed, too, that some of the players had plates or gutta percha bars on their shoes, which is prohibited for fear of accidents.——Last Thursday a football match was played at the Oakland Cricket Grounds between a picked 16 from the Olympian and St. George Clubs and 16 of the Phœoix Club. The latter club were late on the ground, game not being called till a few minutes before 3 P. M. Phœnix got the kick-off, but failed to follow up, having to touch-down for safety in less than five minutes. No points were made for full forty minntes, when Page got a touch-down for the Olympians, from which Ferguson kicked a goal. The next game was much shorter, the Phœnix getting a touch-down and goal in fifteen minutes. The remainder of the match failed to produce another goal, but the Olympians were evidently more than a match for their opponents, who did not score a point against six touch-downs for the Olympians. Some brilliant runs were made on both sides, but it was noticeable that the half-backs played more for effect than was beneficial to the interests of their respective sides. A considerable amount of wrangling took place, but perhaps that was caused by most of the Phœnix Club being ignorant of the rules.

Pedestrianism.—P. McIntyre and King Hedley have arranged a race on the following terms; one-half of the stake is already up, in the hands of Mr. Carmody, the stake-holder: The race to be 440 yards, to come off at the Recrcation Grounds, Sonday, December 14th, for $500 a side; the balance of the stake to be deposited in the hands of the stakeholdcr one day prior to the day of the race. Either party failing to come to the scratch to forfeit $250 to the nther. Gate money to be divided after paying legitimate expenses. McCullough, the well known sporting gambler, is alleged to he King Hedley's backer. McIntyre backs himself. The race may be for blood, but, in view of Hedley's shady performance with the Indian, and other brilliant failures, it is not good policy to take much stock in his races. Hedley is a good quarter-mile runner, and possibly can beat McIntyre, but his associations are not of a character to inspire confidence. In any case, it is not advisable for outsiders to bet on the result, as this hint might cause an alteration in the fixture, if such a thing exists.——The six-hour contest at Humboldt Hall, last Saturday, was a failure in every respect. The affair was not properly advertised, consequently there was no attendance.——The Pacific Coast Pedestrian League have already secured 26 entries for the six days' race they propose to start the latter end of December. The race being open to the world, should attract many pedestrians, especially as the winners get all the proceeds.——Guerrero, Santos and McFarlane are barred out of all competition, in which the P. C. P. League are interested. Cause, dishonest practices.

Rowing.—Great interest is being taken in the Hoyt-Leahy race, the betting being still a shade of odds on Hoyt. Leahy is taking regular practice, and is already in nearly perfect trim. Hoyt bas ordered a shell nf Twigg, to be completed in two weeks. It is made of Spanish cedar, 30 feet long, 14 in beam, 30 lbs. weight, 6½ inches deep. Hoyt will probably secure the services of W. H. Daily for coach and trainer, but has made no definite engagement with bim so far. An opinion is current that if Hoyt practices and rows with sliding seat he will have a better chance. This, we think, is incorrect, as there is not sufficient time before the race for him to master the new style of rowing. Should he practice with it and rnw with stationary seat, after all he would most likely find that he had thrown away his chance.——The Pioneer Club are trying a new four-oared barge made hy Twigg, length 35 feet, alleged weight 130 lbs., built of Spanish cedar. If the above figures are correct, she is by far the lightest boat on the bay. The Dolphin Club's barge, built by Griffin, which is so far conceded to be the best boat of her class here, is 34 feet long, and weighs 206 lbs.

Baseball.—Last appearance of the great Eastern baseball circus at the Recreation Grounds, Sunday, when the Chicago reconstructed club will play the Cincinnatis.——The Union Club are desirous of playing the Knickerbockers for $500 a side and gate receipts. We hear that the latter are ready and willing to meet them on their own terms.

Coursing.—There will be an interesting coursing meeting at Point nf Timbers, December 7th, at which the following matches will be run: Kitty Clover, of the Pacific Coast Club, against Dr. Meares' Monarch, best two in three, for a $300 purse; Thornhill against White Cloud, for a $50 purse; Tom Tunstead's California Boy against Lane's Lady Gay, for a $50 purse; Zerina against Douglas' Colleen Bawn (late Mary), for a $100 purse. R. J. Tidmarsh, of San Jose, will act as Judge, Tom Tunstead slipper. For the principal race Monarch is a good thing, bar accidents. The other matches are very even.

Bicycling.—The three days race for men commences this evening, with eight entries. From the practice we have seen during the week our opinion that 400 miles will not be made is strengthened, unless there is a dark horse in the race playing possom. Merril thows the best form, and possesses sufficient endurance for a long race; but we do not look for anything more than a graceful exhibition of riding at ordinary speed. The three ladies who exhibit before the match, in a two-hour contest, are all beginners. Lizzie Baymer, who is well known as a competitor in the late six-day walk, is the prettiest rider.

Shooting.—Wild geese are plentiful all through the southern part of the State, especially around Tulare Lake. Snipe still abound in the San Joaquin Valley and the islands of the Sacramento. Duck shooting is good at Reno, Sacramento, Suisun, and all through the coast counties.——K. Wertheimer made 183 out of a possible 200, with an open-sight Winchester rifle, at Alameda, last Sunday.——Just before dusk, snipe and teal fly in large numbers into the swamp at the south end of Merced Lake. We had some good sport there last Saturday.

Archery.—J. P. Allen, of the Bank of California, has organized an archery club, with one hundred members. The club expect to be in good working order by January 1st. J. P. Allen has an excellent reputation as an archer, having recently made the second best score nn record in this State.——The lady members of the Santa Cruz Olympic Club have started an archery club.

St. John's Presbyterian Church, Post street, between Mason and Taylor. Rev. Dr. Scott, Pastor, will preach Sunday morning at 11 A.M.; and the Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, of Stockton, at 7½ P.M. Sunday School and Bible Classes at 9½ A.M. Prayer and Praise Service at 6½ P.M.

BUSH-STREET THEATER.

Charles E. Locke, Proprietor and Manager---Carnival of Fun! Music and Mirth! Continued to Crowded Houses! The Famous COLVILLE OPERA BURLESQUE COMPANY, the most complete organization of the class in the world. BABES IN THE WOOD! An Enormous Success! Every Evening at 8 and Saturday Matinee at 2 o'clock, until further notice. A most delightful entertainment for families. New Scenery, New Music, New Costumes. Falcontrina's Musical Selections, the Mechanical Donkey, Ornithological Episode of WHO KILLED COCK ROBIN? in pantomimic verse by little children—the whole forming the most chastely beautiful entertainment, original with the Colville Company. Seats may be secured six days in advance. Nov. 29.

STANDARD THEATER.

M. A. Kennedy, Manager.--This (Saturday) Evening, Nov. 29th, Third and Last Week of

Dr. Clyde!

MR. JOHN E. OWENS as HIGGINS, "as it were." This (Saturday) Afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Positively the Last "Dr. Clyde" Matinee. Monday Evening, Dec. 1st—First production on any stage of THAT MAN FROM CATTARAUOUS. Mr. John E. Owens in a great part. Reserved Seats can be secured six days in advance at the Box Office without extra charge. Nov. 29.

CALIFORNIA THEATER.

W. B. Barton, Manager; Barton Hill, Acting Manager. This (Saturday) Evening, November 29th, Last Night of the Popular California Actor, MR. FRANK MAYO, as Davy Crockett!

With its Novel Mechanical Effects, Realistic Scenery, and Thrilling Tableaux. LAST DAVY CROCKETT MATINEE this Afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Monday, December 1st, Magnificent Production of THE STREETS OF NEW YORK, with MR. MAYO in his great character of BADGER. Nov. 29.

THE BALDWIN THEATER.

Thomas Maguire, Manager.---Brilliant Success! Houses Crowded, and Standing Room Only, to witness the strongest play ever acted,

Forget-Me-Not!

Every Evening, including Sunday, and Saturday Matinee. Mr. James O'Neill, Mr. Lewis Morrison, Miss Jeffreys-Lewis, Miss Eleanor Carey, and a very powerful cast. The Furniture used in the setting of this piece is from the warerooms of F. S. Chadbourne & Co., 735 Market street. Nov. 29.

ESSENTIAL OIL OF EUCALYPTUS AMYGDALINA.

Bossito's "Parrot" Brand is the original and only genuine Eucalyptus Oil imported, and used internally under medical prescription, and externally for all rheumatic and bronchial affections, as well as for local pains, bruises, sprains, etc., for which it is an undoubted specific. For sale by all druggists. W. H. CAMPBELL, Sole Agent.
Nov. 29. 402 Front street, San Fraocisco.

SEEDS.

R. J. Trumbull & Co., 419 and 421 Sansome street. Kentucky Blue Grass, Alfalfa, Mosquit, Timothy, etc., etc. Vegetable Seeds of all descriptions. Nov. 29.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The Company's steamers will sail as follows at 12 M:
CITY OF TOKIO, Dec. 27th, March 20th—CITY OF PEKINO, Feb. 7th, May 1st—for YOKOHAMA and HONGKONG.

CHINA, November 29th, for PANAMA and NEW YORK, calling at ACAPULCO. Tickets to and from Europe by any line for sale at the lowest rates; also to Havana and all West India ports.

AUSTRALIA, December 22d, at 12 o'clock M., or on arrival of the English mails, for HONOLULU, AUCKLAND and SYDNEY. $10 additional is charged for passage in Upper Saloon.

. DAKOTA, November 29th, for VICTORIA, PORT TOWNSEND, SEATTLE, and TACOMA, connecting at TACOMA with Northern Pacific Railroad for PORTLAND, Oregon. Tickets must be purchased before 11 A.M. on day of sailing, at Wharf Office. For freight or passage apply at the office, cor. First and Brannan streets. [Nov. 29.] WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents.

THE IRISH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

The United States are the home of the oppressed and overcrowded of Europe, and, we may say, also of Asia. On this Continent the indigent of all nations have been welcomed as they never were before in the history of the world; and, during the last hundred years, the poorest have risen to such positions of comfort, wealth and luxury, as were never before known. In this category of indigent people, the Irish have been most conspicuous, and particularly during the last forty years. At the time of the potato famine in Ireland, in 1846 and 1847, there was an extraordinary exodus to this country, and within a few years the population was reduced in a very material degree. In 1831 the population of Ireland amounted to 7,767,401, in 1841 to 8,175,124, in 1851 to 6,551,970, in 1861 to 5,798,967, in 1871 to 5,386,708, and in 1879 it is estimated at 5,363,324. This may seem at first sight to be a rather doleful record of the movement of population, but in reality there are two views in which these figures may be regarded. If the potato famine drove vast numbers from their native country under conditions of the greatest hardship and suffering, this enforced exodus was the means of opening up the way for large bodies of men and women, by causing those who were not so driven by the stress of circumstances to obtain a knowledge of how they might immensely improve their material condition by emigrating to other countries, where labor was in much greater demand, and where the resources and industries of the countries were much more varied. The Irish people were so numerous in proportion to their wealth and products previous to 1846, that the poorer classes were perpetually on the verge of starvation; and they were so ignorant and so little inclined to remove from the land of their birth, that the outside world was to them, in great measure, terra incognita. It required the terrible effects of absolute famine, starvation and death to break the spell that bound them ignorantly to their own country, where the population was altogether in excess of the means of living, and to compel them to seek the higher scale of wages and of living that other countries freely offered to them. Having once found their way to the United States and to the large cities of England and Scotland, what could be more natural than that increasing knowledge of life and labor in other parts of the world should cause hundreds of thousands who were in no danger of starving to feel an ambition to better themselves in the world by finding a larger field and unbounded prospects for themselves and their children. The emigration from Ireland was not something to be mourned over and regretted; it was an act of wisdom and prudence; it was the instinct of self-preservation, leaving behind the dangers and risks of starvation, and looking to countries where no such dangers existed, with a hopefulness of a better lot in the world than the bulk of the Irish race had ever dreamed of before. It was the beginning of a new era for the poorer Irish, an era that was to lead forth the superfluous population from their narrow, restricted sphere and their wretched mode of existence, into new lands and new spheres of labor, where they would acquire comfort, wealth, intelligence and independence. To those who remained behind there was a larger field of labor in the diminished numbers; and the movement of population in Ireland shows that the temptations of the outside world are too great for the Irish people to prefer poverty and increasing numbers at home, while comfort, independence, and even wealth, are awaiting them elsewhere.

We have therefore no sympathy with the visionary, restless and unfounded feeling that somehow it is a hardship that can never be forgotten, for Irishmen to have had to leave their native country. How many thousands and hundreds of thousands of Englishmen, Scotsmen and Germans have left their birthplaces, and much that was dear to them, in order to find in distant lands, among strangers, that comfort and hope in the world that their overcrowded native land could not possibly offer them. But instead of mourning over the necessity, or more probably the ambition, that led them forth in pursuit of new homes and new hopes, they feel as if they can never be too grateful for the opportunity that enabled them to plant themselves in a free, energetic, wealthy society where the race is generally to the swift and the battle to the strong. They may cherish the strongest affection for their native country and the homes and friends they have left behind them; but they accept the inevitable destiny that fate has decreed to them, while they cherish a reverence for the country from which they sprung. Their active affections cluster around the land of their adoption. They feel content and at peace with the world. But with the Irish race, as a whole, there is a hungering after the visionary, the impracticable, the impossible. They seem unable to realize that the land of their adoption gives them advantages which are impossible of attainment in Ireland. They fancy that all the opportunities and benefits offered in the United States ought to be offered to them in Ireland; and they delude themselves into the belief that if Ireland does not present all the advantages of the United States for indefinite numbers of people, it is because of the union with Great Britain; because of the authority of the British Government, in which, nevertheless, Irishmen themselves have their due share of influence. They dream of the potent spell of an Irish Republic, and have no doubt as to its efficacy; while the history of the world is teaching to those who have eyes to see and intelligence to apprehend, that no old over-crowded country can possibly present to poor people the prospects that are offered by those new births of new worlds that have been witnessed during the last half century, and which have absorbed millions of the superfluous populations of Europe, and thus warded off the famine and starvation that must otherwise have overtaken populations increasing in numbers on a limited area without large outlets for emigration and for trade. The Englishman is content to find that he has immeasurably benefited himself by seeking a new country, and that he has left more elbow-room for those that remain behind; and he does not delude himself into fancying that if there had been an English Republic, he might have had all the comfort and prosperity of his adopted home, while still remaining in the land of his birth. He accepts the facts of history and the records of experience, and tries to find the greatest amount of happiness in the lot that he has chosen, without worrying his life out with imaginary cogitations as to how to transplant the comfortable and prosperous life of the United States, where now there is only miserable existence among the poorer classes in old countries. This hankering after the impossible is one of the vices of the Irish people, though happily the second generation in this country, with soberer imagination and more sympathy with material well-being, and less sympathy with the mere flutter of romantic visions, are in a large measure exempt from this weakness. They value the independence and equality to which they are born; they value the splendid opportunities open to talent, energy and application; and at the same time they feel the difference between free America and Ireland with the associations of the feudalism, from which it has but lately emerged, still hanging around its people and its institutions. This second generation and their descendants may revere old Ireland, and prize its history and the rich associations that cluster around it, but they are content that it should remain to them a memory, and not an abiding place. They may visit it and revive inherited feelings as to its glories and its grandeur; but they have so long breathed a freer atmosphere that they have no desire to voluntarily merge themselves in a narrower life and narrower surroundings. They may venerate old Ireland, but they will choose to live and breathe in the United States.

INSURANCE.

HUTCHINSON & MANN,

INSURANCE AGENCY,

No. 322 & 324 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Fire Insurance.

GIRARD..... of Philadelphia.	LA CAISSE GENERALE.....of Paris.
HOME..... .....of Columbus.	ST. PAUL.....of St. Paul.
NEW ORLEANS ASSOCIATION.....	TEUTONIA.....of New Orleans.
PEOPLES.....of Newark.	BERLIN-COLOGNE.....of Berlin.
REVERE..... .....of Boston.	LA CONFIANCE.....of Paris.

Marine Insurance.

PARIS UNDERWRITING ASSOCIATION.....of Paris.
LONDON AND PROVINCIAL MARINE INSURANCE CO.....of London.

Capital Represented.....$23,000,000.

All Losses Equitably Adjusted and Promptly Paid.

HOME MUTUAL INSURANCE CO. OF CALIFORNIA.

Principal Office, 406 California Street, San Francisco.
Cash Assets, January 1, 1877, $595,291; Liabilities, $5,952; Surplus for Policy Holders, $589,339. J. F. Houghton, President; L. L. Baker, Vice-President; Charles R. Story, Secretary. R. H. MAGILL, H. H. BIGELOW, General Agents.

DIRECTORS.—San Francisco—L. L. Baker, John H. Redington, J. F. Houghton, R. B. Gray, Robert Watt, John Currey, L. L. Baker, W. F. Whittier, C. C. Burr, E. M. Root, W. H. White, J. L. N. Shepard, W. M. Greenwood, George S. Mann, Cyrus Wilson, W. T. Garratt, C. Waterhouse, A. P. Hotaling, A. Block, A. K. P. Harmon, G. S. Johnson, W. O. Wilson, A. W. Bowman, H. L. Dodge, Charles R. Story. Alameda County Branch—V. D. Moody, Chauncy Taylor, A. C. Henry, Robert S. Farrelly, Joseph B. Marlin, W. B. Hardy, T. B. Simpson. San Diego—A. H. Wilcox. Sacramento—Mark Hopkins, D. W. Earl, Julius Wetzlar, James Carolan. San Jose—T. Ellard Beans, B. D. Murphy, A. Pfister, J. H. Dibble, J. S. Carter, Jackson Lewis, Jacob Rich, John Auzerais, John Balbach. Stockton—H. H. Hewlett, Chas. Belding, J. D. Peters, A. W. Simpson, H. M. Fanning. Marysville—D. E. Knight. Grass Valley—Wm. Watt, T. W. Sigourney. Portland, Oregon—W. S. Ladd, C. H. Lewis, P. Wasserman, B. Goldsmith, D. Macleay. Virginia City, Nevada—John Gillig, Isaac L. Requa. March 17.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.--UNION INS. CO. OF S. F.

The California Lloyds.---Established in 1861.---Nos. 416 and 418 California street. Cash capital $750,000 in Gold. Assets exceed $1,000,000 Coin. Fair Rates! Prompt Settlement of Loses!! Solid Security!! DIRECTORS.—SAN FRANCISCO—J. Mora Moss, N. G. Kittle, M. J. O'Connor, R. S. Floyd, Moses Heller, Adam Grant, Daniel Meyer, Antoine Borel, Charles Kobler, E. L. Goldstein, I. Lawrence Pool, A. Weill, Joseph Brandenstein, Charles Bamn, James Moffitt, Benjamin Brewster, L. Cunningham, W. M. Hoag, Nicholas Luning, John Parrott, L. A. Booth, Julius Baum, Myles D. Sweeney, Jas. M. Goewey, Edward Cadwalader Bartlett Doe, Gustave Touchard, J. H. Baird, J. G. Kittle, George C. Hickox, C. Duconmun, Wm. Scbolle, John Conly, Ig. Steinhart, W. B. Stone, J. O. Eldridge, A. B. Phipps.

GUSTAVE TOUCHARD, President. N. G. KITTLE, Vice-President.
CHARLES D. HAVEN, Secretary. GEO. T. BOHEN, Surveyor. Aug. 31.

THE STATE INVESTMENT AND INSURANCE CO.

FIRE AND MARINE.

Cash Assets, $450,000.---Principal Office, 218 and 220 San- some street, San Francisco. OFFICERS:—A. J. BRYANT, President; RICHARD IVERS, Vice-President; CHARLES H. CUSHING, Secretary; H. H. WATSON, Marine Surveyor. BOARD OF DIRECTORS:—Peter Donahue, James Irvine, C. D. O'Sullivan, A. Bocqueraz, R. Harrison, A. H. Rutherford, R. Bailey, E. W. Corbett, George O. McMullin, A. J. Bryant, Frank M. Pixley, E Burke, H. H. Watson, Dr. C. F. Buckley, P. J. White, E. M. Root, M. Mayblum, Richard Ivers, John Rosenfeld, Daniel Callaghan. P. H. Russell, Sacramento. John G. Downey, Los Angeles. Wm. Hood, Sonoma County. H. W. Seale, Mayfield. Geo. Rutherford, San Jose. Feb. 16.

THE MARINE INSURANCE CO. OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

[ESTABLISHED 1836.]

Whole Amount of Joint Stock and Guaranteed Capital..$5,000,000.
Whole Amount of Capital paid up..... 900,000.
Cash Assets December 31, 1876..... 3,710,000.

The undersigned have been duly authorized to issue Policies at current rates on Freight and Shipments to or from England, Europe, New York, Japan, China, Australian Colonies, Sandwich Islands, and Northern Coast Ports. If desired, policies made payable at port of termination.

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents,
Aug. 10. 218 California street.

THE SWISS MARINE INS. COMPANIES COMBINED.

Switzerland, of Znrich, Capital 5,000,000 francs; Helvetia, of St. Gall, Capital 10,000,000 francs; Baloise, of Basle, Capital 5,000,000 francs. These three Companies are liable jointly and severally for all losses that may be sustained. Losses made payable in all the principal seaports of the world. In the settlement of all claims under an English policy, these Companies will strictly adhere to the conditions and customs adopted at Lloyds, and submit to English jurisdiction.
June 9. HARRY W. SYZ, Agent, 225 Sansome st., S. F.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSUR. CO. OF BOSTON.

Has transacted the business of Life Insurance for nearly thirty-five years. Its assets amount to over FOURTEEN MILLION DOLLARS. The law of Massachusetts makes all its Policies nonforfeitable. It is a Purely Mutual Company, dividing every cent of surplus among Policy-holders. This is the ONLY Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Lapse Law. This company has complied with the new Insurance Laws of California.

WALLACE EVERSON, General Agent.
Sept. 22.] 328 Montgomery street.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN MARINE INS. CO. OF LIVERPOOL.

Capital $5,000,000.---Agents: Balfour, Guthrie & Co., No. 316 California street, San Francisco. Nov. 18.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

"What is the weight of Love?" I said
To a little maiden, whose curly head
Was thoughtfully bent o'er the dismal slate
Whereon was a sum she must calculate.

"Love is as light as a thistle-ball,"
Was her laughing answer; "no weight at all
Has the will-o'-the-wisp, who goes and comes,
And never is bothered with horrid sums!"

"How would you measure Love?" "That depends!"
Said the merry maiden with host of friends,
As she smoothed her dress till its silken fold
In the sunlight shimmered like cloth of gold:

"In my opinion, O curious bard!
Love is like calico, bought by the yard,
Or drawn from a fountain with depth so small
A half-pint measure would hold it all!"

"What is the weight of Love?" I asked
An aged matron, so overtasked
With household duties her care-worn face
Had lost the marks of its youthful grace.

"Lightly I held my love, I know,
In that beautiful season of long ago;
But now," she said, with a deepening frown,
"Love is a burden that weighs me down!"

* * * * * * *

Love is heavy, and love is light,
Deep and shallow, and dark and bright,
Bounded not by an earthly chart,
Yet held in the compass of one true heart!

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

THE FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW, for November. London: Chapman & Hall.

The November number of the Fortnightly is of more than average interest, and sustains its reputation as the leading Review of the London monthlies. It opens with an article entitled "A German View of the British Army," by a captain in the Pomeranian Uhlans. The writer regards the British system as very cumbrous and unsatisfactory, wanting in homogeneousness, and altogether behiud the intelligence of the nation, as shown in other fields of organization. He thinks that the abolition of purchase and formation of a reserve bardly a beginning of reform. Dr. Burney Yeo, in an article on "Winter Quarters," gives a very interesting account of the various places to which Europeans resort in winter, in search of a climate mild enough for consumptives and persons threatened with any weakness of the lungs. Chiefly, of course, he treats the subject as one affecting Englishmen, and criticises the various noted winter resorts from the point of view of being refuges from the three objectionable features of the English climate in winter, namely: damp, cold, and variability. He notices Davos in the Grisons, the Upper Engadine, Egypt and the Nile, Madeira, Mogador on the west coast of Africa near Senegal, Algiers, Tangier, the Riviera, Cannes, Nice, Arcachon, Pau, Amelie les Bains, in the Eastern Pyrenees, etc., and seems to give the preference to Mogador and Tangier. Dr. Yeo's views ought to prove interesting to the medical men of this coast, as tending to show the relative merits of climates according to the latest ideas of the most qualified judges, as it seems to us important that the merits of the various health resorts in California should be classified and set forth for the benefit of invalids. There are doubtless some spots in this State that will rival anything in Europe or Africa. Mr. Hamilton Lang contributes an article on "The Austrians in Bosnia," which is followed by one from the pen of Mrs. William Grey, on "Men and Women." Mrs. Grey has taken a very deep interest in all the modern questions that concern her sex in England, and in the present article shows, in a very temperate form, the disabilities under which women labor, and the injustice to which they are subjected, both by law and by social prejudice. She advocates the extension of the Parliamentary franchise to women, on grounds that are meeting with growing acceptance in England, and, as Lord Beaconsfield has expressed himself favorable to the principle, it is hard to say how soon it may flash on English politics as one of the surprises of conservative legislation. Mr. J. A. Symonds makes a few brief comments on Mr. Matthew Arnold's "Selections from Wordsworth." Mr. Wilfrid S. Blunt writes very interestingly on "An Indo-Mediterranean Railway: Fiction and Fact," showing that, so far as India is concerued, the Suez Canal would not be superseded by any such railway either for war or commerce, and that concentration of attention on the Suez Canal route is of infinitely more importance to India than diverting attention toward a railway which would not be used for troops, even in the exigency of having to face another Indian mutiny. The Railway might have some importance in a strategical point of view in Turkey in Asia, but it is doubtful if even the best selected route for commercial purposes would ever pay its expenses. Mr. Blunt regards the inhabitants of that country as a decaying people. "Western Asia," he says, "indeed, does not ask for these, only to be allowed to live, or, if needs must, to die in peace. This, if I may say it without a paradox, is their best chance of life. To endow them with railways and canals, except as a pure gift, without cost or burden to them in construction or maintenance, could only hasten the end. They have not the strength for such remedies." Mr. F. Harrison contributes an article on "The Conflict of Laws," and Mr. A. Page one on "Assurance Investments."

Hygiena of tha Voica; Its Physiology and Anatomy. By Ghislani Durant, M D., Ph. D., etc. A New and Revised Edition. Cassell, Petter & Galpin, New York; Billings, Harbourne & Co., San Francisco.

One is glad to see that this book has met with a favorable reception from the public, for it is filled with sound advice and precious bints on the management and preservation of the voice, which is of some use to all of us, though we often cry out for a good commodity of silence. Dr. Durant gives a concise account of the anatomy of the vocal organs, and the manner in which they are affected by a healtby or unhealthy state of the general system; and he lays down rules for the proper exercise and strengthening of the lungs and throat. The chapters on Respiration, Alimentation, Sleep and Preservation of the Voice, contain much that is valuable for the maintenance of the vital powers in general, and will repay perusal by all.

BANKS.

THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital.....$3,000,000.
WM. ALVORD.....President.
THOMAS BROWN, Cashier | B. MURRAY, Jr., Ass't Cashier

AGENTS:

New York, Agency of the Bank of California; Boston, Tremont National Bank Chicago, Union National Bank; St. Louis, Boatman's Saving Bank; New Zealand, the Bank of New Zealand; London, China, Japan, India and Australia, the Oriental Bank Corporation.

The Bank has Agencies at Virginia City and Gold Hill, and Correspondents in all the principal Mining Districts and Interior Towns of the Pacific Coast.

Letters of Credit issued, available in all parts of the world. Draw direct on London, Dublin, Paris, Berlin, Bremen, Hamburg, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Antwerp, Amsterdam, St. Petersburgh, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Christiana, Locarno, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland, Hongkong, Shanghai, Yokohama. Nov. 4.

FIRST NATIONAL GOLD BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Paid up Capital $2,000,000, Gold. President, R. C. Woolworth; Vice-President, D. Callaghan; Cashier, E. D. Morgan.

DIRECTORS:—R. C. Woolworth, D. Callaghan, C. G. Hooker, C. Adolph Low, Peter Donahue, Isaac Wormser, Edward Martin, James Moffitt, N. Van Bergen.

CORRESPONDENTS—London: Baring Bros. & Co. Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China. Dublin: Provincial Bank of Ireland. Hamburg: Hesse, Neuman & Co. Paris: Hottinguer & Co. New York: National Bank of Commerce. Boston: Blackstone National Bank. Chicago: First National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact a general Banking business. Deposits in Gold, Silver and Currency received subject to check or on special deposit. Exchange for sale on the principal cities of the United States, Great Britain, Ireland and the Continent. Commercial Credits issued available in Europe, China and Japan. Collections attended to and prompt returns made at the lowest market rates of Exchange. Jan. 19.

BANK OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Incorporated by Royal Charter.—Capital paid up, $1,800,000, with power to increase to $10,000,000. Southeast corner California and Sansome streets. Head Office—28 Cornhill, London. Branches—Portland, Oregon; Victoria, New Westminster and Cariboo, British Columbia.

This Bank transacts a General Banking Business. Accounts opened subject to Check and Special Deposits received. Commercial Credits granted available in all parts of the world. Approved Bills discounted and advances made on good collateral security. Draws direct at current rates upon its Head Office and Branches, and upon its Agents as follows:

New York, Chicago and Canada—Bank of Montreal; Liverpool—North and Soutb Wales Bank; Scotland—British Linen Company; Ireland—Bank of Ireland; Mexico and South America—London Bank of Mexico and South America; China and Japan—Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and Oriental Bank; Australia and New Zealand—Bank of Australasia, Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, and English, Scottish and Australian Chartered Bank.

May 18. FREDERICK TOWNSEND, Manager.

LONOON ANO SAN FRANCISCO BANK, LIMITEO.

Capital, $5,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is fully paid up as present capital. Reserve Fund, $360,000. San Francisco Office, 424 California street; London Office, 22 Old Broad street. Manager, ARTHUR SCRIVENER; Cashier, WILLIAM STEEL. London Bankers, Bank of England and London Joint Stock Bank; New York, Drexel, Morgan & Co.; Boston, Third National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact all kinds of General Banking and Exchange Business in London and San Francisco, and between said cities and all parts of the world. March 30.

THE NEVAOA BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Capitel Paid Up.....$3,000,000.
Resarve, U. S. Bonds..... 3,500,000.
Agency at New York, 62 Wall street.
Agency at Virginia, Nev.

Buys and sells Exchange and Telegraphic Transfers. Issues Commercial and Travelers' Credits. This Bank has special facilities for dealing in Bullion. Nov. 8.

SECURITY SAVINGS BANK.

GUARANTEE CAPITAL, - - - - - - - $300,000.

Officers: Vice-President, Jerome Lincoln; Secretary, W. S. Jones; Attorney, Sidney V. Smith. Loans made on Real Estate and other Approved Securities. Office: No. 215 Sansome street, San Francisco. Oct. 14.

THE GERMAN SAVINGS ANO LOAN SOCIETY.

Deutsche Spar und Leihbank, No 526 California street, San Francisco. OFFICERS: President, L. GOTTIG. BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—Fred. Roeding, Chas. Kohler, Edw. Kruse, George H. Eggers, N. Van Bergen, H. L. Simon, Peter Spreckels, Ign. Steinhart. Secretary, GEO. LETTE; Attorney, JOHN R. JARBOE. May 18.

THE ANGLO-CALIFORNIAN BANK, LIMITEO.

422 California St., San Francisco.

London Office, 3 Angel Court; New York Agents, J. W. Selligman & Co., 21 Broad street. Authorized Capital Stock, $6,000,000. Will receive Deposits, open Accounts, make Collections, buy and sell Exchange and Bullion, loan Money, and issue Letters of Credit available throughout the world.

FRED. F. LOW, IGN. STEINHART, Managers.
P. N. LILIENTUAL, Casbier. Sept. 13.

AGGREGATE ASSETS, $38,789,065.

Imperial Fire Insurance Co., of London..... .....Instituted 1803.
London Assurance Corporation, of London.... .....
.....Established by Royal Charter 1720.
Northern Assuranca Corporation, of London.....Estabiiahed 1836.
Quaan Insurance Company, of Liverpool.....Estabiiahed 1857.

A JOINT POLICY ISSUED BY THE FOUR COMPANIES.

ROBERT DICKSON, Manager.
W. LANE BOOKER, Agent and Attorney.
317 CALIFORNIA STREET, S. F. [Oct. 11.

CUMBERLANO MINE,

Yavapal County, Arizona. Office: No. 417 California st., San Francisco, California. President, GEORGE M. CIPRICO. Secretary, J. H. GRIFFITHS. Office Hours: 2 P.M. daily. Oct. 11.

R. H. LLOYO,

Attorney-at-Law, Room 13, Nevada Block.

THE RESTRAINTS OF AN EDITOR.

May an editor safely write all that good motives and justifiable ends would impel him to do? The unthinking many would, in all honesty of impulse, answer, "Yes, certainly." They would, however, he most egregiously mistaken. His ends may he altogether righteous, and his motives as exalted as the heavens, and yet he may not always publish what he knows. We know this sounds strangely inconsistent with that section in the Constitution which says that "every person may speak, write and publish his sentiments upon all subjects," but to that section there is an important addition. Every person may speak, write and publish, but he is to he "responsible therefor to the law." He may know of crying wrongs that the whole people ought to right; he may personally he as sure that they exist as that the sun shines at noonday, and yet he may not venture to give them publicity. It is not sufficient to know a thing of your own knowledge, nor is it even sufficient that you can produce honest witnesses to prove that their knowledge agrees with your own. You must he very sure that the wrong-doers cannot produce a large number of dishonest witnesses to swear the other way. The majority vote has become a marvelous power in this land. Under its authority crimes are committed that are a disgrace to humanity. It is bought and sold as a merchantable commodity. It is too often a brutalized and corrupted thing. It says who shall fill the Presidential chair, and who shall occupy the jury box. It determines whether your property, liberty, or life shall he forfeited. It declares who shall rule over the nation. It may declare the one and determine the other, falsely and corruptly, for bad ends and from infamous motives. Aye! a majority vote has become a mighty engine. There are those who know how to manage it, and those who do not. Truth and honor sometimes control it, but oftener they do not. In Congress, in legislative halls, and in political organizations, truth and honor are strangely perverted terms. Even in jury boxes and on witness stands they do not always find a place. We know they do not. We are well aware of examples in point, but we dare not declare them, because the interests of the witnesses are entirely the other way, and, if necessary, the jurors, who might he called upon to try the facts, would assuredly find it to their interests to agree with the witnesses though they believed them not. Brokers for jurors and witnesses are becoming quite common in this city, and there are lawyers who know the fact, and are well aware of how to avail themselves of it. We know very high legal lights who engage themselves in the business; but though we know them, it would he decidedly unsafe to name them, because of their success in the very operations we should he denouncing. We know Supervisors who have been corrupted, but if we were to say who they are we should he outnumbered in the jury box and on the witness stand. We know men who ought to have been indicted, but never will be, because of a crooked majority vote. We know others who have been indicted, but will never he convicted, for the same reason. We have often discussed grave evils, being impelled by knowledge we could not, with legal safety, always disclose. When we made our celebrated exposure of the quacks, we were in possession of knowledge that would have astounded this community, but we could not publish that which all the witnesses were interested in denying. The best we could do was to attack the scoundrels for lesser offenses that we could prove, but drawing our vim and force from a knowledge of the larger offenses which we could not. Though thus handicapped, we generally succeeded in reaching the rascals in some way or other. The knowledge which an editor has he cannot always publish. He has to ask himself not only is the thing true, but "can I so clearly maintain its truthfulness as to defy the machinations of money, the falsity of corrupted witnesses, and the power of the bought jurors." If he is not sure that the nature of the allegations and the character of the proof are so welded together as to give him rights at law, that neither false witnesses nor bought jurors can take away, then, although he may he as sure that the allegations are true as that the sun shines at noonday, it is the part of discretion to suppress any and all of the facts that hy any possibility may he made away with. When an editor is more pronounced than his allegations would seem to justify, then the reader may well take it for granted that there is more in the case than meets the eye. He may rest assured that there is a knowledge of evils that cannot he printed, but which are stirring the righteous indignation of the writers. We have given an illustration of that in the case of the quacks. We might supply even a more vivid one in reference to certain hotels that are dens of iniquity. We may know a case in which a hotel manager severed the bell connection with a young lady's room, entered therein, committed a capital offense, and escaped being hanged, as he ought to he, because of the belief of the lady's aged and sensible advisers that she would he ruined if her name were dragged before the public. Suppose we knew such a case as that, that we were assured of the purity of the lady, and of the infamy of the surrounding facts, what, in that case, would he the opinion of the reader as to our duty in the premises? "Expose, denounce, gibbet the monster! Hold him up to public infamy!" Hold on, friend. Not so fast. We might he sure of the facts, yet not able to contend with corrupted testifiers, and the wishes of the friends of the party injured are entitled to primary consideration. Then, in regard to another case, at a totally different hotel, we might possibly know that a young girl of 18 years had occasion to be there, that she was intercepted hy the proprietor, who made an offer that, for an infamous consideration, she might have all the dresses and money she wanted, that, when she in her innocency failed to understand the proposition, he repeated it in the foulest terms known to the English tongue; that she rushed in tears and anguish of mind to the bosom of her mother, the best of all shelters for a virtuous girl, and there told of the brutal insult that had been offered to her by a man whom she had known as her father's friend from the days of her childhood, that the mother has been compelled to keep the full facts from that father until this day, because of her knowledge that a deed of violence would inevitably follow the disclosure. Suppose that pure girl were a friend of the writers, what ought he to say to his readers? Their first impulse would he to say, "Tell the facts and names, though the heavens fall." But the sober second thought reveals innumerable difficulties in the way of such a course. The father would be unable to control himself, the girl's character, though pure, would not he advantaged by her having been the victim of so ruffianly a verbal assault, and the capacity of her assailant to buy witnesses, secure "putters up of jobs," and to fix things generally, might accomplish much, though it certainly could never wash a blackamoor white. Imagine this writer to know such facts, and yet doubt his capacity to legally prove them, what ought he to do? What he will do, is to live long enough to see that hotel proprietor an impecunious outcast, and, ere then, to see the windows of his hotel ticketed with the words "To Let." Toward bringing about those results, he will contribute whatever of force there is in a pen that has never yet failed when directed against infamy in high places. He may be restrained to-day from naming what he may not prove, but the time is near at hand when he will prove a great deal that he does not now name.

MR. SEWARD'S RESIGNATION.

It is rumored that Geo. T. Seward, U. S. Minister to China, has resigned, or is about to do so; and the report is probably well-founded. He must have been convinced by the proceedings of the last Congress that a fair and impartial hearing of the charges against him is out of the question, and, as it is pretty well understood that the prosecution of these charges is to he resumed at the next session, and as it is almost certain that he will he condemned by a strict party vote, regardless of the merits of the case, it is only natural that he wishes to put an end to the struggle by resigning his office. It is disgraceful that a matter of such importance as that in question cannot he impartially heard and decided on its merits; but such seems to he the case, and one must submit to the inevitable. Of some of the charges against Mr. Seward we know nothing; but if the statements of gentlemen, of different nativities, who are well acquainted with the facts, can he trusted, some of the principal charges are ridiculous. For instance, his connection with the Woosung Railroad is made the basis of one charge. This enterprise was instituted by Americans, though it eventually became English, and Mr. Seward naturally and properly assisted the negotiations for the purchase of the road-way. It is possible that he, like many others, bought land near the road; but that the undertaking was merely a land-jobbing operation, no one familiar with the facts will believe. The road in question was, of itself, of no importance, being only nine or ten miles in length, and ending nowhere; but it was supposed that the Chinese, when they should have seen the road in operation, would appreciate its value, and grant permission to extend it to Soo Chow, and that it would lead to the construction of many other railroads. The feeling of the whole foreign population of Shanghai, of all nationalities, was strongly in favor of the road; and it must have surprised them to learn that Mr. Seward had, by aiding them in the matter, incurred the censure of his Government. Another count in the indictment is that, by an arrangement with the United States Marshal, Mr. Seward paid him a fixed salary and retained the fees of the office. This is undoubtedly true, but the fees were retained to pay the necessary expenses of the Consulate, and Mr. Seward made no secret of what he was doing. When he went to Shanghai he found that he must pay, for very ordinary Consular offices, a much higher rent than the Government allowed, and that his clerical force was utterly insufficient. Under these circumstances he resorted to the above-mentioned arrangement with the Marshal, as a temporary expedient, and at once informed the Department of what he had done, and that, unless the allowance for the Consulate could he increased, he must tender his resignation. The reply was that his arrangement with the Marshal was irregular, but that he must keep the Consulate going somehow, and he continued to keep it going in the manner above-mentioned. That Mr. Seward's action in this matter was irregular is evident; but the idea of making it the basis of a quasi-criminal charge, must have originated in either malice or self-interest. The other charges we shall not attempt to deal with; but enough appears in what we have already written to show the animus of the prosecution, and to raise the presumption that the other charges are as groundless as the two under discussion. Mr. Seward, as Consul, Consul-General and Minister, appears to have been highly respected by the whole foreign population of Shanghai and Peking; but he has probably found, as so many others have done, that everything must give way to the exigencies of party politics.

SOME THINGS THAT ARE BEING SAID.

Our most worthy Captain of Detectives has gone on a secret mission, and people are wondering what is up now. The surmises are numerous. Some persons say that he has gone to interview Cooper, and that he expects to get Treadwell's, or somebody's, money out of him. We are very sure there is money in the trip for somebody. Nothing less would justify the Captain's leaving San Francisco's dangers to take care of themselves for so long a time. It may be that he has gone to congratulate ex-Supervisor Atcheson on his knowledge of silence and ignorance of division. Who knows?

It is said that E. J. Baldwin admits that he attempted to gnaw a file when he commenced his now dismissed libel suit against the News Letter. He won't do it again, that he won't! He thinks that he may as well, first as last, take the good advice of the News Letter, and let his hotel to an experienced hotel manager of good morals, sobriety and established character. If he hesitates he is lost, as it will he our duty to point out to him, when next we allude to the subject, as we shall continue to do, for his and the public's good.

The Hon. Frank McCoppin is acting as Harbor Commissioner; he was appointed for a term of four years by Governor Irwin, and his friends hope he will be permitted to serve out his alotted time, as otherwise the city is likely to lose the sight of his "faultless physique" for quite a while. Mr. McCoppin has views which will take him abroad, if he should he removed from his present position. As Supervisor, Mayor and Senator, he has done the city great service. He is the author of several of our very best laws. His absence would he regretted by our best citizens.

It is understood that the salary-pledge decision was, after all, a matter of arrangement. Judge Wright, finding that he could not stand the pressure, proposed to take a holiday, and have Judge Redman, of Oakland, occupy his seat, and decide as his inclinations would lead him in favor of the Workingmen. A point of law was, however, sprung which settled the case, and let both Wright and Redman out. By the way, it is said that A. A. Cohen took the credit for originating that point of law, but in reality obtained it from a young lawyer.

The "News Letter" and General Grant.—To illustrate how wide and far-reaching is the influence of the NEWS LETTER, we mention the fact that an editorial in this paper of only three weeks ago has already been copied in the St. Louis "Republican," the New York "Sun" (largest circulated paper in America), Louisville "Courier-Journal," Boston "Post," New Orleans "Picayune," Charleston "Mercury," Richmond "Enquirer," Washington "Post," Cincinnati "Commercial," and Galveston "News." These are among the greatest journals of the country. The article copied from the NEWS LETTER was entitled "Is Gen. Grant Becoming Insane."

THE TOWN CRIER.

"Hear the Crier." "What the devil art thou?
"One that will play the devil, sir, with you."

"He'd a sting in his tail as long as a flail,
Which made him grow bolder and bolder."

It is seldom that a serious item creeps into these columns, and then only when it has a ludicrous side to it, as is the case in the following incident: Our well-known physician and entomologist, Dr. Behr, was called upon this week to amputate the leg of a man named Patrick McGlanchlin, of 462 Natoma street, who had fallen from a scaffold and broken his right thigh in three places. He was taken to the Hospital, and nursed carefully until the morning of the operation. The Doctor encouraged him by saying that he would suffer no pain, and bade him not to be afraid, as he would be under the influence of chloroform. "I'll not take it, Doctor," he cried, "if yez wants me to bear up like a man, keep the shleepy stuff away from me. When yez after cutting and sawing at me, lit one of yer men keep feeding me with cold meat, that I can close my jaws on and bite at whin the pain's too great for me. I'll not cry, I warrant me." The kindly physician knew how men clench and grind their teeth when in pain, and following out the suggestion of the brave sufferer, had a large plate of cold fowl and ham in the operating room, flanked by bread, stimulants, and some slices of cold beef, cut up into small sections. The moment the operation began, an attendant placed the meat to the poor fellow's lips, who bit on slice after slice with the rapidity that could only be induced by the agony he was undergoing. When all was over, it was found he had got away with a whole fowl and about two pounds of ham and beef. A glass of brandy was then given him, as he was very white and pale, and, as the nurses carried the unfortunate fellow to his ward, he smiled faintly and said: "Doctor, it's the first square male I have had for many a day, and bedad when I git over it yez can have the other leg on the same terms." As an instance of cool bravery the above is unparalleled.

There is a Professor of Chinese at Harvard, and another at Yale, but there are no students; and the Bulletin, with one eye on the Saud-lot, seems to think there is no need of any Chinese scholarship in this country, because there are compradores in China who speak pigeon-English, and can make the purchases of Americans temporarily resident in the Central Flowery Land. The reasoning is excellent, and capable of indefinite extension. How easily, for instance, could the people of San Francisco get along without Professors Pickering and Fitch, on the two papers, both daily, and import all their platitudes ready-made, from abroad, and their intellectual culture at first hand from the Sand-lot.

"Supposing," said the T. C. reflectively to the Editor of this paper the other day, "that the next Legislature were to pass a bill making literary idiocy punishable with death, and appointing a committee of practical men to try all cases brought before them, what would be the result?" And as he stroked his chin thoughtfully and looked up absently at the ceiling he replied: "Good idea, but not practical. There would be only one weekly paper left; of course, that is our own; but Montgomery street would soon look shockingly bare. The Creator has some wise purpose in allowing them to live that we cannot fathom. Don't ask me any more conundrums this morning."

It seems from Mr. R. A. Proctor's calculations that the earth is a mere infant of 450,000,000 years of age. We had thought better things of her, but the rawness of exceeding youth accounts for the ease with which she has been done out of the dust that was coming to her by designing road agents among the stars. If she had received her remittances in due course she would have been, Mr. Proctor says, eight or ten times as large as she is. This is rough on us, but we must try to rub along; and, meanwhile, it is not without interest that we note how ancient and honorable and heavenly is the practice of helping yourself at your neighbor's expense. There are lessons in astronomy.

The Princess Sarah Winnemucca appears to have touched the soft and too responsive hearts of the reporters for the daily press. They give her, as with one accord, a good send-off; she is "graceful," a "daughter of the forest, full of unstudied eloquence and natural pathos," and, above all, a princess. What was old Winnemucca king of? Why should we take the trouble to import our orders of knighthood from the Cannibal Islands, when we have a native monarch and the daughter of a monarch to dub us? Princess Sarah might do a good stroke of business in the way of knighting folks. We charge her nothing for the hint.

Thank Heaven! Thanksgiving has come and gone, and all the platitudes about our causes for grateful feelings, and the peace and plenty that reign within our borders, are laid away once more for a year, to be dragged out when the time comes and flourished around as good as new. Not a nook or a corner of the United States, its seems, where there is not cause for thankfulness; and all the people cry Amen! and button up their pockets, and shake their beads at a beggar on every block. What harm could it do to tell the truth? Is anybody imposed upon by all this cheap rigmarole, half-patriotic, half-pious, and altogether hypocritical?

Edison is said to have aged considerably in wrestling with that obstinate electric light, and his face has grown more refined looking, no doubt because of his applying it so steadily to the grinding surfaces of rock supposed to contain platinum. Pity nobody will help the poor man to find the metal, especially when money is no object. He says that now he has those fellows; and when asked who they are, answers, "the gas men." Between them they have the public, and a pretty soft thing they make of it. It needs only a periodical interview to keep up the excitement, and the stock is sure to go the way it's wanted.

The special delight in the bosom of two men out of three, to-day, is that the much abused stomach and head are beginning slowly to right themselves from the gorging and guzzling of Thursday. The qualms are fainter, and come at longer intervals, and the headache is growing dull by degrees, though the free-born citizen is still au object of half-contemptuous pity to the few sober men who did not come over in the Mayflower. There is no more solemn spectacle than the uprising of a great people from the struggle with 40,000,000 of mince pies.

Bismarck has been heard to say, since talking over the silver question with Pig Iron Kelly, that he can't understand why so bright a people as the American gave Kelly a middle name.

A comely maiden, just from old England, reached Pittsburg the other day, left the railroad car, and stumbled against a "stalwart German puddler," who stopped for a moment, looked at her, and walked with her to her cousin's house to be married, which was done in five minutes. And now that happy puddler has changed his name to Muddler, and all the young women in Pittsburg are practicing the new dodge of running against stalwarts in the street. This is the latest thing out in the marriage line.

The "Evening Post," a paper usually careful to say nothing which may offend a sensitive mind, relates this week that a brute named McCraith stamped on his wife until portions of her body were pounded into "jellified flesh." This nauseates the reader, while the idea could have been just as easily preserved if the writer had said: "Mr. McCraith, by his saltatory evolutions on the body of his spouse, speedily converted her into a female blanc-mange." When will the daily press employ men of culture?

There is compensation in all things, as Emerson rightly tells us; curses, like chickens, come home to roost; and you kill my goose I kill your gander. These original thoughts naturally suggested themselves when we read that a New Jerseyman had burned his wife to death. Nobody has a word to say for him, but we timidly call attention to our opening remarks, and clinch them by observing that most probably the wife talked the man into it.

It's all very well for Beecher and Ingersoll to tickle the Eastern people with the notion of no hell; that kind of talk don't go down in this quarter. After a spasmodic existence against hope for a few years, the Universalist of this city have given up the ghost, and now confess the devil and damnation, like good Christians. This is cheering, and gives one strength for the battle of life. God be praised! For, now we are sure of hell-fire, morality is safe.

They have a breed of dogs in Denver, Colorado, which are so small that a flea has no room to settle on one. The other day, however, one of the inhabitants picked a pretty big flea off his neck, and just as he was going to squeeze it between his thumb and fore-finger, he found a little puppy curled up in its embrace. It was a large female flea, and she was nursing it tenderly. It is needless to say that, touched by the incident, he spared both their lives.

A legal corps of artillery is wanted to take charge of the fortifications to be erected at Nanaimo, and man the guns. What luck! Here's the Hastings Debating Society forced to turn its thunder on itself every week or two, and fairly spoiling for a chance to blaze away at space in general. If the British Columbians will only make it worth the while of these possible sons of guns, there will be accommodation all round.

Roland Reed, the lively young comedian, with the Colville Troupe, gave a sitting this week to a prominent sculptor, who took a plaster of Paris cast of his nose. From this an edition of 300 copies has been struck off for the use of amateurs who want to appear funny at masquerade balls without having to do any acting. They are highly-colored, and warranted an exact reproduction of Mr. Reed's proboscis.

An enthusiastic Temperance Society in this city is so delighted with the total abstinence principle of the phylloxera, and the unflinching way in which he advocates them, that the members wear him for a charm, and have his likeness as a monogram on their note-paper; and the young ladies of the society are bound to each other by a secret and solemn oath to wed no man who is not thoroughly up in bugs.

Captain Kentzel has indignantly refused the request of the Academy of Sciences, begging him to come to their next meeting and allow them to look at him through the immense microscope they have just imported. They insist that the plate of the instrument is big enough for him to lie down on, and want to see how he would look magnified four million times.

The "Bulletin" of Wednesday, speaking of the execution of two Indian murderers, says "perfect order and harmony prevailed during the entire scene." The harmony and the vibration of the chords must have been very satisfactory to the musical ear of justice, as with its dying fall it choked two of the principal listeners with emotion.

There are two hundred white boys in Petaluma digging potatoes at $1 50 a day, and driving the Chinamen from the field. Well, what of it? We've any number of them here, who can lift potatoes to the tune of $4 or $5 every time they get a chance, and drive the Chinamen as long as there's a brickbat in sight.

The difference between men and fowls is not so great as it seems to be at first sight, and it's a little odd that Darwin did not turn his attention to chickens. The best authorities agree that fowls should bathe in dust and coal ashes, and we see no end of men that religiously do nothing else.

A single hair from the head of a pretty woman brought $80 at a raffle in Alabama, the other day, which reminds us that there are some pretty women in this neighborhood who buy their locks at the same rate. That is, we have heard the hair-dresser says so, but we don't believe a word of it.

The London Athenæum, in a scholarly notice of the fig, calls it an "index of migration." This delicate allusion to the prominent part played by the respectable plant in that unfortunate affair in Eden, cannot be too highly commended. Divines will be glad to appropriate the phrase.

Mr. Gladstone is in favor of modified home rule for Ireland. How often, in the history of the world, we find ourselves called upon to note the fact that great minds have similar ideas! The Town Crier is like Mr. Gladstone, in a measure; he is in favor of modified home rule.

Late advices from Los Angeles note a growing demand for sheep, which have doubled in price within a few weeks. One good turn deserves another, and we are happy in being able to state that there is a glut of hogs in this city and county.

John Creed, a miner, was killed in Utah, on Sunday afternoon last, by a descending cage. Our atheistic contributor suggests that, since the sad event occurred in the Mormon country, the deceased was most probably the Apostles' Creed.

C. P. R. R.

Overland Ticket Office: Ferry Landing, foot of Market street.--Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879, and until further notice, ains Boats wil leave

SAN FRANCISCO:

7.00 A. M. (daily), Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing — Connecting with Trains for Napa (Stages for Sonoma), Calistoga (the Geysers), and Sacramento. Connecting at Davis (Sundays excepted) for Woodland and Knight's Landing, and at Woodland for Williams and Willows.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:10 P.M.)

7.00 A.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) and via Livermore arriving at Tracy at 11:30 A. M. and connecting with Atlantic Express. Connects at Niles with Train arriving at San Jose at 10:15 A.M.
(Returning, train from Tracy arrives at 6:05 P.M.)

8.00 A.M. (daily), Atlantic Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R R.) for Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland (Or.), Colfax, Reno (Virginia City), Palisade (Eureka), Ogden and Omaha. Connects at Galt with train arriving at Ione at 3:40 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 5:15 P.M.)

Sunday Excursion Tickets to San Pablo and Martinez at Reduced Rates.

10.00 A.M. (daily) via Oakland Ferry, Local Passenger Train to Haywards and Niles.
(Arrive San Francisco 4:05 P.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) San Jose Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry and Niles), stopping at all Way Stations. Arrives at San Jose at 5:20 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) Northern Railway Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to San Pablo, Martinez and Antioch.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily) Arizona Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Lathrop (and Stockton), Merced, Madera, Visalia, Sumner, Mojave, Newhall (San Buenaventura, and Santa Barbara), Los Angeles, "Santa Monica," Wilmington, Santa Ana (San Diego), Colton and Yuma (Colorado River Steamers), connecting direct with Daily Trains of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Arizona for Maricopa (Daily Stages for Phœnix and Prescott), and for Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma), and end of Track (Daily Stages for Florence and Tucson).
"Sleeping Cars" between Oakland, Los Angeles and Yuma.
(Arrive San Francisco 12:35 P.M.)

4.00 P. M. (Sundays excepted) Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing), connecting with trains for Calistoga, (the Geysers), Woodland, Knight's Landing and Sacramento; and at Sacramento with Passenger Train, leaving at 9:35 P.M. for Truckee, Reno, Carson and Virginia.
"Sleeping Cars" between Vallejo and Carson.
(Arrive San Francisco 11:10 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (Sundays excepted) Sacramento Steamer (from Wash'n St. Wharf), for Benicia and Landings on the Sacramento River.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:00 P.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily), Through Third Class and Accommodation Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) connecting at Lathrop with Train arriving at Los Angeles on second day at 11:55 A.M. (Arrive San Francisco 9:05 A.M.

4.30 P.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to Haywards, Niles and Livermore. (Arrive San Francisco 8:35 A.M.)

5.00 P.M. (daily) Overland Emigrant Train (via Oakland Ferry and Northern Railway) to Ogden, Omaha and East.

Public conveyance for Mills Seminary connects at Seminary Park Station with all trains, Sundays excepted.

FERRIES AND LOCAL TRAINS

From "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

TO OAKLAND.	TO ALAMEDA.	TO FERNSIDE.	TO EAST OAKLAND.	TO NILES.	TO BERKELEY	TO DELAWARE STREET.
A. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.
B 6.10	12.30	7.00	B 6.10	7.00	7.30	B 6.10
7.00	1.00	B9.00	7.30	10.00	8.30	8.00
7.30	1.30	9.00	B10.00	8.30	P. M.	9.30	10.00
8.00	2.00	10.00	P. M.	9.30	3.00	10.30	12.00
8.30	3.00	11.00	B5.00	10.30	4.30	11.30	P. M.
9.00	3.30	12.00	.....	11.30		P. M.	1.30
9.30	4.00	P. M.	.....	P. M.		1.00	3.30
10.00	4.30	1.30	.....	12.30		3.00	4.30
10.30	5.00	2.00	.....	1.00		4.00	5.30
11.00	5.30	*3.00	.....	3.30		5.00	B 6.30
11.30	6.00	4.00	.....	4.30		6.00	.....
12.00	6.30	5.00	.....	5.30		B 6.30	.....
.....	7.00	6.00	.....	6.30
.....	8.10	B*7.00	.....	7.00
.....	9.20	B*8.10	.....	8.10	A. M.	Change Cars
.....	10.30	*1030	.....	9.20	7.00	at
.....	B11.45	B*1145	.....	10.30	P. M.	West Oakland
.....	.....	.....	.....	B11.45	3.00

TO SAN JOSE.

To "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

FROM DELAWARE STREET.	FROM BERKELEY.	FROM NILES	FROM EAST OAKLAND.	FROM FERNSIDE.	FROM ALAMEDA.	FROM OAKLAND. (Broadway.)
A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	P. M.
B 5.40	B 5.40	7.00	B 5.10	B8.00	B*5.00	B 5.20	12.20
B 6.30	B 6.30	8.00	B 5.50	B10.00	B*5.40	B 6.00	12 50
8.00	7.30	P. M.	6.40	B11.00	*6.25	6.50	1.20
10.00	8.30	2.35	7.40	P. M.	7.00	7.20	1.50
12.00	9.30	4.30	8.40	B6.00	8.03	7.50	2.50
P. M.	10.30	.....	9.40	.....	9.00	8.25	3.20
1.30	11.30	FROM SAN JOSE.	10.40	.....	10.03	8.50	3.50
3.30	P. M		11.40	.....	11.03	9.20	4.20
4.30	1.00		P. M.	.....	12,00	9.50	4.50
5.30	3.00		12.40	.....	P. M.	10.20	5.20
B 6.30	4.00		1.25	.....	1.00	10.50	5.50
.....	5.00		2.40	.....	3.00	11.20	6.25
.....	6.00		4.40	.....	*3.20	11.50	6.50
			5.40	.....	4.00	.....	8.00
Change Cars		A. M.	6.40	.....	5.00	.....	9.10
at		7.10	7.50	.....	6.03	.....	10.20
West Oakland.		P. M.	9.00	.....	B*7.20	.....	.....
		1.30	10.10	.....	B*8.30	.....	.....
			.....	.....	*10.00	.....	.....

B—Sundays excepted.

*Alameda Passengers change cars at Oakland.

Creek Route.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO—Daily—B5:40, B6:30, 7.20, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15 A.M. 12:15, 1:15, 2:25, 3:15, 4:15, 5:15, 6.15 P.M.

FROM OAKLAND—Daily—B5:30, B6:20, 7:10, 8:05, 9:05, 10:05, 11:05 A. M. 12:05, 1:05, 2:15, 3:05, 4:05, 5:05, 6:05 P.M. —Sundays excepted.

"Official Schedule Time" furnished by RANDOLPH & Co., Jewelers, 101 and 103 Montgomery St., S. F.

T. H. GOODMAN, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt.
A. N. TOWNE, General Superintendent.

SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD

Commencing Sunday, Nov. 16th, 1879, and until further notice, Boats and Trains will leave San Francisco (Washington-st. Wharf) as follows:

3.00 P. M. daily (Sundays included), Steamer "James M. Donahue" (Washington Street Wharf), connecting with Mail and Express Train at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg, Cloverdale, and way stations. Making stage connections at Lakeville for Sonoma; at Geyserville for Skaggs' Springs; at Cloverdale for Ukiah, Lakeport, Mendocino City, Highland Springs, Bartlett Springs, Soda Bay and the Geysers.

☞ Connections made at Fulton on following morning for Korbel's, Guerneville and the Redwoods.
(Arrive at San Francisco, week days, 10:10 A.M.; Sundays, 11 A.M.

Freight received from 7 a.m. till 2.30 p. m., daily (except Sundays).

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Sunday Excursion Trips are discontinued until further notice.

Ticket Office: Washington st. Wharf.

A. HUGHES, Gen. Manager. JAS. M. DONAHUE, Gen. Pass & Tkt. Agt.

ROEDERER CHAMPAGNE.

Notice.--The Trade and the Public are informed that we receive the genuine LOUIS ROEDERER CARTE BLANCAE CHAMPAGNE, direct from Mr. Louis Roederer, Reims, over his signature and Consular Invoice. Each case is marked upon the side, "Macondray & Co., San Francisco," and each bottle bears the label, "Macondray & Co., Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast."
MACONDRAY & CO.,
Oct. 11. Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Natural beauty surpasses anything which can be imparted by artificial means. PHOSPHATE SOAP gives health to the skin simply by removing impurities and eradicating the poisons which give rise to skin diseases.

Not only for daily use on the face and hands, but for bathing the entire body, there is nothing equal to PHOSPHATE SOAP. It is a thorcugh disinfectant and removes offensive odors of every kind.

☞ Ask your Druggist for it.

NORTHERN DIVISION — SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

Commencing Friday, Nov. 21st, 1879, and until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave San Francisco, from Passenger Depot on Townsend street, between Third and Fourth streets, as follows:

8.30 A.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations. ☞ Stages for Pescadero (via San Mateo) connect with this train only.

10.30 A.M. daily for San Jose, Gilroy, Hollister, Tres Piuos, Pajaro, Salinas, Soledad and all Way Stations. ☞ At PAJARO, the Santa Cruz R. R. connects with this train for Aptos, Soquel and Santa Cruz. ☞ At SALINAS the M. & S. V. R. R. conuects with this train for Monterey. ☞ STAGE connections made with this train. (Pescadero Stages via San Mateo excepted.)

3.30 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose, Gilroy, and principal Way Stations.

4.30 P.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations.

6.30 P.M.—daily, for Menlo Park and Way Stations.

☞ The Extra Sunday Trains to San Jose and Way Stations have been discontinued for the winter season.

Second-Class Fare.

Between San Francisco and San Jose.....$1.00.

On Freigbt Trains only, leaving San Francisco at 4:00 A.M., San Jose at 8:30 P.M. (daily, Sundays excepted).

Excursion Tickets at Reduced Rates

To San Jose and intermediate points sold on Saturdays, and Sunday mornings, good for return until following Monday inclusive.

Also, EXCURSION TICKETS to Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz and Monterey, sold on Saturdays only—good for return until the following Monday inclusive.

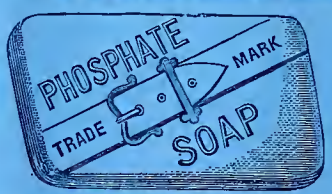
☞ Principal Ticket Office—Passenger Depot, Townsend street. Branch Ticket Office—No. 2 New Montgomery street, Palace Hotel.

A. C. BASSETT, Supt. H. R. JUDAH, A. P. & T. A.

SOUTHERN DIVISIONS.

Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879,

☞ Passengers for points on the Southern Divisions of the road will take the cars of the Central Pacific Railroad via OAKLAND, leaving SAN FRANCISCO via Ferry Landing, Market street, at 4:00 P.M. daily (Arizona Express Train), and making close connection at GOSHEN for Sumner, Mojave, Los Angeles, Wilmington, Anaheim, Colton, Colorado River, YUMA, Maricopa and Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma). Nov. 22.



Ladies who have injured the skin by the constant use of cosmetics may do much to restore their faces to that beauty which nature alone can give by constantly using PHOSPHATE SOAP.

For chapped hands the constant use of PHOSPHATE SOAP will be recommended by all who give it one fair trial.

If you want a nice article of Toilet Soap and something that is beneficial to the skin, buy PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Ladies who wish to make the skin look beautiful and natural should use PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Manufactured by "Standard Soap Co.,"
204 Sacramento St., San Francisco.

$25 to $5000 Judiciously invested in Wall St. lays the foundation for fortunes every week, and pays immense profits by the New Capitalization System of operating in Stocks. Full explanation on application to ADAMS, BROWN & Co., Bankers, 28 Broad St., N. Y.

NOTICE.

For the very best photographs go to BRADLEY & RULOFSON'S, in an Elevator, 429 Montgomery street. Oct. 29.

NOTABILIA.

THE PEDDLER'S SONG.

Lawn as white as driven snow;
Cypress black as e'er was crow;
Gloves as sweet as damask roses;
Masks for faces and for noses;
Bugle-bracelet, necklace, amber;
Perfume for a lady's chamber;
Gold quoifs and stomachers,
For my lads to give their dears;
Pins and poking-sticks of steel.
What maids lack from head to heel:
Come buy of me, come; come buy, come buy,
Buy, lads, or else your lasses cry.

WILLIAM SHAKSPEARE.

Indorsement of the French Government.—It is a matter of pride to Rochester, N. Y., as well as to the firm directly interested, that yesterday a cable dispatch was received, stating that the French Government had adopted the tobacco and cigarettes manufactured by Wm. S. Kimball & Co., of that city. We should explain, perhaps, that all tobacco sold in France up to this time has been manufactured by the Government. Of late, the demand for other makes has arisen, and the Government, to meet it, allowed English and American manufacturers to enter goods for competitive test, with a view to the adoption of the best. The fact that Wm. S. Kimball & Co. have come out far ahead of all other manufacturers in both countries is unmistakable proof that their goods are the best the world produces. Their tobacco and cigarettes will henceforth be on sale in Paris as freely as in New York, but no other make, except the French, will be found there. In other words, the French Government, on the report of its experts, declares the Vanity Fair tobacco and cigarettes of Wm. S. Kimball & Co. the best in the world.

Thanksgiving is the great festival of our New England brethren, above all, and history, while it records the establishment of this day, now become national, has refrained from giving the reason for its special fitness in the Eastern States. This, it is well known, was the natural result of the mournful experiences of our forefathers in that bleak climate. So many of their number fell under the stroke of consumption, that it became necessary to return thanks for the lives that were spared. Now that F. & P. J. Cassin, corner of Drumm and California, have come forward with their Cordial of Old Rye Whisky and Pure Rock Candy, Thanksgiving has lost any shade of sadness that lingered about it.

One should listen with respect to almost everything uttered by John Bright; and on no subject has he spoken better words than are contained in those admirable sentences on education. "You want to teach a child," he says, "to be gentle. You want gentleness, you want humanity. Then there is the quality of unselfishness." There is food for reflection in all this; and, at the same time, one cannot but feel what a school of gentleness and humanity and exquisite breeding is Swain's Restaurant, 213 Sutter street, where the perfect meals and the matchless comfort make one well-disposed to all men.

It is difficult always to draw the line where economy ceases and meanness begins, and yet there is such a line, if one could find it. Probably, considering the difference of temperature in different characters, the line is by no means a straight one, but rather like an isothermal line, which rises and falls on both sides of a given degree of latitude. Nevertheless, one feels that if anything can reduce the variations of economy to something like a uniform level, it is the unequaled Union Range, sold by Montanya, Jackson street, near Battery.

"Truth," the London paper, gives an account of a "pepsin essenz," invented by a Berlin chemist, and now coming into use as a liquor to wind up the dinner with and rout any symptoms of insubordination, pretty much as the Colophonian cavalry were brought up in ancient days to sweep the field. If this Berlin chemist had been acquainted with Landsberger's Private Cuvée, he might have saved his brains and the wry faces of his friends over his new-fangled medicine, for that superb sparkling wine is the most wholesome in existence.

"Mamma." said little Willie, "and were all the little birds drowned?" Mamma, who had been telling the story of the Deluge, answered: "Yes, all but those that were in the Ark." "Then," said Willie, "I think they were stupid; why didn't they get in a row on top of the Ark?" One feels like little Willie when he sees men who fail to get their hats at Herrmann, the Hatter's, 336 Kearny street, but, to be sure, one sees very few of them.

The unsurpassed excellence of Wakelee's "Camelline," as a hightener and preserver of the natural complexion, makes it the indispensable toilet companion of every lady. The roughest skin, under its effective and perfectly harmless influence, becomes soft and radiant with health. As a dentifrice it has no equal.

Sterling Silverware.—A large assortment of elegant designs at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

The vintage of this year is comparatively a scanty one in France, and it is matter of regret to all lovers of pure wine that there is likely to be a rise in the prices of claret. Now is the moment to lay in supplies from the invoices just received by Wolff & Rheinhold, 334 Washington street, from the famous house of Dubos Freres, Bordeaux, embracing, in wood, Chateau De L'Isle, Chateau Lanessan, and Chateau Pouneys, and in glass, Chateau La Rose, Chateau Léoville, Haute Lafitte, Chateau Pavillau and Margaux Grand Vin.

An ingenious gentleman, not yet so learned as he means to be, has taken pains to inform a misguided world that meerschaum is not petrified sea-foam, but something very different indeed. This will be a great relief to the 1,400,000,000 inhabitants of the planet, who have been looking with some anxiety for the man that petrified the foam; but even in the night of doubt which had settled over them on this matter, they were comforted by the knowledge that Madame Rachel's Enamel Bloom has the secret of perpetual youth.

Scientific authorities inform us that the intensity or volume of sound depends upon the multitude of the vibrations of the sonorous body, and is measured by the amplitude of the vibration of the auditory nerves. There is no dispute on these points; and, as a consequence, imagination is left to conceive, if it can, the volume of the voice with which the public proclaim the superiority of the photographs taken by Bradley & Rulofson, 429 Montgomery street.

One of the most attractive novelties in jewelry is the turquoise work exhibited by D. W. Laird, of the San Francisco Jewelry Manufactory, 27 Post street, opposite Masonic Temple. The stone is a California production, and is made up to order into shirt studs, bracelets, lockets, seal rings, sleeve buttons, and every variety of ornament, with elegant settings in every style and taste. Nothing more characteristic or suitable has been seen on the coast.

Men cross the Atlantic every week to visit museums and collections of art; but one of the rarest treats to a lover of the beautiful is within reach of every San Franciscan at B. Nathan & Co.'s, 130 Sutter street, where the bronzes, both of Europe and the East, the most exquisite faience, majolica, Palissy and cloisonné ware are displayed with exquisite taste. The iridescent glass alone suggests memories of the Green Vaults at Dresden.

A gentleman, very much given to the study of statistics, has handed in the following as the average of six days' observation of the purchasers who entered White's great hat store, 614 Commercial street, and came out with new hats: Of 380 passers by, of both sexes, 208 stopped and examined the elegant shapes in the window, and 141 men went in and provided themselves. No more lively business is done on the coast.

In our winter season, with its glorious sunshine and elastic air, and green fields, there should be no hint of anything like ill health, and there would be none if people were careful to avoid the chill which is apt to make itself felt when the golden sun goes down. The perfect protection against this is not seclusion, but underclothing of good and substantial texture, such as Carmany & Crosett, 25 Kearny street, always furnish.

Affections of the Liver, Bilious Disorders, Sick Headache, etc., are thoroughly cured by Dr. Jayne's Sanative Pills. Acting as a general laxative, they remove all irritating and fecal matter from the bowels, gradually change the vitiated secretions of the stomach and liver, and restore these organs to a healthy condition. Sold by Crane & Brigham, San Francisco.

It is an old quarrel between the men of temperance and the wine-dealers whether the use of wine is fatal to a sober life or not. Each side is convinced in its own mind, and impartial by-standers cannot but advise them both to drink Napa Soda, which purifies the body and clears the sight, both physical and mental.

Housekeepers are advised to call upon Hartshorn & McPhun, 112 Fourth street, near Mission, for all kinds of carpets, oil-cloths, Linoleum mattings, etc.; also, manufacturers of store and house window shades, plain or ornamented. Give them a call for first-class work, at the lowest prices in the city.

Read of, procure and use Hop Bitters, and you will be strong, healthy and happy. See notice.

Price's Carvers.—Send a set East to your friends for Christmas. No. 415 Kearny street. Grinding and Repairing.

CUNARD LINE.

British and North American Royal Mail Steamships between NEW YORK and LIVERPOOL, calling at QUEENSTOWN, sailing from New York EVERY WEDNESOAY.

ALGERIA.....November 26th.
SCYTHIA.....December 3d.
ABYSSINIA.....December 10th.
BOTHNIA.....December 17th.
GALLIA.....December 24th.
ALGERIA.....December 31st.
SCYTHIA.....January 7th, 1880.
ABYSSINIA.....January 14th, 1880.

Passage can be secured and all information given on application to
WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,
Nov. 22. 218 California st.

OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL STEAMSHIP CO.,

For Japan and China, leave wharf, corner First and Brannan streets, at noon, for YOKOHAMA AND HONGKONG, connecting at Yokohama with Steamers for Shanghai.

GAELIC..... December 6th, February 28th.
BELGIC..... January 17th, April 10th.

Cabin Plans on exhibition and Passage Tickets for sale at No. 2 New Montgomery street.
For Freight, apply to GEORGE H. RICE, Freight Agent, at the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Wharf, or No. 218 California street.
T. H. GOODMAN, General Passenger Agent.
LELAND STANFORD, President. Nov. 1.

THE "SOLANO."

This monster ferry-boat, belonging to the Central Pacific R. R. Co., and the largest in the world, made her trial trip on Monday last. Seventy or eighty persons were on board, among them Messrs. Charles and Charles F. Crocker, A. N. Towne, D. Huntington, T. H. Goodman, E. C. Fellows, S. S. Montague, Hon. L. B. Mizner, of Benicia, Mrs. and Miss Mizner, Bsn. C. Truman, Col. Batchelder, Capt. Foster, Arthur Brown, Hull Inspectors Capts. Bemis, Freeman and Hillman, contractors and representatives of the iron works. The steamer left the Long Wharf, Oakland, at ten minutes to 10 o'clock A.M., bright with her new paint and gay with flags. Short turns were made to test the steering gear, which worked perfectly, and the great vessel then passed along the city, heading northward, and receiving and answering salutes from every wharf, as well as from the vessels anchored in the bay. The machinery, though a little stiff, worked in satisfactory style, but no attempt was made at speed, the Solano being intended to bridge over a ferry hut a mile in width. At Mare Island a salute was exchanged; and soon after 2 o'clock P.M. Benicia was reached. The townspeople had gathered in great force to welcome her, and a detachment of artillery, under Lieut. Lyons, fired a salute of twenty-six guns. Many hundred passengers were taken on board, after the pontoon had been tried, and ths strait was crossed to Carquinez. The current is very strong in the strait, and the Solano's two engines were worked in opposite directions to hear up against it. The first attempt to make the landing failed, hut the next succeeded perfectly. At Carquinez the passengers for San Francisco took a special train for the city, and the Solano returned to Benicia, where she now lies. This huge steamer has been huilt to transfer freight and passenger cars directly across the strait of Carquinez, hy which arrangement the trains of the Central Pacific Railroad Company will make a saving of sixty miles in distance and two hours and a-half in time, hetween Sacramento and San Francisco. All this is to be done without compelling passengers to leave their seats. Two large slips have heen huilt at Benicia and Carquinez, and immense pontoon bridges, worked by hydraulics to the proper level with the hoat, to transfer the cars. The Solano is 116 feet in width, amidships, over guards, and has four tracks, capahle of holding twelve cars each. Her length over all is 425 feet; width amidships over guards, 116 feet; registered tonnage, 3,541 31-100 tons: the two engines are 1,500 horse-power each; the steering gear is worked hy hydraulics, two steam cylinders connecting with the engines and worked by a lever in the pilot-house.

FIRST TRIP ON THE SONOMA VALLEY RAILWAY.

On Sunday last the train from the embarcadero at Norfolk rolled into the town of Sonoma, where the population, albeit taken hy surprise, gave the pioneer a most enthusiastic welcome. General Vallejo, who has watched the rapid daily progress of the enterprise for ths past six months with the greatest interest, greeted President Donahue most warmly, and declared, at the dinner given by the latter to commemorate this work, that he looked upon the railroad as the redemption of Sonoma and the valley, so long left hehind in the race of progress. President Donahue briefly exposed his plans for the prosecution of the work to the mouth of Petaluma creek, eight miles heyond Sonoma. "The iron," he said, "is already on the ground, and, if the elements are propitious, early in the new year the steamer James M. Donohue will take you aboard at deep water mark, and your lovely daughter, General, will he shopping on Kearny street in two hours and a half. after leaving her father's mansion in Sonoma.

The energy with which this road has been carried through is remarkable, even in California. The last rail was actually not yet spiked down when the noise of the approaching train was heard; and the last few miles of track were laid with iron which had heen rolled in this city but ten days before. An incident worth noting is that the material for filling in the last hundred and fifty yards of the road-bed were furnished by an adohe huilding, constructed hy General Vallejo 40 years ago. The officers of the road are: Peter Donahue, President; James M. Donahue, Vice President, Secretary and Ticket Agent; Edward Martin, Treasurer; Arthur Hughes, General Manager, and J. Peters, Freight Agent. The road was huilt under the eye of H. C. Whiting, Superintendent of Construction. The inhahitants of Sonoma deeply feel their indebtedness to the liheral spirit and far-seeing enterprise of Col. Donahue, which have opened to them a future of assured prosperity.

The Trocadero.—San Francisco has nothing to envy otber cities in their places of public resort, now that Mr. and Mrs. Mangenherg have made the Trocadero a household word with our people. Opened, for the first time, at the end of last June, this enchanted garden of all refined delights has heen frequented hy ever-increasing numbers. Situated at the corner of Fell and Stanyan streets, and accessihle through the Park, through First Avenue and Stanyan streets, or directly through Fell street, it makes the visitor free of noble promenades, brilliaut flower gardens, grottos for dining-rooms, with the silver tinkle of fountains, the song of hirds and the perfume of rare plants to charm the sense; while from its halconies and stately halls the eyes rest upon the perpetual life and movement and pictured panorama of the Park, with its gay equipages and spirited horses, its gathering of the beauty and distinction of the Golden City. There is no such spot for recreation in any other town of this country.

We remark with great pleasure that Messrs. F. & P. J. Cassin, the well-known wholesale firm, so long estahlished on Front street, have found their premises too narrow and confined for their growing business, and have heen obliged to remove to more commodious quarters at the corner of Drumm and California streets. The purity and high quality of the liquors sold by this first-class house are evidently appreciated hy the public, not less than their latest invention, the famous Cordial of Pure Old Rye Whisky and Rock Candy, the great specific for all pulmonary and chest complaints; and it is gratifying heyond measure in these days of adulterated and doubtful mixtures, to note the prosperity of a firm whose brand upon a package is a certificate of genuineness.

King James's Counterblast to Tobacco was a dead failure, but there is a way for the ladies to nullify the offensive characteristics of smoking, and that is to look in at Colman Brothers' establishment, Bush and Montgomery streets, and buy one of their heautiful smoking-jackets, or dressing-gowns, as a present to some devotee of the weed. The man that gets one of thess will show that he is worthy hy keeping his smoke to himself.

Mr. M. Meyerfeld, it is not too much to say, has mads a solid reputation for the house of Falkenstein & Co., as one of the hest to deal with, solely through his rsmarkahle personal gifts of husiness enterprise, untiring activity, fertile and original ideas, genuine pusb and agresables manners. One or more fine qualities may he found in combination with energy in very many msn; but such a numbsr of excellent traits as those possessed hy Mr. Meyerfeld are very rarely met with. Not only his associates, hut even his rivals in husiness, admire and esteem him; and none are found to envy the genius and ahility which have built up the house of Falkenstein & Co. to the first position among ths ciger and tobacco dealers of the coast, and agent for the largest manufacturers in thoss lines in the United States.

Y. W. C. A. Flower Mission.—Ths young ladies sailing under this hanner have formed a Flower Mission, and meet every Thursday morning at their rooms, 218 Stockton street, to make houquets, and little haskets of fruits and goodies for the sick in our hospitals. Last week, Thursday, they made up and distrihuted in the different hospitals—(St. Luke's only excepted, they heing denied the privilege here) and why?—over 400 houquets, hesides fruits, etc. On Thursday of this week (Thanksgiving Day) the sick poor were not forgotten hy these self-sacrificing young ladies. Now, who will help them in this good work? Send contributions, every Thursday morning, to 218 Stockton street.

The holidays are almost upon us, and there is no time to be lost in selecting your presents. Elegant objects ahound, but there is a satisfaction in giving what is characteristic and sure to remain a joy forever; and G. T. Marsh and Co., under the Palace Hotel, have a collection of treasures in Japanese and Corean art simply unequaled. All the rich imagination of this most artistic of Eastern peoples has heen laid under contribution hy this entsrprising firm, and the only emharrassment is to choose, where one would fain have all.

Not many branches of business in the United States can hoast of a representative house like the Washington Insurance Company of Rhode Island, whose records go back for eighty years. A company with such a history offers exceptional guarantees as to solidity, and now that its agency in this city has passed into the hands of Mr. Louis Jacoby, for so many years with the Hamburg-Bremen Insurance Company, the Washington may he said to command the absolute confidence of the puhlic.

Neville & Co's catalogue of articles manufactured and dealt in hy them is a marvel of elegance and completeness, and an invaluable refsrence for all business men. It is a handsome octavo of fifty pages, with admirahle illustrations of their ore hags, hydraulic hose, endless varieties and forms of tents, whether for the field or the lawn, awnings and Venetian shades for dwellings and stores, wagon tops, canopies, and every form of screens, slides and other furniture required for these.

Prof. Jos. Josset, the able instructor of the French language, has located on Post street, hetween Powell and Stockton streets, next to Red Men's Hall, where he will give private lessons to those desirous of studying French.

HIGHEST STOCK QUOTATIONS
For the Week Ending Nov. 28th, 1879.

COMPILED BY GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO., 230 MONTGOMERY STREET.

NAME OF MINE.	SAT.	MONDAY. A.M.	MONDAY. P.M.	TUESDAY. A.M.	TUESDAY. P M	WEDNESDY A.M.	WEDNESDY P.M.	THURSDAY.	FRIDAY. A.M.	FRIDAY. P.M.
Argenta	3/8	—	3/8	—	3/8	—	3/8	HOLIDAY.—STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSED.	—
Andes	1	1	—	1 1/8	—	1	—		—
Alpha	11 3/8	10 3/8	—	10 1/4	10	9 1/2	—		9 1/2
Alta	4 1/4	4	4	3 1/4	3 1/2	3 3/8	3 1/2		3 5/8
*Bullion	5 3/8	5 1/2	—	5 1/4	5 3/8	5	—		5 1/2
*Belcher	3 1/4	3	—	2 3/8	2 5/8	2 5/8	—		—
Best & Belcher	18 1/4	18 1/2	18	17 1/2	17	16 1/2	16 1/2		17 1/2
Benton	3	2 7/8	2 3/4	2 3/4	2 1/2	2 5/8	2 5/8		—
Bodie	12	—	11 1/2	—	10 1/4	—	10 1/4		—
Boston Con	1 5/8	—	1 5/8	—	1 3/8	—	—		—
Cons Imperial	3/8	3/8	—	3/8	3/8	3/8	—		—
Crown Point	3 5/8	2 5/8	2 5/8	2 5/8	—	2 5/8	2 5/8		2 5/8
*Chollar	7 1/4	3 1/2	3 1/2	8	7 3/8	7 1/4	—		7 5/8
California	4 5/8	4 3/8	5	5	—	—	—		—
Con. Virginia	5 1/2	5 1/2	—	5 3/8	5	—	5 1/2		5 1/2
*Caledonia	1 1/2	1 3/8	—	1 1/2	—	1 1/2	1 1/2		—
Confidence	—	10 1/4	—	9 1/2	—	9 1/2	—		—
Con Pacific	6 1/4	—	6	—	6	—	6		—
Eureka Con	17 5/8	—	17	—	16 3/4	—	—		—
Exchequer	4 1/2	4 1/2	—	4	—	3 5/8	3 3/4		—
Fairfax	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Gould & Curry	9 3/8	9 1/4	9	8 1/2	8	8 1/2	8 1/2		8 1/2
Gila	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Grand Prize	1 3/8	—	1 3/8	—	1 3/8	—	1 3/8		—
Hale & Norcross	14	14	14 1/4	14 1/4	13 5/8	13 5/8	13 3/4		15 3/8
*Julia	2 1/4	2 1/4	2 3/8	2	1 7/8	—	—		—
Justice	2 3/8	2 3/8	—	2	2	2 1/4	—		—
Jackson	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Kentuck	3 1/4	3 3/8	—	—	—	3 1/2	—		—
Leopard	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Lady Wash'n	3/8	3/8	3/8	3/8	—	—	—		—
Leviathan	—	1/4	—	1/4	—	—	—		—
Mexican	29	26 1/2	26 1/4	24 1/2	24	24	24 3/4		25
Modoc	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Manhattan	—	—	2 3/8	—	2 1/4	—	2 1/4		—
Northern Belle	6 1/2	—	6 3/4	—	6 1/2	—	6 1/2		—
Ophir	30	29 1/2	28 3/8	27	26 1/2	26	26 1/2		26 3/4
Overman	8 1/4	8	—	7 1/2	—	7	6 3/8		—
Potosi	4 3/4	4 3/8	5 1/2	4 3/8	—	4 3/8	—		4 1/2
Raymond & Ely	1	—	1	—	—	—	1		—
Savage	11 3/8	10 3/4	10 3/8	—	9 3/8	—	10		10 1/2
Sierra Nevada	45	43 1/2	43 1/2	40 1/2	40 1/2	40	40		40
Silver Hill	1 3/8	1 3/4	—	1 3/8	1 1/2	1 1/4	1 1/2		—
*Seg Belcher	15	15	—	—	—	14	—		—
*Solid Silver	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Succor	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Silver King, Ara.	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Silv King South.	—	—	—	—	—	—	—		—
Tip-Top	1 1/2	—	1 5/8	—	1 5/8	—	1 5/8		—
Union Con	60	56 1/4	57 1/2	51	—	45 1/2	5		53
*Utah	17 3/4	17 1/2	—	15 1/2	15 3/8	15 1/2	16 1/2		16
*Yellow Jacket	15 3/8	15	—	14 3/8	14 3/8	13 1/4	—		13 1/4

"BIZ."

The most interesting feature of the week in Commercial circles was the public sales of Teas at the auction rooms of S. L. Jones & Co., A. T. Everett, auctioneer. The attendance was large, and the bidding quite spirited. Terms of sale: All sums under $300 net cash; over $300, ninety days from date of sale for approved notes, payable in U. S. gold coin, or three per cent. discount for cash, at purchaser's option. The offering was all of the importation of Messrs. Macondray & Co., consisting of Comet Oolongs, nearly all of which sold at 50c per pound. Some 2,000 half chests Japan Greens, in papers, pounds and half pounds, sold in lots to the trade at 38½c@39c; Japans, in huik, sold at 32c@33c; Comet-Gunpowder Tea sold at 48c@55c. The prices obtained for Japan, in glazed jars, 45c; Englisb breakfast Souchong brought 54c@55c. The sale was, as a whole, a pronounced success, the prices realized exhibiting an advance upon previous offerings.

The Salmon Market is the next most interesting subject offered for our consideration at this time, and upon this subject the Portland Commercial Reporter, of Nov. 20tb, bas this to say about Columbia River Salmon: "Shipments to date aggregate 423,137 cases, with about 17,000 cases remaining on the river, but sold. Of the shipments, there went direct to Liverpool 193,832 cases, and to San Francisco 223,305 cases. The shipments abroad are considerably below last year's. There is nothing to report in the market. The last sales reported to us in Liverpool were 26s ₱ dozen for 1-lb cans." The ship Alameda, for Liverpool hence, carried 3,000 cases. Tbe present and prospective of the market for Salmon is as follows: After a period of unusual activity in this article, during which time prices have advanced from 30@40c per dozen, with heavy sales, the market appears to have settled firmly at about $1 35@$1 40 per dozen, although transactions are not numerous. We cannot look for much movement in the article till next February, as during the mid-winter months the consumption is lightest, but in the early Spring we believe that the demand from the Eastern States will be very large. Before any of the new catch can be received, Australia will have to purchase a fair quantity, as shipments have thus far been just one-third of last season's. The English Market is a trifle quieter, but the demand is a healthy one, at only a slight reduction from the recent highest prices. Tbe total shipments to England this season have been 287,000 cases from all points, against 425,000 during last season. The further shipments which will probably be made may increase them to 325,000 cases, leaving the total just 100,000 cases short of last season. One great cause of last season's low prices in England was the arrival of nearly 350,000 cases within a period of three months, following closely upon the failure of the Glasgow Bank. The last straw which broke the market was the loss of the ship Thomas M. Reed on the English Coast, and the recovery of most of her Salmon (35,000 cases she had on board), which was sold in Liverpool at auction, for account of tbe Underwriters, in lots of 5,000 cases per week. These sales had a most demoralizing effect upon the entire trade. As yet we can hear of no contracts for next season? Canners will not name a price, and exporters will make no offers. The fewer contracts, tbe smaller will be tbe pack, is the opinion of most in the trade. One thing is certain, which is, that we will not again soon see the low prices ruliug in August and Septemher.

Quicksilver.—On Saturday last, very unexpectedly and quite unlooked for, the Chinese entered the market and purchased several hundred flasks for shipment to Hongkong, per the Gaelic, to sail hence on the 5th of Decemher. One lot of, perhaps, 200 flasks was bought at 36c, the balance in lots at 37, 38@38½c. Some small lots realized 39@39½c, but now that the Chinese have secured some 1,500 flasks, the market has relapsed into dullness, with a declining tendency, and as the following steamer, City of Tokio, does not sail until December 27th, at a time of the year when the Chinese, like all others, are setting their accounts in order for the New Year. Receipts for the week, 1,127. The Quicksilver exports by sea, from November 24th, are as follows:

To New Zealand, per City of Sydney, hence 24th instant—

	Flasks.	Value.
Hugh Craig	25	$804
Totals	25	$ 804
Previously since January 1	48,475	1,406,611
Totals since January 1, 1879	48,500	$1,407,415
Totals, same period 1878	31,592	1,065,194
Increase in 1879	16,908	$342,221

Bags and Bagging.—The Gaelic, from Hongkong, brought us 106 bales Gunnies and 800 bales Jute for the Oakland Bag Factory. The prospective market for Grain Bags is very firm at 10c@10¼c for May and June delivery. Stocks here and to arrive are large, but being held in strong hands, it is believed that with average grain crops next season high prices for containers will rule.

Coal.—The market is well supplied with coast kinds of bituminous, as well of same from British Columbia. The former sells from $4 to $6 for Steam Screenings and screened respectively, and for House Coals of latter, $7@$9. Sydney Steam, $6 50@$7. Antbracite is dull of sale at prices that will not cover cost.

Coffee.—There is no stock in first hands. The price of Greens, 18c@21c. An invoice of 3,500 bags Ceylon is now looked for every day. Some parcels of Brazil, via New York and the Isthmus, continue to reach us, selliug at 16c to 18c.

Metals. - The market is flat; no stocks in first hands, and the jobbers have things all to themselves. The recent speculative prices are barely maintained.

Oils.—Sales of Walrus, ex Whaler, are reported at 35c.

Sugar.—We note the arrival of two vessels from the Sandwicb Islands, the Bonanza, with 3,381 bags, and the Ada May, with 1,612 bags and packages, all chiefly for the refiners. Prior to these arrivals, both the Bay and California Refiuers were ou short allowance, their stocks of raws about exhausted. These receipts, with others due, will, it is to he hoped, keep them supplied until the new crop reaches us. Prices of all kinds of Refined remain as last noted, say 14c for White and 13c for Golden; Yellows rule from 11 to 12c.

Syrups.—The Refinery prices are, to the trade, 70c in 5 gall. kegs, 62½@65c in bbls. and hf. bbls.

Salt.—We know of no sales to record. Market firm for all descriptions.

Freights and Charters.—Tbere has been quite a revived interest in Grain charters during the week, resulting in quite a number of engagements to the United Kingdom, upon the basis of 65s@67s 6d for wood and iron sbips, leaving a fleet of only 12 disengaged vessels iu port. Tbe freight market closes quite strong at the figures given.

Domestic Produce.—We have now to note quite an active Wheat market at the close, by reason of Callao orders for immediate shipment. It is said that several cargoes for this destination have been secured at $2 10@$2 15 per cental. Tbese are the bighest rates paid tbis season. Prior to the receipt of these orders English shippers secured several cargoes at $2@$2 02½@$2 05 per cental. Since July 1st we bave dispatcbed for Europe a fleet of 151 vessels, carrying 5,819,797 cts. Wheat, valued at $10,857,310; July 1, 1878, 149 vessels, carrying 5,378,197 ctls. Wheat, valued at $11,241,672. We have now on the berth a total of 30 vessels, of a registered tonnage of 38,000 tons. It is hardly to be expected that we will dispatch all these prior to January 1st, but we will try. At current prices holders now seem willing to sell of their surplus, but there will be no outpouring of stocks until we bave another heavy rainfall to secure a crop for next year.

Flour.—The outgoing steamer Gaelic, hence the 5th of December, will carry about 1,000 tons of Flour, about half of tbis Shipping Extras bought at $6; Superfine Standard at $5; Common ditto, $4 50; Best Extra Family and Bakers, $6 25@$6 75 ₱ 196 lb, all in cloth.

Barley.—The market is sluggish for all kinds. The Alameda, for Liverpool, carried 4,887 centals. We quote Chevalier, which is very scarce, at $1 70@$1 75 ₱ ctl; Brewing, 85@90c; Feed, 65@75c. We have exported this season, July 1st to date, 366,623 ctls, against 287,515 ctls same time last year, and we bave sent East, overland, about 100,000 ctls, to this date.

Beans, Corn and Oats.—The supply of Beans is large, witb a great want of a shipping outlet. Small White, $1 65@1 70 per ctl.; White Pea Beans, $1 75@1 80 per ctl.; Colored Beans, $1 25@1 50 per ctl. Corn is in fair request at $1@1 05 per ctl. Oats are slow of sale at $1 25@$1 50 per ctl.

Hops.—The market is firm at 22½@37½c, according to quality.

Hides.—There is a good demand for Dry at 20@21c.; Salted, 9@10c.

Tallow is in good demand at 5½@5¾c for Crude, and for Refined 7⅞@7¾c, latter for export.

Wools.—Stocks are in few hands, less than 2,000,000 lhs., and held strongly within the range of 15@30c as extremes.

Fruits.—Our markets are even now supplied with Strawberries, Raspberries, Peaches, Plums, Figs, Pomegranates, Apples, Grapes, Cranberries, Oranges, Lemons, Limes, Pineapples, etc.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

ARRIVALS AND CLEARANCES AT THE PORT OF SAN FRANCISCO, FOR THE WEEK ENDINO NOV. 27, 1879.

ARRIVALS.

DATE.	VESSEL.	MASTER.	WHERE FROM.	CONSIGNEES.
N'v 22	Ship Thurland Castle..	Valentine ..	Shangbai.....	Rodgers, Meyer & Co.
.. 22	B'k Ampara Revoredo.	De Rolo....	Callao	Parrott & Co.
.. 23	St'r Dakota	Morse	Victoria.....	Williams, Blanchard & Co.
.. 23	Ship Angerona.....	Harwood....	Newcastle	Balfour, Guthrie & Co.
.. 23	Ship Thalia.....	Kohn	Hamburg.....	Hy. Balzer.
.. 24	St'r Newbern.....	Metzger	Guaymas.....	J. Bermingham.
.. 24	Ship Imperial	Crosby	New York....	Williams, Blanchard & Co.
.. 25	Sch'r Bonanza.....	Miller	Honolulu.....	J. C. Merrill & Co.
.. 26	St'r City of Panama...	Connolly ...	Panama	Williams, Blanchard & Co.
.. 26	Bark J. W. Seaver....	Melander....	Honolulu.....	A. Crawford & Co.
.. 26	Bark Cordillera.....	McAllister..	Sydney	Balfour, Guthrie & Co.
.. 26	Sch'r Ida May.....	Thomas.....	Hilo	J. C. Merrill & Co.
.. 26	Sch'r Isabel.....	Walker.....	Fiji Islands...	Wm. Blackwood.

CLEARANCES.

DATE.	VESSEL.	MASTER.	WHERE BOUND	BY WHOM CLEARED.
N'v 22	Ship Alameda	Otis	Liverpool.....	Parrott & Co.
.. 21	St'r City of Sydney....	Dearborn...	Sydney.....	Williams, Blanchard & Co.
. 24	Ship Sterlingshire	Thyne.....	Cork	G. W. McNear.
.. 24	Bark Aglaia	Jack	Cork	G. W. McNear.
.. 2	Brig Nautilus.....	Sweet	Tahiti	Freeman, Smith & Co.
.. 25	Ship Duke of Argyle..	Davidson ...	Queenstown ..	Hy. Lund.
.. 25	Ship C. Thompson....	Murray.....	Liverpool.....	Balfour, Guthrie & Co.
.. 26	Ship Florida	Sparks	Queenstown ..	Robert Sheehy.
.. 26	Sch'r W. H. Meyer	Jordan	Honolulu.....	Welch & Co.

FOR PORTLAND AND ASTORIA, OREGON.

The Oregon Steamship Company and Pacific Coast Steamship Company will dispatch every five days, for the above ports, one of their new A1 Iron Steamships, viz.: OREGON, GEORGE W. ELDER, and STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Sailing Days

Oct. 4, 9, 14, 19, 24, and 29. | Nov. 3, 8, 13, 18, 23, and 28.

At 10 o'clock A. M.

Connecting at Portland, Oregon, with Steamers and Railroads and their connecting Stage Lines for all points in Oregon, Washington and Idaho Territories, British Columbia and Alaska.

K. VAN OTERENDORP, Agent O. S. S. Co.,
No 210 Battery street, San Francisco.
GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents P. C. S. S Co.,
No. 10 Market street, San Francisco.

Oct 4.

CALIFORNIA AND MEXICAN S. S. LINE,

For Cape St. Lucas, La Paz, Mazatlan and Guaymas, touching at MAGDALENA BAY should sufficient inducement offer.—The Steamship NEWBERN (Wm. Metzger, Master) will leave for the above ports on FRIDAY, Dec. 5th, at 12 o'clock M., from Folsom-street Wharf. Through Bills of Lading will be furnished and none others signed. Freight will be received on Friday, Nov. 28th. No Freight received after Thursday, Dec. 4th, at 12 o'clock M., and Bills of Lading must be accompanied by Custom House and Consular Clearances. For freight or passage, apply to J. BERMINGHAM, Agent,
Nov. 29. No. 10 Market street.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Recorded in the City and County of San Francisco, California, for the Week ending November 24.

Compiled from the Records of the Commercial Agency, 401 California St., S.F.

Saturday, November 15th.

GRANTOR AND GRANTEE.	DESCRIPTION.	PRICE
Harry W Taylor to J P Jndge	E Michigan, 200 n Sierra, n 25x100	$1,000
L Weglebner to C Weglebner	S Hill, 130 e Guerrero, e 25x114—Miss'n Block 74	Gift
Camilo Martin to La Soc Francaise	N Pacific, 136:10 e Kearny, e 8 inches x 137:6—50-v 37	5
Ln Soc Francaise to Jos Cnneo	N Pacific 89:8 e Kearny, e 47:10x137:6—50-v 37	10,500
H L Dodge to U S of America	S Broadway, 114:6 e Powell, s 77:6 w etc to commencement	1
Albert A Sohn to Joseph Getz	N Bush, 55 e Octavia, e 30x120	3,900
Amalia Hartenstein to Ida Kurtz	N Jersey, 101:9 w Sanchez, w 50:11x114	Gift
W H Benson to Lawrence Gottig	E Folsom, 65 s 23d, s 30x90	50
Masonic Sav & Ln Bk to H Hinkel	Sw Washington and Webster, 68:9x77:8	3,650
John Center to Max Morgenthan	Sw Bryant and 21st, 100x260	5
Theresa Scho to Chas B F Scho	Lots 6 and 9, blk 5 and blks 10 and 19 West End Map 2	10,000
Jas M Haven to Jno A Snook	Ne 8th, 225 se Bryant, se 50x60—100-var 212 subject to mortgage	2,000
Jno Jameson to Thos Jameson	Undivided ½ sw Mission and 7th, etc	5,000

Monday, November 17th.

Chas C Lyons to Patrick Doyle	E Cupp, 195 n 26th, 65x115—M B 182, lot 7, blk 325 S S F Hd and R R Assn	$ 5
Hugh Flynn to W C Flint	S 19th, 155 e Sanchez, e 100x114, subject to mortgage for $1,000, and also lots 76, 78, 80, 82 and 84 Holladay Map A	1,000
E W Burr to Saml Cowles	N Vallejo, 82:6 e Gongh, n 137:6x171:2, n Vallejo, n Vallejo, 110:4 w Franklin n 275, e 110:4 s 207:6, w to com	15,000
H P Fletcher to Isaac Fletcher	Se Pine and Broderick, e 23x29	7,000
Wm Alvord to Mary Barden	Lot 31, blk 211, O'Neil & Haley Tract	100
Caroline Hawes to J Lowney	Ne Dore, 229, nw Bryant 21x85	900
Jno Landers to A P Hotaling	Sundry Outside Lots subject to mortg for $9,000	21,000
Saml Rea to Jno Graff	Undivided ¼—100-v 114	1
Jos Wores to Louise Ullmann	Nw Market, 113:11 ne 14th, 25x100 -also ne 2d, 137:6 nw Harrison, nw 68:9x125	2,450
Charles L Kemp to Mary R Kemp	W Leavenworth, 62:6 a Union, s 75 x w 25:6—50-v 1202	Gift
C Dorris to Nellie T Maloney	W Leavenworth, 137:6 n Turk, n 27:6 x 137:6—50-vara 168	6,250
Jas Brannon to City and Co of S F	Streets and highways	1
A Van Den Bergh to M McAvoy	Undivided 3-5ths, s Vallejo, 137:6 e Montgomery, e 36x57:6	750
Julia Van den Bergh to same	Same	1,250
Same to same	Same	250

Tuesday, November 18th.

Jos Clement to Amelia W Coffin	E Van Ness, 77:8 s Pacific, s 50x100	....
Saving and Ln Soc to A J Christie	S Day, 55 w Church, w 25x114	$ 375
Louisa Schaadt to Fredk Muller	N cor Schaadt Tract thence sw to center Cole st, s 243:9, e 287:6 nw to com	3,600
J S Jones to L Gottig	S Cal st, 34:4 w Steiner, w 34:4x137:6—W A blk 389	4,162
J B Southard to Albert Tackard	Nw Cala and 11th ave, n 600x240	....
W J Gunn to Thos Day	Lot 21, blk 71, R R Av Ex Hd	200
City & Co S F to Jubish Clement	N Bulton, 70 w Parker Ave, n 120, w 322 se 130 e 294 to com	....
Cassins Morton to Anna E Banks	Lot 5 blk 167 University Ex Hd	400
Chas E Edwards to Hannah Lewis	W Clara ave, 304 n 18th, n 24x136	1,100
Geo McWilliams to Peter Dean	Se Guerrero and 27th, s 26:6x91:4	325
M Murray to Daniel Lydon	W Polk, 72 s Fulton, 25x82:6	2,959
Chas Meyer to Jas Gibb	Ne Fillmore and Geary, n 25x91:3	3,000
M O'Connor to Thos O'Connor	E Folsom, 185 n 22d, n 62:6, e 80, n 25, w 80, n etc to com	3,000
M L Meeter to Michl O'Donnell	S 17th, 125 e Castro, e 23x100	850
Benj Collins to Benj Healey	S Cala, 19:6 w St Marys Alley, 19:6x60—50-v 143 subject to mortg	12,000

Wednesday, November 19th.

Elijah Case to Jos D Sunol	Lots 25, 26, blk 330 Case Tract	$1,000
Fredk Steinfort to C H Hancock	Sw Butte and Florida, 69x50	5
John Tewhill to Mary A Tewhill	Leasehold interest, n of Turk, 81:3 e of Pierce, e 25x112	Gift
Max Popper to Veit Popper	E De Haro, 100 s Sooma, 33:4x100	1
Patk Blake to Bridget Prantz	W Hampshire, 175 n Augusta, 50x100	225
L F Binder to Ellen E Hughes	S Geary, 374 w Steiner, 22x82:6	3,500
A L Sohey to George Edwards	Se Chattanooga and 23d, e 54x100—Harper's Addition blk 65	5
Thos Bell to Jas Harrower	Nw 24th and Hampshire, n 104x25	1,025
T G Sullivan to J Callaghan et al	Com at cor Ridley, Missioo and West Mission streets, n 87:6, w 21:6 to West Mission, s to commencement	300
Claus Spreckels to Claus Mangels	Nw Everett, 220 ne 4th, ne 27:6x80—100 va 36, se Everett, 225 ne 4th, ne 25x80 100-v 36	1
Cluns Mangels to F Hageman Jr	Undivided ¼ nw Everett, 170 ne 4th, ne 71:6x80; se Everett, ne 4th, ne 75x80, nw Howard, 200 ne 4th, ne 50x80	8,000
F C Dietterle to A Jonns & Co	Ne 15th ave, 175 nw H st, 25x100, sub blk 285, S S H & R R Asn; also lot 59, blk 496, Bay City Hd	150

Thursday, November 20th.

Jas Keane to J S Alemany	Nw Church and Dale, n 101:6x100	$ 5
S Brignardello to Jas Keane	Same	1,125
Patk Cahill to E J Healey	S Pine, 82:6 e Larkin, e 40x137:6	4,525
Margt Campbell to Alex Campbell	N Tyler, 137:6 w Jones, w 68:9x137:6—50-v 1108	5
W J Gunn to Dallas A Kneass	Lots 3, 6, blk 35 Excelsior Hd	480
Daniel Rogers to Geo Toole	Nw Fillmore and Lansdat, w 81:3x24—W A 372	1,000
M P Ledesma to Jacqnes Menu	Lots 91, 202, 203, West End Hd	300
Same to same	Lot 200 same	1
Jacques Menu to J C Meussdorffer	Four lots to West End Hd	500
Jno A Stanly to Grace Bowland	W Noe, 255 n 17th, n 25x80	600
Mary Hayes to same	Same	5
Nath Hunter to R G Horn	W Bartlett, 80 n 23d, n 40x125	2,000
City and County S F to Jas Thom	E Alabama, 208 n 23d, n 26x100	....
Wm S Cook to W J Gunn	S Pine, 231:3 w Webster, 25x127:6	10

Friday, November 21st.

Saml F Sinclair to Ellen Sinclair	Tax Titles	Gift
Jane L Case to Edwin G Case	Lots 23, 24, blk 290, Case Tract	$1,000
Chas Horwood to M F S Hopkins	W Pierce, 50 s O'Farrell, a 25x87:6—Western Addition 430	3,800
Geo Edwards to Jno W Fulton	E Chattanoogn, 100 s 23d, s 25x117	2,100
Same to Cath Turner	S 24th, 80 w Castro, w 25x114	1,500
Same to D Killeen	S 23d, 32 e Chattanooga, e 22x100	1,800
W F Nelson to H McCormick	Und half, n Filbert, 30 w Taylor, w 30 x 60, w Taylor, 60 n Filbert, n 22:6x90—50-v 447 subj to mortgage	200
Mary A Thomas to J H Thomas	Und 1-8th, e Missinn, 190 s 18th, 30x122	1,200
S F Savs Union to Dan R McNeill	Nw Market, 473 sw Church, nw 116:1, s 20:8, sw 11:3, se 100, ne 25 to com	1,425
Jno E A Helms to S A McClintock	Lots 7, 8, blk 30, lot 25, blk 5, City Land Association	50
Elizth Murray to R Benkelmann	W R R av, 55 s 8th av, s 131:8, ne 49, se to beginning; snb blk 167 O'Neil and Haley Tract	800
Bd Tide Ld Comrs to J Lanahan	Se Clarey, 250:1 ne 22:11x75	6
B Roy et al to Janet Thom	Lot 194, blk 34 Missinn and 30th St Hd	Gift
Michl Dalton to Geo W Frink	N Haight, 247.6 w Webster, n 276, w 4, sc of a point, w 6, s 137:6 e 22 to com	25

Saturday, November 22d.

N Hottna to Geo D Shadburne	Se 24th and Ellen, e 125x110	$2,300
Mary Kirwin to Delia Fahey	N Alta, 112:6 e Montgomery, e 25x60—50 vara 1483	450
D Fahey to Johanna Armstrong	Undivided half of same	150
Daniel Jones to Edward M Ashdin	N Ferne ave, 59 c Van Ness, e 25x60	1,000
Horace Kelham to Anna Riley	Ne Dolores and Day, n 28:6x100	450
T W Voll to Jno E Miller	Sw Sutter and Buchanan, w 137:6x137:6 W A blk 275	451
Same to same	Nw Post and Buchanan, n 137:6x137:6—W A blk 275	483
Peleg Bumpus et al to S C Harding	Lots 3, 4, blk 27, University Md Survey	650
L H Nolte to Wm Hollis	E Stevenson, 151 n 21st, n 22x75	5
Mich Conway to Hunnah Conway	Ne Gilbert, 200 se Bryant, 25x80, being in 100-v 213	Gift
Jas K Rhoades to Dennis Dalton	All int in estate of J P Rhoades deceased, 166:6x200 on Indiana st, and also property in Sacramento County	200

Monday, November 24th.

Letitin Cordy to Max Brooks	Lot 4, blk 162, University Ex Homestead	$ 50
Bd Tide Ld Coms to N Dillon	Nw Clary, 183:4 ne 5th, ne 22:11x80	7
John E Miller to W Hollis	Nw Post and Buchanan, 137:6x275	5
Horace Kilham to Geo Leoffler	E Dolores 76:6 s 29th, 75, s 12:6 w 100 n 50 to commencement	592
Emma C Davis to Mariah N Marsh	W Capp, 230 n 25th, n 30x115	1,000
La Soc Francaise to Vic B Masso	Sc Howard, sw 3d, sw 43, se 160, nw 22:6, sw 20, nw 137:6 to com	35,000
David Wooster to Jas K Byrne	N Broadway, 137:6 e Buchanan, e 105, n 127:6, n 10, w 137:6, s, 137:6 to com	12,000
H Kilham to Henry McGuire	W San Jose ave, 122:6 ne Day, w etc, in Harper's Addition blk 39	250
Same to Jno Gillogley	W San Jose ave, 38:8 ne Day, w 70:11, n 27:, e 81 etc, to com	235
Kath Horstmann to H Horstmann	Lots 30 and 31, Spring Valley Hd	5
W B Van Boren to A G Carver	Lots 26 to 39, blk 47 City Land Assn	5

AVERILL MIXED PAINT,

The Best, Most Durable and Beautiful of All Paints.

PREPARED READY FOR USE,

AND OF ANY SHADE OR COLOR DESIRED.

O. S. ORRICK, General Agent,

Sept. 27. 329 Market st., Opposite Front.

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

City and County of San Francisco, September 9, 1879.

Redemption of San Francisco Bonds, ISSUE OF 1858.

Holders of Bonds of the City and County of San Francisco, issued under "An Act to provide for the Funding and Payment of the outstanding Unfunded Claims against the City of San Francisco, and against the County of San Francisco, as they existed prior to the first day of July, A D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six," approved April 20, 1858, are hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the above named Bonds will receive sealed proposals for the surrender of any portion thereof, at the City and County Treasurer's office, New City Hall, San Francisco, until 12 o'clock noon,

Wednesday, December 31st, 1879.

The amount to be applied to the Redemption of these Bonds is more or less, One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Dollars ($180,000).

Bidders will state at what rate they will surrender their Bonds, for payment in United States gold coin.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent. of the Bonds offered, or their equivalent in coin, or certified checks, and should the Bonds tendered not be presented within ten days after the award, the next lowest bid will be accepted.

No proposal above par will be entertained.

Proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for surrender of Bonds, issue of 1858."

A. J. BRYANT, Mayor,
COLIN M. BOYD, Auditor,
CHAS. HUBERT, Treasurer,
Commissioners of the Funded Debt.

Sept. 13.

SCHWAB & BREESE,

New Art Gallery, 624 Market street, opposite Palace Hotel.

Oil Paintings, Engravings, Wax and Artists' Materials.

☞ ADMISSION FREE. Sept. 13.

SNOW & CO.,

No. 20 Post street, opposite Mechanics' Institute, Importers and Manufacturers of Pictures, Frames, Mouldings, and Artist's Materials. Established 1849 Sept. 20.

W Morris. MORRIS & KENNEDY, J. F. Kennedy.

Importers and Dealers in Moldings, Frames, Engravings, Chromos, Lithographs, Decalcomanie, Wax and Artists' Materials, 21 Post street, nearly opposite Masonic Temple, San Francisco. Feb. 4.

CRADLE, ALTAR, AND TOMB.

CRADLE.

BOYLE—In this city, November 15th, to the wife of Peter Boyle, a son.
BLAKE—In Fresno, November 15th, to the wife of L. Barks, a son.
GIBSON—In Vallejo, November 16th, to the wife of Seth T. Gerow, a son.
HORRIGAN—In this city, November 21st, to the wife of D. Horrigan, a daughter.
HOLE—In Sacramento, November 21st, to the wife of D. Hole, a daughter.
KOCH—In Oakland, November 24th, to the wife of Wm. P. Koch, a son.
OTTEN—In this city, November 20th, to the wife of John Otten, a son.
SHARP—In this city, November 23d, to the wife of Wm. J. Sharp, twin daughters.
TOBIN—In this city, November 21st, to the wife of T. D. Tobin, a daughter.
TOASPERN—In this city, November 24th, to the wife of Wm. Toaspern, a daughter.
WALSH—In this city, November 21st, to the wife of Ed. Walsh, a son.

ALTAR.

ARMSTRONG-SMITH—In this city, November 18th, Wm. H. Armstrong to Lucy Smith.
BELLNOW-TERRY—In this city, November 17th, Louis Bellnow to Fannie Terry.
BOTTANZINI-RICE—In this city, November —, L. A. Bottanzini to Annie M. Rice.
EATON-LIGHTE—In this city, November 19th, Frank E. Eaton to Pauline Lighte.
KERMODE-ADAMS—In this city, November 20th, Edward Kermode to Louise Adams.
RUGGLES-SHIPWAY—In this city, November 21st, J. R. Ruggles to Miss J. Shipway.
SANDERS-HOLDEN—In this city, November 13th, S. F. Sanders to Charlotte Holden.
SMITH-NELSON—In this city, November 19th, Charles E. Smith to Caroline Nelson.

TOMB

CROWLEY—In this city, November 24th, Mary Ann Crowley, aged 50 years.
CHAMBERLAIN—In this city, November 21st, Henry W. Chamberlain, aged 53 years.
DUNNE—In this city, November 22d, Patrick F. Dunne, aged 46 years.
EHRLICH—In this city, November 25th, Mrs. Johanna Ehrlich, aged 79 years.
FLETCHER—In this city, November 20th, Captain A. T. Fletcher, aged 65 years.
GREEN—In this city, November 25th, John Green, aged 58 years.
HILLMAN—In this city, November 30th, Isaac Hillman, aged 82 years.
HUTTON—In this city, November 23d, Julia A. Hutton, aged 30 years.
HEWES—In this city, November 22d, Daniel Hewes, aged 58 years.
KELLY—In this city, November 24th, Wm. H. Kelly, aged 56 years and 6 months.
LENHARDT—In this city, November 22d, Adam Lenhardt, aged 57 years.
MACKINTOSH—In this city, November 21st, Lavinia Mackintosh.
MCNAMARA—In this city, November 22d, James McNamara, aged 30 years.
MAASS—In this city, November 23d, Henricke Maass, aged 26 years.
O'DONNELL—In this city, November 21st, Ellen O'Donnell, aged 40 years.
ROBERTSON—In this city, November 23d, Mrs. Margaret Robertson.
ROBERTS—In this city, November 24th, David H. Roberts, aged 41 years.
STAMPER—In this city, November 22d, Joseph W. Stamper, aged 32 years.
WATTSON—In this city, November 24th, Samuel B. Wattson, aged 54 years.

THE BRETON "PARDON."

Every town, village or hamlet has its annual "Pardon," when the sins of the past year are washed away; and as each comes as nearly in rotation as is practicable, the reader may imagine that they are of frequent occurrence. Sometimes two or more occur unavoidably on the same day, but it is so arranged as to make them follow one another from Sunday to Sunday if possible, because Pardons are for everybody, and are days of jollification. They begin in the morning and last all day. The peasants are dressed in their best apparel; it is, in fact, the most favorable time to see the Breton costume, because at such assemblages we see the costumes not only of the town where the Pardon is held, but those also of the adjoining country. And costumes in Brittany differ materially from town to town. Villages not more than twelve miles distant from each other will sometimes use totally different costumes. The narrow collar takes place of the broad one, a simple white cap instead of the protruding coiffe, dresses of plain black without ornaments, etc. Then, on the other hand, costumes become richer. The embroidery and ornamentation is carried to excess, the colors more striking and richer. This diversity in costume identifies the people, so that strangers to each other can tell what villages others are from by their costumes alone.

The grounds about the churches where the Pardons are held are filled with tents or awnings under which tables are spread, also the finery of merchants, and the people eat, drink, buy, sell, and amuse themselves in various ways. Coffee, cider, wine and stronger liquors are furnished, together with bread, cakes, galettes, etc. The stands of the merchants are strewn with breastpins, rings, beads, necklaces and all manner of cheap jewelry and trinkets, and usually do a thriving trade. The articles offered are all of Breton wear, and to a stranger are both interesting and beautiful. The pins are especially unique and graceful in design. The beads, made of different colored woods, are oftentimes highly carved, and very pretty.

In the morning at eleven o'clock begins a service in the church, lasting an hour or two, after which a procession forms, led by the older men, followed by six girls robed in white, who bear a gilded figure of the Virgin upon their shoulders. Banners, candles and all the paraphernalia of the church is comprised in this procession, the men leading, the women following. They make the tour of the church and continue a little distance up the road, all the while chanting or singing. Usually a brass instrument, some antiquated baritone, leads the singing, while the men sing treble continually, bass being unknown to them.

Our party brought dinner with us, and, notwithstanding the day was unpropitious, we found a sheltered spot. Soon there comes along a beggar woman and, knowing us to be foreigners and millionaires, immediately begins saying prayers. We offer her a plate of meat, whereupon she retires a little distance, kneels upon the ground and begins devouring it with a rapacious appetite, rubbing her stomach, lifting her hands in prayer and muttering continually. Probably the poor woman hadn't tasted meat for a month. There, in the open field, she continued kneeling, praying and eating, regardless of the slight rain, until she had devoured every morsel.

The Pardon over, the cider barrels all empty and the wine barrels not much better off, the happy Bretons reel homewards, most of them in carts, or light wagons, the sins forgiven for one year, the future bright and hopeful. A pardon so easily obtained, however, is held lightly, and the jolly Breton takes advantage of it to punch a disagreeable neighbor, or to square off old scores.—C. J. B. in "The Republic."

For close confinement, want of air, sedentary habits and brain and nerve-tire, trust in Hop Bitters.

An elegant assortment of Gold Watches and Chains at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

E. M. Fry. FRY, WATTLES & CO., J. B. Wattles.
Stock Brokers,
303 Montgomery Street, S. F., Under the Nevada Bank.
☞ Money to loan on active accounts. Nov. 8.

GEO. C. HICKOX. E. C. MCFARLANE.
GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO.,
Commission Stock Brokers (San Francisco Stock Exchange, No. 230 Montgomery street, San Francisco. May 4.

J. A. RUOKIN,
Member S. F. Stock and Exchange Board, 423 California street. STOCKS Bought and Sold on Commission. Liberal Advances made on Active Accounts. Oct. 26.

E. E. EYRE.] Members S. F. Stock and Exchange Board. [J. H. JONES.
EYRE & JONES,
Stock Brokers,
320 PINE STREET, SAN FRANCISCO. [Sept. 27.

ANDREW BAIRD,
Negotiator of Loans and Commercial Paper,
Broker in Local and State Securities,
No. 312 California Street.....San Francisco.
[P. O. Box 1,208.] July 19.

D. V. B. Henarie. Edward Martin.
E. MARTIN & CO.,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Wines and Liquors.
Proprietors of Miller's Extra Old Bourbon and J. F. Cutter Extra Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies.
April 5. 408 Front Street, San Francisco.

HIBERNIA BREWERY,
Howard Street, Between Eighth and Ninth.
Dec. 7.] M. NUNAN, Proprietor.

TABER, HARKER & CO.,
IMPORTERS AND WHOLESALE GROCERS,
108 and 110 California St., S. F.
[April 19.]

Henry B. Williams. Henry B. Williams.
WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,
SHIPPING AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
No. 218 California st., S. F. [July 27.

NEWTON BOOTH, C. T. WHEELER, Sacramento. [J. T. GLOVER, W. W. DODGE, S. F
W. W. DODGE & CO.
Wholesale Grocers, corner Front and Clay streets, San Francisco. April 1.

CASTLE BROTHERS,
ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1850.
Importers of Teas and East India Goods, Nos. 213 and 215 Front street, San Francisco. Jan. 13.

J. M. Neville. REMOVAL. Geo. H. Bryant.
BAGS, TENTS AND HOSE.
NEVILLE & CO.,
No.'s 31 and 33 California Street, S. E. corner of Davis,
SAN FRANCISCO. [Aug. 2.

L. H. Newton. NEWTON BROTHERS & CO., M. Newton.
Importers and wholesale dealers in Teas, Foreign Goods and Groceries, 204 and 206 California street, San Francisco, Cal May 25.

WM. F. SMITH, M.D.,
Oculist and Aurist, 313 Bush Street.
Aug. 16.] Office Hours, from 12 M. to 3 P.M.

J. C. MERRILL & CO.,
Shipping and Commission Merchants, Agents for the Sandwich Islands Packet Lines, 204 California street, S. F. April 13.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Gold Medal, Paris, 1878.
Sold by all Stationers. Sole Agent for the United States: MR. HENRY HOE, 91 John street, N. Y. Jan. 5.

DOGS.
G. Everill, the Celebrated Canine Doctor from London, can be consulted for treatment or purchase. Fee, $1. Address,
G. EVERILL, 528 California street.
☞ Sure cure for worms, distemper, canker and mange sent free by mail on receipt of $1. Oct. 18.

D. HICKS & CO.,
Bookbinders and Blank Book Manufacturers,
NO. 543 CLAY STREET.
☞ Blank Books Ruled, Printed and Bound to Order. [Nov. 8.

COKE CHEAPEST FUEL.
Reduction in Price: Wholesale Price, 50 cents per barrel; Retail Price, 60 cents per barrel, at the works of the SAN FRANCISCO GAS-LIGHT COMPANY, Howard and First streets, and foot of Second st. Jan. 12.

$777 a year and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address, June 7.] P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

THE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Free Public Library has now been open long enough to give us a taste of its quality. It is the creation of an Act of the Legislature, passed at the instance of ex-State Senator Rogers, which empowers the Board of Supervisors to levy a special rate for its maintenance. It is governed by a Board of Trustees, consisting of gentlemen selected because of their known interest in the matter of their trust. We regret to say that we fear they are affected hy the section of the New Constitution, which provides that "no special commission shall perform any municipal functions whatever." As they expend taxes belonging to the city, it would seem to follow, as a matter of course, that they "perform a municipal function." We have dealt with that section of the Constitution in another article, and for another purpose. If we are right in our construction of the law, the Supervisors, and not the Board of Trustees, are at this moment the legal managers of the Free Puhlic Lihrary. We hope that in regard to the Lihrary, at the least, we are wrong. It would he a misfortune to change the present very competent and most zealous Trustees for indifferent and half-hearted Supervisors, in whose hands the institution would inevitably fail. Of the Lihrary as it exists to-day, it may with truth he said that the results arrived at are eminently satisfactory, considering the amount of money that has been available, and the briefness of the period that has elapsed since the Lihrary was established. Mr. Albert Hart, tbe present Lihrarian, has accomplished as much as could he reasonahly expected of him, in the circumstances in which he has heen placed. He has made a classification of the books, which, if it be not the very best that might have heen made, is at least a very fair heginning, and certainly will suffice until the number of volumes is considerahly increased. We know not what progress has heen made in the important matter of preparing a catalogue, nor whether the modern methods of compiling so essential a puhlication have heen duly considered, hut they can hardly have escaped the attention of so competent a Board of Trustees. Of cataloguing a large library, a very great deal may he said. Much has been said. Some two years ago a congress of librarians was held in London. Most competent and experienced men attended, from various parts of the world, but so varied were the opinions held that, if our memory serves us, no definite conclusion was reached. For the present purposes of our local lihrary, we should say that a catalogue which gave the name of each author in alphahetical order, witb the title of his work added, and the whole arranged under heads agreeing exactly with the classification of the Library, would suffice until a more thorough work should be called for hy the increased proportions of the institution. Tbe question of loaning the books out is an important one, not altogether free from difficulty. The hest lihraries in the world are those whicb ahstain from circulating their volumes, but then it is a question whether such libraries are not more ornamental than useful. Their Directors are liahle to value the appearances of a well preserved, because little read, lihrary rather than to calculate the greater results flowing from home-reading. The rate-payers of this city would hardly remain content to pay taxes to sustain a lihrary which a vast majority of them could not use, unless they were allowed to take the hooks home. Our own view is that there should he two divisions, one for reference and the other for circulating. The classification should he carried out with great care, and each division should he made with a clear and intelligible apprehension of what literature, in its varied branches, is capable of teaching. In a well classified lihrary, the visitor ought to he able to put his hand upon any particular work he may require, without resorting to the aid of a catalogue and without calling into requisition the services of an official assistant. Above all, the qualtity, rather than the quantity, of the books should ever he kept in mind. The making of trashy books has become an art, and the world is heing filled with them. Every book should he of recognized merit. The library defeats its purpose when it disseminates meretricious or unreliahle hooks purporting to be works of authority. We have no doubt, however, that the Committee have gone deeper into these essential points than we can do in the space of a brief article. We merely throw out these hints to help cultivate a useful puhlic opinion as to what rate-payers may expect to obtain for their money.

Having witnessed the growth of prohahly the very best free public lihrary in the world, we have large ideas of what such an institution is capahle of. Of course, tbe thorough estahlishment of a great library is a work of years. But hefore starting out on a journey it is well to determine the point at which you finally desire to arrive. If you keep marching on toward a great purpose, you are very likely to reach it in the end. We helieve that the free library ought to he in one of the central parks helonging to the city, that it should he made highly attractive in every respect, that it should he a light set upon a hill that cannot he hid, and, ahove all, that it should allure thousands within its walls, to profit by its educational advantages. The aim of making it such an institution is a nohle one, that may well inspire the Ttrustees with a deep sense of the responsibilities they have assumed. Our experience teacbes us that very much depends upon the manner in which the views of the honorary officials are carried out hy their paid officers. If the chief executive officer is a man of energy, whose soul is in the husiness, who takes pride in the institution, and is willing to work in harmony and sympathy with those associated with him, then an important element of success is assured. We shall watch the Free Public Library with iuterest, aud shall not fail to make a note of its progress.

UNLUCKY GENEVA.

The late Duke of Brunswick (one of the most profligate and vain old rascals that ever lived) left the Swiss city of Geneva hy will the whole of his fortune, amounting to a very pretty number of millions. His will stipulated that a very elahorate monument of himself and his ancestors should he erected in the city which was his sole legatee. Whether it stipulated also for an opera house we are not informed. But he tbat as it may, hoth monument and opera house were erected with the dead Duke's money. Now, while the fat and sleepy old town is congratulating itself upon its prompt performance of the Duke's wishes, and pondering how it can spend the rest of the legacy, suddenly the "tribunal of Brunswick" decides that the deceased Duke "had heen legally deprived of the right to dispose of his fortune." It will now be in order for Geneva to refund the money spent for monument and opera house, which will he a necessity not altogether agreeahle. The inhahitants could scarcely be hlamed if they stood the Duke's statue on its head and turned the opera house into a pawn-shop; but whether they cut their noses off to revenge themselves on their faces or not, the fact will still remain that the action of this "tribunal of Brunswick" looks a little like "sharp practice."

"COMMISSIONS SHALL PERFORM NO MUNICIPAL FUNCTIONS WHATEVER."

The new Constitution has at least one section that is entirely free from doubt as to its meaning. That section declares that no special commission shall perform any municipal functions whatever. That language is clear, intelligihle, and altogether free from ambiguity. The only question that remains in douht is as to when that section takes effect. The Constitution says: "The provisions of all laws which are inconsistent with this Constitution shall cease on tbe adoption thereof, except that all laws which are inconsistent with this Constitution as require lcgislation to enforce them shall remain in full force until the first day of July, 1880, unless sooner altered or repealed hy the Legislature." That all laws which create the existing commissions are inconsistent with the Constitution is plainly apparent, the only question which remains is to whether we shall have to wait for legislation to enforce this constitutional enactment. We think that no such legislation is required, and that the enactment in question is now in full force and effect, and has heen so since the fourth day of July last, and that, as a consequence, every act performed hy the various special commissions since then is illegal. We think so because the provision in question is enforcible without further legislation. It is provided that "any county, city, town or township may make and enforce within its limits all such local, police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws." It follows that the Board of Supervisors may make all the necessary regulations to supercede the Police Commissioners, the Board of Health, and all other hodies exercising functions conferred upon them hy special laws. This clearly abolishes the Fire Department, the Park Managers, and all other commissions performing municipal functions. We therefore assert with some confidence that a considerahle portion of our city government is illegally constituted, and that many acts that are being performed are illegal and void. We feel assured that every one of the existing commissions can be estopped from "performing any municipal functions whatever," if the Courts are resorted to for that purpose. This is a matter of serious moment to the city, and ought to be looked into at once.

MR. GLADSTONE'S BILLINGSGATE.

In a speech at Edinburgh, made while en route to the Scottish constituency which he hopes to represent in Parliament, Mr. Gladstone is accredited with having said some very extraordinary things. These extraordinary things the telegrams call "epithets." We suspect that they mean epigrams, hut nevertheless in the sentences quoted we have epithets enough. Mr. Gladstone stoops to call his successful rival a "fire-work diplomatist," a "veteran huckster," and a "political posturer." There is an American savor ahout this kind of "cheap talk" which we ought to like, hut which we don't. A man who is an English statesman never should use such language. A man who is an English scholar (as Mr. Gladstone undoubtedly is) must pander to the moh when he gihhers thusly. A man who is an English gentleman would find such "epithets" impossihle to utter. Were Mr. Gladstone an outsider it would be different. If he had no office to hope for by traducing or abusing the Premier, we might believe that his language, however strong and ill-bred, was honest. But when we find him catching up the cat-calls of the ignorant for the purpose of picking up votes in an outlying borough, and vulgarly vilifying the Prime Minister of bis country, that he may climh into place over that Minister's shoulders, then it becomes necessary to regard the aforesaid Mr. Gladstone as a sneak of the first water.

It is unfortunately the custom in our own country for political aspirants to say everything bad they can ahout their competitors. But we had always helieved that in England it was sufficient for the candidate to say what good things he could for himself. It is sad—very sad—to see how cruelly people are deceived sometimes. But really Mr. Gladstone ought to have spoken in Billingsgate instead of at Edinburgh.

THE CORNER OF KEARNY STREET.

If there is one corner rather than another of this fashionable promenade, where tbe eyes are always regaled with rich and beautiful colors and fahrics artistically disposed, and with a delicate sense of the suhtle harmonies of complement and contrast, it is the corner of Post street, occupied by the White House. Nothing loud or glaring finds its way into those spacious windows, the natural home of whatever is hest in keeping and refined in taste. The light and brilliant surfaces of silks and satins are toued down and relieved in exquisite style hy masses of the graver and richer shades. Everything here has the cachet of true distinction, and among all the changes of fashion and style from season to season, and almost from month to month, there is one kind of goods always a la mode, and sure to command the admiration of ladies, as it adds to their grace and dignity in public. It is never out of place for a gentleman to present his wife with a set of furs. It is true that there are modifications in the trimming of these, such as may he seen, for instance, at the White House, where the windows display some superb Dolmans in seal-fur, lined with Silver Fox, aud Kamtschatka furs. These are singularly appropriate for the holiday time. By the side of these are Silk and Satin Circulars aud Trimming Goods to fascinate a critical eye. This estahlishment makes a specialty of trousseaux, and their choice importations are sent, carriage free, tbroughout the coast.

IN MEMORIAM.--MISS SALLIE HARRISON.

"Leaves have their time to fall
And flowers to fade, and stars to set;
But thou hast all seasons for thine own
Oh! death."

Tbe sudden and fatal illness of the eldest daughter of James V. Harrison, Esq., Deputy Sheriff of this city and county, will cause many an eye to moisten when they read the sad announcement. For there are many who knew and loved her. Her's was the most gentle, sweet and amiable of dispositions. She was one of the most beautiful girls in San Francisco, and noted for modest, winning ways. She was a natural lady, gifted and kindly. May He who said: "I am the Resurrection and the Life," he the comforter to her hereaved parents in this the terrible hour of their great affliction. The choicest fruit is the first gathered. Angels had need of her; and so she stopped singing here and went singing on to Heaven. Yet a little while—just a little while—and those she has left behind will meet her again, in that country where, it is said, no enemy ever enters and no friend ever goes away.

E. C.

Price per Copy, 10 Cents.] ESTABLISHED JULY, 20, 1856. [Annual Subscription, $5.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS LETTER AND California Advertiser.

DEVOTED TO THE LEADING INTERESTS OF CALIFORNIA AND THE PACIFIC COAST.

Vol. 30. SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, DEC. 6, 1879. No. 21.

Office of the San Francisco News Letter, Merchant Street, Nos. 607 to 615, San Francisco.

GOLD BARS—890@910—SILVER BARS—5@15 ₱ cent. disc. Mexican Dollars, 4@5 per cent.

☞ Exchange on New York. ¼@1-5 per cent.; On London, Bankers, 49⅞@49⅞; Commercial, 50⅛@50⅛. Paris, sight, 5 francs per dollar. Telegrams, 3-10@¼ per cent.

☞ Latest price of Sterling, 482½@485.

☞ Price of Money here, ⅝@1 per cent. per month—bank rate. In the open market, 1@1½. Demand active.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The week opened with a very discouraging outlook, hut rose-colored reports from Union soon changed the complexion of things, and a rapid advance took place in North-end shares. A sharp reaction followed, however, under the realizing of turn-buyers, and at the present writing the market still exhibits a downward tendency. The withdrawal of the Bonanza firm from the management of Yellow Jacket and Hale & Norcross (two of the honanzas located hy Coll Deane) has had a very depressing effect upon these stocks, and a well-circulated rumor that a change of management will shortly take place in others of the leading properties, has a further depressing effect upon the general market. Union, however, holds firm under the most flattering news from the mine, and among well-informed operators the stock is considered a perfectly safe investment at present figures. Outside stocks are dull and without demand.

Domestic Produce.—During the week under review we have heen favored with copious rains; up to this date nearly double that of a corresponding period of last year. This is very assuring to agriculturists generally, and they have therefore shown a disposition to part with more freedom their surplus stock of Wheat, and, in consequence, prices have undergone some decline, while shippers have embraced the opportunity to purchase more freely, and have, under more favorable advices from Liverpool at the close, secured nearly all the availahle tonnage on the spot, with some vessels to arrive. We cannot with good reason place the price of good shipping Wheat at less than $2@2 05 per ctl., although a few sales are reported less. Millers have had to pay as high as $2 10 ₱ ctl. during the week for extra choice lots of No. 1 White. Our Grain fleet for the season to Europe, dating from July 1st to Decemher 3d, inclusive, numhers 158 vessels, against 156 vessels same period of last year. These vessels carried:

	Wheat, Ctls.	Value.
1879	6,049,016	$11,328,125
1878	5,658,252	11,717,308

We have now on the herth for Europe 30 vessels, of 40,000 tons register. Our total exports of Flour and Wheat from July to December stands thus:

	Flour, Bbls.	Wheat, Ctls.
1879	193,176	6,181,028
1878	231,633	5,723,075

Our combined exports of Wheat and Flour for the season aggregate 336,500 tons, which is, no douht, more than one-half of our total surplus for the year.

Latest from the Merchant's Exchange.—NEW YORK, Dec. 5th, 1879. United States Bonds—4s, 103; 4½s, 105½; 5s. 102⅜. Sterling Exchange, 4 83@4 85. Pacific Mail, 36. Wheat, 146@150. Western Union, 107¼. Hides, 23@24. Oil—Sperm, 100@101. Winter Bleached, 110@118. Whale Oil, 50@52; Winter Bleached, 60@65. Wool—Spring, fine, 28@30; Burry, 18@22; Pulled, 30@40; Fall Clips, 20@25; Burry, 22@30. LONDON, Dec. 5th.—Liverpool Wheat Market, 10s. 7d. @ 11s. 6d.; Club, 11s. 6d.@11s. 10d. U. S. Bonds, 5's, 105⅝; 4's, 106⅝; 4½'s, 109. Consols, 98 17-16@97½.

Joseph Fraser.—It is with a sense of personal loss that we record the death of this gentleman, at Brooklyn, N. Y, on Sunday last. The bare announcement is all that has yet reached us, and we are left to surmise what sudden stroke it could have been that took away, in his full vigor, the genial, pleasant friend, the manly heart we had learned to respect and to cherish. There are many in this city upon whom the news of this event must fall like a blow; for Mr. Fraser had attached to himself, during the years of his residence among us, a great numher of genuine friends. Peace he with him!

PRICES OF LEADING STOCKS AND GOV. BONDS.

San Francisco.....December 5, 1879.

Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked	Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked
Cal. St. Bonds, 6's,'57, (nom)	100	102	Home Mutual Ins. Co	85	90
S. F. City & Co. B'ds, 6s, '58	Nom.	Nom.	State Investment Ins. Co	105	108
S. F. C. & Co. B'ds, 7s (nom)	Nom.	Nom.	Union Ins. Co	114	116
Montg'y Av. Bonds (nom)	65	70	City R. R	35	40
Dupont Street Bonds	80	90	Central R. R. Co	55	60
Sacramento City Bonds	26	28	Clay Street Hill R. R	20	22
Stockton City Bonds, 6's	90	95	Market Street R. R	6	—
Yuba County Bonds, 8's	103	106	N. B. and Mission R. R	66	70
Santa Clara Co. Bonds, 7's	105	107	Omnibus R. R	30	32
C. P. R. R. Stock	85	90	Potrero and Bay View R. R.	30	35
C. P. R. R. Bonds	108	110	Giant Powder Co	155	165
Oakland City Bonds, 8's	112	115	Atlantic Giant Powder	95	105
Bank of California (old st'k)	72½	75	S. F. Gaslight Co (ex div)	89¾	90¼
First National	95	97½	Oakland Gas Co	34½	35
Pacific	115	120	California Powder Co	95	98
California Ins. Co	108	112	S. V. W. W. Co (ex div)	85	85½
Commercial Ins. Co	75	80	Nevada Co. N. G. R. R. Bds	93	95
Fireman's Fund Ins. Co	115	120	Virginia & Truckee " "	100	102½

There is hut little change in our quotations this week. We may look for slightly lower prices for the balance of the year, as investors usually wait for their January dividends before entering into new operations. Money continues to he offered at very low prices.

ANDREW BAIRD, 312 California street.

Capt. Swasey is, with perhaps one or to exceptions, the oldest continuous resident of San Francisco, having lived here almost constantly since 1845. He was the Assistant Commissary of Fremont's Battalion, was the first U. S. Marshal of the Territory, was a member of the first Legislative hody in the Territory; was a Captain and A. Q. M. during the Rebellion, and filled every position with honor and credit to himself. We are sorry to know that such a pioneer needs an appointment, hut, knowing it, we are glad to learn that he has received an important position from the new Superintendent of Streets.

Quicksilver.—The outgoing steamer for Hongkong will, it is said, carry upwards of 2,000 flasks. The present spot market is quiet at 39c. Our receipts for eleven months of 1878, 56,539 flasks; 1879, 65,146 flasks. Exports same time, other than shipments Eastward overland: 1878, 31,492 flasks; value, $1,665,194; 1879, 48,500 flasks; value, $1,407,414, showing an increase this year of 17,008 flasks, of the value of $342,221.

Freights and Charters.—At this writing our fleet of disengaged vessels in port is not to exceed five ships. Quite a numher of Grain ships have been chartered this week at full prices to Liverpool direct, 62s. 6d.; to Cork, U. K., 65s.@67s. 6d., and to the Continent, 67s., 68s.@70s. The Tonnage to arrive here the next five months is placed at 141,500 tons, against same time last year of 93,500 tons.

Sir Harry Parkes, C. B., British Minister in Japan, has arrived in New York, via San Francisco, from Japan, and may be expected in London in a few days. We regret to say that Lady Parkes is still in a dangerous state of health. Mr. John Gordon Kennedy, the First Secretary, will act as Charge d'Affaires during Sir Harry's ahsence.—London and China Express.

Teas from Japan.—We have now to note the arrival of the hrig Levi Stevens, 40 days from Yokohama, to Messrs. Macondray & Co., with a full cargo of Japan teas—say 16,000 packages; also, for hallast, 404 quicksilver flasks. These latter are now in good demand at $1 50 each.

Metals.—The active trade of the season is over, and the late advance in prices of Pig and other Irons is now only nominally maintained. By the "Australia," from Sydney, we received fresh supplies of Block Tin, upwards of 700 ingots, the price of which is now quite nominal at 20c.

Barley.—The market continues sluggish. The stock of Chevalier ahout exhausted. Good Bay Brewing is held at 95c to $1; Feed, 75c to 85c per ctl.; stock is excessive.

Oats.—The steamer City of Chester, from Puget Sound, hrought 13,000 sacks. The market is flat at $1 25@$1 37½ per ctl.

The News Letter will issue a grand Douhle Number, beautifully illustrated, for Christmas.

Printsd and Published by ths Propristor, Frederick Marriott, 607 to 615 Merchant Strsst, San Francisco, California.

IRISH BALLAD.

Often I dream of the day, asthore,
With secret sighs and laughter,
When you went reaping the oats before,
And I came gathering after.
And tenderly, tenderly, with the corn,
Looks of love you threw me;
Till I stood up with looks of scorn
And withered your hopes to woo me.

Often and often I'm dreaming still,
With tears and smiles together,
Of the month I stretched so weak and ill,
In the wild and wintry weather;
While tenderly, tenderly, you would tap
To know the news of Nora;
Till I grew fonder of your rap
Than my father's voice, acora!

But most I remember the plan concealed
That through the spring amused you:
To watch till you found me in the field
Where in autumn I refused you.
Then earnestly, earnestly, in my eyes
To gaze, till I returned you
The look of looks and the sigh of sighs,
On the spot where once I spurned you.

—Graphic, London.

SKELETON SKETCHES.--No. 14.

[BY T. A. HARCOURT.]

A Woman's Sacrifice.

When I first knew Bertie Dundonald he was a Captain in a hussar regiment—I forget its number—and was the life and pride of his mess. There was nothing strange about that, however, for he was well-born, rich, handsome, honorable, talented, brave and generous, and though every army-man of his acquaintance probably possessed at least one of these advantages, and some several of them, he possessed them all, and that in a very eminent degree.

Every man in Bertie's position, and of Bertie's temperament, oscillates in two social circles—or, rather, whirlpools. There is the whirlpool of his peers, in which, however giddy it may be, he oscillates becomingly, flirting and dissipating mildly; and there is another whirlpool—carefully concealed from the former—in which his ship of life eddies madly, without heeding or needing decorum.

Mind, I do not mean any offense. Let it be distinctly understood that we are not all Berties.

Well, it was in this nether whirlpool that Bertie met a certain woman and fell in love with her. Why should he not? She was fairer than the day, educated, gifted, and in every way lovable. Why should he? Her star glittered only in the baleful firmament of the demi monde, and it was a notorious fact that she had broken more hearts and fortunes than any siren of her time.

However, Bertie did fall in love with "The Daffodil"—as she was called in her particular whirlpool—and what was more, he married her. Society, of course, was extremely horrified, and very properly sent its darling Bertie to the —— well, to Coventry. That is to say, Captain Dundonald was incontinently relegated to the limbo of social corpses. Of course he resigned his commission and went to live abroad.

II.

It is all very well to say that the harder adversity presses on a man the braver he should become; but there are burdens which are heavier than the most resolute spirit can bear up under without showing—more especially to eyes that love him—that he is sick at heart and exceeding weary. When a man is cut off from all that he has learned to hold dear—from home, country and friends—and suddenly finds himself an exile among strangers, with at best a very distant hope of ever regaining what he has lost, then he must be a good masker indeed if sooner or later his temper and manner do not show that he is brooding on these things.

Now, Bertie Dundonald suffered in this way and was not a good masker. He loved his wife very dearly, and his love was returned with interest. He split his great fortune in two and gave her half, which she accepted without demur, merely saying, with a smile, that she might need it to keep his love. There was nothing under the sun that he did not do to show his affection and make her happy. And she was happy—happy to be able to adore her idol and bask in the sunshine of his love. But there was one thing that sorely troubled her; she saw that Bertie was growing weary of his exile.

They lived in a little out-of-the-way, Continental town, where foreigners rarely came, for Bertie was too considerate of his wife's feelings, and too proud on his own account, to subject her to the criticism of his former friends. The place had no society of its own—that was why they had gone there—so they really seemed to live quite out of the world. Now, when Bertie grew tired of his exile, he did not grow tired of his wife, or her company. On the contrary, he seemed to love her more every day. But although, according to all the laws of sentiment and romance, he ought to have been perfectly content under the circumstances, the fact remains that, as time went on, he became more and more restless and moody. He fell into a habit of recalling his brilliant past, and contrasting it with the future that seemed inevitable. Above all things, he pined for his home in Scotland, the stately home that had belonged to his family for centuries. During the last few years before his marriage he had not lived there much himself, as his military duties kept him away, but now he longed to take his wife there and install her as queen of his beautiful domain. Alas! he well knew how impossible that was. In that home lived his widowed mother, a proud and stern old woman, whose mind was divided between four things only, namely—religion, pride of ancestry, love for Bertie and hate for the woman who, she believed, had entrapped her only son. Had he gone back alone, she would have forgiven him for nearly breaking her heart, but, had he taken his wife with him, I believe the unrelenting old lady would have died of grief and shame. Yet neither she, nor any of the quiet Scotch society in which she moved, had ever seen young Mrs. Dundonald, though they were perfectly willing to believe all and more than they heard. Had they known how lovable she was, how bitterly she repented her former life, and how purely devoted she was to her husband, perhaps their judgment would have been less severe.

Of course, Bertie's wife was not blind to this state of affairs. He never complained to her, and he never had a disloyal thought towards her; it was for her sake quite as much as for his own that he lamented his banishment. But she did not know this, and she believed that in spite of all his protestations her husband had grown weary of her, and from motives of honor was sacrificing his happiness in remaining with her. She took the blame for his misery, and, at a cost to herself which it is unnecessary to dwell upon, she resolved to restore him his freedom. Her plans were laid carefully, and one day, on returning from a few hours' fishing in a lake near the town, Bertie found her gone. On his dressing table was a letter, in which she told him in a few words why she had left him. She did not reproach him; on the contrary, her farewell breathed nothing but love and tenderness, but her decision, she said, was irrevocable.

III.

For nearly three years Bertie Dundonald scoured the civilized world in a vain search for his lost wife. If she thought to give him happiness, she was sadly deceived. He had never looked upon his mother's face since his bereavement, not even when she sent for him upon her death-bed. And since her death he had never gone home. Toward the close of the third year, the Russo-Turkish war broke out. Desperate and eager for death, he offered his sword to the Turk, and it was accepted. In the third or fourth engagement he was severely wounded, while leading his troops forward with a valor even exceeding that of the soldiers who believe that "Paradise lies under the shadow of swords."

At that time there were with the Turkish army a host of English ladies acting as nurses, and among the most famous of them was a widow named Mrs. Mannering, a woman renowned throughout Europe for her heroic and untiring devotion to the sick and wounded. This lady was with the regiment to which Bertie belonged. When she came to the wounded man's bedside he had found his wife again. It is only my intention to suggest the outline of the facts which make up this true story, so I will leave to the reader's imagination the details of the meeting, and simply add that there was great rejoicing among Bertie's friends and tenantry in Scotland when, six months later, it became known that he was coming home with a second wife, having discovered that his first was dead. But they never found out that the marriage ceremony had been performed years before, or that Mrs. Mannering was "the Daffodil."

TAXES! TAXES!
1879-80.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Taxable Property of the City and County of San Francisco, Real Estate and Personal Property (subsequent Assessment Book included), for the Fiscal Year 1879-80, has this day been received; that the State, City and County TAXES for said Fiscal Year are now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall, and the Laws in regard to their collection will be strictly enforced.

TAXES will become delinquent on the First Monday in January, 1880, and unless paid prior thereto, five per cent. will be added to the amount thereof.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

ASSESSMENT OF LANDS
BENEFITED BY
WIDENING DUPONT STREET.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Real Estate which is subject for the Payment of Principal and Interest upon "Dupont-street Bonds," as directed by an Act of the Legislature of California to authorize the Widening of Dupont street, in the City of San Francisco, "Approved March 23d, A.D. 1876," has this day been placed in my hands for collection. The Laws in regard to the collection of the same will be strictly enforced.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

MONTGOMERY AVENUE ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of Real Estate, which is subject to assessment to defray expenses incurred by the Opening of Montgomery Avenue, has this day been placed in my hands to collect the Assessment thereon.

Said Assessment is for the Fiscal Year of 1879-80, and is now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall. All Assessments remaining unpaid on the FIRST MONDAY IN JANUARY, 1880, will have five per cent added thereto.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector for the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

WAKELEE'S AUREOLINE
Produces the Beautiful Golden Hair so Much Admired.

SUPERIOR TO THE IMPORTED ARTICLE

—BY REASON OF ITS—

FRESHNESS AND CARE USED IN ITS PRODUCTION.

PRICE, LARGE BOTTLES. $2.

Manufactured by H. P. WAKELEE & CO., Druggists, corner Montgomery and Bush streets, S. F. [Aug. 2.

ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY,
No. 310 Sansome street, San Francisco, Wholesale Dealer in Furs. Sept. 21.

MADAME WALDO COHEN,
Finishing Lessons--Piano. $3 Per Lesson.

Sept. 20. 507 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

NOVEMBER.

No sun—no moon—
No morn—no noon—
No dawn—no dusk—no proper time of day—
No sky—no earthly view—
No distance looking blue—
No road—no street—no "t'other side of the way"—
No end to any row—
No indications where the crescents go—
No top to any steeple—
No recognitions of familiar people—
No courtesies for showing 'em—
No knowing 'em—
No traveling at all—no locomotion—
No inkling of the way—no notion—
"No go"—by land or ocean—
No mail—no post—
No news from any foreign coast—
No park—no ring—no afternoon gentility—
No company—no nobility—
No warmth—no cheerfulness—no healthful ease—
No comfortable feel in any member—
No shade—no shine—no butterflies—no bees—
No fruits—no flowers—no leaves—no birds—
No-vember! —Thomas Hood.

THE CENSUS NEXT YEAR.

The general rate of increment in the population of California between 1860 and 1870 was 4 per cent. per annum. At this rate the population, according to the Federal Census which is to be taken in 1880, will amount to about 830,000, and this figure will compare with that of previous dates as follows: 1850, 165,000; 1860, 379,994; and 1870, 560,247. This shows a slow rate of increment compared with the growth of population in some of our Westeru States.

The population of the United States in 1850 was 23,000,000; in 1860, 31,500,000; in 1870, 38,500,000. In 1880 it will probably he 50,000,000.

The population of the European world, that is, Europe, America, Australia and European settlements, excluding in all cases the aboriginal population, is, at the present time, about 400,000,000. It is estimated to have amounted to 60,000,000 during the Augustan era; to have fallen to less than 30,000,000 during the Dark Ages; to have increased to 40,000,000 at the period of the discovery of America; to have heen 86,000,000 in 1675; 90,000,000 in 1700; 110,000,000 in 1776; and 388,000,000 in 1877.

Voltaire, writing about the middle of the last century, said that the population of Europe had "tripled" since the time of Charlemagne; that France had a population of 600 to the square league; Spain, 150; Russia, 15; and Tartary, 10. He credited Russia with a population of 24 millions; Germany and Hungary, 24; Spain (after Ustariz), 7; Great Britain and Ireland, 9 to 10; and France, 16 to 20. Employing these and other data, Europe was credited with 105 to 110 millions. These numbers were so alarming that essays and books without number were written to account for the evil of over-population, and to suggest a means of repressing it. Among these works, the most notable were hy Hume, Wallace and Malthus. These authors clearly perceived the principle that population augmented and diminished with the means of subsistence and their just distribution according to effort and merit. But since they had no devices to offer whereby production could he increased or distribution improved, they were contented with showing how the growth of population might he repressed. However, things soon took a widely different turn from what they expected. A studious little man had rightly comprehended the difficulty, and discovered the proper remedy. The man was James Watt, and the remedy the steam engine. This remedy, however, only related to increased production. It could not bring about just distribution. This was done hy the American and French Revolutions, the establishment of paper money systems, and the abolition of the feudal system in Contineutal Europe, all of which happened within a few years. It was these events which have enahled the population of the European world to increase from 110 to 400 millions iu a single century.

California may take a lesson from these pages of history. Our population advances slowly; there are many unemployed in our midst; the wealth of the State is not diffused. Our rich men should assist in developing the magnificent physical resources of the country; our poor men should eschew agitation, and apply themselves to the work of improving the laws and administration. Our population will then enjoy hetter opportunities of living, and under such circumstances, no one can douht that it will rapidly increase in numbers.

INHERITED TERRORS.

Mr. Editor: In Europe, when a hoy, I found a wild-duck's nest, and placed the eggs under a hen in a nice box near a pond of water. The moment the young ducks hroke through the eggs they made for the water, and were so terrified at the surroundings that they were all dead within a few hours: they kept diving until they expired. This last summer, a friend of mine, living near San Jose, brought home some wild-duck eggs and placed them much in the same way that I had done. Seven young ducks came out, and they hehaved like tame ducks. I have three of them in my yard, and they are very quiet and tame. In the first instance, the young of ducks that had heen shot at for many generations, came from the eggs wild and untamable; while in the second instance the the young of wild ducks that had not heen shot at until very recently, came from the eggs docile and tamable. The young inherit many of the attributes of the parents; and hence it is desirahle to chop off the heads of all hlood-thirsty ruffians, and so spare our own children from being murdered hy their descendants. Yours, Q. E. D.

A Hungarian entered the studio of a portrait painter and said: "I want you to paint a portrait of my late father." "With pleasure, sir. Have you a photograph of the lamented deceased?" "No; but you don't want any photograph. Just paiut a wild-looking Hungarian about 60 years old and 6 feet high, with a big white mustache." Four weeks later the family came round to see the picture. "Bravo," says the Hungarian, warmly; "it's a speaking likeness, only the old gent seems to have changed a good deal since his death."

Artistic Novelties, manufactured from California quartz, at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

PRODUCTION OF GOLD AND SILVER.

Nearly all the gold and a large portion of the silver produced in the United States last year was coined at the mints or used in domestic manufactures, the arts and ornamentation. The surplus was exported to non-producing countries. The annual consumption of precious metals in the United States in all forms of manufacturing now averages $7,000,000 of gold and $5,000,000 of silver. The gold coin in the country on the 30th of last June was estimated at $286,490,698; silver $112,050,985, the gain in the past six years being $151,490,698 gold and $107,050,985 silver. Since the close of the last fiscal year and up to November 1st, the imports of coin and bullion and the domestic coinage have increased these amounts to $305,750,467 gold and $121,456,355 silver, a total of $427,206,852, or about $9 per capita. It is estimated, should the flow of gold continue from foreign countries, that the metallic circulation of the country at the end of the present fiscal year will have swollen to over $600,000,000. The world's production of gold has declined in the past few years from $131,000,000 in 1853 to $86,000,000 in 1879. As general prices have not advanced above those of 50 years ago, the annual supply of precious metals, although increased five-fold, is not excessive, nor more than sufficient to satisfy the world's present needs for coinage and manufacture. —From Mint Superintendent Burchard's Report.

BANKS.

THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital.....$3,000,000.
WM. ALVORD.....President.
THOMAS BROWN, Cashier | B. MURRAY, Jr., Ass't Cashier

AGENTS:

New York, Agency of the Bank of Calfornia; Boston, Tremont National Bank Chicago, Union National Bank; St. Louis, Boatman's Saving Bank; New Zealand, the Bank of New Zealaud; London, China, Japau, India and Australia, the Oriental Bank Corporation.

The Bank has Agencies at Virginia City and Gold Hill, and Correspondents in all the principal Mining Districts and Interior Towns of the Pacific Coast.

Letters of Credit issued, available in all parts of the world. Draw direct on Londou, Dublin, Paris, Berlin, Bremen, Hamburg, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Antwerp, Amsterdam, St. Petersburgh, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Christiaua, Locarno, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland, Hongkong, Shanghai, Yokohama. Nov. 4.

FIRST NATIONAL GOLD BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Paid up Capital $2,000,000, Gold. President, R. C. Woolworth; Vice-President, D. Callaghan; Cashier, E. D. Morgan.

DIRECTORS:—R. C. Woolworth, D. Callaghan, C. G. Hooker, C. Adolph Low, Peter Donahue, Isaac Wormser, Edward Martin, James Moffitt, N. Van Bergen.

CORRESPONDENTS—London: Baring Bros. & Co. Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China. Dublin: Provincial Bank of Ireland. Hamburg: Hesse, Neuman & Co. Paris: Hottinguer & Co. New York: National Bank of Commerce. Boston: Blackstone National Bank. Chicago: First National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact a general Banking business. Deposits in Gold, Silver and Currency received subject to check or on special deposit. Exchange for sale on the principal cities of the United States, Great Britain, Ireland and the Continent. Commercial Credits issued available iu Europe, China and Japan. Collections attended to and prompt returns made at the lowest market rates of Exchange. Jan. 19.

BANK OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Incorporated by Royal Charter.---Capital paid up, $1,800,000, with power to increase to $10,000,000. Southeast corner California and Sansome streets. Head Office—28 Cornhill, London. Branches—Portland, Oregon; Victoria, New Westminster and Carihoo, British Columbia.

This Bank transacts a General Banking Business. Accounts opened subject to Check and Special Deposits received. Commercial Credits granted available in all parts of the world. Approved Bills discounted and advances made on good collateral security. Draws direct at current rates upon its Head Office and Branches, and upon its Agents as follows:

New York, Chicago and Canada—Bank of Montreal; Liverpool—North and South Wales Bank; Scotland—British Linen Company; Ireland—Bank of Ireland; Mexico and South America—London Bank of Mexico and South America; China and Japan—Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and Oriental Bank; Australia and New Zealand—Bank of Australasia, Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, and English, Scottish and Australian Chartered Bank.

May 18. FREDERICK TOWNSEND, Manager.

LONOON AND SAN FRANCISCO BANK, LIMITED.

Capital, $5,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is fully paid up as present capital. Reserve Fund, $360,000. San Fraucisco Office, 424 California street; London Office, 22 Old Broad street. Manager, ARTHUR SCRIVENER; Cashier, WILLIAM STEEL. London Bankers, Bank of England and London Joint Stock Bank; New York, Drexel, Morgan & Co.; Boston, Third National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact all kinds of General Banking and Exchange Business in London and San Francisco, and between said cities and all parts of the world. March 30.

THE NEVAOA BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital Paid Up.....$3,000,000.
Reserve, U. S. Bonds..... 3,500,000.

Agency at New York, 62 Wall street.
Agency at Virginia, Nev.

Buys and sells Exchange and Telegraphic Transfers. Issues Commercial and Travelers' Credits. This Bank has special facilities for dealing in Bullion. Nov. 8.

SECURITY SAVINGS BANK.

GUARANTEE CAPITAL, - - - - - - - $300,000.
Officers: Vice-President, Jerome Lincoln; Secretary, W. S. Jones; Attorney, Sidney V. Smith. Loans made on Real Estate and other Approved Securities. Office: No. 215 Sansome street, San Francisco. Oct. 14.

THE GERMAN SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

Deutsche Spar und Leihbank, No 526 California street, San Francisco. OFFICERS: President, L. GOTTIG. BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—Fred. Roeding, Chas. Kohler, Edw. Kruse, George H. Eggers, N. Van Bergen, H. L. Simon, Peter Spreckels, Ign. Steinhart. Secretary, GEO. LETTE; Attorney, JOHN R. JARBOE. May 18.

THE ANGLO-CALIFORNIAN BANK, LIMITED.

422 California St., San Francisco.

London Office, 3 Angel Court; New York Agents, J. W. Seligman & Co., 21 Broad street. Authorized Capital Stock, $6,000,000. Will receive Deposits, open Accounts, make Collections, buy and sell Exchange and Bullion, loan Money, and issue Letters of Credit available throughout the world.

FRED. F. LOW, IGN. STEINHART, Managers.
P. N. LILIENTHAL, Cashier. Sept. 13.

"PLEASURE'S WAND."

"We Obey no Wand but Pleasure's."—Tom Moore.

Baldwin Theater.—Notwithstanding all the interest that is created and maintained hy clever and witty dialogue, a forcible delineation of a strong character and general good acting, the play of Forget-Me-Not is not one that improves on acquaintance. It is full of weak points, from hoth natural and dramatic points of view, which at first pass unnoticed under the many good features, hut subsequently force themselves upon one's appreciation. The total collapse of such a character as "Stephanie's," with its dogged fixity of purpose, npheld hy a mind of wonderful intelligence and unlimited determination, is ahsurd and inexplicahle when effected hy any such cause, as the one portrayed. That the recollections of a night of horror should momentarily npset the Marquise is a natural result of the sensitiveness and impressionahility of a woman's delicate nervous organization. But the durahility of any such weakness as portrayed by the author, indicates a total ignorance of the existence of that wonderful reserve force which the female possesses, which gives her courage, hoth physical and mental, and which is a matter of admiration to all students of human nature. If this alone should be insufficient to recall "Stephanie" to herself, her clear head and wealth of experience would furnish her with the means to protect herself. There is an inkling that the authors have thought of this, for they have felt compelled to holster their ideas up hy the introduction of that monk's dirge, which, though highly melodramatic, is an ahsnrd episode from a prosaic point of view. The manner in which the revengeful Corsican is introduced at first is also too forced, it hecoming immediately evident that no matter what the undeveloped plot may he, that character will surely he the deus ex machina. The principal characters are well played, with, perhaps, the Corsican excepted. Morrison makes too prominent the servility and ahjectedness, thereby destroying the plansihility of his vendetta. As well, as admirahly, as true to the character, full of wonderfnl changes and phases of character, as Miss Lewis plays "Stephanie," she lacks in her own mind a distinct conception of the character. She does not play evenly on different evenings. The same thoughts and feelings are expressed with different intonations, accompanied by different gestures. These changes, while never inconsistent with what is sought to he portrayed, indicate carelessness. It is trne they are evidences that Miss Lewis has a wealth of resources in the delineation of human emotions; hut when she has adopted a certain manner of portrayal consistency requires an adherence to it. Forget-Me-Not will he continued next week.

Bush Street Theater.—All things considering, the attendance at this theater during the week has heen fair. The beauty and sprightliness of the pretty girls, and the comicalities of the comedians, enable one to pass a pleasant and agreeahle evening. When one has laughed to heart's content, and eyes have heen dazzled hy female loveliness, there is little disposition to he critical. The shapeliness of Miss Ada Lee is only equaled hy the rare taste and delicious ahandon with which it is clad. Miss Lewis has hardly received the praise her conscientious efforts deserve, and the same may he said of Miss Rose Leighton. Next to Miss Chapman, who is hrimful of cuteness and vivacity, the honors are due to Miss McHenry. This charming hody is a very intelligent actress. She throws more life and individuality into her acting than all the rest of the troupe comhined. She enters into the true spirit of hurlesque, enjoys it, and delights all with the sparkle of her eyes and the true ring of her laugh. Miss Roseau introduces this week two songs of a more amhitious sort than those she has so far sang. She sings them more seriously, and from that reason hetter than anything yet. The voice is all right; it is the manner and style of singing that is so objectionahle in Miss Roseau. In the hands of a good teacher this voice could undoubtedly receive artistic cultivation and hecome effective for use, hut in other spheres than that of hurlesque. This actress wears an exceptionahly pretty costume in the last act. The little ones who do the Who Killed Cock Robin? business, are very clever. This Jenny Wren is not as cute as little May Edouin was, but there is a little "Tot" who plays the Policeman who is too ridiculously funny for anything. Next Monday another amusing burlesque will be produced—Robinson Crusoe—with new costumes, properties, etc. This troupe is lucky in the possession of two efficient requirements—an ahle Stage Manager and a talented chef d'orchestre.

California Theater.—The Streets of New York has heen nightly played during the week to a sparsely filled dress-circle and an overflowing gallery. The enthusiasm that conventional contests hetween vice and virtue excite in "the gods," is a thing as old as drama itself. It is inexplicable and unanalyzahle. Mr. Mayo's "Badger" is too well-known an impersonation to require comment. It is a rather nnæsthetic piece of acting; the grosser sides of human nature heing too disgustingly prominent. The cast was a very inferior one, as compared to former ones. Mrs. Saunders deserves a word for her rendition of "Mrs. Puffy." Miss Rellie Deaves, who it seems as hut yesterday was a child, is developing rapidly as an actress. Little Gus Pixley, as the newshoy, can lay claim to great naturalness. In the Union Square scene, Roller Skating and Bicycling were introduced, and so indifferently done as to render more noticeahle the inconsistency of such displays. On Monday evening the thrilling drama, Lady Thornhurst's Daughter, will he produced. In the cast will he Mr. Geo. D. Chaplin and Miss Louise Beandet. The latter will he remembered from her connection with the Aimée Troupe. She is a young, pretty girl, with undouhted comedy abilities. The Christmas spectacle, the Seven Sisters, is in active preparation.

Standard Theater.—John E. Owens' Dr. Pangloss is an exquisite hit of character-acting. It is a portraiture drawu in delicate and minute lines, like one of Meissonner's or Vibert's genre gems. It is a thoroughly artistic creation, a perfect realization of the autbor's idea—a pedantic, vain, fussy old professor, full of knowledge, quaint in manner and possessed of the chevalier d'industrie ahility to live hy his wits off the ignorance of others. John E. Owens owes his celehrity and his position on the American stage to just such impersonations, and it creates pity that at times he should he so careless and indifferent of his reputation, as evidenced by his indulging in personal amusement while on the hoards. The Heir-at-Law, as a whole, was exceedingly well acted. Our Boys was revived for a few evenings. On Monday, Messrs. Thorne and Darwin, Illusionists and Exposers of Spiritualism, will appear, of whom more helow.

German Theater.—Last Sunday's performance was hut slimly attended, the unpleasant weather naturally interfering with a turnout of our German population. Das Bemooste Houpt is a standard piece on the German stage, not so much from any extraordinary inherent merit, as from the popular helief that, in describing the woes and wrongs of the old student, "Benedix," had his own collegiate life in mind. Mr. Kadelhurg was admirahle in this character. As "Strahel," the student's factotum, Mr. Freeman gave one of his talented and finished character impersonations. Miss Fiehach looked pretty as "Hempel," the "Fnchs," (Pleh), and that is all that was required of her. The usual intelligent, minute stage direction showed, on this evening, some laxity, as the studeuts evidenced inconsistency in dress, and the musical requirements of the performance were sadly fulfilled. To-morrow evening Miss Mundt-Muhlhack, a former leading lady, will make her appearance. The hill will he Sodom and Gomorrah, a comedy hy Schonthau.

Schmidt Quintette.—The third concert was strongly attended; this, in face of the raging elements, indicating the popularity and attractiveness of those series. The different numhers were played in the nsual admirable manner of this family, although, at times, a slight want of finish was noticeahle. The gem of the evening was Louis Schmidt, Jr.'s solo, Praludium, Romanza, Scherzo Burlesque, hy F. Ries. This was executed with all the artist's talent, and received a storm of applanse. The soloist of the evening was Mr. Johnson, tenor. He was fairly received, with the courtesy due a new comer. His rendition of Ruhinstein's "Du hist wie eine Blume" was elahorated hy some little ideas of his own, wbich failed to enhance the heauty of the song, and did not seem to please the audience, seemingly well acquainted with the composition. His voice lacks force, and has a strong tendency to flat. The next concert will he on the 16th inst.

Henry Heyman's concert was a success in all respects. The house was filled, and the audience an appreciative one. The different numhers were excellently rendered. Mr. Hinrich's violoncello solo was, perhaps, the most enjoyahle feature of the evening. Brahm's Hungarian Dances, arranged for two violins hy F. Herrman, were played with taste hy the heneficiary and Mr. Edgar Coursen. Mme. Zeis Dennis was received with great applause. An expression of opinion as to her merits is deferred until some future occasion. It will suffice to say now that she is undouhtedly the hest local dramatic singer. It is a pleasure to state that, from a financial point of view, the concert was a thorough success.

Thorne and Darwin, who open at the Standard Theater, are illusionists of high rank, performing all the intricate and curions tricks of modern magic with rare skill. They left England six years ago, and have since heen all over the world, with the exception of the United States. This will he their first appearance in this country. A most interesting part of their entertainment is their expose of Spiritualistic seances, in which they are said to he very clever. The Australian papers praise tbese conjurors very highly.

Grand Opera House.—The complimentary henefit tendered to Manager M. A. Kennedy has heen postponed until Sunday evening, Dec. 21. The programme is a varied and interesting one, comprising comedy and hurlesque, The Honeymoon, and that very best of all hurlesques, Brougham's Pocahontas. There will also he an Olio, to enahle many other friends of the heneficiary, for whom there is no room in the regular entertainment to contrihute their services. Reserved seats are heing rapidly sold.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association will give an amateur dramatic entertainment at the Standard Theater, to-morrow (Sunday) evening. Our Boys will he presented, with a cast drawn from the memhers of the society, aided hy some charming young ladies. The hox-office is at Messrs. Sherman & Hyde's, where seats can now he reserved.

Little Bee McNamar, who wins the hearts of all, has heen offered a henefit hy the artists of this city and Oakland, at Dashaway Hall, Thursday evening next. It should he a humper, for all the children in town must see her.

Woodward's still ahead! To-day and to-morrow the Specter Cross, the troupe of athletes, Yankee courtship hy the Allen Sisters, the Lone Fisherman, Billy White, the great Ethiopian, and the phonograph. No extra charge.

Chit-Chat.—The Meinigen Actors give Schiller's Robbers in the original form, with two exceptions. In the first act the third scene is joined immediately with the monologue of "Franz." In the fourth act the meeting of "Franz" and "Herrmann" and the subsequent monologue are horrowed from the stage copy of the Manheim Theater.——It is said that Charlotte Thompson, heing unsuccessful in drawing houses in the play of Jane Eyre, at Buffalo, hit upon the plan of changing the hero's name from "Lord Rochester" to "Lord Buffalo," with astonishingly satisfactory results.——Mignon was recently sung in St. Louis with three American girls in the cast, but all three appearing under foreign stage names—Signora Ricci, Bertha Schumacher, Mlle. La Blanche—Blanche Davenport, Mlle. Litta, Marie von Elsner!——Ferd. Dulcken, who was here with Remenyi, is traveling in the West as accompanist to the Carlotta Patti Concert Troupe.——Frank Queen, of the Clipper, has a large hump of henevolence, and of the true stripe. His henefactions are as modest as tbey are munificent.——The handsome haritone, Del Puente, receives many love letters, which he hands over to his wife, who answers them faithfully in the hest possihle English. But does she really see all he receives? What say you, ladies?——Levy, the cornet-player, has had a row with Gilmore.——Ada Gilman is said to be engaged to Steele Mackaye.——Mlle. Belveen has pleased the Cincinnati musical people. Not hard to please!——Magda Irschick thinks of having her voice cultivated for the operatic stage, and taking dramatic roles like "Fidelio" and "Donna Anna."——Di Murski is laid up with neuralgia in the toe. It is supposed this was caused by the success of her debutante at a recent performance, a Miss Lido.——Levy, with his wife and sister-in-law (Minnie and Lilian Conway), is organizing a Trouhadonr troupe.——Burdette, the Burlington Hawkeye man, out on a lecturing tour, writes: "The day I arrived at Denver the Indian outhreak occurred." And yet he does not take the hint hut continues his tour!——John McCullough says he has been trying to forget what he has seen in other actors.——The Mendelssohn Quintette Clnh of Boston are traveling in Ohio.——Thursby is going to be married, and the happy man's name is Gillig. This lady had a grand reception at her first concert in New York on her return from Europe.——The production of Pinafore hy the anthors' tronpe, and under their supervision, has achieved but a success d'estime.

SPORTING ITEMS.

Bicycling.—The three-days match at the Mechanics' Pavilion terminated Tuesday, 11 P. M. Eggers 543 1-6 miles, Merrill 512 1-6 miles, Bennett 480½ miles, Boyston 422 1-6 miles, Dunbar 400 miles. Barnes retired on the second day. The contest was remarkable for the speed and endurance shown by the winner, Eggers, who has had but nine month's experience as a rider. He was handicapped in the match with a heavy bicycle, a bad track and the presence of the lady riders, whose efforts at speed were disastrous to the men and machines they caromed against. The generally received opinion before the race was that 400 miles would not be made. That goes to show Eggers is a phenomenal rider, able with practice to compete with the best men in America. His machine had a 48-inch wheel, and weighed about 50 lbs. The machines used in England and the Eastern States, for racing, measures from 52 to 56 inches, and weigh from 26 to 28 lbs. Of the lady riders, Lizzie Baymer is by odds the best, in fact the only one of them fit to appear in public. She rides a 50-inch wheel at an average speed of 10 miles an hour. The advertised 50-mile race commenced Wednesday evening. Before the riders had made one mile it was evident to every observer of average intelligence that there was no race in it, and that it was simply an exhibiteon advertised as a race to draw the easily gulled public. The preliminaries were all right, but the riders gave the business away by trick-riding and stage antics incompatible with a trial of speed. One of the riders informed us that he received $20 to ride for three hours (distance no object), and that he supposed the others were paid on a similar scale. We are convinced, however, that the three-days race was a genuine match won by the best man. The fastest mile in the races was credited to Bennett in 3:50, good time, considering the track, etc.——We hear rumors of a six-day bicycle contest, to take place at the Mechanics' Pavilion early in January.

Pedestrianism.—Last week we warned our readers to fight shy of the McIntyre-Hedley race. We are now of opinion that the whole business is merely a gate money scheme. The stake is too large for ordinary men to put up on themselves for a quarter-mile dash. Money may be staked, but there is nothing to prevent a preconcerted division of it after the match. The fact that other races are to come off on the grounds the same day, and that the quarter-mile match is made a leading attraction in the advertisements, gives a circus-like tint to the whole business. Of course, if the race is for blood and money, the principals can easily prove it, to which end we will render any assistance in our power.——We bear that McIntyre will not enter in the six-day "go-as-you-please," under the auspices of the Pedestrian League. The names published were not entries for the race, but merely a list of the league's members. J. W. Griffiths, of Victoria, B. C., is willing to name a man to run any one on the coast ten or twenty miles, for $250 a side and gate money. He assures us that any one making the match can get a lot more coin in bets, as the Victoria people are some on the sport, and have a few dollars with which to back their fancy.

Football.—Owing to the rain, there will be no game played to-day.——The Olympian and St. George's Club met at the Occidental Hotel last Monday. It was decided to amalgamate the two clubs under the name of the "Wanderers." The following officers were elected: Peter Donohue, President; J. Sanderson, Vice-President; Wallace, Captain; Theobald, Secretary; Sanderson, Treasurer; Page and Okell, Committee. The club's uniform will be a dark-blue jersey and dark-blue stockings. They will use the Recreation Grounds for matches if suitable. Gentlemen desirous of joining the club must send in their names to the Secretary, or any member of the committee.——The Call is authority for the statement that our amateur players are of the opinion that football, under the Rugby Union rules, is mere child's play. If the Call's venerable proprietor should ever lose his eye-glasses in a scrummage, and find that the perspiration had made his hair-dye lose its efficacy, he would find out that it takes a man, and a good one at that, to play football under the Rugby Union rules.

Archery.—Those who thought us premature in closing the archery season are now forced to ackuowledge that we were right. The damp weather puts an end to the sport, even in halls.——The Chicago Club have been unable to shoot against the Bow Club's score, on account of bad weather.——Some fine split bamboo bows, made by Conroy & Co., of New York, have been received here.

Coursing.—The Pacific Coast Coursing Club announce their first open meeting to take place the last week in February.——Should the weather prove fine, the matches at Point of Timbers to-morrow will be well worth seeing. Spectators can take the train at 8 A.M. Sunday, arriving at Byron Station in time for the sport, and return by the down train at 2:17 P.M.

Baseball.—The Star and Union Clubs will play at the Union Baseball Grounds to-morrow (weather permitting.) At present the betting is 2 to 1 on the weather.

The finest assortment of Ornamental Silver at Geo. C. Shreve & Co.'s.

Christmas Number of the News Letter! Illustrated.

CALIFORNIA SUGAR REFINERY,

Manufacturers of the Standard Syrup, a superior article put up in barrels expressly for home consumption. Also, Extra Heavy Syrup in barrels for Export. Refined Sugars at lowest market rates. Office, 215 Front street, up stairs Dec. 21.

SEEDS.

R. J. Trumbull & Co., 419 and 421 Sansome street. Kentucky Blue Grass, Alfalfa, Mosquit, Timothy, etc., etc. Vegetable Seeds of all descriptions. Nov. 29.

ROOFS

Of Tin or Asphaltum Repaired. Tin Roofs Painted. Send orders early to the OLD STAND, No. 819 Market street, opposite Stockton. Estimates furnished free of charge. [Dec. 6.] H. G. FISKE.

CUMBERLAND MINE,

Yavapai County, Arizona. Office: No. 417 California st., San Francisco, California. President, GEORGE M. CIPRICO. Secretary, J. H. GRIFFITHS. Office Hours: 2 P.M. daily. Oct. 11.

STANDARD THEATER.

M. A. KENNEDY.....Manager.

This (Saturday) Evening, December 6th,
AND MATINEE AT TWO P.M.,
Positively the Last Appearances of
MR. JOHN E. OWENS!
Our Boys!

MONDAY EVENING.....DECEMBER 8TH,

First Appearance in America

—OF THE—

World's Greatest Illusionists,

THORNE and DARWIN.

☞ Reserved Seats for Y. M. H. A. Entertainment next Sunday evening, for sale at Sherman, Hyde & Co.'s Music Store, between 1 and 4 P.M. daily. Dec. 6.

CALIFORNIA THEATER.

W. B. Barton, Manager; Barton Hill, Acting Manager. This (Saturday) Evening, Dec. 6th, Last Night of MR. FRANK MAYO, in his great character of BADGER, in Boucicault's Great Drama,

The Streets of New York!

Introducing "Union Square in the Snow," and the "Great Firs Scene." Only "Streets of New York Matinee" Saturday. Monday, Dec. 8th, the Great Success,

Man and Wife!

MR. MAYO as "Geoffrey Delamayn." Re-appearance of MISS ROSE OSBORNE. First Appearance of MISS LOUISE BEAUDET and MR. GEO. D. CHAPLIN.

BUSH-STREET THEATER.

Charles E. Locke, Proprietor and Manager---Fifth Week of the Successful Engagement of the Famous COLVILLE OPERA BURLESQUE COMPANY, and Last Representations this (Saturday) Afternoon and Evening of Babes in the Wood!

With all its wealth of Scenery, Effects, Music and Variety. Seats may be secured one week in advance. Sunday, December 7th—First Representation of

Robinson Crusoe!

With New Scenery, New Music, New Costumes. Friday Evening, December 12th—MISS ROSEAU'S First Benefit in California. Dec. 6.

THE BALDWIN THEATER.

Thomas Maguire, Manager.--Second Week and Continued Success of the Strongest Play Ever Acted,

Forget Me Not!

Evening and Saturday Matinee. This (Saturday) Evening, Dec. 6th, Benefit of the Orphan Children of GEN. J. B. HOOD. Monday, Dec. 8th, Benefit of MR. LEWIS MORRISON, "Forget Me Not" and "Don Cæsar de Bazan." Tuesday, Dec. 9th, Benefit of MISS JEFFREYS-LEWIS. Wednesday Afternoon, Dec. 10th, Benefit of MME. DURET. Dec. 6.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Unavoidable circumstances compel the Postponement of the Testimonial Benefit to MR. M. A. KENNEDY until SUNDAY EVENING, Dec. 21st, upon which occasion such a bill will be presented as will amply compensate for all disappointment caused by this unavoidable delay. Parties holding Tickets can have them exchanged on and after Monday, Dec. 8th, at the Standard Theater Box Office, where Reserved Seats can also be secured. Dec. 6.

FOR PORTLAND AND ASTORIA, OREGON.

The Oregon Steamship Company and Pacific Coast Steamship Company will dispatch every five days, for the above ports, one of their new A1 Iron Steamships, viz.: OREGON, GEORGE W. ELDER, and STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Sailing Days

Dec. 3, 8, 13, 18, 23, and 28. | Jan. 2, 7, 12, 17, 22, and 27.
At 10 o'clock A. M.

Connecting at Portland, Oregon, with Steamers and Railroads and their connecting Stage Lines for all points in Oregon, Washington and Idaho Territories, British Columbia and Alaska.

K. VAN OTERENDORP, Agent O. S. S. Co.,
No. 210 Battery street, San Francisco.
GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents P. C. S. S. Co.,
Dec. 6. No. 10 Market street, San Francisco.

DIVIDENO NOTICE.

Office of the Standard Con. Mining Company, San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 2d, 1879.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the above-named Company, held this day, Dividend No. 10, of Fifty Cents per share, was declared, payable on FRIDAY, December 12th, 1879, at the office in this city, or at the Agency of the Nevada Bank of San Francisco, in New York.
WM. WILLIS, Secretary.
Office—Room No. 29, Nevada Block, No. 309 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California. Dec. 6.

SONOMA VALLEY RAILROAD.

The Steamer "Sonoma" leaves Washington-street Wharf daily (Sunday excepted) at 2 P.M., for Norfolk, connecting with cars for the town of Sonoma and way stations, arriving 6 P.M.; returning, leaves Sonoma 7 A.M., arriving at San Francisco 11 A.M. For further particulars apply at General Office, 426 Montgomery street, or at Washington-street Wharf.
Dec. 6. JAMES M. DONAHUE, G. P. and T. Agent.

PROF. JOS. JOSSET,

Graduate of the University of Paris; Ex. Professor of De la Mennais' Normal, France; late of Point Loma Seminary, San Diego. Private Lessons in the French Language. Residence: Post street, between Powell and Stockton, next to Red Men's Hall. At home from 12 to 2 P.M. Private Lessons given at the residence of the pupil. Dec. 6.

UNITED STATES AND FOREIGN PATENT OFFICES.

C. W. M. Smith, Counselor and Advocate in Patent Cases, 429 Montgomery street, San Francisco. Established 1862. Specialty: Patents, Trade-Marks, Patent-Law. Sept. 20.

R. R. LLOYD,
Attorney-at-Law, Room 13, Nevada Block.

"The World," the Flesh, and the Devil.

[By a Truthful Penman.]

The "Scotsman" says that Mr. John Allan, of Galashiels, a devoted apiarian, had a young hive, the condition of which he wished to improve. Owing to the had season the skep did not contain enough of boney to keep the bees over winter. Mr. Allan filled a fumigator with burning fungi—blind man's snuff is the popular name—and having secured the bees inside, inserted the pipe of the box, and blew in the fumes of the fungi. In a short time the bees were unconscious, and were shaken out on to a clean board. Full combs taken from another hive were then fixed in the skep, and the still unconscious hees were returned to their now well plenished house, and in a short time they were as lively as ever.——An Engagement Ring—A lot of match-making mammas.——Dr. Tripe, public analyst of the Hackney district, London, reports "that all the samples of cocoa he examined, excpt one, were sold as mixtures of cocoa, arrowroot and sugar, the exception being Cadbury's Cocoa Essence, which was genuine. The quantity of starch in the other samples varied between sixty-seven and eighty per cent., so that, allowing for sugar, there was not in some of them more than ten per cent. of cocoa. An article like this was comparatively valueless as a food.——Mark Twain says of Love: Love without money is something like leather boots without soles.——At a dinner-party in St. Petersburg, at which the Turkish Ambassador was present, the conversation turned on the social morality of different nations, and a young diplomatist rashly ventured a pleasantry on the subject of Turkish harems. The ire of the Ottomau representative was immediately aroused, and he dumbfounded the company by a tirade against Christian immorality in general. In conclusion he said, with a bluntness which does not bear literal translation: "I have four wives, and I have never paid attentions to any other females. Which of the company dares tell me that bis relations with the fair sex have been similarly restricted?" Some rather noted Lovelaces who were present with their spouses felt a little awkward.——With powder on her face and bullet-buttons on her gown, the girl of the period is a dangerous character.——In a letter to a friend, a young lady states that she is not engaged, but she sees a cloud above the horizon about as large as a man's hand.——It is becoming the fashion, at distinguished weddings in Paris, for page-boys to be substituted for bridesmaids. They are all dressed alike, mostly in red or blue velvet or satin, with silk stockings and gold buckles; and, for their business, have to attend on the bride, carry her prayer-book and bouquet, support her train and veil, and generally be at her bidding all the day.——"Motber," said a little square-built urchin about five years old, "why don't the teacher make me monitor sometimes? I can lick every boy in my class but one."——Justification.—Magistrate: "You are charged with having emptied a basin of water over the plaintiff." Irishwoman: "Shure, yer honner, ye must forgive me—in the dark I took the gentleman for my husband!"——If I buy a dog at the Lost Dogs' Home, and pay for him, and get a formal receipt for my money, can the recognized previous owner of that dog reclaim him on refunding the amount to me? A recent magisterial decision says not. As a purchaser of a valuable dog at a nominal price, I would certainly concur with the magistrate; but as the loser of a canine favorite I am afraid I should be found to question the strict legality of the decision if I chanced to meet my poor dog Tray walking about with somebody else.—Atlas in the World.——The Chelsea philosopher says: Why should the most delightful of colors be associated with so many disagreeable things? We have Blue-Beard, blue bottles, blue books, blue ruin, blue stockings, blue pills and blue devils.——The Supreme Court has decided that the United States statute providing for the registry of trade-marks is unconstitutional, thus upsetting an extensive system of mercantile rights at home and abroad. This decision, however, does not leave trade-marks entirely unprotected, for the right to them is recognized in common law.——A Clarksville (Tenn.) correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal reports an increasing mortality among the negroes of that section, which he traces to consumption brought on by high living and careless exposure after sweating through a long evening in a revival meeting. It paid masters to look after the health of their property in slavery days, but now there is no check upon their dissipation and carelessness, and the negroes are dying more rapidly and are more liable to disease, so that yellow fever seems to be almost as fatal among them as among the whites. This correspondence also notices that pound-cake and sweetmeats are ruining the white teeth for which negroes have been so famous, as well as their digestion. Intemperance is invariably the reactiou from slavery, whether among southern blacks or Russian serfs, but this correspondent is candid enough to admit that there are industrious, thrifty negroes, and they are undoubtedly the salt that will prove the salvation of the race in the ultimate survival of the fittest.——A telephonic story of American life has just been repeated to me, with an assurance of its truth. A proud grandmamma, who has only just been promoted to the honors of that happy relationship, is awakened in the dead of night by the inexorable bell. "Mamma, dear," comes the frightened voice of her beloved but inexperienced daughter, "I'm sure baby has the croup. What shall I do with it?" Grandmamma replies that she will call the family doctor, and be with her anxious daughter in a moment. She awakens the doctor and tells him the terrible news. He in his turn requests to be put in telephonic communication with the anxious mamma. "Lift the child to the telephone and let me hear it cough," he commands. The child is lifted, and it coughs. "That's not the croup," he declares; and he declines to leave his house on such small matters. He advises grandmamma also to stay in bed; and all anxiety quieted, the trio settle down happy for the night.—Liverpool Mercury.——There was quite an ornithological wedding at Statesville, N. C., the other day, Rev. Dr. Robin marrying Col. John Buzzard to Eleanor Crow.——Governor Seymour will he seventy years old next May.

INSURANCE.

HUTCHINSON & MANN,

INSURANCE AGENCY,

No. 322 & 324 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Fire Ineurance.

GIRARD..... of Philadelphia.	LA CAISSE GENERALE..... ..of Paris.
HOME..... .....of Columbus.	ST. PAUL .....of St. Paul.
NEW ORLEANS ASSOCIATION.....	TEUTONIA .....of New Orleans.
PEOPLES.....of Newark.	BERLIN-COLOGNE.....of Berlin.
REVERE ....of Boston.	LA CONFIANCE.....of Paris.

Marine Insurance.

PARIS UNDERWRITING ASSOCIATION.....of Paris.
LONDON AND PROVINCIAL MARINE INSURANCE CO.....of London.

Capital Represented.....$23,000,000.

All Losses Equitably Adjusted and Promptly Paid.

HOME MUTUAL INSURANCE CO. OF CALIFORNIA.

Principal Office, 406 California Street, San Francisco.
Cash Assets, January 1, 1877, $595,291; Liabilities, $5,952; Surplus for Policy Holders, $589,339. J. F. Houghton, President; L. L. Baker, Vice-President; Charles R. Story, Secretary. R. H. MAGILL, H. H. BIGELOW, General Agents.

Directors.—San Francisco—L. L. Baker, John H. Redington, J. F. Houghton, R. B. Gray, Robert Watt, John Currey, L. L. Baker, W. F. Whittier, C. C. Burr, E. M. Root, W. H. White, J. L. N. Shepard, W. M. Greenwood, George S. Mann, Cyrus Wilson, W. T. Garratt, C. Waterhouse, A. P. Hotaling, A. Block, A. K. P. Harmon, G. S. Johnson, W. O. Wilson, A. W. Bowuan, H. L. Dodge, Charles R. Story. Alameda County Branch—V. D. Moody, Chauncy Taylor, A. C. Henry, Robert S. Ferrelly, Joseph B. Marlin, W. B. Hardy, T. B. Simpson. San Diego—A. H. Wilcox. Sacramento—Mark Hopkins, D. W. Earl, Julius Wetzlar, James Carolau. San Jose—T. Ellard Beans, B. D. Murphy, A. Pfister, J. H. Dibble, J. S. Carter, Jackson Lewis, Jacob Rich, John Auzerais, John Balbach. Stockton—H. H. Hewlett, Chas. Belding, J. D. Peters, A. W. Simpson, H. M. Fanning. Marysville—D. E. Knight. Grass Valley—Wm. Watt, T. W. Sigourney. Portland, Oregon—W. S. Ladd, C. H. Lewis, P. Wasserman, B. Goldsmith, D. Macleay. Virginia City, Nevada—John Gillig, Isaac L. Requa.
March 17.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.--UNION INS. CO. OF S. F.

The California Lloyds.---Established in 1861.---Nos. 416 and 418 California street. Cash capital $750,000 in Gold. Assets exceed $1,000,000 Coin. Fair Rates! Prompt Settlement of Loses!! Solid Security!! DIRECTORS.—San Francisco—J. Mora Moss, N. G. Kittle, M. J. O'Connor, R. S. Floyd, Moses Heller, Adam Grant, Daniel Meyer, Antoine Borel, Charles Kohler, E. L. Goldstein, I. Lawrence Pool, A. Weill, Joseph Brandenstein, Charles Baum, James Moffitt, Benjamin Brewster, L. Cunningham, W. M. Hoag, Nicholas Luning, John Parrott, L. A. Booth, Julius Baum, Myles D. Sweeney, Jas. M. Goewey, Edward Cadwalader Bartlett Doe, Gustave Touchard, J. H. Baird, J. G. Kittle, George C. Hickox, C. Ducommun, Wm. Scholle, John Conly, Jg. Steinhart, W. B. Stone, J. O. Eldridge, A. B. Phipps.

GUSTAVE TOUCHARD, President. N. G. KITTLE, Vice-President.
Charles D. Haven, Secretary. Geo. T. Bohen, Surveyor. Aug. 31.

THE STATE INVESTMENT AND INSURANCE CO.

FIRE AND MARINE.

Cash Assets, $450,000.---Principal Office, 218 and 220 San-some street, San Francisco. Officers:—A. J. Bryant, President; Richard Ivers, Vice-President; Charles H. Cushing, Secretary; H. H. Watson, Marine Surveyor. Board of Directors:—Peter Donahue, James Irvine, C. D. O'Sullivan, A. Bocqueraz, R. Harrison, A. H. Rutherford, R. Bailey, E. W. Corbett, George O. McMullin, A. J. Bryant, Frank M. Pixley, E Burke, H. H. Watson, Dr. C. F. Buckley, P. J. White, E. M. Root, M. Mayblum, Richard Ivers, John Rosenfeld, Daniel Callaghan. P. H. Russell, Sacramento. John G. Downey, Los Angeles. Wm. Hood, Sonoma County. H. W. Seale, Mayfield. Geo. Rutherford, San Jose. Feb. 16.

THE MARINE INSURANCE CO. OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

[ESTABLISHED 1836.]

Whole Amount of Joint Stock and Guaranteed Capital..$5,000,000.
Whole Amount of Capital paid up..... 900,000.
Cash Assets December 31, 1876..... 3,710,000.

The undersigned have been duly authorized to issue Policies at current rates on Freight and Shipments to or from England, Europe, New York, Japan, China, Australian Colonies, Sandwich Islands, and Northern Coast Ports. If desired, policies made payable at port of termination.

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents,
Aug. 10. 218 California street.

THE SWISS MARINE INS. COMPANIES COMBINED.

Switzerland, of Zurich, Capital 5,000,000 francs; Helvetia, of St. Gall, Capital 10,000,000 francs; Baloise, of Basle, Capital 5,000,000 francs. These three Companies are liable jointly and severally for all losses that may be sustained. Losses made payable in all the principal seaports of the world. In the settlement of all claims under an English policy, these Companies will strictly adhere to the conditions and customs adopted at Lloyds, and submit to Euglisb jurisdiction.
June 9. HARRY W. SYZ, Agent, 225 Sansome st., S. F.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSUR. CO. OF BOSTON.

Has transacted the business of Life Insurance for nearly thirty-five years. Its assets amount to over Fourteen Million Dollars. The law of Massachusetts makes all its Policies nonforfeitable. It is a Purely Mutual Company, dividing every cent of surplus among Policy-holders. This is the Only Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Lapse Law. This company has complied with the new Insurance Laws of California.

WALLACE EVERSON, General Agent.
Sept. 22.] 323 Montgomery street.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN MARINE INS. CO. OF LIVERPOOL.

Capital $5,000,000.---Agents: Balfour, Guthrie & Co., No. 316 California street, San Francisco. Nov. 18.

AGGREGATE ASSETS, $38,789,065.

Imperial Fire Insurance Co., of London..... .....Instituted 1803.
London Assurance Corporation, of London.... .....
.....Established by Royal Charter 1720.
Northern Assurance Corporation, of London.....Established 1836.
Queen Insurance Company, of Liverpool.....Established 1857.

A JOINT POLICY ISSUED BY THE FOUR COMPANIES.

ROBERT DICKSON, Manager.

W. LANE BOOKER, Agent and Attorney.

317 CALIFORNIA STREET, S. F. [Oct. 11.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Recorded in the City and County of San Francisco, California, for the Week ending December 1st.

Compiled from the Records of the Commercial Agency, 401 California St., S. F.

Tuesday, November 25th.

GRANTOR AND GRANTEE.	DESCRIPTION.	PRICE
R E Row and to Thomas Patten..	Lots 5, 6, blk E, R R Hd, No 2.....	$ 150
S A Gordon to Marks Tobias	N Fell, 165 w Octavia, w 27:6x120.....	400
Mary A Church to J H Church....	S Green, 275 w Powell, n 137:6, w 41, n 51:3, e 11 etc, to com.....	Gift
Chas Land to M E W Hickox.....	S California, 130:3, e Van Ness, 25x75..	3,333
A Morganthal to Wm A Nygh	W 35th ave, 175 n K st, n 25x110, Outside Lands.....	250
Nancy Gallagher to Joanna Tessler	Lots 1, 2 blk 4, Belle Roche City, and lots 91, 93, Gift Map 1.....	500
A J Le Breton to E J Le Breton..	Ne Jackson and Fillmore, n 127:8, e 108:4, sw etc to beginning.....	3,500
W S Reynolds to Oliver Emerson.	N Vallejo, 137:6 e Hyde, e 25x137:6	2,500
Henry Buckholz to Minnie Wegner	Lots 33, 34 University Mound, and lots 13 and 36 blk 503 Haley Parchase	1,500
G G Barnett to W B Seabury.....	N Sacramento, 90:6 w Fillmore, 28x128	5,250
H E Osborn to G G Barnett	Com 128 n Sacramento, 90:6 w Fillmore, w 28:3x126.....	1
A Drayeur to P B Berges	Se Market, 375 sw 3d, 25x100.....	10

Wednesday, November 26th.

Horace Kilham to Michael Loftus	W San Jose ave, 67:8 ne Day, w 81:6, n 26, e 91:9, s 27:11 to com H A 39.....	$ 275
Anne Finck to Martin Lammers ..	Sw Union and Montgomery, s 26:3x70—50-v 381.....	2,000
Sampson Tams to Sol Heydenfelt..	Ne Stockton and Pacific, n 16:9, e 50, n 16, e 18, s 52:9, w 68 to commencement and subject to mortg $4,500.....	8,000
Pierre B Berges to D Cazcanx	S Jackson, 78:10 e Stockton, e 61:4x70:6 in 50-varas 59 and 76.....	10
H Kilham to Michael A Dolan....	Se Dolores and 29th, e 75x26.....	420
A T Fletcher to Cath D Fletcher..	N Pine, 137:6 e Jones, e 37:6x137:6	Gift
J Schneider to Peter Denner.....	Sw Raasch, 125 nw Folsom, 50x113.....	6,448
Sol Heydenfeldt to P W Cohen....	Undiv half, se Irwin, 275 ne 7th, ne 275 x 240, South Beach blk 32.....	6
P W Cohen to Ferd Rels.....	Same.....	6,000
La Societe Francaise to S F Hiller	W Kearny, 48:6 s Broadway, s 89, w etc to com; also nw cor Kearny & Broadway, n 63x75.....	39,000

Friday, November 28th

Jas McCoy to Maria C de Laveaga	Sw Spear, 183:4 se Market, se 45:10x137:6—B & W 602.....	16,000
B R Grimm to E L Billings	S Sacramento, 40 w Stockton, w 20x40.	1,484
Mary Lyons to Patk Malloy	Sw Bryant ave, 200 nw Bryant st, nw 25 x 80—100-v 293.....	2,400
Wm Scholle et al to Edward Hall.	E cor 7th and Market, ne 125x165.....	110000
Chas P Massey Jr to B A Wiener.	N Post, 197 e Fillmore, e 26x137:6	3,000
Elisa Mury to Louise Mury.....	N Page, 165 w Franklin, w 54:6x120—W A blk 142.....	2,000
Chris Kerrins to Chas Bogan.....	Se Folsom, 137:6 ne 11th, 53x150.....	10
J Williams to Frances C Howard.	W Vermont, 100 s Yolo, s 25x100.....	650
P B Nagle to L Gottig.....	S Pacific, 155 e Webster, e 30x117	3,941
Wm F Hubrick to F Stand et al..	Lot 5, blk 220, Golden City Hd; also sndry lots in Silver Terrace Hd	1,500

Saturday, November 29th.

S Warbarton to E K Knight.....	N Greenwich, 66 e Steiner, e 71:5, n 120 w 59:2, s to com—snbj to mortg $1,300	$1,750
H P Wakelee to Chas W Randall.	N Ellis, 175 w Taylor, 25x137:6.....	11,000
Jno Roach to Elizth G Welsh	Se Bryant, 125 sw Zoe, sw 60x80.....	1,594
J D Farnsworth to Aug Schmitt.	W Buchanan, 47:6 s Satter, s 22:6x87:6—W A blk 275.....	4,000
Mary P Ledesma to Julie Brnlon..	S Sacramento, 67 w Dupont, 22:2x68:9—50-v 134.....	Gift
Same to same	S Pacific, 76:10 w Stockton, 21:3x72:10..	Gift
A Kronberg to Marcus Rosenthal.	Sandry lots Outside Lands	200
Michl Welch to City & County S F	E Adams, 125 s Precita ave, n 17, e 78, s w 81 to commencement.....	250
W A Aldrich to same.....	E Old San Jose Road, 292:1 s 26th, n 44:1, e 130, s 50:1 to com.....	600
Jas McDonough to same.....	S Precita ave, 240 w Cal av, etc, P V 237	10
Peter Dean to same.....	E Cala ave, 24 s Precita, s 23, e 56, ne 10d, n 22, w 164:1 to commencement..	1,200
Patk Cummings to same.....	E Folsom, 316:9 n Precita Place, n 8:11, e 100, s 13, sw 100:1 to com.....	850
Jno Malcahy to Peter Dean.....	E Cala ave, 25 s Precita ave, s 25:8, e 154 n 25:7 w 113:10 to beginning	1,200
M Mauseau to E M E Mauscan....	All property of whatsoever nature and wheresoever the same is or may be located in the World.....	Gift
Elizth Jamieson to M B Jamieson.	S O'Farrell, 137:6 c Mason, e 37:6, s 57:6 F 20, s 40, w etc to com.....	Gift

Monday, December 1st.

Jas Moffit et al to Francis Blake..	W Diamond, 190 s 19th, s 55x125, s 18th, 75 e Howard, e 25x75.....	$1,338
Chin Yuen to Yee Sne Kwai.....	W Prospect Place, 82:6 s Clay, s 25x56—50-v 100.....	2,200
Jas M Ellis to Felix Stewart.....	Lot 8 blk 104, University Hd.....	600
City and County S F to A W Stone	N Bash, 177 w Polk, w 1 x 120.....	75
N Greene Curtis to Sarah Ayers..	Lot 42, blk 227 Gardenville Hd	100
Lau Hill Cem Asen to F Clancy..	Lot 2290.....	43
Michl Lottis to Jno Gillogley.....	N Valley, 203 e Dolores, e 25:8114—Harper's Addition blk 37	800
Wm Cronan to Wm S Lawton....	Nw Clay and Devisdo, n 27:10x120—W A blk 498.....	2,400
Jno T Jeffress to same.....	Same.....	6
Helena Gumpel to J M Green.....	W Leavenworth, 137.6 n Cal, w 137:6 x s 56:3—50-v and n Hnnt 255 e 3d, nw 110 x ne 20—100-v 33.....	6,000
Thos Wilkinson to D P Quinlan..	N Tyler, 110 e Scott, e 21x120.....	175
Jereh Sheehy to E A Williams....	W Noe, 101:6 n 23d, n 25 x 105.....	25
S L Peasley to Sarah E Palmer....	N Liberty, 105 w Church, w 100x114 subject to mortgage $500.....	1
Daniel T Mitchell to A Bereling..	N 19th, 105, w Sanchez, w 25x114—Miesion Block 106.....	600
Elijah Case to E G Chase.....	Lots 23, 24, blk 290 O'Nei land Haley Tract.....	1,000
L Godchaux to J A Albertson.....	W Powell, 115:6 n Ellis, 22x93:5.....	13,000
Jos O'Keefe to Savs and Loan Soc	Sw 3d, 137:6 nw 68,9x275.....	10,000
J P Fianalt to same.....	Lnt No 26 South Park.....	1,500

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

Bullion Mining Company.—Location of Principal Place of Business, San Francisco, California.—Location of Works, Gold Hill Mining District, Storey County, Nevada.—Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the first (1st) day of November, 1879, an assessment (No. 12) of Fifty (50c.) Cents per share was levied upon the capital stock of the Company, payable immediately, in United States gold coin, to the Secretary, at the office of the Company, Room 3, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California.

Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on WEDNESDAY, the THIRD day of DECEMBER, 1879, will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction; and unless payment is made before, will be sold on WEDNESDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of DECEMBER, 1879, to pay the delinquent assessment, together with the cost of advertising and expenses of sale. By order of the Board of Directors. [Nov. 8.]

J. M. BRAZELL, Secretary.

STOCK DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Office of the Gila Silver Mining Company, Room 7, Safe Deposit Building, 328 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California, October 21st, 1879.—At a special meeting of the Stockholders of the above-named Company, held this day, a Stock Dividend of twenty per cent. was declared, payable immediately, out of the Capital Stock owned by the Company. All Stockholders are requested to send their Stock to the office of the Company before November 24th, 1879, and receive the dividend due thereon.

Nov. 8. WM. W. PARRISH, Secretary.

A MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION OF PHOTOGRAPHS FOR SALE,

Comprising Views of Palestine, Egypt, Rome and other parts of the World. The Collection was made by a gentleman, for many years a resident of Europe and Asia, at an expense of over $3,000. It comprises about 500 views in perfect condition, having suitable Portfolios, Albums, etc., together with a very large and powerful Magnifying Glass. Will be sold as an entirety.

SNOW & CO.,
Nov. 15. (Successors to Snow & May), 20 Post street.

PACIFIC COAST STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

Steamers of this Company will sail from Broadway Wharf for PORTLAND, Oregon), every 5 days, direct, and for LOS ANGELES, SANTA BARBARA, SANTA CRUZ, SAN DIEGO, SAN LUIS OBISPO and other NORTHERN and SOUTHERN COAST PORTS, leaving SAN FRANCISCO about every third day.

For Day and Hour of Sailing, see the Company's Advertisement in the San Francisco Daily Papers.

Ticket Office, No. 214 Montgomery Street, near Pine.
GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents,
March 15. No. 10 Market street.

BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OF CAL.

Attendance, daily, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., by the under- signed, to receive subscriptions and donations, and to furnish all information relating to the Society. J. P. McCURRIE, Secretary,
Oct. 23. 730 Montgomery street.

GEO. STREET, Agent News Letter, 30 Cornhill, E. C., London.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF SPURIOUS IMITATIONS OF

LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE, which are calculated to deceive the public, Lea and Perrins have adopted A NEW LABEL, bearing their signature, "LEA & PERRINS," which is placed on every bottle of WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE, and without which none is genuine.

Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see name on wrapper, label, bottle and stopper. Wholesale and for export by the proprietors, Worcester; Crosse & Blackwell, London, etc., etc., and by grocers and oilmen throughout the world. To be obtained of Nov. 16. MESSRS. CROSS & CO., San Francisco.

ROWLAND'S

MACASSAR OIL strengthens the Hair and prevents it falling off. The bottles have a glass stopper, and not a cork.

KALYDOR beautifies the Complexion and eradicates Freckles, Tan, Prickly Heat, Eruptions, etc.

ODONTO whitens the Teeth, prevents and arrests decay, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath.

EUKONIA is a new and delicate toilet powder.

Ask for ROWLAND'S articles, of 20, Hatton Garden, London, and avoid cheap imitations. Sold by Druggists, Bazaars, etc., all over the world. May 3.

Asthma, and difficult breathing arising from affections of the Respiratory Organs, promptly relieved and paroxysms averted by

Datura Tatula Inhalations, for which purpose the plant is prepared in all the usual forms for smoking, and also as pastilles and powder for burning on a plate or censer. In

Asthma and Analagous Diseases the superior efficacy of this plant, prepared as above mentioned, has been for the last 40 years recognized by the Medical Profession and the public in all parts of the world. Prepared only by Savory & Moore, 143, New Bond-street. Testimonials accompanying each box of Cigarettes, Cigars and Pastilles. Tins, in the economical form of tobacco, and also in powder for burning, from 2s. 6d. to 21s. Of chemists, etc., everywhere.

[June 21.]

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Finest and Cheapest Meat-flavoring Stock for Soups, Made Dishes and Sauces. March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT

Is a success and boon for which Nations should feel grate- ful. See "Medical Press," "Lancet," "British Medical Journal," etc.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Caution—Genuine only with fac-simile of Baron Liebig's Signature, in blue ink, across Label. "Consumption in England increased tenfold in ten years." March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

To be had of all Store-keepers, Grocers and Chemists. Sole Agents for the United States (wholesale only), O. David & Co., 43, Mark Lane, London, England. March 2.

CHARLES LANGLEY & CO.,

Wholesale Druggists,

Importers of Pure English, French and German Drugs,

PATENT MEDICINES, Etc.,

100 and 102 FRONT STREET,
San Francisco. [Sept. 6.

THE NEW BROOMS.

It is proverbial that new brooms sweep clean. The City Hall is almost full of new brooms just now. They will no doubt be as effective as was Mrs. Partington when trundling her mop in a small puddle, but we fear that some of them will be as impotent as she was against the rising ocean tide of corruption. Of the new Supervisors we are not able to speak fully. Whitney we know, and Stetson and Litchfield, and perhaps two or three others, and believe them to be above the average in point of competency. How the majority, that nearly always is tempted to form a ring of seven, will act is a matter that excites some curiosity. We are not on the inside and do not pretend to speak with authority, yet we think hazard but little when we say that there will be a ring as usual, and that the critics will be the members who are not in it. It will, however, by no means follow that they are the only honest men in the Board. Honesty in talking is cheap; in those who have to do it is another matter, which we do not despair of obtaining from the present Board. Of the Mayor we have spoken at length in another column. Of the District Attorney, from whom the public expect great things, we spoke two or three weeks ago. He promises to make an officer of more than average efficiency. He has surrounded himself with most able assistants. Of the City and County Attorney we know but little, and that little is not calculated to impress us with his ability to successfully conduct the litigation in which the city is engaged. The Treasurer is a plain, unassuming, business man, whose integrity stands high. His qualifications for the office are not above criticism, but what he lacks are fully found in his chief deputy, ex-State Senator Donovan, whose capability and honesty are beyond question. J. P. Dunn bids fair to make a reasonably good Auditor. Stuart, for County Clerk, is beyond reproach. Alexander Badlam's election for a third term is the best evidence that the people think him a capable Assessor. Patterson, the Superintendent of Streets, begins well, and those who know him predict that he will continue to do well. Of Dietrich, the Recorder, we know scarcely anything. He follows so capable an officer, in the person of Stuart M. Taylor, that it will be a marvel if he gives entire satisfaction. It will be our duty to keep our weather-eye, and criticize the new brooms from time to time as they may deserve.

THE NEW STATE PRISON MANAGERS.

The new Constitution intrusts the management of the State Prison to a Board of Managers, who are soon to be appointed by Governor Perkins. The selections will need great care. The appointees ought to be men of enlarged and philanthropic mind, who do not see in every prisoner a confirmed rascal, for whom there is no future, and no possibility of reform. In other countries they have carried the principles of prison improvement to great lengths. Sir William Crofton may be said to be the father of the system. The prisoners are taken step by step from their reception until their discharge. Every step is along a march that tends to final improvement. A condition of solitary confinement is the beginning, a period of solitary confinement with light labor follows, then the prisoner is allowed to associate with his fellows, and a trade, to which he appears adapted, is taught him, and, finally, before his term ends he is allowed to visit the nearest village, a little money is given him, and he is put upon the world for a short time, in order to test his capacity of self-control. When he leaves for good, money sufficient for a start in life is furnished him. The percentage of reforms under this system is marvelous, and ought to set our prison reformers thinking. There is a fine field of usefulness open to them. We know not who the candidates are for positions on the Board of Management. We have heard two admirable names mentioned, but it is very questionable whether their other engagements would permit them to accept the trust. A. S. Hallidie, who for so long a period has ably filled the position of President of the Mechanics' Institute, is a competent gentleman, who, it is stated, could receive the office if he would accept it. His acquaintance with the mechanic arts would be useful, while the knowledge picked up during recent travels would stand him in good stead. Ex-Judge E. D. Sawyer is too actively engaged at the Bar to make the position a desirable one to him. Still, if he could he induced to take it, he would be the right man in the right place. No more genuine lover of his race, and no more philanthropic gentleman exists in our midst. This is a case in which the office should seek the man, and not the man the office. We believe it will.

CHIEF CROWLEY AND THE POLICE.

We are glad to welcome Patrick Crowley to the head of the Police Department again. The retiring Chief meant well, but he was not firm enough nor strong enough for the place, and his fellow Commissioners evidently had found out the fact, as they unanimously voted for his successor. Mr. Crowley filled the office for two terms, and proved himself a remarkably efficient officer. He will be the Chief in fact as well as in name. We know how difficult it will be for him to regain thorough control of the upper office. One Captain has been credited with being the Chief de facto, though not de jure. More people than are to be found in the Workingmen's Party will be glad to see proper subordination maintained in that respect. Counsellor Clarke has been reappointed to the onerous position he has long held, and we are glad of it. The Counsellor is but human, and he is not altogether without enemies; but, take him all in all, it would be difficult to replace him with advantage. His knowledge of the Department is unsurpassed, and his experience is invaluable. We judge from the new Mayor's remarks that he means to have something to do about the management of the police. If the present Commissioners are to retain office it is difficult to see what the Mayor can do, especially as his friends are not in a majority in the Legislature. The present Commission is an admirable one. Than R. J. Tobin, ex-Mayor Alvord and Captain Hammond better men could not be found. Yet we fear there is a section in the new Constitution which may be to them one of evil omen. It provides that the city and county may make all necessary regulations for the management of the police, and that the Legislature shall not create any "special commission to perform any municipal functions whatever." If the Supervisors after July next may make the necessary police regulations, they may reappoint the present Commission, and certainly they could not do a better or a more popular thing.

He is a brave candidate who refuses to run when he knows the chances are against him.

Grand Christmas Number of the News Letter.

MRS. SMALLMAN'S SCRIBE.

That evil eye of Amelia's has got many a fellow into trouble before now. We had supposed that it was about to take a rest for a while. When persons are convicted of felony, and are sentenced to State Prison, they usually go there. But it seems they have better use for her in the County Jail, where she and Smallman occupy comfortable but separate apartments. She is doing mighty well, considering that twelve men have found her guilty of felony and a most righteous judge has sentenced her for a period of years to the Penitentiary. That irresistible eye still stands her in good service. With it she conquers even in a jail. She has won all male hearts there, but she needed a scribe, and has succeeded in finding one that just suits her fancy—indeed, she affects to believe that he is her affinity. They met, and rejoiced in their mutual acquaintance. Her name and calling is well known. His are both among the obscurities of our city. We hasten to announce them. He is called Bassett, and his occupation is that of a writer.* He contributes to a weekly sheet that might as well be published out on the Farallones for anything our readers know about it. It is called the Golden Era, and what its characteristics are may perhaps be best understood from the fact that it is Amelia Smallman's organ. Free things in general, and certainly very free subscribers, are about all of its stock in trade with which we are acquainted. It has been in a decline for some time, and when we last saw it, a week ago, it had all the appearances of an early dissolution. Well, Bassett and Amelia recently entered into a treaty, offensive and defensive. What she, on her part, was to do, we may imagine, but do not know. His part of the bargain was plain enough. He was to stick to her until he proved her to be as innocent as a sucking dove. He says his only desire was to help "a friendless woman," and to do that he had engaged with himself, and with her, to endure to the end, and finally live to write the obituaries of certain Bonanza Princes. * * * * * *

Quickly there came a marvelous change o'er the spirit of his dream! He lived, but for a very different purpose. He endured just long enough to drop Amelia's case like a hot potato, and he lived to make the open and shameless confession that he had accepted a bribe, and from the very Bonanza Prince whose alleged wrong he was to denounce, and whose obituary he was to publish in dark colors. He tells his own version with the shamelessness of an unconscionable trader in doubtful wares. He admits that he accepted five hundred dollars, and then ceased to defend the "friendless woman," and thought no more of writing the rich man's obituary, but preferred to live for the better purpose of extolling his good deeds. But, in a short time, Bassett said the agreement was to receive two hundred dollars more. As the party of the other part did not see it in that light, Bassett was dismissed to carry out his threat to "resume the discussion of the Smallman affair." That is his own story. We believe the true version to be a very different one. But take it as he tells it, and even then it stands forth as the most shameless confession we ever knew to emanate from a person claiming to be a journalist. He was to abandon the "friendless woman," he was to fail to "denounce wrong," as he claimed it to be, enduring to the end what proved to be all moonshine, and, when he could not get money a second time, he went back upon the man whose money he had accepted, and failed to give the consideration for which he alleges he was paid. Get thee gone, Bassett! Thou stinketh!

SPEED THE PARTING GUESTS.

The city has just parted with a number of officials, several of whom will be greatly missed, whilst others can very well be spared. Among the former is ex-Mayor Bryant. He has filled two terms most acceptably. Numerous duties have been thrust upon him—indeed, they were altogether too numerous to be pleasant. He has been Mayor, City Hall Commissioner, for a long time Police Commissioner, Water Supply Commissioner, a member of the Registration Board, and heaven only knows how many more public offices he held. He has left office with a record that is unsurpassed, and we believe unequaled, if the amount of work is duly considered. The Bulletin has indulged in its usual system of lying by innuendo, but it has been defied and defeated. Its suspicions have been proved to be ill-founded, and it stands to-day before the citizens of San Francisco as a vituperating Journal, whose allegations have been clearly disproven, without inducing that reparation for its errors which all honest men freely and cheerfully accord to those whom they have injured. Ex-Mayor Bryant's valedictory was an able document, that thoroughly proved the efficiency and economy of his administration. Of the majority of the Supervisors who have retired we can say but little that is good. There are exceptions, of course; but the nine men who made that corrupt bargain with Atcheson will yet have to be dragged to the light of day. We know them, and mean to name them ere long. They are rascally thieves, who should be pilloried as such. Of the retiring officers, a good word may be said for the ex-County Clerk, Thomas H. Reynolds; for Mr. Humphreys, who has long proven himself a most efficient City and County Surveyor, and for Mr. Burnett, the retiring City and County Attorney. Mr. Colin M. Boyd made an admirable Auditor during the short time he served in that office, and it is to be regretted that he was not elected to the position. He ran far ahead of his ticket, and under more favorable auspices his election would have been beyond a peradventure. But he has made a name that will yet stand him in good stead. Few more popular men are to-day in public life.

The Health of the City.—There has been a very considerable improvement in the public health during the last four weeks, especially as compared with the last two weeks of October. Although the total mortality average 82 per week, there has been a steady decrease of zymotic diseases, which have declined from 18 to 10. As compared with October, the mortality under 1 year is reduced one-half, viz., from 30 deaths per week to 15. It is to be anticipated that the late heavy rains have cleansed the sewers, and that zymotics will decline still more. Some scarlatina exists, and 2 deaths from it have been registered this week.

The following is an extract from a private letter to the News Letter, Nov. 15, 1879, regarding the electric light now introduced into the London Times office: "Within the last few days the electric light has been introduced into the 'making-up room,' a large apartment on the ground floor of the east side of the quadrangle in Printing House-square. The illuminating-power is most effective, 'artificial daylight' being shed over the whole interior. The electric light has for some time past been in operation in the machine department of the establishment."

THE TOWN CRIER.

"Hear the Crier!" "What the devil art thou?
"One that will play the devil, sir with you."

"He'd a sting in his tail as long as a flail,
Which made him grow bolder and bolder."

Even the practiced eye and massive brain of a '49 Peter Funk auctioneer are deceived sometimes. Such an instance happened at the snide auction of oil paintings by Strauss, Hamilton, Bush et al., held on Market street, between Kearny and Dupont. Attracted by the crowd, an old-time sport, who is aware of the various dodges, strolled into the aforesaid trap last Wednesday evening. He was recognized by one of the proprietors, who asked him to bid on the pictures, etc., to give the sale a genuine appearance. The first lot put up was a magnificent marine by Hamilton (?) for which the artist had previously refused $1,000. As an additional attraction, six or seven fine gilt photograph frames were thrown into the lot. The bidding lagged till, at a wink from the iron-jawed hero on the office stool, our friend suggested $2. No one raised it, so, to keep up the sale, the auctioneer knocked down the lot. "What name?" asked the auctioneer, expecting, of course, the Smith or Brown usual in such cases. "Cash. And here is your money!" fairly yelled the sport, who paid his coin and actually walked off with the lot before any one could stop him. A study of that auctioneer's face, in oil, would bring a fortune to any of the artists whose (presumed) works were on sale.

Thursday's "Bulletin" had two thrilling stories of battles with rats. One of these beasts of prey bit an esteemed physician of this city and died soon after, while the other succumbed after a spirited encounter with a crockery shop, having ruined wares to the value of $59 75. The Town Crier has had his own experiences in the imminent, deadly breach with these vermin. One of them took him by the whisker one night, lugged him out of bed, carried him to a Spiritualist meeting and exhibited him as Katie King. On another occasion, as he returned home from a convivial surprise party, he was stopped at the corner by three full-grown rats and forced to sit down on a door-step, where two of them held him while the third, reaching up to his mouth, aspired the fumes of Heidsick. They took turns at this entertainment till they all got extremely high, and the T. C. was completely sobered, when he went home and jotted down the facts.

Man is a curious animal. Here is Beecher, who outraged public decency and the most simple rules of cleanly living for two years, at least, in a noisy, obstreperous fashion, so that nobody could pretend not to know it; and the public left decency and cleanliness, which can do nothing to protect themselves, to get along as they could, and talked Beecher, and wrote Beecher, and ran to hear Beecher, paying money for the fun. Now this same nuisance, at his wits' end for a sensation to give his people, gets into his pulpit and blackguards the God that made him; and the public cry out to suppress him. Patience, good public; God can protect Himself. So much heat is needless. Go quietly about your business, if you have any; try to be less like Beecher yourself, and stop reading those nasty papers you take home on Sunday to edify your family with.

The N. Y. "Tribune" publishes a column of chatter by G. W. Smalley, all to show what a thunderbolt of war Gen. Hooker was, and how nothing but the interposition of Fate preveuted his eating Lee and his army for an early dinner, and how grimly he drove in Lee's skirmishers, the terrible man! Presumably this kind of thing delights the readers of the Tribune, and it gives one a singular opinion of them to think so. Gen. Hooker was a brave soldier, but vain and pompous and wholly unfit to command an army; and the Tribune should set its Smalleys to work, and refrain from gulps and spasms of ecstasy over the "grimness" and "energy" and "splendid confidence" of a man, whom all the writing of all newspapers cannot make a hero of.

A dispatch from Silver City says that idle men abound in that region. At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, it was unanimously resolved to ask Silver City to send down a few, so that we might see them. The Mechanics' Pavilion will be hired to exhibit them in; admission 50 cents. The great disadvantage of a life in California is that our children grow up in total ignorance of the want and destitution unhapily prevalent in other communities. The sight of a few poor men will give the luxury, described by Lucretius, of contemplating evils from which they themselves are free; and this will higbten tbeir moral elevation above the rest of mankind.

There is a feeling of suppressed indignation among the New Englanders of the city at the announcement in last Sunday's Call that Forefather's Day is to occur on the 31st December this year, and they want to know if this is the way things are to work under the new Constitution. The wit of the N. E. Society says that the Call is excusable because, never having had a father of its own, it can't be supposed to know very much of forefathers in any direction; but the Society thinks the statement rough on Plymouth Rock, and means to have revenge.

The joke, last week, about Roland Reed's nose, turns out to be more serious than at first anticipated. He was a corporal, during the war, in the 3d Illinois Infantry, and at Shiloh was struck by a splinter of a shell, which necessitated the amputation of the nares, and left him disfigured for life. As it is generally known that the organ he now wears is an artificial one, and all comments regarding it are a source of pain to him, we have only to say that we regret that in a thoughtless moment allueion should have been made to Mr. Reed's nose in this column.

It is with extreme regret that we observe the foolhardy persistence of M. De Leeseps in his Panama Canal scheme. He seems to have all the money he wants, and to know something about cutting isthmuses; but, if he seriously goes on with the work, he will certainly offend some of the editore in this country, and God knows what may happen. We shall mail to him a marked copy of to-day's News Letter, and we solemnly bid him remember that Cæsar, when he crossed the Rubicon, rushed upon his fate. There is yet time to withdraw!

A most enjoyable surprise-party was tendered to Miss Shinkins, 1634 De Boom street, on Monday last, by her numerous friende. Dancing was begun in the street, contiuued through the passage-way and down the back-stairs, to the music of a most recherché band. The surprise of everybody wae extreme at finding everybody else in full fig and ready for the agony. For particulars see small bills in any Tueeday's Call.

Now Hector A. Stuart turns green and yellow with palo Envy's tooth remorseless flowing, causeless going, dark bestowing, anguish wild; for May N. Hawley, of North Columbia, writes and prints tbis delicious autumn song:

"In the mellow autumn-time when the fruits are red,
And the rustling yellow leaves flutter crisply down,
There are watch-fires kindled on every mountain head,
And the ivy flames moronly 'mid the oak's pale brown."

We should like to give the other three stanzas, but the compositor's head sympathizes with the mountain, and he flames moronely at the bare idea.

The telegraph is indignant with the Methodist Missionary Society, which appropriates $600,000 for annual work, and allows only $700 of this sum for use among the Indians of the Far West. There is a misapprehension somewhere. If any one principle is accepted by the people it is that a man's money is his own, and to whom should Methodist money go but to Methodists? The Indians of the Far West are very poor Methodists, if we remember rightly, and there is no record of tbeir contributing anything beyond an occasional drunk to the cause of Christianity. We don't see where the indignation comes in.

A relentless thinker in the Los Angeles Herald says that we must have Mexico because "there is an irrepressible conflict between civilization and the forces which point backward. Inactivity means the dry rot and decay; and besides, it is better to fight Mexico than to fight among ourselves, as we shall have to do." It's a little mixed, but one thing is clear—our friend of tbe Angels thinks too hard. He must have had a gigantic intellect when he began life, but all Mexico could not cure him now. That dry rot fetched him.

A gentleman, with a name six syllables long, has just patented a safety pocket, but before the public rushes to buy the article it might be as well to try our pocket, which is not patented, but freely offered for inspection as the safest ever known or beard of. We have never lost anything out of it, and it's proof against wear and tear. When the rest of the garment comes to resemble a disembodied spirit, that wears the bloom of early youth. It's safer than the bank and temptation stands abashed before it.

Her R. H. Winnemucca, and her princely brotber, H. R. H. Natchez, have expressed this week, in mingled Winnemucca and English, their loathing and contempt for the Chinese. Natchez felt so strongly on the subject tbat he had to be supported hy two men before he could get out the epithets he had prepared for the Mongolian slaves. At the same time we are authorized to declare that his engagement as editor-in-chief of the Morning Call has been prematurely announced.

A ninny, who is very patriotic, suggests that the Quakers, witb all their horror of bloodshed, support Grant because they tbink he made quakers of the rebels. We are happy to say tbat when this atrocious pun had fairly spred its wings upon the ambient air, that young gentleman thought there was an earthquake in the neighborhood; and we have not yet found his corpse.

The "expert" business has been reduced to a science in New York, and pays almost as well as swearing in court. The future of this science is unlimited, and fairly takes away one's breath. Think of exnerts in Alta editorials, in Call "Letters from the People," in Sand-lot rhetoric, in the Second-street cut, in Limburger, in sourkrout, in Ellis street gas lamps, in examination questions, in Supervisors' oaths!

A celebrated lawyer in this city was recently presented with a cameo ring, on the face of which was a bas-relief of Shakespeare's head. The recipient responded very gracefully, and said tbat, although he would in future wear the immortal dramatist on his finger, he hoped he would not be, in consequence, "Bard of Avon" any fun. Pull out your smelling salts!

Chenowith, the Oakland pedestrian, is far bebind in the walking match at Virginia City. He is threatened with pneumonia. The effect of that great elevation on the system is very curious. If Chenowith had been a tenor he would have been taken with a sprain in the bind leg—the organs of gab and go being united by the closest sympathy.

The Santa Rosa Times reports that, on Sunday last, the Russian River raised three feet, but it does not say why. It might bave been thought that one foot was enough to raise, or that at most two would suffice; hut the Russian River evidently considered that the grammar of the Times called for a threefold kicking.

A late number of the Gardener's Magazine has a long, superfluous article on the art of "Making a Rustic Box." It's just as easy as winking. Stand in front of the rustic, and give him one, two, on his nob. A friend, who has tried, says it's infallible, but he don't recommend it.

Nevada City calls for a chain-gang for tbe benefit of tramps, and everyhody applauds. Any tramp who is content to waste his time at Nevada when he might be in San Francisco reforming society ought to be put in chains.

The vocal solo given at a literary entertainment last Tuesday, "Somebody's Coming when the Dew-drops Fall," was most disagreeably cut short by the vulgar remark from one of the guests: "You bet! The old huffer weighs more than two hundred."

The ex-President of the Board of Education says that one "can't make the turns on Utah stocks like he can on the Comstock." Which it is a wonder that he left the Board; for whom, think you, a more senselese and fit man to be President?

The "Newspaper Reporter" says, concisely enough, that a dealer in the neighborhood has printed cards lying on his counter. It's just the same in 'Frisco; only here we write it "lying printed cards on his counter."

Jones came across tbe statement tbat some of the mines in Idaho were at an altitude of 8,000 feet above tbe sea. "Ah, just so," said he, "that's why they hoisted me higher than a kite." But Jones' head is level.

The Harvard Lampoon is hard on the Chinese Professor when it puts in his mouth the criticism of his laborious dutiee: "Muchee loafee, no teachee," and forgets to add: "All same 'Melican man."

The man who lent money to Tilden without eecurity has expressed the opinion that he made a mistake. Tilden takes very much the same view of the business, wbich is queer.

C. P. R. R.

Overland Ticket Office: Ferry Landing, foot of Market street.--Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879, and until further notice, aine Boats wil leave SAN FRANCISCO:

7.00 A.M. (daily), Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing — Connecting with Trains for Napa (Stages for Sonoma), Calistoga (the Geysers), and Sacramento. Connecting at Davis (Sundays excepted) for Woodland and Knight's Landing, and at Woodland for Williams and Willows.
(Arrive San Francisco 3:10 P.M.)

7.00 A.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) and via Livermore arriving at Tracy at 11:30 A.M. and connecting with Atlantic Express. Connects at Niles with Train arriving at San Jose at 10:15 A.M.
(Returning, train from Tracy arrives at 6:05 P.M.)

8.00 A.M. (daily), Atlantic Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland (Or.), Colfax, Reno (Virginia City), Palisade (Eureka), Ogden and Omaha. Connects at Galt with train arriving at Ione at 3:40 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 5:15 P.M.)

Sunday Excursion Tickets to San Pablo and Martinez at Reduced Rates.

10.00 A.M. (daily) via Oakland Ferry, Local Passenger Train to Haywards and Niles.
(Arrive San Francisco 4:05 P.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) San Jose Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry and Niles), stopping at all Way Stations. Arrives at San Jose at 5:20 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) Northern Railway Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to San Pablo, Martinez and Antioch.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily) Arizona Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Lathrop (and Stockton), Merced, Madera, Visalia, Sumner, Mojave, Newhall (San Buenaventura, and Santa Barbara), Los Angeles, "Santa Monica," Wilmington, Santa Ana (San Diego), Colton and Yuma (Colorado River Steamers), connecting direct with Daily Trains of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Arizona for Maricopa (Daily Stages for Phœnix and Prescott), and for Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma), and end of Track (Daily Stages for Florence and Tucson).

"Sleeping Cars" between Oakland, Los Angeles and Yuma.
(Arrive San Francisco 12:35 P.M.)

4.00 P. M. (Sundays excepted) Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing), connecting with trains for Calistoga, (the Geysers), Woodland, Knight's Landing and Sacramento; and at Sacramento with Passenger Train, leaving at 9:35 P.M. for Truckee, Reno, Carson and Virginia.
"Sleeping Cars" between Vallejo and Carson.
(Arrive San Francisco 11:10 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (Sundays excepted) Sacramento Steamer (from Wash'n St. Wharf), for Benicia and Landings on the Sacramento River.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:00 P.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily), Through Third Class and Accommodation Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) connecting at Lathrop with Train arriving at Los Angeles on second day at 11:55 A.M. (Arrive San Francisco 9:05 A.M.

4.30 P.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to Haywards, Niles and Livermore. (Arrive San Francisco 8:35 A.M.)

5.00 P.M. (daily) Overland Emigrant Train (via Oakland Ferry and Northern Railway) to Ogden, Omaha and East.

Public conveyance for Mills Seminary connects at Semnary Park Stat.on with all trains, Sundays excepted.

FERRIES AND LOCAL TRAINS

From "SAN FRANCISCO." Daily.

TO OAKLAND.		TO ALAMEDA.	TO FERNSIDE.	TO EAST OAKLAND.	TO NILES.		TO BERKELEY	TO DELAWARE STREET.
A. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M	A. M.	A. M.		A. M.	A. M.
B 6.10	12.30	7.00	B7.00	B 6.10	7.00		7.30	B 6.10
7.00	1.00	8.00	n9.00	7.30	10.00		8.30	8.00
7.30	1.30	9.00	B10.00	8.30	P. M.		9.30	10.00
8.00	2.00	10.00	P. M.	9.30	3.00		10.30	12.00
8.30	3.00	11.00	B5.00	10.30	4.30		11.30	P. M.
9.00	3.30	12.00	.....	11.30			P. M.	1.30
9.30	4.00	P. M.	.....	P. M.			1.00	3.30
10.00	4.30	1.30	.....	12.30			3.00	4.30
10.30	5.00	2.00	.....	1.00			4.00	5.30
11.00	5.30	*3.00	.....	3.30			5.00	B 6.30
11.30	6.00	4.00	.....	4.30			6.00	.....
12.00	6.30	5.00	.....	5.30			B 6.30	.....
.....	7.00	6.00	.....	6.30
.....	8.10	B*7.00	.....	7.00
.....	9.20	B*8.10	.....	8.10	A. M.		Change Cars at
.....	10.30	*1030	.....	9.20	7.00
.....	B11.45	B*1145	.....	10.30	P. M.		West Oakland
.....	.....	.....	.....	B11.45	3.00

TO SAN JOSE.

To "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

FROM DELAWARE STREET.	FROM BERKELEY.	FROM NILES	FROM EAST OAKLAND.	FROM FERNSIDE.	FROM ALAMEDA.	FROM OAKLAND. (Broadway.)
A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	P. M.
B 5.40	B 5.40	7.00	B 5.10	B8.00	B*5.00	B 5.20	12.20
B 6.30	B 6.30	8.00	B 5.50	B10.00	B*5.40	B 6.00	12 50
8.00	7.30	P. M.	6.40	B11.00	*6.25	6.50	1.20
10.00	8.30	2.35	7.40	P. M.	7.00	7.20	1.50
12.00	9.30	4.30	8.40	B6.00	8.03	7.50	2.50
P. M.	10.30	.....	9.40	.....	9.00	8.25	3.20
1.30	11.30	.....	10.40	.....	10.03	8.50	3.50
3.30	P. M.	.....	11.40	.....	11.03	9.20	4.20
4.30	1.00	.....	P. M.	.....	12,00	9.50	4.50
5.30	3.00	.....	12.40	.....	P. M.	10.20	5.20
B 6.30	4.00	.....	1.25	.....	1.00	10.50	5.50
.....	5.00	.....	2.40	.....	3.00	11.20	6.25
.....	6.00	.....	4.40	.....	*3.20	11.50	6.50
		.....	5.40	.....	4.00	.....	8.00
		A. M.	6.40	.....	5.00	.....	9.10
Change Cars at West Oakland.		7.10	7.50	.....	6.03	.....	10.20
		P. M.	9.00	.....	B*7.20	.....	.....
		1.30	10.10	.....	B*8.30	.....	.....
		.....	.....	.....	*10.00	.....	.....

B—Sundays excepted.
*Alameda Passengers change cars at Oakland.

Creek Route.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO—Daily—B5:40, B6:30, 7.20, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15 A.M. 12:15, 1:15, 2:25, 3:15, 4:15, 5:15, 6.15 P.M.

FROM OAKLAND—Daily—B5:30, B6:20, 7:10, 8:05, 9:05, 10:05, 11:05 A.M. 12:05, 1:05, 2:15, 3:05, 4:05, 5:05, 6:05 P.M. —Sundays excepted.

"Official Schedule Time" furnished by RANDOLPH & Co., Jewelers, 101 and 103 Montgomery St., S. F.

T. H. GOODMAN, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt.
A. N. TOWNE, General Superintendent.

SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD

Commencing Sunday, Nov. 16th, 1879, and until further notice, Boats and Trains will leave San Francisco (Washington-st. Wharf) as follows:

3.00 P.M. daily (Sundays included), Steamer "James M. Donahue" (Washington Street Wharf), connecting with Mail and Express Train at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg, Cloverdale, and way stations. Making stage connections at Lakeville for Sonoma; at Geyserville for Skaggs' Springs; at Cloverdale for Ukiah, Lakeport, Mendocino City, Highland Springs, Bartlett Springs, Soda Bay and the Geysers.

Connections made at Fulton on following morning for Korbel's, Guerneville and the Redwoods.
(Arrive at San Francisco, week days, 10:10 A.M.; Sundays, 11 A.M.

Freight received from 7 a.m. till 2.30 p. m., daily (except Sundays).

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Sunday Excursion Trips are discontinued until further notice.

Ticket Office: Washington st. Wharf.

A. HUGHES, Gen. Manager. JAS. M. DONAHUE, Gen. Pass & Tkt. Agt.

ROEDERER CHAMPAGNE.

Notice.--The Trade and the Public are informed that we receive the genuine LOUIS ROEDERER CARTE BLANCAE CHAMPAGNE, direct from Mr. Louis Roederer, Reims, over his signature and Consular Invoice. Each case is marked upon the side, "Macondray & Co., San Francisco," and each bottle bears the label, "Macondray & Co., Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast."
MACONDRAY & CO.,
Oct. 11. Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Natural beauty surpasses anything which can be imparted by artificial means. PHOSPHATE SOAP gives health to the skin simply by removing impurities and eradicating the poisons which give rise to skin diseases.

Not only for daily use on the face and hands, but for bathing the entire body, there is nothing equal to PHOSPHATE SOAP. It is a thorcugh disinfectant and removes offensive odors of every kind.

☞ Ask your Druggist for it.

NORTHERN DIVISION SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

Commencing Friday, Nov. 21st, 1879, and until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave San Francisco, from Passenger Depot on Townsend street, between Third and Fourth streets, as follows:

8.30 A.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations. ☞ Stages for Pescadero (via San Mateo) connect with this train only.

10.30 A.M. daily for San Jose, Gilroy, Hollister, Tres Pinos, Pajaro, Salinas, Soledad and all Way Stations. ☞ At PAJARO, the Santa Cruz R. R. connects with this train for Aptos, Soquel and Santa Cruz. ☞ At SALINAS the M. & S. V. R. R. connects with this train for Monterey. ☞ STAGE connections made with this train. (Pescadero Stages via San Mateo excepted.)

3.30 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose, Gilroy, and principal Way Stations.

4.30 P.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations.

6.30 P.M.—daily, for Menlo Park and Way Stations.

☞ The Extra Sunday Trains to San Jose and Way Stations have been discontinued for the winter season.

Second-Class Fare.

Between San Francisco and San Jose.....$1.00.

On Freight Trains only, leaving San Francisco at 4:00 A.M., San Jose at 8:30 P.M. (daily, Sundays excepted).

Excursion Tickets at Reduced Rates

To San Jose and intermediate points sold on Saturdays, and Sunday mornings, good for return until following Monday inclusive.

Also, EXCURSION TICKETS to Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz and Monterey, sold on Saturdays only—good for return until the following Monday inclusive.

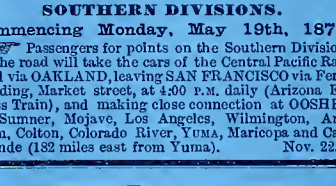
☞ Principal Ticket Office—Passenger Depot, Townsend street. Branch Ticket Office—No. 2 New Montgomery street, Palace Hotel.

A. C. BASSETT, Supt. H. R. JUDAH, A. P. & T. A.

SOUTHERN DIVISIONS.

Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879,

☞ Passengers for points on the Southern Divisions of the road will take the cars of the Central Pacific Railroad via OAKLAND, leaving SAN FRANCISCO via Ferry Landing, Market street, at 4:00 P.M. daily (Arizona Express Train), and making close connection at OOSHEN for Sumner, Mojave, Los Angeles, Wilmington, Anaheim, Colton, Colorado River, YUMA, Maricopa and Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma). Nov. 22.



Ladies who have injured the skin by the constant use of cosmetics may do much to restore their faces to that beauty which nature alone can give by constantly using PHOSPHATE SOAP.

For chapped hands the constant use of PHOSPHATE SOAP will be recommended by all who give it one fair trial.

If you want a nice article of Toilet Soap and something that is beneficial to the skin, buy PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Ladies who wish to make the skin look beautiful and natural should use PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Manufactured by "Standard Soap Co.," 204 Sacramento St., San Francisco.

$25 to $5000 Judiciously invested in Wall St. lays the foundation for fortunes every week, and pays immense profits by the New Capitalization System of operating in Stocks. Full explanation on application to ADAMS, BROWN & Co., Bankers, 23 Broad St., N. Y.

NOTICE.

For the very best photographs go to BRADLEY & RULOFSON'S, in an Elevator, 429 Montgomery street. Oct. 29.

NOTABILIA.

THE PEDDLER'S SONG.

Lawn as white as driven snow;
Cypress black as e'er was crow;
Gloves as sweet as damask roses;
Masks for faces and for noses;
Bugle-bracelet, necklace, amber;
Perfume for a lady's chamber;
Gold quoips and stomachers,
For my lads to give their dears;
Pins and poking-sticks of steel.
What maids lack from head to heel:
Come buy of me, come; come buy, come buy,
Buy, lads, or else your lasses cry.

WILLIAM SHAKSPEARE.

There has been much fighting with tongue and pen over the contemplated removal of Cleopatra's Needle to New York, and there is much plausibility in the arguments advanced against the removal of such monuments from their original site. At the same time, if an obelisk may be taken to Paris or Rome or London, why should it not be allowed to set one up in New York? There will still he disagreement with regard to the act, but there is entire unanimity on the question of setting up in each house, throughout the Pacific Coast, one of Montanya's Union Ranges, from Jackson street, below Battery.

A recent critic tells us, with great good sense, that the novel has improved in modern days in many ways; that it is more flexible, more natural and easy, and, at the same time, more dramatic; but that, in the main, this form of fiction must always he a device for setting the disorders of life right. Not a mere reflection of what is, but a picture also of what ought to be; and like the novel is the Original Swain's Bakery, 213 Sutter street, at once all that a restaurant ought to be, and the best of all possible devices for righting the discomforts of life.

He blew into his gun to see
If loading up was needed;
The jury to a man agree
That the gun blew after he did.

Merely to look in at the windows of B. Nathan & Co., 130 Sutter street, is a treat worth a trip from Oregon or Southern California. Nowhere this side of Chicago is there to he seen a stock of more precious articles in bronze, porcelain, glass, from the delicate fabric of Murano to the glowing colors of the Bohemian furnaces, faience and the wonders of Sévres and Dresden, old, priceless specimens from Japan and China, and the curious carvings in ivory and rhinoceros horn which tell of the Oriental's supple haud.

One of the indispensahle features of the holiday season in every family is the cheering glow of the fireside, with its warm heart for every comer. The Yule-log we hurn no more in our modern cities, hut the Yule fire we must have, or Christmas is not Christmas; and J. Macdonough, 25 Market street, is now taking in orders for every kind of coal—Scotch, Australian, Pacific Coast, and Eastern, including the favorite and unsurpassed Red Ash. Connected with the American District Telegraph for convenience of those ordering.

It is saddening to look over the records of the men of genius who have perished untimely, with constitutions undermined by the fell destroyer, consumption. Often, in turning over these mournful pages, one comes to notes of the first marked decline in health, when as yet the physical system was strong enough to react, had but the helping hand been given. But, alas! F. & P. J. Cassin had not then invented their Cordial of Old Rye Whisky and Pure Rock Candy, which has now made Consumption a mere traditional memory.

Master Tom: "Stand in the corner? What for?" His Mamma: "Because you are a had hoy." "Master Tom: "Can't I he a had hoy here just as well?"

There is beginning to he a general recognition abroad of the cultivated and thoughtful American; and to all who have faith in the future of mankind it must he gratifying to see that the higher ideals find so many genuine believers and followers among us. The torch of civilization will not go out in the West, we may he sure, so long as the public of this great city show such appreciation of the productions of Herrmann, the Hatter, 336 Kearny street, the very prince of his profession.

It was Josephine's keenest misery that the fading of her once exquisite charms made her imperious and self-willed husband neglectful and unfaithful to her. How many hours of anguish would have been spared if the hot-blooded Martinique beauty, if she had known Wakelee's Camphline, and so preserved the glow of youth upon her cheek and the pearly whiteness of her teeth!

"I am not a sentimentalist, Mr. Wolfgang," said Vivian, "once and for all. I am seasoned wood; I look at the world without blinkers. Every penniless love-match I ever took the trouble to watch, I have seen end in grief—naturally." This is cynical enough for a beautiful young girl, and one cannot but wish that Vivian had been brought up to take Landsberger's Gerke Wine at table every day; the most cheering, inspiriting and generous-hearted table-wine in existence.

To afford immediate relief in Asthma, try Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, which acts promptly by overcoming the spasmodic contraction of the wind-tubes, and by causing the ejection of the mucus which clogs them. For Whooping Cough, Croup and Hoarseness, this medicine is equally beneficial; while for all Pulmonary and Bronchial Disorders, it is both a palliative and a curative, and a sure and prompt remedy for all stubborn Coughs and Colds. Sold by Crane & Brigham, San Francisco.

The American girl is described by a thoughtful writer (also American) as exquisitely susceptible and impressed by mild irritation acting upon any of the senses. She dresses in taste, and, where the means are at hand, with elegance, in colors that are quiet and subdued, and noticeable only at a short distance. We make haste to add what this author should not have overlooked, that by none of the sex is Madame Rachel's Enamel Bloom more highly appreciated than by her.

Dr. Beard maintains that the English, and consequently the Americans, their children, though hold in adventure and in hattle, tremhle in the presence of new ideas, and look upon the scientific discoveries of Germany with a kiud of terror. There is truth in this, and yet hut a partial truth. Bradley & Rulofson, for instance, hold their ground triumphantly in the fore-front of the photographic world, let Germany discover what she will.

"Pa," said a little four-year old, "there's a man out there that would give anything to see you." "Who is it, my son?" "It is a hlind man."

The changes in the style of ladies' hats and bonnets are so sudden and so frequent that they require continual attention on the part of those who undertake to furnish the beau monde. The true milliner must he full of intelligence, and alive to every sign of a coming change. Mrs. Skidmore, 1114 Market street, has a genius for her profession, and is always in the van with the latest styles in make and taste. No lady in the city can fail to visit her establishment regularly.

The wine of wines for Americans, the very soul of all vintages in the world is the foaming grape-juice of Champagne. Three men out of four profess a decided preference for this; and of all hrands the one most sought after is the Pommery, now the favorite at every Court in Europe. It is clear, full of life, exquisitely flavored, and has not a headache in forty hottles. Wolff & Rheinhold, 334 Washington streets, are agents.

"Thrice is he armed who hath his quarrel just." These nohle words have strung up the courage of many a good man, fainting in the long and seemingly vain warfare against the manifold oppressions and shames of this hard world. But thrice and four times armed is he who huys his hats at White's, 614 Commercial street, for he has the satisfaction of knowing that his hat recommends him.

The difference between a hen and mouse-trap is that the mouse-trap can't set itself.

No more acceptable present can be sent from this coast to a friend in the East or in Europe, as a Christmas token, than one of those elegant ornaments in California turquoise, made by D. W. Laird, 27 Post street, opposite Masonic Temple. Rings, hrooches, lockets, shirt-studs, sleeve-huttons; the multitude of forms is infinite, and the workmanship in all exquisitely finished.

"I find the Englishman to he the one of all men," says Emerson, "who stands firmest in his shoes." There can he no douht of it; and the perfect halance of intellectual and physical powers which give this firmness come from the care taken in the old island to have the hest underclothing, such as can he had at Carmany & Crosett's, 25 Kearny street.

The N. Y. Tribune says, with patriotic and prodigious fervor, that the Atlantic Monthly is superior to any European periodical. There may he an occasional American capable of doubting this, hut every one knows that Napa Soda is actually the hest and most wholesomo heverage on earth.

Price's Carvers.—Send a set East to your friends for Christmas. No. 415 Kearny street. Grinding and Repairing.

Ladies, do you want to he strong, healthy and heautiful? Then use Hop Bitters. Read advertisement.

CUNARD LINE.

British and North American Royal Mail Steamships between NEW YORK and LIVERPOOL, calling at QUEENSTOWN, sailing from New York EVERY WEDNESDAY.

ALGERIA.....November 26th.
SCYTHIA.....December 3d.
ABYSSINIA.....December 10th.
BOTHNIA.....December 17th.
GALLIA.....December 24th.
ALGERIA.....December 31st.
SCYTHIA.....January 7th, 1880.
ABYSSINIA.....January 14th, 1880.

Passage can be secured and all information given on application to
WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,
Nov. 22. 218 California st.

ESSENTIAL OIL OF EUCALYPTUS AMYGDALINA.

Bossito's "Parrot" Brand is the original and only genuine Eucalyptus Oil imported, and used internally under medical prescription, and externally for all rheumatic and bronchial affections, as well as for local pains, bruises, sprains, etc., for which it is an undoubted specific. For sale by all druggists.
W. H. CAMPBELL, Sole Agent,
Nov. 29. 402 Front street, San Francisco.

THE "NEWS LETTER" AND GENERAL GRANT.

Four weeks ago the News Letter, in a brief editorial, stated its belief that General Grant had, while in this city and State, showed signs of approaching insanity. We gave reasons for that belief, which we considered sufficient grounds for the statement. Ths article in question has been copied far and near, from Maine to Oregon, and variously commented on. A correspondent of the N. Y. Sun (the brightest and largest-circulated paper in the United States) takes up our statement, and gives many additional examples of Grant's weakening mind. The Springfield Republican, the most influential newspaper in Massachusetts, also comments on the News Letter's statement, and says that "the silent man has acted queerly of late," and that "insanity runs in his family." The Washington Capitol (Don Piatt's paper) takes issue with the N. Y. Sun ahout Grant's insanity, and attrihutes the General's recent eccentricities to lately formed temperance hahits. It has "eminent authority for the statement that General Grant has not imbibed a drop of spirituous fluid for some months," and then argues that his sudden total ahstinence probahly accounts for the belief of the Sun correspondent in "the actual disturhance of the eminent patient's mental halance." The St. Louis Republican says of our widely copied editorial:

> We give this story for what it is worth, and to show the spirit of the anti-Grant Republicans. The Sherman partisans are most active in giving it circulation, and it is they whom the Grant supporters must quarrel with, if they want to quarrel at all. One cannot hut he amazed at the resources the Sherman people exhihit in their effort to get their competitor out of the way. Having failed to make him president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and next, to make him engineer of the Nicaragua Canal, they now propose to put him in a lunatic asylum.

This is decidedly amusing, when we consider that the writer of the article in question is not a Sherman man at all. But the most deeply agitated of all the army officers, concerning the News-Letter's editorial, is Gsneral Rufus Ingalls—Grant's right-hand mau. Poor old Ingalls said to a Chicago friend:

> In reply to my reference to s sensationsl srticle, intimating that Gensrsl Grsnt was crszy, which was published in a morning paper, and founded upon statements msde in a San Francisco journsl, Gensrsl Ingalls ssid that the publicstion wss prohably made to wound General Grsnt, snd he added that if such was the intention, the writer totsly fsiled; for, said he, "General Grant is a man whose equilihrium would not be dsunted hy telling him he wss to be shot to-morrow."

The above remarks hy General Ingalls was thought of sufficient importance to he telegraphed to the Cincinnati Enquirer of last Saturday. Over and against it we copy the following from the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, whose editor conversed with General Grant on his way from Omaha to Galena. The Pioneer-Press is a Republican paper of high character:

> "Years show their ravages upon Grant, more particularly in certain nervous contractions of the mouth, which remind me of Chief Justice Chase's, after his first attack of paralysis. There is a strange feehleness ahout it, as if the whole man were not tired, hut weary. He looks like some one used to stimulants, who has suddenly cast them aside. His official life was to him a stimulant, and now, not used to find employment and comfort in hooks, the reaction has come. If elected President, I should much doubt that he would live out his term. Like most men of his build, when he does hreak down it will he suddenly."

And now comes the Chronicle of this city, which paper went out of its way in its last Sunday's edition to deny the truthfulness of the facts upon which our now celebrated article on Grant's insanity was founded. Charles de Young could have been in hetter business than in taking up his readers' time with lame apoligies for General Grant's hehavior on this coast. Our information of Grant's strange conduct in San Jose, Maderia and Virginia City came from gentlemen of the highest character. Among them we will mention Hon. C. T. Ryland, ex-Speaker of the Assembly, and now President of the Commercial Bank of San Jose; Hon. R. P. Mace, of Maderia, a gentleman who served with General Grant all through the Mexican War, and who has represented Fresno County in ths Legislature three sessions. D. McCarthy, the well-known Editor of the Virginia Chronicle, and Judge Rising, of Storey County. Hon. F. A. Tritle, the recent Republican candidate for Governor of Nevada, who was on the Grant Reception Committee, said afterwards "that socially General Grant was a boor, and was utterly destitute of even ordinary politeness."

Mr. Tritle didn't know what was the matter with him. We think we do. We might give many other prominent names as witnesses to General Grant's strange hehavior while on this coast in the months of September and October last. But enough has already heen said to justify us in giving to the world the article which has caused so much commotion and comment.

Oakland is striking for the leadership in hotels, and has almost secured it. The Grand Central, we perceive, has come under the control of Messrs. P. F. Benson & Co., who have leased it for three years, paying the first year's rent in advance. The house, which is magnificent for extent, filling the block between 11th and 12th and Webster and Harrison streets, has been renovated from top to bottom, and is now the most perfectly appointed in the State. All improvements, elevators, bath-rooms attached to each suite, indicators, connection with telegraph and telephone at the service of guests. There are 250 rooms in the hotel; and the announcement that the proprietors have secured the talents of Charles W. Smith, former cook of the Palmer House, Chicago, and of J. H. Reynolds, famous as the Steward of the Fifth Avenue and Grand Central of New York, is guarantee for the table.

No more appropriate holiday present can be made than a picture. A fine engraving or photogravure, and an intelligent direction as to its framing, affords an excellent opportunity for the display of taste on the part of the giver. Snow & Co., art dealers, 20 Post street (formerly Snow & May, of 21 Kearny street), have received all the novelties of the season in their line. Their stock embraces the latest engravings, photogravures and Christmas publications. In ebony and velvet frames, they make a fine display. The manufacture of picture frames and passepartouts is a specialty with Snow & Co., and the quality, as well as style, of these articles cannot he easily excelled. A large assortment of water and oil-color sets, from the most celebrated makers, have also come to hand, together with a fine lot of ehony corner and side hrackets of new styles.

A wealth of literary entertainment in the Grand Douhle Christmas Number. Illustrated througbout.

For Gems and Diamonds go to Geo. C. Shreve & Co., 110 Montgomery street.

THE RECEPTION AT MRS. JNO. McMULLIN'S.

On Thursday evening there was a gathering of society notables at the elegant McMullin mansion, 1,414 California street, the occasion being the debut of Miss Rebecca, the third daughter. Ths guest arrived at 9 o'clock, and were received by the host and hostess with their proverbial easy grace. The houss was splendidly decorated for the occasion, and the rooms were a wilderness of flowers and evergreens from the family conservatory and the greenhouses of sympathizing friends in city and country. The new hall-room behind the parlor was consecrated to its uses on this evening, and called forth the admiration of all hyits arrangement and ample proportions—30 feet hy 40. The chandeliers which light it are rare works of art, and were hung with smilax and roses. Dancing was kept up till midnight, when supper was served in a style beyond praise, so rare were the triumphs of culinary skill, so exquisite the ornaments and the confectionery, which had heen imported expressly from Paris. A lordly ease reigned throughout the entertainment. The guests ranged freely through the nohle halls, or broke into groups under the blaze of lights, or in the shadow of perfumed exotics, or joined the gay dancers at their will. Not till after 3 o'clock did the inevitable moment of parting come, and the hright hours pass into memory.

Eastward-bound travelers, who have tried the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, known as the Great Burlington Route, are unanimous in praising it as the most comfortable and satisfactory line, and our husiness men prefer it so decidedly that it has heen called the California Merchants' Favorite. The road is heavily ballasted, and laid with steel rails furnished with the 16-wheel Pullman Palace Dining and Sleeping Cars, and connected at every part with the telegraph. Above all other advantages, passengers by this route place the courtesy, vigilance and untiring good offices of the Passenger Agent for the Pacific Coast, Mr. T. D. McKay, whoss efforts to secure their comfort all most warmly recognize.

Mrs. Lewis's parlors, in Thurlow Block, Sutter and Kearny streets, are now daily crowded with her fair patrons, arbiters themselves in matters of taste and skill in dress, and anxious to enjoy the sight of the marvels produced by this acknowledged artist. The combination of shades and colors, the most difficult and delicate part of the dressmakers' scieuce, is possessed by Mrs. Lewis to the highest degree, and she is able to pronounce, at sight, on the shade and make suitable for a customer. Her orders, even from the inner towns, are coming in at this holiday season so as to tax even her resources and the skill of her fitter and cutter—the most accomplished on the coast.

The taste for porcelain and Chinaware has been cultivated to a high degree within these few years past, as any one may observe by studying the goods exposed in the stores of our leading dealers. The superb products of Sevres, Dresden and Meissen, Copenhagen, Berlin, and the hest English furnaces, ths historical plaques of Sevres, the choicest Japanese and French Cloisonné, the vases and table services to he seen at O. Lawton & Co's, 609 Market street, are not to be excelled in the world, and bear irrefutable witness to the high level of public culture in this line. The new goods, imported hy this great house direct from the factories in Europe, are offered at 33 per cent. below former prices, and this is the moment to secure rarities in porcelain and bronze at exceptionally low rates.

The serious objection to manifold writers is that they require too much of preliminary wetting and drying and turning of papers and losing of patience; and every husiness man will hear with delight of a copying process absolutely easy and simple. The Multiplex Copying Tablet, which is exclusively in the hands of the California Novelty Works, 46 St. Ann's Building, opposite the Baldwin, is indispensable. The letter is written, pressed by hand on the surface of the tahlet, and from the impression left 100 copies can he taken by simply laying the paper on the tablet, passing the hand over it, and taking it off. It is like magic.

Tailors abound; it is easy enough to find one, if that is all one wants, but not every tailor can make clothes. Because this statement is paradoxical, it is literally true. When, therefore, a man has been found who is at once a tailor and able to make clothes, his name should be known to the world, for we all need clothes, thanks to Adam. John Reid, 907½ Market street, is one of the genuine makers of the craft, careful, accurate, an admirable cutter and fitter, and a man with a conscience, who gives good work for a modest price.

St. John's Presbyterian Church, Post street, hetween Mason and Taylor. Rev. Dr. Scott, Psstor, will preach as usual on Sunday at 11 A.M. and 7½ P.M. The public cordially invited to attend. Sunday School and Bible Classes at 9½ A.M. Prayer and Praise Service at 6½ P.M.

The Twenty-fourth Anniversary Ball of the Ladies' United Hehrew Benevolent Society takes place next Wednesday evening at Covenant Hall, Eddy street.

Geo. C. Shreve & Co., jewelers, 110 Montgomery street, mark all goods in plain figures and have hut one price.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The Company's steamers will sail as follows at 12 M:
CITY OF TOKIO, Dec. 27th, March 20th—CITY OF PEKING, Feh. 7th, May 1st—for YOKOHAMA and HONGKONG.

CITY OF PANAMA, Decemher 5th, for PANAMA and NEW YORK, calling at ACAPULCO, SAN JOSE DE GUATEMALA, LA LIBERTAD, PUNTA ARENAS.
Tickets to and from Europe hy any line for sale at the lowest ratcs; also to Havana and all West India ports.

AUSTRALIA, December 22d, at 12 o'clock M., or on arrival of the English mails, for HONOLULU, AUCKLAND and SYDNEY. $10 additional is charged for passage in Upper Saloon.

CITY OF CHESTER, Dec. 10th, for VICTORIA, PORT TOWNSEND, SEATTLE, and TACOMA, connecting at TACOMA with Northern Pacific Railroad for PORTLAND, Oregon. Tickets must he purchased hefore 11 A.M. on day of sailing, at Wharf Office. For freight or passage apply at the office, cor. First and Brannan streets. [Dec. 6.] WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents.

"BIZ."

On Monday, December 1st, at an early hour, Sir Claus Spreckles, President of the California Sugar Refinery, announced, by circular to the Grocery Trade of the city, that prices of all grades of Refined Sugar were reduced 1 cent ₱ lb from rates current the fortnight previous. No reasons are given for this reduction, but it is generally believed by the trade that the advance last month, from 13@14c, was rather arbitrary, but it was caused by the very light stocks of Raws held by the Bay and California Refineries, and that, by making a sharp advance, the large orders daily coming in, that were filled with less promptness than usual, would be sensibly checked. In point of fact, the Bay had stopped melting, and the California Refinery had its entire stock of Raws in process of melting prior to the arrival of the last four or five vessels from the Sandwich Islands. These several vessels, arriving here within the past ten days, furnished a stock of Raws, say 15,000 packages, quite sufficient to enable the California to execute all possible wants of the trade; hence the reduction noted. The Refinery schedule is now as follows. Trade discount, 2½ per cent.:

(A) Patent Cube Sugar, in hbls	13 c
(A) Crushed Sugar	13 c
Extra Powdered Sugar, in hbls	13¼c
Fine Crushed Sugar, in hbls	13 c
Dry Granulated Sugar, in hhls	12⅞c
Extra Granulated Sugar, in bbls	12¼c
Golden C Sugar, in hbls	11½c
D Sugar, in hbls or S. I. kegs	11 c
D Sugar, in hbls or S. I. kegs	11¼c

Half-barrels ¼c more, boxes ½c more for all kinds.

The New York and other Easteru Sugar markets, as well as foreign supply markets, continue firm at the Novemher advance, and are likely to so continue for some time to come. The sales here of Sandwich Island Raws during the week were only 500 packages, from 8@11c, according to quality.

Case Salmon.—Last week we presented to the readers of the News Letter a full and detailed review of the Salmon market of the Pacific coast. To-day we have to record the re-sale of 12,000 cases 1-lb tins on Columbia river—a favorite hrand—at a price that nets the seller $1 30 per dozen. This, we helieve, closes out all the Salmon in Oregon. The stock here is all in the hands of one house, that will hold for the present spot price, $1 35@$1 45 ₱ dozen.

Coal.—The receipts from mines in British Columbia, coupled with those from the California Mt. Diablo mines, Coos Bay and Seattle North, are quite sufficient to keep prices in check and to greatly restrict imports from the United Kingdom. Of course, our Gas Company and others will draw their usual quota from Australasia. Cargo prices here rule from $6 50@$7 for Sydney, $7 50 to $8 for Wallsend; Seattle, $5 50 @$6; British Columhia, $6@$8; Mt. Diablo Steam, $4 for screening and $4 50 for coarse. Anthracite is dull and slow of sale.

Coffee.—The market continues to be quite hare of supplies. O. G. Java, 26c; hest Central American Green, 20c@21c; fair to good, 18c@19c; Rio, 16c@18c.

Borax.—The demand absorhs all the receipts. The hark "Brazos," for New York, carried 7,644 lbs, and the "China" for ditto, via Isthmus, 10,080; price, 6c to 7c for the two grades.

Bags and Bagging.—Grain Bags and Hessian piece goods are quiet; 22x36 bags nominal, with occasional sales of five and ten bale lots at 10c to 10¼c. For forward delivery there is considerable husiness reported at from 9⅞c ex ship to 10¼c for May delivery. The market is very strong, and the tendency all upward. Potato Gunnies are closely controlled and have had sales at $14. Wool Bags are nominal, the season being now over. Advices from Calcutta report the market for all Jute fahrics as excited, and prices rapidly advancing.

Oils.—The Arctic whaling fleet to date brings us of Polar and Walrus Oil 16,000 harrels. Of this 68,600 gallons was shipped to New York via Panama, per P. M. S. S. Co's steamer China. Crude Oils sold here at 35c.

Rice.—We have received this week from Honolulu about 3,600 bags of Table; price, 6@6¼c. The stock of China is large. No. 1 sells at 6c; No. 2, 5⅞c; mixed, 4⅝c.

Salt.—We know of no Liverpool in first hands. Market firm.

Spices.—Stocks of all kinds are very light.

Teas.—Supplies light and market firm for all kinds.

Wines.—We remark a growing demand for Native White and Red. Sales of 20,000 gallons Port, 55c—packages extra.

Corn.—Tbe demand is light at ahout 1c per pound for all grades.

Rye.—There is some demand at $1 20 for export.

Beans.—The stock is excessive and prices are lower, say $1 25 per ctl. for Bayos and $1 55 for Small Whites.

Wool.—Our stocks are nearly exhausted and no good parcels left unsold. Tbe range of price, 15@32½c, latter for choice Lamh's.

Hides are in active request, at 20@21c for Dry, and 8½@9½c for Wet Salted.

Tallow.—There is a fair demand at 5½@6c for Crude, 7½@7¾c for Refined.

Hops.—Stocks are waning. Nearly all the surplus sent Eastward and to Europe. Price, 22½@37½c, according to quality.

Krug Champagne.—Private Cuvee, in quarts and pints; Shield—Krug—in quarts and pints; Premiere Qualite, in quarts and pints. For sale by Hellman Bros. & Co., corner Front and Jackson streets.

New Styles of Watch-Cases at Geo. C. Shreve & Co.'s, 110 Montgomery street.

JOHN JENNINGS

Hooper's South End Warehouses, corner Japan and Townsend streets, San Francisco. First-class Fire-Proof Brick Building, capacity 10,000 tons. Goods taken from the Dock and the Cars of the C. P. R. R. and S. P. R. R. free of charge. Storage at Current Rates. Advances and Insurance Effected.

ART JOTTINGS.

It is to be regretted that our local artists did not during the dull season turn their attention to painting small pictures, to supply the demand which always exists at this season of the year, instead of dauhing canvases by the yard for an itinerant peddler of pot boilers, who sought a market for tbe trash throughout this State and Oregon, witb but indifferent success, and, now that Winter comes on, dumps the queer stuff upon the San Francisco market, and nightly plays the game of Peter Funk with the aid of these same dunhs, serving as foils for the vilest stuff that ever disgraced the auction mart in this city.

At the outset Jottings warned the artists against lending their names to the scheme, and yet, strange to say, many who aspire to bigh position in the profession sold tbemselves to it; and although the price obtsined was low—very—they will find it next to impossible to redeem themselves. It was thought that by withholding their names from the paintings—which, in many instances, tbey did—they could distribnte their vile work with impunity—vain delusion!—for there are but few—very few—painters who can produce anything which does not bear unmistakahle earmarks, and none of these are to be found here. And the worst feature of this business is, tbat the few who, from the first, stoutly refused to aid the scheme, are suffering immeasurably by it, for it throws discredit upon tbe entire profession—all are suspected of contributing anonymously to it.

Tbe auctioneer nightly holds a painting up to the gaze of the motley crowd, and tells them that the artist who painted the picture would not sell one of the size of the book he holds in bis hand for less tban, say a hundred dollars, while the gem on the block is eagerly knocked down at one-tentb of the sum. What a spectacle! To wbat low depths a proud profession has been brought.

We write this in sorrow, with no enmity to any member of the profession, and leave the case witb their clients, whether or no it is just or decent to demand, and receive, good value for their works, and then flood tbe market through the medium of the auction block with the vile emanations of their studios.

In legitimate art there is but little to record. The fall term of the School of Design is drawing to a close, and the next exhibition of the punils, it is expected, will he an excellent one.

Brooks is working industriously and waiting patiently for the dawn of better times. The products of his brush, of which he has a large number, will eventually—and before long too—sell at remunerative figures. The dull times of the past year will not last for ever, and the artists who have laid by their honest work will reap their reward. Meantime, the art stores are putting on holiday attire. They are full of good things, and a fine trade is expected.

The Artists' ball comes off on the 8th of next month, and probahly an exbibihition at the same time—though this is not certain. If pictures are exhibited with a view to their sale, a display during holiday month would be in order.

Sterling Silverware.—A large assortment of elegant designs at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

City and County of San Francisco, September 9, 1879.

Redemption of San Francisco Bonds,

ISSUE OF 1858.

Holders of Bonds of the City and County of San Francisco, issued under "An Act to provide for the Funding and Payment of the outstanding Unfunded Claims against the City of San Francisco, and against the County of San Francisco, as they existed prior to the first day of July, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six," approved April 20, 1858, are hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the above named Bonds will receive sealed proposals for the surrender of any portion thereof, at the City and County Treasurer's office, New City Hall, San Francisco, until 12 o'clock noon,

Wednesday, December 31st, 1879.

The amount to be applied to the Redemption of these Bonds is more or less, One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Dollars ($180,000).

Bidders will state at what rate they will surrender their Bonds, for payment in United States gold coin.

Each proposal must he accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent. of tbe Bonds offered, or their equivalent in coin, or certified checks, and should the Bonds tendered not be presented within ten days after the award, the next lowest bid will be accepted.

No proposal above par will be entertained.

Proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for surrender of Bonds, issue of 1858."

A. J. BRYANT, Mayor,
COLIN M. BOYD, Auditor,
CHAS. HUBERT, Treasurer,
Commissioners of the Funded Debt.

Sept. 13.

AVERILL MIXED PAINT,

The Best, Most Durable and Beautiful of All Paints.

PREPARED READY FOR USE,

AND OF ANY SHADE OR COLOR DESIRED.

O. S. ORRICK, General Agent,

Sept. 27. 329 Market st., Opposite Front.

SCHWAB & BREESE,

New Art Gallery, 624 Market street, opposite Palace Hotel. Oil Paintings, Engravings, Wax and Artists' Materials.

☞ ADMISSION FREE. Sept. 13.

SNOW & CO.,

No. 20 Post street, opposite Mechanics' Institute, Importers and Manufacturers of Pictures, Frames, Mouldings, and Artist's Materials. Established 1849. Sept. 20.

W Morris. MORRIS & KENNEDY, J. F. Kennedy,

Importers and Dealers in Moldings, Frames, Engravings, Chromos, Lithographs, Decalcomanie, Wax and Artists' Materials, 21 Post street, nearly opposite Masonic Temple, San Francisco. Feb. 4.

QUICKSILVER.

For sale---In lots to suit, by Thomas Bell & Co., No. 305 Sansome street, over Bank of California. Nov. 16.

PUBLIC OPINION

---ABOUT THE---

GRAND TOY EXPOSITION!

To open at the MECHANICS' PAVILION

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13th:

"Don't talk to me about Christmas presents! That is just one of the schemes of the merchants, who are doing tbeir best to get rid of their immense stocks at the closs of the year." Such is the opinion of a great many.

"It would be disastrous to me to bs obliged to buy Christmas Prssents for all my children at the ruinous prices asked by the stores," say many others.

"Presents! That is all very well for rich people, but we, workingmen, cannot afford to indulgs in such luxuries." Such is another very commonly expressed opinion.

"Business has been so adverse, and stocks so unlucky, that I am obliged to curtail my expenditures for Christmas Presents," says this man, who ussd to be quite liberal to his friends before.

"I am sure I do not know how to pass the time during thoss Holidays," says another. "Stay at home, or go out with my wife and children, and it is nothing but a continual drain on my pocket-book for Christmas Presents."

Such was the uniform type of the conversation in former years when tbs Christmas Tree was about to blossom. But, on the contrary, so soon as the project at the Mechanics' Pavilion has been made known, the public has enthusiastically applauded the idea.

"That is a capital idea—it is so practical," says one.

"I shall, at last, he able to supply all my children witb both presents and amusement at a trifling expense," says another.

"What 'fine times' we shall have, wandering through thoss immense labyrinths of the Pavilion, adorned with so many marvels and wonders," exclaim all the children.

"What an excellent opportunity it will afford for us to meet our friends during the Holidays! What a charming rendezvous it will be!" repeat tbe ladies.

In giving expression to the foregoing opinions, we make ourselves the echo of the opinion of the General Public; so we must congratulate ourselves upon our enterprise. Before the doors of tbe Pavilion have heen opened, the entire public is unanimous in their approval; and when we shall have closed them, after the feast, we shall enjoy ths conviction that we knew how to contribute to their happiness, and deserve their flattering expressions of gratitude.

LET EVERYBODY COME TO THE GRAND TOY EXPOSITION!

Which Opens at the

MECHANICS' PAVILION

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13TH.

CRADLE, ALTAR, AND TOMB.

CRADLE.

AUSTEN—In this city, November 28th, to the wife of E. Austen, a daughter.
BRUCE—In this city, November 29th, to the wife of Donald Bruce, a son.
BEASEY—In this city, November 27th, to the wife of Wm. H. Beasey, a daughter.
BLACKMAN—In this city, November 30th, to the wife of M. J. Blackman, a son.
FINN—In this city, December 2d, to tbe wife of Thomas B. Finn, a daughter.
JACOBS—In this city, November 30th, to the wife of Jos. Jacobs, a daughter.
KAHRS—In this city, November 27th, to the wife of Henry Kahrs, a son.
MAHLMANN—In this city, November 30th, to the wife of H. Mahlmann, a daughter.
RINN—In this city, November 29th, to the wife of P. H. Rinn, a son.
SCHMIDT—In this city, November 25th, to the wife of G. F. Schmidt, s son.

ALTAR.

CROCKETT-HUGHES—In this city, November 30th, Frank Crockett to Mary K. Hughes.
CAHILL-TIDD—In this city, November 27th, Edward F. Cahill to Matilda Tidd.
CELCICH-HUGHES—In this city, November 26th, Vincent Gelcich to A. D. Hughes.
HANCOCK-SCHMALTZ—In this city, November 25th, S. Hancock to Rosalie Schmaltz.
JENSEN-YOUNG—In this city, Novcmber 27th, Hans P. Jensen to Charlotte Young.
LOUGHRAN-MURRAY—In this city, November 27th, T. F. Loughran to Mary Murray.
MCGREGOR-SHANNON—In this city, November 27th, J. McCregor to Hannah Shannon.
MERITHEW-WRIGHT—In this city, C. H. Merithew to Hattie D. Wright.
REYNOLDS-CRIFFIN—In this city, November 30th, John Reynolds to Maria Griffin.
SUNNEN-LEMKE—In this city, November 30th, Wm. Sunnen to Johanne Lemke.
SCALES-MCDONALD—In this city, December 1st, Frank Scales to Ada M. McDonald.
WICKWIRE-SPERRY—In this city, November 30th, Henry Wickwire to Maria Sperry.

TOMB

BYRNE—In this city, December 1st, Edward Byrne, aged 59 years.
BALDWIN—In this city, November 29th, Henry C Baldwin, aged 41 years.
CHILDS—In this city, November 29th, James K. Childs, aged 15 years.
CARASINI—In this city, November 28th, Naide Carasini, aged 26 years.
EDWARDS—In this city, November 30th, Mary Edwards, aged 45 years.
FINK—In this city, Decemher 1st, John Fink, aged 24 years.
FRASER—In Brooklyn, New York, Novemher 30th, Joseph Fraser.
GRIFFIN—In this city, John Griffin, aged 52 years.
HARTWELL—In this city, December 2d, Julia C. Hartwell, aged 45 years.
JEFFREY—In this city, November 30th, Mrs. Sarah A. Jeffrey, aged 56 years.
MITCHELL—In this city, December 15th, Mrs. Mary A. Mitchell, aged 64 years.
MCGEE—In this city, November 30th, James F. McGee.
MCGINNIS—In this city, November 29th, Fannie McGinnis, aged 50 years.
RADFORD—In this city, December 2d, Michael Radford, aged 53 years.
WAPPEL—In this city, November 30th, Catharine Wappel, aged 44 years.
WHITE—In this city, December 1st, James W. White, aged 37 years and 8 months.

London Punch—(Husband and Wife): "What are you puzzling over, Ponsonby?" "I'm trying to answer a note from the 'dear Duchess,' as you call her. She's done me the honor to writs and ask me if that St. Bernard pup I gave her should he fed on meat or bisquits?" "Well, biscuits, shouldn't it?" "Of course. But she spells biscuits with a K, you see, and I don't like to spell it properly for fear of hurting her Grace's feelings; and yet I don't want it to get about that I spell bisquits with a K." "Say meat, tben!" "But she spells meat with two Es!"

A bird on a bonnet is worth two on tosst.

SHERMAN ON FINANCE.

Of all the crooked policies pursued by Secretary Sherman, his last avowed project to retire greenbacks and substitute them with National Bank Notes, and to entirely cease the coinage of standard silver dollars, is the most devious. He tells us oracularly enough that $14,000,000 per year may be saved by refundiug maturing bonds, but purposely omits to state that ths $14,000,000 in question will be presented to the National Banks for generously relieving the Government of the trouble of issuing currency. It is proposed, in effect, to transfer the sovereign money functions of Government into the hands of the National Banks, and to pay them an immense bonus for accepting free money. No one but a financial lunatic or a stipendiary of the banks would have the effrontery to make such a proposition. Perhaps Sherman's syndicate operations have placed him in the power of those corporations, and, if so, he is not fit to be Secretary of the Treasury, not being a free agent. National Bank notes sre only supported by a reserve of ten per cent., while greenbacks are strengthened by not less than fifty per cent. of gold and silver deposits in the Treasury. Greenhacks cost the country nothing in the way of interest, while National Bank notes cost from 4½ to 6 per cent. per annum. It is just as well to meution these things, so that people may understand how completely Sherman is controlled by the National Bank clique. Hayes, always a weak man, having no opinions that are not reflected from soms stronger source, re-echoes his Secretary's ipse dixit. The consequence is a storm brewing, which may effectually dispose of both these triflers, and relegate them to the obscurity from which they were drawn—unfortunately for the country. Since the passage of the Silver Bill, that metal has been steadily appreciating, and shrewd observers predict that within five years it will be at a premium as compared with gold. Its production is now somewhat less than the former metal, while its uses are greater and the loss from abrasion considerably larger, owing to its bulk. Every obstacle has been placed in the way of its circulation by Secretary Sherman; it has been persistently lied about by the subsidized press of the National Banks, and every means that power could suggest has been used to its detriment; but, notwithstanding, it has steadily appreciated. It may as well be said, once for all, that the National Banks desire neither greenbacks, gold nor silver, but their own notes to substitute all three. This is the scheme to which a Secretary of the U. S. Treasury lends his aid, but it will not succeed. The Western and Pacific Coast delegations are up in arms against it, and will assuredly defeat the attempt. If we are a Nation (with a big N), it is just as well to preserve soms of the attributes of sovereignty. To surrender the money functions of Government into the hands of a financial cabal is, in effect, to surrender the Government itself. The Republican party threatens to split upon tbe rock of rotten finance.

Father: "And so papa's dear little boy is very ill. Now is there anything I can get for him that will make him feel better?" Invalid: "I don't know, papa—but—I think I would like a gong."

An elegant assortment of Gold Watches and Chains at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

PRIVATE LETTER OF BISMARCK TO HIS FRIEND IN BERLIN.

Mein Lieber Freund: At last I am happy, so say that I am safe at Vienna. The jolly fellow, Andrassy, with his waxed mustachios, awaited me at the depot, and the jolliest of the jollies—the Vionneso—shouted "Lele hoch" that it made shake glasses in all beer-halls. My belly vibrated too dem ich musste lachen dabei. It was a funny thing altogether. Only think of it! When, as to myself, who struck those Viennese with such a terror while marching toward them thirteen years ago, who served them such ugly tricks in Sleswig-Holstein and in the German Federation; and now they would almost lick my feet, from utter joy and excitement. That poor Hungarian (Andrassy), who so cheaply annexed to Austria Bosnia and Herzegovina and Novi-Bazar, they discard him and vilify him to such a degree, that he was obliged to tender his resignation and retire into privacy forever! Hah! mein lieber Freund, mundus vult maltretirt werden, ergo maltretatur! After all, it must be admitted that Vienna is a gay and resolute little town, full of fun, frohlich and amusement—just as it should be! Our Berlin is nothing else but a Beerland; and, speaking between us, there is no comparisou whatever. . . . There a person gets weary almost to fainting; properly it is a d——d hole, but here you can get along lustig and . . . I am at a loss to know where the women of this place are getting such marvelous eyes from, of which in our Vaterland they would not have the least idea, unles by some strayed meteor from Polish provinces! What magnificent azures. . . . I feel ashamed when I think of those our topazes of undecided color! I had by no means bad appetite when I was thinking of transfering our German capital to Vienna. When that could be accomplished, I should be not obliged to fly so often to Varzin for the sake of those historical hunting-parties, having near at hand plenty of roes with such languid eyes. Here old Willie, too, would not get so decrepit, because it is more healthy and more agreeable to look into star-covered sky as to peep into a creek reflecting a faint light of moon. Alas! how it is dull and close in Berlin, and they talk, I am eternally uneasy. . . . How it is possible to be otherwise in such a restraint. My case can be dully understood only by a staunch Prussian. Our Crusader-Nation was, and will be, always like a farmer, after a sumptuous feast, taking his rest on the bank of some neigbboring river. Hardly you can lift your head but the Baltic overflows your ears, and when you will stretch out your cramped legs, you will pull down, as a matter of course, your neighbor. What is the use to make room across with your hands, when . . . Ah! zum teufel when it were possible, how willingly I would condescend to become an Austrian Chancellor! It is quite another and easy position! Austria is fond of historical missions. I would immediately push forward to the East, just for the sake of such historical mission, and at least to Constantinople, in a way that would drive the Muscovites to madness, and those Prussians with cramped legs I would permit, in the name of that brotherly Union, to draw themselves up erect along the borders of that blue Donau, amidst the enchanting tunes of Strauss' Waltzers, and charming eyes. . . . Ah! you see, mein lieber Kerl, how I am enraptured with Vienna. I see, however, that it is not I alone who am so; that gay and astute priest, Jacohini (Nuncius of the Pope), who, while in Gastein, was so anxious to have me to Canossa. He would gladly exchange Canossa for Vienna. There is no douht but he is very fond of Vienna; also it will he possible to me to transact more easy some business with those priests. They would not go to Berlin, nor I to Canossa, consequently we will sign the contract in Vienna. I am going to propose this to Jacohini, because I am getting tired devilishly of that obdurate quarrel; at any rate, it is necessary to make some agrecment with them, at least for some time to come, in order to fix properly that living skeleton, Mr. Gorciakoff. You write to me, mein lieber, that he is going to France. I know it; I know and am laughing heartily at those "ingenious plans" of his. Poor old man, he does not know how my own hand is helping him in those "French coquettings." Allons! Allons! Monsier le Prince Gorciakoff. Allons, mon enfant! When the opportunity arrives, then the first I happen to meet, either a Napoleonide or a Bourbon, I shall snatch by the collar, and will put him on the throne of "Old France," "By the Will of God," or "By the Will of the People." I will have it trumpeted in bombastic phrases all over the country, and I will simultaneously declare war against the Bear of the North, in better terms than Napoleon III. did, thus: "I am going to rebuild Poland; who has something to object against it, I defy him to step out." Ha! Ha! Ha! We shall see who will he the winner! We shall see how that Petersburgh "sage" will fare with his alliance with the representatives of the Republic. I understand perfectly the French people. In its political notions, it does not know anything else in the world hut England and Russia, which they hate from the bottom of their heart since Napoleon I. It is true that we can he reckoned as the third party in that company, but that nation did not forget yet Poland, which it cherishes sincerely, because of its hitterest opponents; and now it is overwhelmed hy Russia. Also, when that nation will hear "Vive la Pologne!" soon it will repeat, "Vive la Pologne!" and in an instant it will scatter to the winds those honorable Republican Dictators who are trying secretly to unite themselves with that despot who is odious to it from the time immemorable. And before it will decide what is to be done, meanwhile I will give a sound thrashing, after my fashion, to the Muscovites. I will re-take what is "ours," and, at the same time, something in addition, which may happen ou my way, and will he back again, in order to spend weary hours in Berlin. Leben sie wohl, mein lieber!

Dein Servus, BISMARCK.

Vienna, September, 1879.

[The Chaucellor's English has a charm of its own, which we leave undisturbed.—ED. N. L.]

They were looking at the hippopotamus at the aquarium. Said she: "Augustus, dear, did you say that was a horse?" "Yes, duckie, I did; a river horse." "Well, isn't he made up wrong, or deformed, or something of that sort?" "Oh, no; that's the only model of blood stock they have in Africa; he isn't very pretty, is he?" "Well, not very; but do you know he reminds me of you sometimes, Augustus, dear?" "How, dearie? When he shuts his eyes and drifts into those delicious phases of reverie?" "No, you old blessing; it's when he yawns."

The greatest appetizer, stomach, blood and liver regulator on earth —Hop Bitters. See notice.

E. M. Fry. FRY, WATTLES & CO., J. B. Wattles.
Stock Brokers,
303 Montgomery Street, S. F., Under the Nevada Bank.
☞ Money to loan on active accounts. Nov. 8.

GEO. C. HICKOX. E. C. MCFARLANE.
GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO.,
Commission Stock Brokers (San Francisco Stock Exchange, No. 230 Montgomery street, San Francisco. May 4.

J. A. RUDKIN,
Member S. F. Stock and Exchange Board, 423 California street. STOCKS Bought and Sold on Commission. Liberal Advances made n Active Accounts. Oct. 26.

E. E. EYRE.] Members S. F. Stock and Exchange Board. [J. H. JONES.
EYRE & JONES,
Stock Brokers,
320 PINE STREET, SAN FRANCISCO. [Sept. 27.

ANOREW BAIRO,
Negotiator of Lnans and Commercial Paper,
Broker in Local and State Securities,
No. 312 California Street.....San Francisco.
[P. O. Box 1,208.] Jnly 19.

D. V. B. Henarie. Edward Martin.
E. MARTIN & CO.,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Wines and Liqnors.
Proprietors of Miller's Extra Old Bourbon and J. F. Cutter Extra Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies.
April 5. 408 Front Street, San Francisco.

HIBERNIA BREWERY,
Howard Street, Between Eighth and Ninth.
Dec. 7.] M. NUNAN, Proprietor.

TABER, HARKER & CO.,
IMPORTERS AND WHOLESALE GROCERS,
108 and 110 California St., S. F.
[April 19.]

Henry B. Williams. Henry B. Williams.
WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,
SHIPPING AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
No. 218 California st., S. F. [July 27.

NEWTON BOOTH, C. T. WHEELER, Sacramento. | J. T. GLOVER, W. W. DODGE, S. F
W. W. OOOGE & CO.
Wholesale Grocers, corner Front and Clay streets, San Francisco. April 1.

CASTLE BROTHERS,
ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1850.
Importers of Teas and East India Goods, Nos. 213 and 215 Front street, San Francisco. Jan. 13.

J. M. Neville. REMOVAL. Geo. H. Bryant.
BAGS, TENTS AND HOSE.
NEVILLE & CO.,
No.'s 31 and 33 California Street, S. E. corner of Davis,
SAN FRANCISCO. [Aug. 2.

L. H. Newton. NEWTON BROTHERS & CO., M. Newton.
Importers and wholesale dealers in Teas, Foreign Goods and Groceries, 204 and 206 California street, San Francisco, Cal May 25.

WM. F. SMITH, M.D.,
Oculist and Anrist, 313 Bnsh Street.
Aug. 16.] Office Hours, from 12 M. to 3 P.M.

J. C. MERRILL & CO.,
Shipping and Commission Merchants, Agents for the Sand-wich Islands Packet Lines, 204 California street, S. F. April 13.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Gold Medal, Paris, 1878.
Sold by all Stationers. Sole Agent for the United States: MR. HENRY HOE, 91 John street, N. Y. Jan. 5.

OOGS.
G. Everill, the Celebrated Canine Doctor from London, can be consulted for treatment or purchase. Fee, $1. Address, G. EVERILL, 528 California street.
☞ Sure cure for worms, distemper, canker and mange sent free by mail on receipt of $1. Oct. 18.

O. HICKS & CO.,
Bookbinders and Blank Book Manufacturers,
NO. 543 CLAY STREET.
☞ Blank Books Ruled, Printed and Bound to Order. [Nov. 8.

COKE CHEAPEST FUEL.
Reduction In Price: Wholesale Price, 50 cents per barrel: Retail Price, 60 cents per barrel, at the works of the SAN FRANCISCO GAS-LIGHT COMPANY, Howard and First streets, and foot of Second st. Jan. 12.

$777 a year and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address, June 7.] P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

KALLOCH'S INTRODUCTORY.

Kalloch has spoken, and has had the whole city for his audience. We confess that we hardly know whether to congratulate or commiserate our citizens upon what he said. His inaugural speech, as Mayor of San Francisco, stamps him as a man of more than average grasp of mind. The document makes good, strong reading. There is a crispness and freshness about it that are delightful. He, moreover, talks like a man of power, who knows what he wants, and how to obtain it. It is the ablest document, of its kind, that has been presented to the people of this State within our recollection. If the first paragraph had been omitted it would have been well. He bebttles himself, and the large subjects of whicb he treats, when he indicatcs that much of his time, and the whole of the influence of his office, are to be devoted to avenging a private quarrel, in which he was very far from being altogether in the right. Apart from this grave error, there is much to praise and some to condemn. The inaugural comes undoubtedly from a man of intellectual power, who knows the right, but seems to have some leanings toward the wroug. We, therefore, say that we know not whether to congratulate or commisserate our citizens. If our new Mayor does the right, as well as he knows it, then without a douht he will make the hest and most popular chief magistrate the city has ever had, and in that event almost any office in the gift of the people will he within his reacb. If, on the other hand, he uses his undeniahle intellectual force for demagogic purposes, then his elevation to office will prove a curse, all the greater because of his ability. His inaugural raises hopes on the one hand and fears on the other, so that only the future can determine what the effect of his election will be. He is altogether admirahle when he tells home truths to the Sand-lotters, and to the voters generally; whilst, on the other hand, he smacks strongly of the demagogue when he holds as a threat over the heads of his confreres in office his superior ahility and intention to harangue and excite the moh, whenever he finds that he is not permitted to be monarch of all he surveys. He says beforehand that he will not suhmit to be in a minority, and that if he is, he will appeal to the mob outside. We iucline very strongly to the opinion that he has used the precise language most calculated to thwart his own ends. He has ruhbed the fur the wrong way. He has been needlessly irritating, when he ought to have heen most winningly complacent. The whole Board of Supervisors were elected hy the party opposed to Kalloch, and to tell them that their duty is merely to register his decrees—for that is the effect of it—is to exasperate at the outset, and to invite a conflict, when every endeavor ought to be made to avoid it. A true leader should draw, not drive. Sturdy men, conscious of their rights, resent threats to encroach upon them, and are very ready to take up the gauge of hattle when it is defiantly thrown down to them, in full view of the spectators. The struggle would douhtless he a severe one. The man strong in the arts of the demagogue would be hard to heat. But he would he in the wrong; he would be wielding a power inimical to representative government, and hence would he entitled to be esteemed a public enemy, who would endanger the commonwealth by subordinating its servants to his will, and hy causing them to be received with scorn and hatred hy tbe people. This is, in effect, what he says he will do; and if he proves as good as his word, then our citizens are to he commisserated upon the speech by which he has hegun an era franght with many dangers. Let us trust that he will think better of it, and be content to act harmoniously, iu every good work, with those who are as responsible to the people as he is. When he tells the Workingmen that "he does not expect to please them," it looks as if he has a prescience of that which is very likely to happen. The power he may invoke against others may be directed against himself. The voice of the people is a very fickle and uncertain voice. It may exalt him to-day and crucify him to-morrow. It has done the first already, and that he expects it will do the second is a good sign. It is evidence that he hopes to rise superior to it. Some time ago, in alluding to the efforts that were being made to unite the Democrats and Workingmen, we predicted that Kalloch would prove a considerahle obstacle to such a result. That we were right seems apparent from his inaugural. He evidently means to serve the Republicans. He says that he is not "oblivious of the fact that he owes his position to the independent voters of that party, of which the Supervisors are all honored members, and of which he has heen a memher since its infancy and his own." He tells a most pregnant truth when he says that if a man passes througb the fire of official corruption unscathed, bis reward is a sneer conveyed in the reflection, "you were a fool not to have made hetter use of your opportunities." He further tells us that we "are perhaps the only civilized community on the face of the earth where it is absolutely no bar to a man's social recognition and respectability for it to be known that he has stolen himself rich." Those words are true, and most bravely told. If Mayor Kalloch will keep on educating his hearers in that fashion, he will certainly prove himself anything hut the demagogue which thinking, conservative men have feared he was. His future is hefore him. He may make it what he will. He has proven himself a man of intellectual power. Let us hope that he will use his great possession aright. We shall watch his career with a more than passing interest. That he hopes finally to reach the United States Senate, we can plainly see. Every tack he takes is an indication that, come fair wind or come foul, he is navigating for the port Senatorial. His struggles to reach it will he worth keeping in view. It is always a worthy study to watch the efforts of a hold, audacious, ahle and ambitious man, all of which Kalloch is.

The new Board of Supervisors can hardly he said to have deserved well of the city in the four days of its power. To go into office with a ring already made, and committees arranged before the oaths were taken, may be considered smart, hut it does not command the public confidence. Outside of the ring, however, there is some comfort for the people in the integrity of the members. Mr. Litchfield, who distinguished himself the first evening, hy exposing the unworthy tricks of the majority, can he counted on to stand hy his duty, and to denouncc wrong doing, and he will not lack support.

The numerous friends of Robert C. Rogers, Esq., were gladdened on Tuesday morning last hy the receipt of a telegram from Port Townsend, Washington Territory, announcing his marriage at Victoria, B. C., to Miss Josie Downing, of this city. As former President of the Bohemian Club, Mr. Rogers was well known and very popular, and made an excellent showing as Republican candidate for the Shrievalty of San Francisco at the general election in 1877, although unsuccessful. He is at present Post Trader at Camp Chilian. Health and good wishes!

THE SURROUNDINGS OF A HOTEL.

If the surroundings of a hotel are of a doubtful character, what can you expect the hotel to he? If the proprietor's reputation is such tbat it might easily he improved upon, if tbe manager is about the last man one would expect to find in such a position, if he is ignorant of the graces and dignity of life, if he is devoid of those nicer sensibilities that are required in an eminent degree, in order to fit him to interfere iu and settle the little, yet important, social difficulties that are constantly occurring in a great botel, if he becomes intoxicated at hours when he is liable to be called upon to perform important duties, ought he to continue a round peg in a square hole? If one of the principal clerks, a married man, associates with a prominent member of the demi-monde, and seems to make her home his home, ought such an open scandal to continue in connection with a hotel that claims to be first-class? If a large portion of the social disgrace of the city is congregating in streets around the hotel, ought not the proprietor to call upon good citizens to aid him in abating the evil, or ought he not, at least, to see to it that the Police do their full duty in tbe premises? If women have heen in the hotel who had better have been away from it, is that tbe very best evidence that could have been afforded that due vigilance had been exercised? If there is a theater in the building which contains so much inflammable material that the underwriters refuse to insure tbe hotel, except at prices which the proprietor declines to pay, is that a guarantee against a terrible fire, like unto conflagrations that the American people are too well acquainted? If the domestic relations of the proprietor have almost always been of a character that are questionable, does that fact make him the right man in the right place, when he is in a hotel, and controling its management? If any, or all of these thiugs, are guarantees of high tone, then the Baldwin is the highest toned hotel in the city, for the house, its proprietor, its manager, its clerk, its theater and its surroundings, are all, and more, than we have above described. We allude to this subject now, and shall continue to allude to it, for the justifiahle purpose of doing the hotel good, and of serving the public hy so doing. Hotels are no longer the subjects of exceptional Police supervision. The Press is now expected to praise or censure, accordingly as the one or the other is demanded hy the puhlic interests. Other hotels need attention, and we will take care that they get it. But one at a time. When our good work of improving the Baldwin is done, we shall not fail to visit another hotel on another street, and proceed thence wherever our presence is calculated to he unwelcome to private interests hut beneficial to public ones. Persistence is our forte. We keep on until we succeed. We once heard an eminent man offer to bet that he would hreak a leg with a wax candle, if the subject of the operation would stand it. His audience failing to comprehend how he was to perform such a feat, he explained that the persistent taps of the candle would soon establish a wound that would grow unbearable. The subject wouldn't stand it and the operator would win his het. We have remembered that story ever since, and have frequently had occasion to practice the lesson it teaches. We keep on hitting at the obstruction to reform until the obstructions can no longer stand it. Thus our purpose is accomplisbed and the public good promoted.

"Poenae recrudescentis aerumnae."

The agony of a pain continually renewed—one of the pains of the damned.—ST. AMBROSE.

THE POOR CZAR.

Another attempt has heen made on the Czar's life, and once more the attempt has heeu unsuccessful. Really, Alexander II. has a right to claim—as he always does on such occasions—that the hand of God is specially interposed to sbield his imperial life, and his people can scarcely be blamed for credulity if they believe him. It is rather difficult, however, to think with them that the Emperor owes his marvelons escapes to the fact of his heing head of the Church, for, if he does not sooner or later die a violent death, he will be one of very few Czars that have not so perished. In this particular the record of the Russian sovereigns is as had as that of the Popes.

But if his Majesty's escapes are wonderful, the desperate daring of the would-he assassins is no less so, and was more apparent on this than on any preceding occasion.

To make a subterranean excavation from the cellar of a house to heneath the hed of the railroad, to charge the mine and lay the necessary wires for exploding it, was a work that required time and the utmost caution. It seems, indeed, incredible that it could have heen accomplished without the connivance of the Police, who have their agents and spies in every house and every family. But, however this may have heeu, the fact that such an elahorate method of assassination could be carried to its completion must fill the Czar's cup of terror to the brim. In any case, it is certain to give him a bad fit of the sulks, and he always makes things disagreeahle for his subjects when he has moods of that sort. How he can place them in a worse plight than they are now, though, it is difficult to imagine.

TIMES ARE CHANGED.

No one walking the streets of San Francisco to day would imagine that hut four months ago business was almost at a stand-still, and the faces of men grave with anxiety. Now there is an alertness in the step, a joyous look in the countenance of almost every one you meet, and the shop-windows have never heen more gay. The stocks of goods are ample, not only of the necessary kind, which we must have and sometimes do without, hut of the superfluous, that "indispensahle thing," as Voltaire calls it. Highly civilized men must have art, and the gratification of the artistic sense; and a measure of the public culture is to he found in the style of the luxuries sought. Our city has no reason to veil her face in the presence of others, so long as one establishment can show such a grouping of marvels as those which now attract the passers-hy to the magnificent windows of the White House. The colors and the qualities of the fabrics, disposed with a consummate taste so as to highten and relieve each other, are beyond praise. They represent the finest looms of Europe and the East, the rarest and most delicate workmanship employed upon the costbest stuffs. And on the background so arranged stand forth the perfect bronzes, green and silvered and dark, the translucent crystal, the wonderful terra-cotta sculptures, in which France still displays her unquestionable superiority. Selected with admirable discrimination, these treasures are laid before a people with a natural affinity for what is excellent; and the appreciative glances and remarks of the crowd in front of the White House speak volumes.

Price per Copy, 10 Cents.] ESTABLISHED JULY, 20, 1856. [Annual Subscription, $5.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS LETTER AND California Advertiser.

DEVOTED TO THE LEADING INTERESTS OF CALIFORNIA AND THE PACIFIC COAST.

Vol. 30. SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, DEC. 13, 1879. No. 22.

Office of the San Francisco News Letter, Merchant Street, Nos. 607 to 615, San Francisco.

GOLD BARS—890@910—SILVER BARS—5@15 ₱ cent. disc. Mexican Dollars, 4@5 per cent. nominal.

☞ Exchange on New York. ¼@1-5 per cent.; On London, Bankers, 49¾; Commercial, 50d. Paris, sight, 5 francs per dollar. Telegrams, 3-10@¼ per cent.

☞ Latest price of Sterling, 482½@485.

☞ Price of Money here, ¾@1 per cent. per month—bank rate. In the open market, 1@1½. Demand active.

PRICES OF LEADING STOCKS AND GOV. BONDS.

San Francisco.....December 12, 1879.

Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked	Stocks and Bonds.	Bid.	Asked
Cal. St. Bonds, 6's,'57, (nom)	100	102	Home Mutual Ins. Co.....	85	90
S. F. City & Co. B'ds, 6s,'58	Nom.	Nom.	State Investment Ins. Co..	105	108
S. F. C. & Co B'ds, 7s (nom)	Nom	Nom.	Union Ins. Co.....	114	116
Montg'y Av. Bonds (nom)..	65	70	City R. R.....	35	40
Dupont Street Bonds	80	90	Central R. R. Co	55	60
Sacramento City Bonds....	26	28	Clay Street Hill R. R.....	21	23
Stockton City Bonds, 6's...	90	95	Market Street R. R.....	6	—
Yuba County Bonds, 8's....	103	106	N. B. and Mission R. R.....	66	70
Santa Clara Co. Bonds, 7's.	105	107	Omnibus R. R.....	30	32
C. P. R. R. Stock.....	85	90	Potrero and Bay View R. R.	30	35
C. P. R. R. Bonds.....	108	110	Giant Powder Co	155	160
Oakland City Bonds, 8's....	112	115	Atlantic Giant Powder.....	130	140
Bank of California (new stk).	125	130	S. F. Gaslight Co (ex div)..	89¾	89¾
First National.....	95	97½	Oakland Gas Co.....	34½	35
Pacific	115	120	California Powder Co.....	95	98
California Ins. Co.....	108	112	S. V. W. W. Co (ex div)....	85	85¼
Commercial Ins. Co.....	75	80	Nevada Co. N. G. R. R. Bds	93	95
Fireman's Fund Ins. Co....	115	120	Virginia & Truckee " "	100	102½

Bank of California stock and the stock of the two Giant Powder Companies are in demand at our quotations. There is very little doing in General Securities, and at the same tims there is but little disposition to realize.

ANDREW BAIAD, 312 California street.

Death of William Davidson.—On Wednesday morning Mr. W. Davidson, one of the proprietors of the White House, died at his residence, 1711 California street, of pulmonary consumption, which declared itself last July with a violent hemorrhage. Since that time he has been unable to attend to business, and about three months ago he visited San Diego for a change, which, however, brought him so little good that he returned shortly after, feeling that his case was beyond remedy. In the course of his malady he suffered very little, and life died away gradually. Mr. Davidson had lived in California about fifteen years, was very widely known, and universally liked for his kindly manners and generous character. Falling in the very prime of life, for he was but thirty-eight years old, he leaves to his widow and his two children the inhsritance of an unspotted name.

We are informed by the book-keeper of the late firm of Flood & O'Brien that the purported testimony given by him, wherein he is made to say that the style of that firm's book-keeping was "eccentric," is totally and ridiculously false, no such testimony having been given.

Beerbohm's Telegram—LONDON AND LIVERPOOL, December 12, 1879.—Floating Cargoes, turn dearer; Cargoes on Passage (buyers and sellers apart), tending up; Mark Lane Wheat seems improving; No. 2 Spring Off Coast, 54s. 6d.; Red Winter Off Coast, 57s. 6d.; California Off Coast. 57s.; California Just Shipped, 57s. 6d.; California Nearly Due, 55s. 6d.; Liverpool Wheat, 10s. 9d., 11s. 9d., 11s. 8d., 12s.; Liverpool Spot Wheat, firm; California Club, No. 1 Standard, 12s. 3d.; California Club, No. 2 Standard, 11s. 10d.; California Club, Western, 11s. 9d.; California Club, White Michigan, 11s. 10d.; No. 3 Spring, 9s. 9d., 10s. 3d.; English Country Markets, generally dearer; Arrivals Off Coast, moderate; Weather in England, seasonable; Market tending up; Sterling Exchange, 82½, 85.

The Stock Market.—The past week shows a further shrinkage in values, with a heavy undertone to the general market. Large quantities of margin stocks have been forced upon the market, and a general demoralization exists among dealers. While the news from Union continues of the most favorable character, there seems to be a mistrust regarding the appearance of the next level, although it is denied by well informed parties that any drilling has taken place below the 2400 level. However that may he, it is very evident that there is a "nigger in the fence" somewhere. At the close the market showed but little signs of recovery, and considerable uneasiness is manifested.

Health of the City.—There was, as anticipated, a further reduction of the death-rate last week, the total deaths being 64, as against 86 the week previous. Typhoid fever is still prevalent, and two deaths have occurred this week. Scarlatina and whooping-cough are also common, especially in Hayes Valley. The deaths from consumption are less, but pneumonia is still fatal. Six deaths were registered from it last week. Apoplexy, angina pectoris, aneurism and heart disease have been unusually fatal. It may be a question whether any are due to the disastrous break in stocks. The damp, cold weather is productive of rheumatism, which is specially prevalent in local and sub-acute forms.

Free Library.—The trustees of this institution met on Tuesday evening last to elect a Librarian, in place of Mr. Albert Hart, whose regretted resignation takes effect on Monday next. There were a number of candidates, the successful one being Mr. Charles H. Robinson, who has had experience in public libraries in the East and abroad, and is now on the staff of the Mining and Scientific Press. At the same meeting the salary of the Librarian was reduced from $200 to $150 per month—an economical measure which cannot be commended.

We regret to announce the death of Lady Parkes, wife of the British Minister in Japan, who so recently resided at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, which took place on November 12th. Sir Harry Parkes is expected to arrive in London about the 21st of Novemher. His return was decided on partly on account of the precarious state of Lady Parkes' healtb, and partly to discuss with the Foreign Office authorities various desagrements whicb have arisen between Great Britain and Japan.

Californians Abroad, Nov. 20, 1879.—PARIS—Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Bugbee, G. H. Carodi, A. Kohler, Mrs. A. Kohler, Jas. G. Mackey. DRESDEN—Mrs. Boswell, Miss Boswell, Mrs. Burrage, Mrs. James C. Clark and family, Mrs. Catherwood and family.—The Continental Gozette, Paris. FLORENCE—Mr. R. Morell, Miss Nannie Crane, Mrs. W. W. Crane, Mr. Jeremiah Lynch.—The Continent and Swiss Times, Genva, Nov. 22, 1879.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, DECEMBER 20TH

Will be Issued Our

GRAND CHRISTMAS DOUBLE NUMBER!

Of THIRTY-TWO PAGES original reading matter, verses, selections and original stories, hy the best writers on tbe coast, all profusely illustrated by STRONG, TAVERNIER and BELLE OSBORNE. BEAUTIFUL ILLUMINATED COVERS, Etc., Etc.!

DAN. O'CONNELL contributes a story entitled The Green Winged Teal. D. W. C. NESFIELD one of the most pathetic stories ever published hsre, entitled Little Christmas. An English Novel hy an American Author will be enjoyed by every reader. An interesting paper on tbe popular mania of Bric-a-Brac by a competent writer, with whole page illustration by TAVERNIER. Original verses by T. A. HARCOURT, etc., etc.

PRICE, - - - 15 CENTS.

Printsd and Publishsd by ths Propristor, Fradsrick Marriott, 607 to 615 Msrchant Strsst, San Francisco, California.

IRISH LOVE-SONG.

Ah! swan of slenderness, dove of tenderness,
Jewell of joys arise!
The little red lark, like a rosy spark
Of song, to his sun-burst flies;
But till you are risen, earth is a prison,
Full of my captive sighs.
Then wake and discover to your fond lover
The morn of your matchless eyes.
The dawn is dark to me; hark, on! hark to me,
Pulse of my heart, I pray,
And gently gliding out of thy hiding,
Dazzle me with thy day!
And oh! I'll fly to the singing, and sigh to thee,
Passion so sweet and gay,
The larks shall listen and dew-drops glisten,
Laughing on every spray.

THE HOODLUM ELEMENT.

There is an old saying that "new brooms sweep clean." Will this be applicable on the 1st of January, 1880, to the spick-and-span new authorities, as concerns the vile hoodlum element which has made San Francisco, and several of the larger cities of Australia, a hye-word in the civilized world. Hitherto, in this city, little or nothing has been done to root it out; so little as only to add a sort of zest to the insolence and blackguardism which are among its prominent disgusting characteristics. Can nothing now be done to reach the root of the evil? Is there no known remedy here? Have really repressive measures failed? or have they never been seriously undertaken? Possibly the new set of city authorities may be induced to try by the successful example of the magistrates and police of Melbourne—a city as populous as this, and not very long ago as much infested by hoodlums, of both sexes. Fines, no matter how heavy, were soon proved to be of no avail, for there were discovered clubs of hoodlums, with numerous membership, who subscribed so much a month to a fund, kept in one of the banks, for the sole purpose of paying Police Court fines. Henceforth it was useless to inflict fines. The next step was to send the young ones to a reformatory school for a term, and the older to the city jail. That, for a while, acted favorably; but nothing really reached a point of convincing the "hoods" that the authorities were in earnest till the Birch Rod was brought to the front. To youngsters under sixteen years a good sound birching is administered, quite privately, by a proper officer, and in presence only of a few prison officers, as witnesses that all is fairly done, in a room adjoining the Court. That being over, with least possible delay the young scamp is turned into the public street, a blubbering spectacle, which reaches the intellect of his fellows when the best logic of Aristotle would fail. For those over sixteen years there is another regimen, of which the annexed excerpt from the Geelong Weekly News will speak with force, yet it is by no means an exaggerated instance of severity. By these, and such like repressive measures brought quickly home to the feelings of the hoodlums, their numbers are already vastly diminished. Now, I fail to see why, in the absence, or rather failure, of other measures, that part of the human economy which nature would seem to have provided on purpose for the castigation and correction of juvenile scamps, should not, when the delinquent has been fairly caught and convicted, be made to feel the saving influence of a small branch of a well-seasoned white birch tree. J. J. B.

Six Collingwood larrikins, or hoodlums, who enjoyed themselves after the fashion of their tribe in breaking windows and otherwise destroying property, were recently brought before the Collingwood Court. There were five charges fully proved against the prisoners, who were astonished to find themselves sentenced to three months' imprisonment on each charge, and probably horrified to think that at the end of the fifteen months they would have to find two sureties of £100 each, and their own of £200, to keep the peace for twelve months.

SUSPENSION OF THE "GOLOS."

Of all Russian newspapers, the St. Petersburg Golos has long been the most violent against all foreign Powers which happen not to approve of Russia's way of doing things. Time and time again it has been suspended for its fierce and imprudent utterances, but no sooner has its term of punishment expired than it has sprung to the front again with a new series of assaults, not to say insults. Now, this constant checking of the paper's apparent hot-headedness would lead most people to believe that the Russian Government strongly disapproves of what the Golos says; but, as a matter of fact, it is well known in Europe that every word on international affairs uttered by this same journal is indirectly inspired from official sources. Of course the paper is not acknowledged as an organ of the Government. That would mar the effect of the farce which it is made to play, which consists in trying to give the impression that the paper represents the opinions and feelings of the people. Naturally, it is an object for the Government to have it believed that the sentiment of the Russian masses is warlike and resolute against any Power with whose interests those of the Czar conflict; but international courtesy and Muscovite diplomacy both dictate that there should be at least some show of moderate counsels prevailing. Hence it comes that when this fire-eating Golos has said everything that it can say, and has exhausted its vocabulary in abusing foreign Powers, the Government suspends it. Which is something like encouraging a man to talk himself dumb, and then placing your hand over his mouth to keep him from speaking. Nobody can be deceived by this dodge who is aware of the fact (and who is not?) that not a single line is published by the Russian Press but what is first read and sanctioned by an official censor. If that functionary disapproves of an article or paragraph, he causes it to be stamped out with a great black blank, and he is strictly responsible to his superiors for the careful performance of this duty. It is no unusual sight to see newspapers disfigured by the column with these unsightly blotches. How, then, could the Golos continue its tirades for weeks together, and then really merit suspension for having printed what the Government officials allowed to pass? In American parlance, the ruse is "too thin."

Artistic Novelties, manufactured from California quartz, at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

Christmas Number of the News Letter! Illustrated.

INSURANCE.

HUTCHINSON & MANN,
INSURANCE AGENCY,
No. 322 & 324 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Fire Insurance.

GIRARD..... of Philadelphia.	LA CAISSE GENERALE..... ..of Paris.
HOME..... .....of Columbus.	ST. PAUL.....of St. Paul.
NEW ORLEANS ASSOCIATION.....	TEUTONIA .....of New Orleans.
PEOPLES.....of Newark.	BERLIN-COLOGNE.....of Berlin.
REVERE .....of Boston.	LA CONFIANCE.....of Paris.

Marine Insurance.

PARIS UNDERWRITING ASSOCIATION.....of Paris.
LONDON AND PROVINCIAL MARINE INSURANCE CO.....of London.
Capital Represented.....$23,000,000.
All Losses Equitably Adjusted and Promptly Paid.

HOME MUTUAL INSURANCE CO. OF CALIFORNIA.

Principal Office, 406 California Street, San Francisco. Cash Assets, January 1, 1877, $695,291; Liabilities, $5,952; Surplus for Policy Holders, $589,339. J. F. Houghton, President; L. L. Baker, Vice-President; Charles R. Story, Secretary. R. H. MAGILL, H. H. EGELOW, General Agents.
DIRECTORS.—San Francisco—L. L. Baker, John H. Redington, J. F. Houghton, R. B. Gray, Robert Watt, John Currey, L. L. Baker, W. F. Whittier, C. C. Burr, E. M. Root, W. H. White, J. L. N. Shepard, W. M. Greenwood, George S. Mann, Cyrus Wilson, W. T. Garratt, C. Waterhouse, A. P. Hotaling, A. Block, A. K. P. Harmon, G. S. Johnson, W. O. Wilson, A. W. Bowman, H. L. Dodge, Charles R. Story. Alameda County Branch—V. D. Moody, Chauncy Taylor, A. C. Henry, Robert S. Farrelly, Joseph B. Marlin, W. B. Hardy, T. B. Simpson. San Diego—A. H. Wilcox. Sacramento—Mark Hopkins, D. W. Earl, Julius Wetzlar, James Carolan. San Jose—T. Ellard Beans, B. D. Murphy, A. Pfister, J. H. Dibble, J. S. Carter, Jackson Lewis, Jacob Rich, John Auzerais, John Balbach. Stockton—H. H. Hewlett, Chas. Belding, J. D. Peters, A. W. Simpson, H. M. Fanning. Marysville—D. E. Knight. Grass Valley—Wm. Watt, T. W. Sigourney. Portland, Oregon—W. S. Ladd, C. H. Lewis, P. Wasserman, B. Goldsmith, D. Macleay. Virginia City, Nevada—John Gillig, Isaac L. Requa. March 17.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.--UNION INS. CO. OF S. F.

The California Lloyds.---Established in 1861.---Nos. 416 and 418 California street. Cash capital $750,000 in Gold. Assets exceed $1,000,000 Coin. Fair Rates! Prompt Settlement of Loses!! Solid Security!! DIRECTORS.—SAN FRANCISCO—J. Mora Moss, N. G. Kittle, M. J. O'Connor, R. S. Floyd, Moses Heller, Adam Grant, Daniel Meyer, Antoine Borel, Charles Kohler, E. L. Goldstein, I. Lawrence Pool, A. Weill, Joseph Brandenstein, Charles Baum, James Moffitt, Benjamin Brewster, L. Cunningham, W. M. Hoag, Nicholas Luning, John Parrott, L. A. Booth, Julius Baum, Myles D. Sweeney, Jas. M. Goewey, Edward Cadwalader Bartlett Doe, Gustave Touchard, J. H. Baird, J. G. Kittle, George C. Hickox, C. Ducommun, Wm. Scholle, John Conly, Ig. Steinhart, W. B. Stone, J. O. Eldridge, A. B. Phipps.
GUSTAVE TOUCHARD, President. N. G. KITTLE, Vice-President.
CHARLES D. HAVEN, Secretary. GEO. T. BOHEN, Surveyor. Aug. 31.

THE STATE INVESTMENT AND INSURANCE CO.
FIRE AND MARINE.

Cash Assets, $450,000.---Principal Office, 218 and 220 San-some street, San Francisco. OFFICERS:—A. J. BRYANT, President; RICHARD IVERS, Vice-President; CHARLES H. CUSHING, Secretary; H. H. WATSON, Marine Surveyor. BOARD OF DIRECTORS:—Peter Donahue, James Irvine, C. D. O'Sullivan, A. Bocqueraz, R. Harrison, A. H. Rutherford, R. Bailey, E. W. Corbett, George O. McMullin, A. J. Bryant, Frank M. Pixley, E Burke, H. H. Watson, Dr. C. F. Buckley, P. J. White, E. M. Root, M. Mayblum, Richard Ivers, John Rosenfeld, Daniel Callaghan. P. H. Russell, Sacramento. John G. Downey, Los Angeles. Wm. Hood, Sonoma County. H. W. Seale, Mayfield. Geo. Rutherford, San Jose. Feb. 16.

THE MARINE INSURANCE CO. OF LONDON, ENGLAND.
[ESTABLISHED 1836.]
Whole Amount of Joint Stock and Guaranteed Capital..$5,000,000.
Whole Amount of Capital paid up..... 900,000.
Cash Assets December 31, 1876..... 3,710,000.
The undersigned have been duly authorized to issue Policies at current rates on Freight and Shipments to or from England, Europe, New York, Japan, China, Australian Colonies, Sandwich Islands, and Northern Coast Ports. If desired, policies made payable at port of termination.
WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents,
Aug. 10. 218 California street.

THE SWISS MARINE INS. COMPANIES COMBINED.

Switzerland, of Zurich, Capital 5,000,000 francs; Helvetia, of St. Gall, Capital 10,000,000 francs; Baloise, of Basle, Capital 5,000,000 francs. These three Companies are liable jointly and severally for all losses that may be sustained. Losses made payable in all the principal seaports of the world. In the settlement of all claims under an Englisb policy, these Companies will strictly adhere to the conditions and customs adopted at Lloyds, and submit to Englisb jurisdiction.
June 9. HARRY W. SYZ, Agent, 225 Sansome st., S. F.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSUR. CO. OF BOSTON.

Has transacted the business of Life Insurance for nearly thirty-five years. Its assets amount to over FOURTEEN MILLION DOLLARS. The law of Massachusetts makes all its Policies nonforfeitable. It is a Purely Mutual Company, dividing every cent of surplus among Policy-holders. This is the ONLY Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Lapse Law. This company has complied with the new Insurance Laws of California.
WALLACE EVERSON, General Agent.
Sept. 22.] 328 Montgomery street.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN MARINE INS. CO. OF LIVERPOOL.

Capital $5,000,000.---Agents: Balfour, Guthrie & Co., No. 316 California street, San Francisco. Nov. 18.

AGGREGATE ASSETS, $38,789,065.

Imperial Fire Insurance Co., of London..... .....Instituted 1803.
London Assurance Corporation, of London.... .....
.....Established by Royal Charter 1720.
Northern Assurance Corporation. of London.....Established 1836.
Queen Insurance Company, of Liverpool.....Established 1857.
A JOINT POLICY ISSUED BY THE FOUR COMPANIES.
ROBERT DICKSON, Manager.
W. LANE BOOKER, Agent and Attorney.
317 CALIFORNIA STREET, S. F. [Oct. 11.

CRADLE, ALTAR, AND TOMB.

CRADLE.

CRAVEN—In this city, December 4th, to the wife of James Craven, a son.
CAMPBELL—In Sacramento, December 3d, to the wife of J. Campbell, a daughter.
CRAMPTON—In Truckee, November 29th, to the wife of Frank Champion, a son.
GODFREY—In this city, December 5th, to the wife of H. Godfrey, a son.
KULLBERG—In Alvarado, December 3d, to the wife of Wm. Kullberg, a son.
LINEGAR—In this city, December 4th, to the wife of James Linegar, a son.
MOORE—In this city, December 7th, to the wife of P. J. Moore, a son.
PAYNE—In this city, November 28th, to the wife of George W. Payne, a daughter.
SHOCK—In Yreka, November 14th, to the wife of Chris. Shock, a daughter.
STUKE—In this city, November 28th, to the wife of Casten Stuke, a daughter.
TOJETTI—In this city, November 22d, to the wife of Virgil Tojetti, a daughter.
VACQUIER—In this city, to the wife of H. A. Vacquier, a son.

ALTAR.

BLOOM-BUTTERFIELD—In Watsonville, November 27th, H. F. Bloom to C. Butterfield.
BELL-STEIGLITZ—In this city, George Bell to Rosa E. Steiglitz
BOYSON-CARSTENS—In this city, December 8th, C. C. Boyson to Ida R. Carstens.
GRIFFIN-FLANDERS—In this city, December 6th, John W. Griffin to Annie Flanders.
POTTER-MURRAY—In this city, October 28th, John Potter to Miss S. T. Murray.
ROLLINS-BEAMAN—In Petaluma, November 29th, M. Rollins to Nellie Beaman.
RODGERS-HINKLE—In Petaluma, November 3d, J. P. Rodgers to Nettie Hinkle.
SNOW-BRADLEY—In this city, December 7th, G. H Snow to Nellie Bradley.
TURNER-HENSLY—In this city, November 30th, Capt. L. H Turner to Denia Hensly.
WALLACE-PERKINS—In Santa Rosa, December 2d, James Wallace to Alice Perkins.

TOMB

ALEXANDER—In this city, December 5th, Simon Alexander, aged 47 years.
BURKE—In this city, December 8th, Bridget Burke, aged 28 years.
BRADFORD—In this city, December 9th, Wm. G. Bradford, aged 21 years.
COONEY—In this city, December 6th, John Cooney, aged 63 years.
DOWLING—In this city, December 8th, Mrs. Maria Dowling, aged 43 years.
DUNLEVY—In this city, December 5th, Joseph P. Dunlevy, aged 37 years.
ESHELMAN—In Leadville, Colorado, December 4th, 1879, Mary Ellen Eshelman (née Sharpe), wife of James F. Eshelman, aged 22 years, 10 months and 18 days.
FOLEY—In this city, December 6th, Jane Lonise Foley, aged 30 years.
HOLT—In this city, December 5th, Ziba Holt, aged 80 years.
LANKENAU—In this city, December 9th, Metta Lankenau, aged 43 years.
MCGLINN—In this city, December 9th, Hugh McGlinn, aged 60 years.
MCCARTHY—In this city, December 7th, Lizzie McCarthy, aged 24 years.
MCHUGH—In this city, December 5th, Mrs Annie McHugh, aged 54 years.
MUELLER—In this city, December 6th, Annie L. Mueller, aged 25 years.
NOSER—In this city, December 5th, E. Melchoir Noser, aged 26 years.
QUIGLEY—In this city, December 5th, Margaret A. Quigley, aged 48 years.
STEFFINS—In this city, December 6th, Charles Steffins, aged 37 years.
TIERNAN—In this city, December 30th, Addie Eliza Tiernan, aged 13 years.

ARRIVAL OF THE AUSTRALIAN MAIL.

The Australian mail steamer arrived on December 2d, bringing us, among other things, our customary budget of news from each of the provinces of Australia, New Zealand and the Sandwich Islands. Taking, as the News Letter has at all times, a lively interest in the rising colonies of those vast Islands of the South Pacific, with their inexhanstible resources of wealth of all kinds, and with conditions of climate and soil not unlike those of California and Arizona, but with sufficient variety to render interchange of produce, and the results of industry, not merely possihle but mutually profitahle; any enterprise which tends to bring this coast of the Pacific nearer, so to speak, to our nearest neighbors, is always hailed hy us with unfeigned pleasure. The Australians of the next generation will know little of the parent-land, and their thoughts, like those of our own citizens, will naturally turn to the land of their hirth; and in the higb spheres of mercantile life will, with equal naturalness, look to this coast as the depot and entrepot of their commercial transactions with the vast and varied interior of America. The growing feeling in this direction we note from mail to mail in the reports of mercantile transactions recorded in the pages of the Australian press. We take this opportunity of returning our thanks for the numerous and valuable exchanges with which they supply the News Letter. We would also here modestly record our admiration of the ability and style in which our contemporaries place themselves before their readers. For ourselves, we endeavor to reflect passing events, and only regret the absence of a well-established public opinion in this city and State. It has, alas! yet to be created; hut it will come with time. Events like those International Exhibitions—one now being held in Sydney, and another, on a yet grander scale, if possible, next year in Melbourne, Victoria—cannot help bringing nations, especially young ones, like the Australias and those of the Pacific Coast, into closer intercommunion. Race, language andhistorical traditions being the same, it is a subject of curious and interesting observation to notice how the scions of the old British stock will take root and flourish; and whether the Australian or the Californian will eventually wiu in the race of life.

A Few Variations of Widowhood.—We begin with the ladies:

First Widow: "I was happy with my first husband. I may be happy with a second. I shall marry again."

Second Widow: "I was not happy with my first husband. I may have better luck with a second. I shall marry again."

Third Widow: "I was happy with my first hnshand, unhappy with my second. I must now play the rnhber. I shall marry again."

Now for the men:

First Widower: "I was happy with my first wife—yes, very happy. I could never be happier. I shall not marry again."

Second Widower: "My married life was au inferno upon earth. I am now free. No, I shall not marry again."

Third Widower: "I did lead a very happy life with my first wife; it was worse still with my second. I am not anxious to know what a third would he like. I shall not marry again."

One of Henry Fox's jokes was that played off on the late Mrs. ——, who bad a great fondness for making the acquaintance of foreigners. He first forged a letter of recommendation to her in favor of a German nobleman, tbe Baron von Sedlitz Powdertz, whose card was left at her door, and for whom a dinner was immediately planned by Mrs. ——, and an invitation sent in form. After waiting considerable time, no baron appearing, the dinner was served; but during the sec nd course, a note was brought to the lady of the house, with excuses from the baron, who was unexpectedly prevented from coming by tbe sudden death of his aunt, the Duchess von Epsom Saltz, which she read out to the company without auy suspicion of the joke, and to the entertaiument of her friends, among whom was the facetious author.

A little five-year-old boy was being instructed in morals by his mother. The old lady told him that all such terms as "by golly!" "by jingo!" "by thunder!" etc., were only minced onths, and but little better than any other profanity. In fact, she said, he could tell a profane oath by the prelix "by" all such were onths. "Well, then, mother," said the little hopeful, "there's a big oath in the newspapers—'By Telegraph.'" The old lady gave it up, and the hoy is bewildered on morals.

Double Number of the News Letter for Christmas. Original! Splendid Stories!

The finest assortment of Ornamental Silver at Geo. C. Shreve & Co.'s.

BANKS.

THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital.....$3,000,000.
WM. ALVORD.....President.
THOMAS BROWN, Cashier | B. MURRAY, Jr., Ass't Cashier

AGENTS:

New York, Agency of the Bank of California; Boston, Tremont National Bank Chicago, Union National Bank; St. Louis, Boatman's Saving Bank; New Zealand, the Bank of New Zealand; London, China, Japan, India and Australia, the Oriental Bank Corporation.

The Bank has Agencies at Virginia City and Gold Hill, and Correspondents in all the principal Mining Districts and Interior Towns of the Pacific Coast.

Letters of Credit issued, available in all parts of the world. Draw direct on London, Dublin, Paris, Berlin, Bremen, Hamburg, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Antwerp, Amsterdam, St. Petersburgh, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Christiana, Locarno, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland, Hongkong, Shanghai, Yokohama. Nov. 4.

FIRST NATIONAL GOLD BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Paid up Capital $2,000,000, Gold. President, R. C. Woolworth; Vice-President, D. Callaghan; Cashier, E. D. Morgan.

DIRECTORS:—R. C. Woolworth, D. Callaghan, C. G. Hooker, C. Adolph Low, Peter Donahue, Isaac Wormser, Edward Martin, James Moffitt, N. Van Bergen.

CORRESPONDENTS—London: Baring Bros. & Co. Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China. Dublin: Provincial Bank of Ireland. Hamburg: Hesse, Neuman & Co. Paris: Hottinguer & Co. New York: National Bank of Commerce. Boston: Blackstone National Bank. Chicago: First National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact a general Banking business. Deposits in Gold, Silver and Currency received subject to check or on special deposit. Exchange for sale on the principal cities of the United States, Great Britain, Ireland and the Continent. Commercial Credits issued available in Europe, China and Japan. Collections attended to and prompt returns made at the lowest market rates of Exchange. Jan. 19.

BANK OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Incorporated by Royal Charter.—Capital paid up, $1,800,000, with power to increase to $10,000,000. Southeast corner California and Sansome streets. Head Office—28 Cornhill, London. Branches—Portland, Oregon; Victoria, New Westminster and Cariboo, British Columbia.

This Bank transacts a General Banking Business. Accounts opened subject to Check and Special Deposits received. Commercial Credits granted available in all parts of the world. Approved Bills discounted and advances made on good collateral security. Draws direct at current rates upon its Head Office and Branches, and upon its Agents as follows:

New York, Chicago and Canada—Bank of Montreal; Liverpool—North and South Wales Bank; Scotland—British Linen Company; Ireland—Bank of Ireland; Mexico and South America—London Bank of Mexico and South America; China and Japan—Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and Oriental Bank; Australia and New Zealand—Bank of Australasia, Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, and English, Scottish and Australian Chartered Bank.

May 18. FREDERICK TOWNSEND, Manager.

LONDON AND SAN FRANCISCO BANK, LIMITED.

Capital, $5,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is fully paid up as present capital. Reserve Fund, $360,000. San Francisco Office, 424 California street; London Office, 22 Old Broad street. Manager, ARTHUR SCRIVENER; Cashier, WILLIAM STEEL. London Bankers, Bank of England and London Joint Stock Bank; New York, Drexel, Morgan & Co.; Boston, Third National Bank. This Bank is prepared to transact all kinds of General Banking and Exchange Business in London and San Francisco, and between said cities and all parts of the world. March 30.

THE NEVADA BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Capital Paid Up.....$3,000,000.
Reserve, U. S. Bonds.....3,500,000.

Agency at New York, 62 Wall street.
Agency at Virginia, Nev.

Buys and sells Exchange and Telegraphic Transfers. Issues Commercial and Travelers' Credits. This Bank has special facilities for dealing in Bullion. Nov. 3.

SECURITY SAVINGS BANK.

GUARANTEE CAPITAL, - - - - - - - $300,000.

Officers: Vice-President, Jerome Lincoln; Secretary, W. S. Jones; Attorney, Sidney V. Smith. Loans made on Real Estate and other Approved Securities. Office: No. 215 Sansome street, San Francisco. Oct. 14.

THE GERMAN SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

Deutsche Spar und Leihbank, No 526 California street, San Francisco. OFFICERS: President, L. GOTTIG. BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—Fred. Roeding, Chas. Kohler, Edw. Kruse, George H. Eggers, N. Van Bergen, H. L. Simon, Peter Spreckels, Ign. Steinhart. Secretary, GEO. LETTE; Attorney, JOHN R. JARBOE. May 18.

THE ANGLO-CALIFORNIAN BANK, LIMITED.

422 California St., San Francisco.

London Office, 3 Angel Court; New York Agents, J. W. Seligman & Co., 21 Broad street. Authorized Capital Stock, $6,000,000. Will receive Deposits, open Accounts, make Collections, buy and sell Exchange and Bullion, loan Money, and issue Letters of Credit available throughout the world.

FRED. F. LOW, IGN. STEINHART, Managers.
P. N. LILIENTHAL, Cashier. Sept. 13.

UNITED STATES AND FOREIGN PATENT OFFICES.

C. W. M. Smith, Counselor and Advocate in Patent Cases, 420 Montgomery street, San Francisco. Established 1862. Specialty: Patents, Trade-Marks, Patent-Law. Sept. 20.

R. H. LLOYD,

Attorney-at-Law, Room 13, Nevada Block.

"PLEASURE'S WAND."

"We Obey no Wand but Pleasure's."—Tom Moore.

California Theater.—Plays which are dramatizations of novels are always somewhat unsatisfactory vehicles of amusement. The elimination of minor characters and the condensation of incidents, rendered necessary by dramatic requirements, detract from the interest and intelligibility of the story. It is true, adaptations of this character are generally made from novels of wide publicity. Resting upon the presumption that the majority of theater-goers have read the book, the dramatist is satisfied to leave his work sketchy and unfinished. Man and Wife is a good example of this. To one who has never perused this excessively characteristic story of Wilkie Collins's, a clear idea of what it is all about is not attained through seeing the play. The characters of "Lady Lundy," "Arnold Brinkworth," and "Hester Dethridge" lose all distinctness and clearness, overshadowed as they are by those of "Ann Sylvester" and "Geoffrey Delamayn." The theory that underlies the action in the book is entirely lost in the play; there being no suggestion of it at all. The novel is a tirade against excessive physical development at colleges and other places of mental culture. It professes to prove that the muscles, while being nurtured to abnormal growth, will engulph all the vitality and energy of the body to the detriment of the mind. In short, that the mental development would be arrested, or even retrograde in proportion to the advance of the physical one, and that the result would be a being, magnificent in strength and physical beauty, but shallow and debased in mind—a man under whose breadth of chest and vigor of limb the niceties of intelligence, honor and principle would be smothered. As softening elements in this brutish creation of the author are introduced aristocratic birth and early education, which are indicated by outward forms and general surroundings. Brutes exist everywhere, but "Geoffrey Delamayn" is one who, but for the system above-mentioned, would have been a man of intelligence and honor. This is the mainspring of the novel, which, in the play, is entirely inoperative. Here the hero is simply a handsome boor, who happens to be a gentleman by birth. Frank Mayo plays this character admirably, barring that he fails completely to give it any national or local shading. As represented by him it is an American, not an Englishman. His lines are brimful of cheap Americanisms, that are evidently personal interpolations. These detract from the plausibility of the performance. Mr. Russell Bassett did extremely well in the eccentric character of "Bishop-riggs," his make-up being effective and his dialect true. This is a fact worthy of mention, for as a rule this actor is singularly unsatisfactory. Miss Rose Osborne gave a clever rendition of "Ann Sylvester." It is not an easy character to successfully represent, and it is to this artist's credit to be able to say that it was done full justice to. I look upon Miss Osborne as one of the most intelligent, conscientious actresses that has ever appeared on our boards. She is not a brilliant or strongly emotional one, but one who will always be satisfactory and pleasing. Miss Louise Beaudet is a most delightful ingenue. She has the freshness and vivacity of youth, coupled with wonderful experience and ability. It is a matter of surprise that she has not ere this obtained footing in some of the great Eastern theaters. She is a perfect juvenile actress. Her connection with the French stage has been of vast service to her. The teachings given her there, coupled with the traits of her origin, have endowed her with a wealth of facial play and gesture. There is, perhaps, a little too much of the latter in her action, but when she is more at home on the English stage this will be modified. The French language will permit of more extensive gesticulatory accompaniments than the English. If this little lady does not become an immense favorite, then is truly appreciation dead in this community. Besides Man and Wife, Mr. Mayo has appeared during the week in a Romance of a Poor Young Man and The Marble Heart. As "Manuel," in the former play, Mr. Mayo was in all respects eminently satisfactory. During the week, this actor has proven himself an artist of talent. He is quiet, natural and forcible. The evil results of one-part acting have never been more fully exemplified than in this connection. To most theater-goers, he is only known as "Davy Crockett" or "Badger;" and that he is an excellent general actor, full of reserved strength and emotional abilities, is a perfect revelation. The company, with one exception, have done remarkably well during the week. I refer to Miss Granville, who, as Madame Aubrey, in the Romance of a Poor Young Man, was so absurdly extravagant and exaggerated as to call for severe censure. It was a piece of acting so thoroughly bad that it came near spoiling the whole performance. It is in the province of the stage manager to regulate such flights of fancy. This evening, Mr. John Wilson, an old and useful member of this troupe, takes his annual benefit. On Monday, Judge Leman will make his final appearance on the stage.

Bush Street Theater.—Beauty and fun are still exercising their sway over us, and this place of amusement is nightly comfortably filled by amusement seekers. Robinson Crusoe is a capital burlesque, and as played by this troupe affords lots of laughter and jollity. An inevitable comparison with a former production results favorably to the present, but in certain points there is novelty and originality which serves as compensation. Miss Kate Everleigh is a pretty "Robinson Crusoe," and appears to great advantage in the picturesque dress of the character. She acts and sings neatly and pleasingly. Miss Carrie McHenry plays "Jesso," the Indian jester, with true burlesque style. This actress displays more originality than is usually found in such troupes, and therein lies the peculiar charm of her appearance. English burlesque actresses are generally all cast in the same mold, and there is an astonishing similarity in their manner and gesture. This little American girl has ideas of her own, and carries them out effectively. Of the men the most noticeable are Roland Reed, who makes a very amusing "Jim Cox," and Maflin, who is excessively funny as "Will Atkins." The Highland fling of the former, and the bass drum business of the latter, are the most ludicrous episodes of the burlesque. Graham is rather disappointing as "Friday." An exchange of roles between him and Reed would undoubtedly improve the performance. Miss Roseau introduces two musical selections. "Coming Thro' the Rye" is one, and the other, I believe, a bolero from Sicilian Vespers. The latter she sings fairly, the first execrably. For a singer to take liberties with such a well known song as the old Scotch ballad is bad enough, but the climax is capped when they are so wretchedly conceived and executed. This actress better repeat her selections of last week, which were at least acceptably sung. Piff Paff, a very amusing burlesque, will be produced on Monday, and there is more coming, for which let us rejoice.

Baldwin's Theater.—This week has seen the last of Forget Me Not. Miss Lewis, in her endeavors to improve and elaborate her "Stephanie," has gone too far, and her last few performances have been terribly overacted, destroying thereby its natural value and artistic finish. It was even so with her "Countess Zicka." The superiority of French dramatists over all others has never been more amply exemplified than by this play. Diplomacy is in all respects a perfect play, and as good a one could have been constructed with the material of Forget Me Not. The fact of a man of the world, compelled to stand helpless by and see the object of his pure and mature love crushed by the spectre of his youthful folly and gay early life, in the shape of an ambitious, designing, merciless woman, without the power to interfere and defeat her heartless schemes, constitutes a plot out of which a French writer, with his matchless ingenuity and wealth of detail, would have formed a wonderfully interesting play. On Wednesday evening, Miss Blanche Thorne took Miss Carey's part at short notice, owing to a sudden indisposition of the latter. It was a very creditable effort. On Monday, on the occasion of Mr. Morrison's benefit, Miss Virginia Thorne appeared as "Lazarillo" in Don Cæsar de Bazan, and played with praiseworthy merit. In the Thorne family, talent is very much diffused, and seems to be hereditary. Tomorrow evening, Courtship, H. J. Byron's latest success, will be produced for Harry Widmer's benefit. Miss Katy Mayhew will also appear in a farce. This young and talented musician has done a great deal towards the local development of orchestral music, and deserves strong public recognition. On Thursday evening, Lucrezia Borgia was produced, for the joint debut of Miss Rachel Lowenthal and Mrs. Anita de Fitsch Grant. Notice of this is reserved.

Standard Theater.—The Illusionists are appearing to full houses. Their entertainment is amusing and interesting. It is some time since necromancy has visited us, and, as Chevalier Thorn is an excellent professor of this art, public favor is naturally to be expected. The expose of mediumistic manifestations is exceedingly clever, though some of the best tricks are left unexplained. There are a lot of novelties announced by Messrs. Thorn and Darvin, so that attraction will continue to reign.

German Theater.—Notwithstanding the storm, a fair audience assembled for Mr. Kadelburg's benefit. Sodom and Gomorrha is a very amusing four-act farce, and was extremely well-acted. Miss Mundt-Muhlback made her reappearance, and was cordially received. For tomorrow evening, Town and Country.

Woodward's has endless attractions for to-day and to-morrow. The wonderful Millie Christine, two souls in one body, the unheard of, two-headed lady, the dwarfs, Baron Littlefinger and Count Rosebud, the Allen Sisters, the phonograph and zoographicon, and great Teutonic impersonator.

Marion Singer.—This little lady is at last securing the recognition her talents entitle her to, and, with the "Rice's Surprise Party," is everywhere highly praised. That this city should have been so indifferent toward her ability is not to its credit.

Chit-Chat.—Lotta's Southern trip far exceeds any previous record. It was simply immense. This little lady's equanimity is being sadly ruffled by numerous claimants to the position of husband.——The negotiations for the appearance of Marimon, Mapleson's prima donna, were all made from New Yorkby cable, and cost over $2,800.——John McCullough is the sole theatrical attraction (so called) at Washington at present.——Mary Anderson is playing to the biggest business ever known in the Northwest.——The get-up of Dr. Clyde at the Boston Museum is said to be perfect. This is due to the talent and ability of our dear friend, Willie Seymour. The Boston critics speak of him as the Napoleon of stage managers. Boston is appreciative! Home news from abroad!!——In refitting the Busb Street Theater Manager Locke has spent over $20,000 (fiddlesticks!) and the owner of the property a like amount (!) in rehuilding the front (!!), thus giving an entrance twenty feet wide and fifty feet in length (!!!)——Boston thinks late comers to places of amusement should be hissed. Perhaps if Boston sets the example other cities will follow.——Currie's trial in Texas has been postponed by reason of the absence of the witnesses for the State.——John Gilbert has fully recovered.——They accuse Rose Wood of having lost interest in her profession, and plays mechanically.——Bret Harte's writings are to appear first in the Paris Figaro, and Olive Logan is to turn his English into French.——Annie Pixley is to have a new play.——Mme. Ambre is to visit California.——The Italians revenge themselves on Saint-Saens by dubbing him Senza-Senso.——Patti and Nicolini sang in Traviata at Berlin on Nov. 1st. Wilhelm was present. The success was immense.——The new director of the Paris Grand Opera has revived the custom, abolished in 1870 by Halanzier, of having the ushers dressed in knee-breeches and silk stockings. How would Waller Wallace, Jack Martin, and the rest, look in this garb?——Hear the Parisian: "Certainly one of the most piquant, dark-eyed beauties now seen on the Boulevards is the dashing American prima donna, Clara Louise Kellogg. Her graceful figure—though, as Judic says of her own, un peu boulotte—shows to great advantage in a nobby ulster, the product of one of the English-Parisian tailors; and her favorite bonnet is adorned with an amazing ornithological specimen of the cockatoo order. Miss Kellogg is accompanied by her mother, as usual. They purpose taking apartments in Paris for two or three months, when Miss Kellogg will resume the charming musical 'at homes' which were so relished in London last Spring."——Adelina Patti is received in Paris merely as the artist who has one of the most wonderful voices of the age, and who has always been a favorite on the lyric stage. At the same time, the Marquis is warned that his interference will not be tolerated, and that, when Paris wants to hear Patti, he must place no obstacles in the way.——John McCollough: "As a star I was well satisfied with any success for a beginner. The critics seemed severe, and I thought them so; but upon looking back, and seeing how unsatisfactory the performances were, I begin to think the critics were right and I was wrong. They have treated me with more consideration lately, as you remark, and I suppose it is because I have tried to forget what I have seen in other actors, and am learning to draw my inspiration from the book of Nature. I don't care what a critic writes now; he must be a pretty bad one if I cannot learn something from him."

Krug Champagne.—Private Cuvee, in quarts and pints; Shield—Krug—in quarts and pints; Premiere Qualite, in quarts and pints. For sale by Hellman Bros. & Co., corner Front and Jackson streets.

People of no account never run in debt.

SPORTING ITEMS.

Coursing. There was a good attendance of visitors at the coursing meeting at Point of Timbers, last Sunday. The ground compares favorably with any in the State, being far superior to Livermore or Modesto. The only unpleasant feature in the day's sport was the conduct of White, the Judge, in giving so incorrect a decision in the first race between "Kitty Clover" and "Monarch," that he was driven off the ground by acclamation; Gallagher and Douglas judging the rest of the matches. "Kitty Clover" and "Monarch" were the first dogs put in the slips. A hare was soon started, which favored "Kitty Clover." Before the dogs had run thirty yards a fresh hare started up close to "Monarch," who left the course to pursue it. Both dogs killed. The race was decided by the judge in favor of "Kitty Clover;" it should have been given, a "No Course." The gentlemen running "Monarch" withdrew their dog from further competition, but Carroll, the owner of "Kitty Clover," refused to accept the stakes. This action showed plainly that the judge did not act unfairly at his request, or for his benefit, but erred either from personal motives or ignorance. Franklin's "Speculation" beat Tevi's "White Cloud;" the latter showed considerable speed at the start, but was not in proper condition for a long course. Lane's "Lady Gay" ran an undecided course with T. Tunstead's "California Boy." A match for a purse of $50 was then arranged between "Kitty Clover" and "Monarch." The dogs got a good slip. "Kitty Clover" made the first turn, "Monarch" took the second. The rest of the course was even till "Kitty Clover" killed. The race was in full sight of the spectators all through, and the decision in "Kitty Clover's" favor gave general satisfaction. Ryan's "Zerina" beat Douglas' "Colleen Bawn." Both dogs killed another hare before they were taken up. "Colleen Bawn" beat "White Cloud" in a long course, the hare getting away in some brush. Several dogs ware then loosed for a battle royal; the hare was killed by a Point of Timbers dog called "Coal Miner," who made the capture by some of the worst lurching we ever saw. This concluded the day's sport, the party leaving for town on the 2:17 train. The company spoke in high terms of H. Gallagher, proprietor of the Hot Spring and hotel at Point of Timbers, for his efforts to accommodate them and promote the sport. T. Tunstead, the slipper, as usual, gave perfect satisfaction.

Rowing. - Our Victoria, B. C., correspondent furnishes the following account of a race between W. Cotsford and Seeley: "A sculling race between Cotsford and Seeley took place over ths usual course (2¼ miles) for $100 a side. Cotsford giving his opponent oue minute start, Seeley went away at the word, pulling 42 strokes, and was fully 250 yards to the good before Cotsford was started. The latter went away at his usual pace, 31 and 32, gaiuing 14 seconds at the turn. He then let out, going 36, and rapidly closed the gap, but the law was too much for him, and Seeley crossed the score a winner hy four seconds. Cotsford's time was 19 min. 47 sec., the best on record over the course. When Cotsford's new shell arrives, he will he ready to make a match with Leahey, or any other man on the coast, for $1,000 a side."——Leahey and Hoyt are both in practice. The shell Henry Hoyt will race in, if it suits, is being built hy Twohig, who expects to complete it by the end of next week.——We hear of a single scull race between Mrs. W. Wallace, stroke of the ladies' crew of the California Theater Boat Club, and Grace Florence, who has a Boston reputation as an oarswoman.——At present there is no ground for the rumor of a match between Fenn and Sullivan.——The Eastern sporting papers are full of arguments as to whether Hanlan or Trickett is champion sculler of the world. As neither can claim the title without defending it against all comers, it is only fair to refuse to give it to either of them till they have rowed together.

Shooting.—Messrs. Ruth, Carver, Graham and Co. would feel bad if they had seen the marksmanship of one of our well kuown sportsmen last week. At 25 yards he put a hall through a small oak apple, held in the teeth of a friend. He then stuck a half-dollar half way in an apple and suspended it hy a string; at 25 yards he knocked out the half-dollar. A swinging string at 25 yards was cut up inch hy inch, till his accuracy got monotonous. He shot with an ordinary Ballard rifle.——Good duck-shooting can he had at Norfolk and along the line of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad.——Beware of Alameda Flats. Two hunters were nearly smothered in the mud there last week.

Pedestrianism.—The quarter-mile race between Hedley and McIntyre is advertised to come off at the Recreation Grounds to-morrow. There will he several other foot races during the day, the principal one heing a 100 yards race, for an advertised $100, for which Archie McComh, Davis and Pendergast are alleged to have entered.——Sacramento is threatened with a male and female six-day go-as-you-please, to help prepare the inhahitants for the legislative session.——The Call says: "Harry Maynard talks of getting up a ladies' walking match at Vallejo." Some time ago he talked about fighting Arthur Chambers.

Baseball.—The hasehall clubs in the northern part of the State are contemplating ths formation of a league. There can he no douht that the idea is a good one, as they have already enough good clubs to form a powerful league that will prove of great benefit.——The game for the benefit of James Hamilton, that was postponed last Sunday on account of the rain, will hs played to-morrow at the Union Grounds, weather permitting.——Several members of the Eastern clubs stated their intention to remain here till the milder weather of Spring makes walking across the Sierras practicahle.

Bicycling.—John Keen's plucky challenge to ride a hicycle a twenty mile race against any trotter in America, or a one mile race if he can select the course, has called forth a storm of indignation from all the Eastern papers, who are unanimous in saying he is either an idiot or the most conceited man living. John Keen may he a little conceited, as he has a right to he, hut the amount of free advertising his challenge brought shows he is no fool. It is possible that he can select a track on which he can heat any trotter in America—stone slahs, for instance.

Football.—The Wanderer's Club has divided into two parties, one keeping the name Wanderer, the other incorporating under the title of the Oakland Foothall Club. The former club is mostly comprised of members from the Olympian Club, the latter draws its strength from the St. George's Club. A match game of foothall hetween the Wanderers and Oaklands will he played at the Recreation Grounds to-day, commencing at 2 P.M., weather permitting.

For Gems and Diamonds go to Geo. C. Shreve & Co., 110 Montgomery street.

Yachting. The San Francisco Yacht Club held n meeting at the Palace Hotel last week, for the transaction of regular husiness. Arrangements are being made by the Club for a course of nautical lectures, by gentlemen well versed in yachting lore. We respectfully suggest the yachting editors of the Call and Argonaut as competent men (in their own estimation) for the position.

Archery.—N. E. White has been elected Captain of the Capital Bow Club of Sacramento, to fill the vacancy caused by A. W. Pearson's resignation.——There will he a grand archery meeting at Adams' Point on Christmas day, if the weather prove fine.——The San Jose Archery Club are going behind at a rate that insures them the first place in the hurying ground for California archery clubs.

ART JOTTINGS.

The local artists, or such of thsm as contribute to the auction shop, appear to he doing a lively business. To be sure, their trash brings hut low prices, but then it is low work—very low. This evening a sale will take plac at Oakland, hut of its character we ars not advised. Hsretofore, sales of pictures in Oakland have been of the most slovenly aud trumpery sort; in fact, much of the trash offered in this city comes from a picture factory in Oakland.

In this city the local artists contribuls of their work, hut over thsre they have a real cotton cloth, chromo-copying concern, and, of course, it turns out more pictures than can he sold there, so we ars regaled with the surplusage. We understand that great efforts will he made to render the forthcoming Artists' Ball a succes, hut we hear nothing of an exhihition. Are the objects for which the Art Association was started to he entirely ignored?

We observe, too, that tickets ars to he sold to others than members, but only through the committee. We suggest that each ticket sold to non-members shall he indorsed hy them, and that members' tickets he made non-transferahle. In this way only can the responsihility of having improper characters present be placed where it helongs. In the early days of the Society, at various of their entertainments, scenes were enacted at the refreshment tables disgraceful in their character and detrimental to the hest interests of ths Association. No date has yet heen fixed for the pupils' exhihition at the School of Design, hut as many of the pictures produced by the pupils are for sale, ths wisdom of holding it during holiday week will he apparent.

STANDARO THEATER.

M. A. Kennedy, Manager.--For a short season Only. This and Every Evening During the Week, and Grand Special Ladies' and Children's Matinees, Wednesday and Saturday, at 2 P.M. First Appearance in America of Thorn and Darvin,

the Original Royal Illusionists and Exposers of Spiritualism, from England's Homs of Mystery, Egyptian Hall, London. The World's Greatest Necromancers, who offer a challenge to Dr. Slade of $1,000: "We, without reservation, claim that Spiritualism is produced entirely by human agency. Notwithstanding that Spiritualists claim that we are Mediums, we will wager the above sum that we can fully, completely and satisfactorily perform or expose any manifestations of so-called spirit-power that we may be allowed to witness three times.—THORN and DARVIN, Exposers of Spiritualism." Reserved Seats can be secured six days in advance at the Box Office without extra charge. Dec. 13.

THE BALOWIN THEATER.

Thomas Maguire, Manager.---This (Saturday) Afternoon, December 13th, Positively Last Matinee of

Forget Me Not!

This (Saturday) Evening, Benefit of FIRST CALIFORNIA GUARD, Company A, Light Battery, and Positively Last Performance of FORGET ME NOT. To-morrow (Sunday) Evening, First Benefit in San Francisco of MR HENRY J. WIDMER. Henry J. Byron's New Comedy, COURTSHIP, and JENNY LIND, in which MISS KATE MAYHEW will appear for the first time in three years. Dec. 13.

BUSH-STREET THEATER.

Charles E. Locke, Proprietor and Manager.--Carnival of Fun hy the Famous COLVILLE OPERA BURLESQUE COMPANY, and only repreSeutations for the present of the spectacular and picturesque Burlesque, in two acts, of

Robinson Crusoe!

Acknowledged to be superior in every particular to any Burlesque yet offered. This Week Only, and Saturday Matinee. In readiness for production, another new burlesque, PIFF-PAFF; or, THE MAGIC GUN! And for the holidays, BLUEBEARD!

CALIFORNIA THEATER.

W. B. Barton, Manager; Barton Hill, Acting Manager. Last Night of MR. FRANK MAYO. Special Engagement of Miss Rose Osborne, Mr. George D. Chaplin, Miss Louise Beaudet, Miss Gertie Granville, Miss A. A. Adams, Mr. Russell Bassett. This (Saturday) Afternoon--THE MARBLE HEART. This (Saturday) Evening, Benefit of MR. JOHN WILSON—THE THREE GUARDSMEN and THE DEMON DRINK. Monday Evening, Dec. 15th, Testimonial to MR. WALTER LEMAN—LOVE'S SACRIFICE. Miss Annette Ince, Mrs. Judah, Mr. M. A. Kennedy. TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM. Dec. 13.

PAVILION, SACRAMENTO!

Inauguration Week.--Two Grand Pedestrian Tournaments! Six-Day Go-as-you-please! One Each for Ladies and Gentlemen. Ladies' Race commencing Monday, January 5th, 1880. Gentlemen's Race commencing Monday, January 19th, 1880. For particulars, address

Dec. 13. MARK THALL, 331 Kearny street, Room 9.

ROEOERER CHAMPAGNE.

Notice.--The Trade and the Public are informed that we receive the genuine LOUIS ROEDERER CARTE BLANCHE CHAMPAGNE, direct from Mr. Louis Roederer, Reims, over his signaturs and Consular Invoice. Each case is marked upon the side, "Macondray & Co., San Francisco," and each bottle bears the label, "Macondray & Co., Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast."

Oct. 11. MACONDRAY & CO., Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast.

BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OF CAL.

Attendance, daily, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., by the under- signed, to receive subscriptions and donations, and to furnish all information relating to the Society. J. P. McCURRIE, Secretary,

Oct. 23. 730 Montgomery street.

ROOFS

Of Tin or Asphaltum Repaired. Tin Roofs Painted. Send orders early to the OLD STAND, No. 819 Market street, opposite Stockton. Estimates furnished free of charge. [Dec. 6.] H. G. FISKE.

"The World," the Flesh, and the Devil.

[By a Truthful Penman.]

Martin Macomo, a gentleman of African extraction and of no address, but who was described as a lion-tamer, was charged before Mr. Flowers with stealing £20 from his master, in a cab. Mr. Partridge, of Shoreditch, stated that he kept an Aquarium, and that he had recently purchased some lions from Mr. Sanger, of Margate. "The purchase," Mr. Partridge added, "included the prisoner, who, with his father, had charge of the lions." Now, we have it on the authority of honest "Bottom," that there is no more "fearful wildfowl than your lion living," and that the bringing in of such a bird of prey among ladies would be attended—God shield us!—with disastrous consequences. But I was not aware that it was usual to keep lions in an Aquarium, nor did I know that the black men were a salable commodity in the United Kingdom. These, however, are considerations solely for the Aquarium-keeper, and it may well be that he has discovered some subtle and ingenious method of reconciling black men to servitude, and acclimatizing lions to an aquatic life. What interests the public is the fact that, while this investigation was going on, the lions were left to their own devices, and were, it appears, apt to be irregular in their ways when released from the supervision of the African to whom they were accustomed. On these grounds, Mr. Partridge declined to press the charge against the prisoner, and even declared that, unless he was set at liberty, he would not be answerable for what might happen; while the prisoner, being asked by the magistrate to explain his conduct, declared that he relieved his master of his money in order to take care of it. On being interrogated further, he reluctantly admitted that his master was drunk in the cab, a piece of evidence which the cabman was luckily able to confirm. The character of both parties being thus happily vindicated, the prisoner was allowed to return to the lions who were anxiously awaiting him, and Mr. Flowers may be congratulated on having conducted an intricate and delicate case to a satisfactory conclusion. When a servant appropriates his master's money, in order to "take care of it," it is clear that, however he may have erred in practice, he has been actuated by a blameless motive; and it is impossible to help admiring the disinterested spirit of the drunken proprietor of the Aquarium, who thought the public safety of more importance than the satisfaction of his private grievance.—The Chiel in Vanity Fair.——Rubinstein is a few days under fifty years old, being born November 30, 1829. He led his opera bimself, and was recalled no less than fourteen times. The style of the opera is before all dramatic, melodic, rythmic. Full of masterly conceived and worked-out ideas, it is long-winded and will have to undergo the beneficial censor's cut. The most surprising feature of the work is that it is so young, so rich, so warm. It is a living protest against Wagner's "new art" in Bayreutb. Rubinstein imitates nobody; he is himself—the greatest praise of an artist. And what have those who tried to imitate Wagner really done?

"Wie er rauspert wie er spuckt
Das haht Ihr ibm glucklich abgeguckt."

His idiosyncrasies, pardonable to his genius, have no locum standi without that genius.——A friend of mine has received a letter from an officer who has been spending the Summer at Mount Troodos, the new bill-station in Cyprus It is full of praise of the climate, which he describes as glorious from May until the beginning of October. The spurs of the hills, covered with luxuriant arbutus, ilex, cypress and pines, offer tempting sites for the villas of the future; and in Spring the hill-sides form a glowing carpet of flowers, among which the cistus is the most beautiful. Early in October the weather became wet and stormy, and every one was glad to get back again to the plains. The health of the troops during the Summer, my informant tells me, was excellent.—Atlas, in the World.—— Mr. Sala will not stand for Brighton, or ask the favors of any constituency. He sails for New York in the Scythia, and intends wintering in the Southern States. This is what he says in the preface to the forthcoming second edition of "Paris Herself Again:" "By the time that these sheets issue from the press, I shall he on the sea, on my way to a far-distant country which I have not gazed upon for sixteen years—to the Great Republic, which I first visited when she was in the midst of war, and which I hope to find in the full enjoyment of peace and returning prosperity. Ere I depart I should like to shake hands with everybody. I think that, for myself, I can say that there is not one human creature living for whom I nourish one spark of unfriendly feeling; and it is a matter of great joy to me to find from the welcome this book has received, not only from the public, but from the reviewers, that at least I have not been making enemies since my last work was published." A party of private friends will entertain Mr. Sala at dinner before his departure.—— I have always been under the impression that the modern burglar was a timid, refined, and somewhat effeminate recluse, of a nervous temperament and sedentary pursuits. Several incidents, however, which have recently occurred in housebreaking show me that I was mistaken, and that these gentlemen are powerful and vigorous, and adepts in the use of lethal weapons. On Monday morning a burglar near Lewisham, having been interrupted in his operations by the thoughtlessness of a policeman, he struck his assailant on the head with a jemuy, fired three shots at him with his revolver, and escaped. This is as it should be, though possibly professional prejudice may lead the policeman to think otherwise. It is of the last importance that our criminal classes, to which the Army is largely indebted for its recruits, should be active, muscular and energetic, and, above all, deeply imbued with that indomitable love of liberty which is the proud inheritance of every Englishman.—Vanity Fair.——The World says: "All Englishmen who have been properly introduced in New York will be glad to hear that Mr. S. Ward, 'Uncle Sam,' has arrived in London, with the intention of passing some months among us. Mr. Sam Ward is the best Amphitryon in the United States—which is large praise—the most delightful companion that man can wish for. He is in excellent health and spirits, and apparently not an hour older than when he bade me farewell on board the Calabria, nearly six years ago. ——The County Court jurisdiction in Ireland is gradually unvailing the secret of Irish poverty. Fancy one Judge having 1,900 processes for debt to dispose of! Many of these were contracted by "the ladies" of the farmers' families for apparel wholly unsuited to their station in life. One hill that I heard of was cut down by the legal functionary from £75 to £5, which he considered sufficient for a farmer's daughter to spend on clothes annually. One item was a sealskin jacket, 15 gs.! These ladies had evidently considered the lilies, and considered them ill-arrayed.—— In the town of Limerick, through which, according to the Hibernian ditty, the River Shannon has the misfortune to flow, they have discovered a thoroughly original and practical application of an apostolic admonition. Men who happen to ambition membership of the Bakers' Trade Guild are literally compelled to be "baptized of the spirit;" they are bathed in whisky, as a ceremony of initiation.——Mr. Tod Heatley made a magnificent present to Mr. Algernon Bastard, on his marriage, the other day—100 dozen of his best wine. This is a wedding gift which would last a man's life, and he well appreciated by his friends as well as himself.

A young gentleman and his blushing bride, who were recently married in 'Frisco, called the next week at an apartment-house and were shown the flat that was to be let by the loquacious person who officiated as janitor. This estimable woman, who would appear to be a good, motherly soul, went on to illustrate how very healthy the house happened to be. "There was Mrs. ——, on the first floor; she came here a bride and went away with three children, as pretty little things as ever I saw, mem. And there was Mrs. ——, the second, who had a little son born to her here, mem, and fourteen months after a little daughter. And, mem, Mrs. ——, the third floor, she was a bride, too, mem, and it was twins, mem, within a year. If you please, mem, I am the mother of four of the darlingest "——"Thanks," said the bridegroom, from whom we gleaned this interesting anecdote; "after all, I think it would be better to go a little further up town." And he led the bride—"blushing again"—into the open air and out of the healthy neighborhood.

When a certain lady refused, soon after her husband's death, to let the hounds go out, a learned sergeant-at-law asked Chief Justice X. whether there would be any harm if they were allowed to do so with a piece of crape round their necks. "I can hardly think," said the Chief Justice, "that a piece of crape is necessary. It will surely suffice if they are in full cry."

New Styles of Watch-Cases at Geo. C. Shreve & Co.'s, 110 Montgomery street.

GEO. STREET, Agent News Letter, 30 Cornhill, E. C., London.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF SPURIOUS IMITATIONS OF LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE, which are calculated to deceive the public, Lea and Perrins have adopted A NEW LABEL, bearing their signature, "LEA & PERRINS," which is placed on every bottle of WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE, and without which none is genuine.

Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see name on wrapper, label, bottle and stopper. Wholesale and for export by the proprietors, Worcester; Crosse & Blackwell, London, etc., etc., and by grocers and oilmen throughout the world. To be obtained of Nov. 16. MESSRS. CROSS & CO., San Francisco.

ROWLAND'S

MACASSAR OIL strengthens the Hair and prevents it falling off. The bottles have a glass stopper, and not a cork.

KALYDOR beautifies the Complexion and eradicates Freckles, Tan, Prickly Heat, Eruptions, etc.

ODONTO whitens the Teeth, prevents and arrests decay, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath.

EUKONIA is a new and delicate toilet powder.

Ask for ROWLAND'S articles, of 20, Hatton Garden, London, and avoid cheap imitations. Sold by Druggists, Bazaars, etc., all over the world. May 3.

JOYCE'S SPORTING AMMUNITION.

[ESTABLISHED 1820.]

The attention of Sportsmen is invited to the following Ammunition, of the best quality, now in general use throughout England, India and the Colonies: Joyce's Treble Waterproof and F 3 Quality Percussion Caps; Chemically-prepared Cloth and Felt Gun Wadding; Joyce's Cas-Tight Cartridges, for Pin-fire and Central-fire Breech-loading Guns; Wire Cartridges, for killing game at long distances, and every description of Sporting Ammunition. Sold by all gun-makers and dealers in gunpowder.

FREDERICK JOYCE & CO., Patentees and Manufacturers,
Sept. 20. 57 Upper Thames street, London.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Finest and Cheapest Meat-flavoring Stock for Soups, Made Dishes and Sauces. March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT

Is a success and boon for which Nations should feel grateful. See "Medical Press," "Lancet," "British Medical Journal," etc.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

Caution--Genuine only with fac-simile of Baron Liebig's Signature, in blue ink, across Label. "Consumption in England increased tenfold in ten years." March 2.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

To be had of all Store-keepers, Grocers and Chemists. Sole Agents for the United States (wholesale only), C. David & Co., 43, Mark Lane, London, England. March 2.

CHARLES LANGLEY & CO.,

Wholesale Druggists,

Importers of Pure English, French and German Drugs,

PATENT MEDICINES, Etc.,

100 and 102 FRONT STREET,

San Francisco. [Sept 6.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

Is Life Worth Living? By W. H. Mallock. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons; San Francisco: Billings, Harbourne & Co.

The above is the title of a book by Mr. W. H. Mallock, who has brought himself into notice in England by his "New Paul and Virginia," his "New Republic," and by essays in the monthly reviews. He belongs to the drawing-room school of philosophers, and yet, with all his weaknesses, he is tolerably well versed in all the latest and most advanced views of the greatest minds of this century. He has command of a showy, epigrammatic style, frequently ornate and at times inexact, if not unmeaning; and he has an air of pretentiousness and dogmatism that no doubt imposes on many of his readers. The subject of the worth of life, its conditions, aims and prospects, has in all ages occupied the most thoughtful men, and has had a strong fascination for all classes. This it is that has given to religions and their ministrants their influence and power in all countries, the mysteriousness as to whence we come, what we are here for, and whither are we going. Mr. Mallock takes issue with the leading scientific and philosophical writers of our time as to the basis of morality, and tries to show that amongst these writers morality is a mere sentiment, or an emotion without any basis that will bear investigation, and at that any moment this sentiment may be blown to the winds by changes of opinion or fluctuations in feeling. His main contention is that there can be no sound morality unless it derives its sanction from two articles of belief, namely, the belief in a future life and the belief in a personal God. All the hope, joy and consolation that scientific minds pretend to derive from the pursuit of truth and the exercise of humanity and benevolence, he regards as imaginary, and in no way rooted in the conditions of the life or thought of scientific men. Apart from the belief in God and immortality, he asserts there can be no genuine progress, and in the triumph of science and positivism, he discerns the almost certainty of a return to the "lusts of paganism." Having proclaimed this doctrine with sufficient iteration to satisfy himself, although, after all, it never amounts to more than mere grandiloquent assertion, he then, in rather soft, stealthy accents, dallies with the merits of Natural Theism as a basis of morality, but as this is a mere interlude to draw off the attention of the reader from the climax to which he is almost surreptitiously hastening, we shall only say that in Protestantism of many colors he does not find any resting-place. At length, however, the secret is unveiled, the Sphinx reveals itself, and the supreme sanction of morality is found to be belief in God and immortality, and complete submission to the Roman Catholic Church. Rarely have we seen such a halting and impoteut conclusion following on such a pretentious analysis, and to an intelligent reader such a solution will bring a feeling of surprise if not of bewilderment. On many questions presented by modern life, Mr. Mallock's criticism is of the utmost interest, but the final fall into the capacious arms of Roman Catholicism, and his abdication of all independent judgment, are rather chilling to the warm feelings and ardent hopes which an active-minded and intellectual generation have drawn from an era of unparalleled progress and intelligence, and from an age in which the pursuit of truth has been a conspicuous characteristic. Mr. Mallock has only shown more clearly by his failure to arrive at any acceptable conclusion the difficulties that surround the subject, and we do not think that many persons will be led away from the clear views and the abundant facts with which modern science has furnished us, even if it cannot demonstrate the unprovable assertions of the existence of a personal God and a future life, in order to submit themselves to the pretended infallibility of the Romish Church. Scientific minds do not deny God and immortality; but in the language of Hubert Spencer, they say these ideas belong to the domain of the "unknowable," they are incapable of absolute proof, though most of such minds infer from the phenomena of the world that they are true, and they draw from these much of the consolation of their present lives. Scientific men, however, insist that morality arises out of social life, and progresses as social life rises to higher forms and to a higher organization; and the purer morality becomes, the more highly are developed the instincts or the capacities that lead us to feel more and more strongly the elements in the world that awaken in us feelings of the divine and of the existence of God and of a future state. Science leads to morality and the highest forms of religion through the progress of the human mind and higher social organization; it gives us, therefore, a genuine basis, of which we can all judge, and which we can all understand. Roman Catholicism imposes its dogmas by its own not-to-be-questioned authority, and leads us into outer darkness. The modern mind has an enthusiastic desire for light.

Ziozag Journeys in Europe. Vacation Rambles in Historic Lands. By Hezekiah Butterworth. Boston: Estes & Lauriat. San Francisco: Billings, Harbourne & Co.

This is a pretty book, and a good one, less scrappy than the title seems to promise. The places visited and briefly described are for the most part in England and France, and some historical incident connected with the place is told in a few words, and illustrated by an engraving of a famous character, or an old church or a scene renowned in story. The idea is confessedly taken from Topffer's "Voyages En Zigzag," but the treatment, of course, in no wise resembles his. If books are to be compiled from the labors of others, this is one of the least book-making ways in which the thing can be done; and the real information pleasantly communicated to young people excuses the want of real thinking on the author's part. It ought to be mentioned that the cover of the volume is a work of art in itself.

Appleton's Journal, for Decemher, gives us the continuation of Mme. de Rémusat's Memoirs from the Revue des Deux Mondes, with judicious omissions from time to time, when the subject becomes too much like one of M. Zola's novels or Mr. Swinhurne's Ballads. The paper on "Some Aspects of Robert Burns," is one of the best on the career of the poet that we have seen, and that on Charles James Mathews is full of entertainment. These, with the two continued novels, make up the lighter and, at the same time, the better part of the number. Mr. Horace White's "Parliamentary Government in America," is heavy, and is written too evidently to please a party. Some sound ideas on "Domestic Art" are expressed by Eustace Balfour, and an article entitled "Fragments" is made up of Karl Hillebrand's brilliant sketches of England and a passage from the Edinburgh on "George Eliot as a Godless Writer."

The Book Reviews notice Arnold's "Light of Asia," "Blanid," "Bayard Taylor's German Literature," "Hector Berlioz," "Darwin's Voyage in the Beagle," abridged, "Harper's Latin Dictionary," and the "Early Christiau Priuers."

The Editor's Table, in some remarks on the Obelisk, manages, with singular dexterity, to avoid facing and answering the objection to the destruction of monuments by establishing a parallel between the Venus of Milo and an obelisk, like the one now in process of removal. No such parallel can be allowed. A Greek statue is a work of art complete in itself, not monumental, not significant by position. An obelisk is part of a great work, which is mutilated by its removal; and this consideration must outweigh with every reasonable person all the commonplaces about beautifying a great city, and instructing the popular mind by bringing ancient Egypt into the life of London or New York. It is no answer to this to say that Cleopatra's Needle had no particular significance where it stood, but had been removed from its original site. The violation of a sound principle is equally reprehensible, whether committed by Egyptians, or Romans, or Frenchmen, or Englishmen, or Americans; and any man can see this obelisk-mania in its true light who will suppose the monuments of his own country and national life subjected to treatment like that which the Temples of Egypt and Greece have suffered.

The North American Review, for December, is a number of not more than average interest. Mr. J. A. Froude, the historian, contributes Part I. of what, apparently, is intended to be a series of papers on "Romanism and the Irish Race in the United States," showing the political dangers of the solid Irish-Catholic party in this country. The dangers are undoubtedly real, but how, in a free country, to meet the unity of a large population of religious bigots is a problem which there are no present means of solving. Circumstances will, doubtless, evolve a policy when the danger becomes more aggravated. Senator Boutwell writes, giving sound advice to young men as to the qualifications and conditions of political life. Professor Bonamy Price discourses, with tiresome and vague prolixity, on the subject, "Is Political Economy a Science?" On "English and American Physique" Dr. George M. Beard gives some very interesting views, which will commend themselves to those who wish to be informed as to the difference in type developed, in America, out of the European races, more particularly as shown in the higher nervous sensibility of Americans, both men and women. The other articles are on "The Religion of To-day," and on "The Permanence of Political Forces," by Mr. Cuthbert Mills.

The November "Portfolio" gives a notice of Adolph Schreyer, the great horse-painter, of whom it is said that his "pictures extend our knowledge of geography." His subjects are generally chosen in Turkey, Hungary, Bosnia, and the picturesque lands on the east and south of the Mediterranean. Capt. Lucas's "Art Life in Belgium" gives the palm of colors to the painters of that country. The account of M. Febu, the armless painter of Antwerp, is very interesting, and the manipulation (?) of his pictures is declared to be excellent. Mr. Hamerton's fifth paper on Aesthetics is devoted to Idiosyncrasy, and is filled with good thinking. He gives us, also, some good remarks on Albert Durer's "Prodigal Son." The illustrations are: "Wallachian Posting," by Schreyer, Albert Durer's "Prodigal Son," and "In Westminster Abbey," by J. W. Inchbold.

The California Horticulturist, for November, has a very full table of contents and a gathering of interesting facts in its line. The Notes speak of an insect found an the Florida orauge trees, which is thought to live on the scale bug; and the editor suggests that it he imported, which seems at least a little rash, till more is known. The Cuzco corn, at the State University, is described as wonderfully large and vigorous. Its way of anchoring itself by means of side roots is described as peculiar; but do not all canes and other tall, slender plants throw out these supports?

The Art Chronicle is taken up principally with three late publications on Turner's Liber Studiorum, and the exhibition of Méryon's Etchings, a collection of remarkable works. One of the examples specially named is: "San Francisco, executed in 1855 for a firm of bankers.

An elegant assortment of Gold Watches and Chains at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

City and County of San Francisco, September 9, 1879.

Redemption of San Francisco Bonds,

ISSUE OF 1858.

Holders of Bonds of the City and County of San Francisco, issued under "An Act to provide for the Funding and Payment of the outstanding Unfunded Claims against the City of San Francisco, and against the County of San Francisco, as they existed prior to the first day of July, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six," approved April 20, 1858, are hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the above named Bonds will receive sealed proposals for the surrender of any portion thereof, at the City and County Treasurer's office, New City Hall, San Francisco, until 12 o'clock noon,

Wednesday, December 31st, 1879.

The amount to be applied to the Redemption of these Bonds is more or less, One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Dollars ($180,000).

Bidders will state at what rate they will surreuder their Bonds, for payment in United States gold coin.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent. of the Bonds offered, or their equivalent in coin, or certified checks, and should the Bonds tendered not be presented within ten days after the award, the next lowest bid will be accepted.

No proposal above par will be entertained.

Proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for surrender of Bonds, issue of 1858."

A. J. BRYANT, Mayor,
COLIN M. BOYD, Auditor,
CHAS. HUBERT, Treasurer,
Commissioners of the Funded Debt.

Sept. 13.

AVERILL MIXED PAINT,

The Best, Most Durable and Beautiful of All Paints.

PREPARED READY FOR USE,

AND OF ANY SHADE OR COLOR DESIRED.

O. S. ORRICK, General Agent,

Sept. 27. 339 Market st., Opposite Front.

QUICKSILVER.

For sale---In lots to suit, by Thomas Bell & Co., No. 305 Sansome street, over Bank of California. Nov. 16.

MRS. SMALLMAN'S SCRIBE AGAIN.

As we recently pointed out, Amelia of the cunning eye, needed a scribe, and she found one in Bassett, of the obscure Era. The woman who, despite many tears, was convicted by twelve men good and true of felony, and sentenced by one of the most righteous of Judges to several years of correctional treatment, finds fools even in jail. We presume she found Bassett there, for, as that has been her only lawful residence for some time past, it seems impossible to tell where else be met her. But she has got even the jail fixed all right. She commands where she might fairly be expected to be subserviant. Separated from Henry Maginnis, she has comfortable quarters, receives visitors, and is, douhtless, as kindly disposed as she ever was. Bassett is again a caller. Some months ago he fell under the spell of that wondrous eye of hers, and started out in search of adventure. He deemed himself a knight errant, whose special mission in life it was to avenge her prison loneliness; and, by the hy, if it were not that that self-same tribulation had overtaken her, Bassett, with a mug worthy of a nigger, and eyes that would do no discredit to a sheep, would never have been permitted to come within touching distance of Amelia, the heroine of so many conquests, and the owner of that irresistible eye. But she was caught at one, out of many, of her tricks, and the law cast her into prison. Her charms were not made to be wasted upon the desert air, nor in tbe common cells of a jail either. Whilst there she needs to stoop to conquer. In the twinkling of an eye she thought she had caught Bassett. Ere long she discovered, as she had often done before, that there are fish easy to catch, but are worthless when they are caught. Bassett was one of this sort. He took the bait at a gulp and was landed without a tussle. To drop the metaphor, he turned out a money-seeking deceiver. His knight errantry consisted in running a tilt at a millionaire's coin. He preceded his efforts in that direction by drawing from his fertile imagination stories about the "wrongs" of tbe "injured woman," that were laughable to those who knew Amelia, and disgusting to those who understood Bassett. With a conscience that appears to have no sensibilities, and with a face that exhibits no signs of shame, he openly avows over his own signature that his attempts brought him five hundred shekels. He had no more to say on behalf of the "injured woman." Her alleged wrongs had all at once disappeared, and Amelia was ahandoned for coin. That is the unconscionable fellow's own story, and a cold-blooded one it is, taken from his own standpoint. He stands proven to be a fellow who believed it his duty to right the "wrongs" of an injured woman, and who, notwithstanding, abandoned her, in her hour of sorest need, to other and greater wrongs, and he did all this for the paltry sum of $500, and, worse than all, tells the story of his own disgrace, as if he were entirely unconscious of the depth of depravity to which he had descended. But this is not all. The time came when the five hundred were all expended, and the cry of creditors was loud. In short, his great need was, like that of most of us, he wanted more money. He resolved that the price of his "silence in the Smallman case" should be raised; he had sold himself too cheap; he would have two hundred dollars more, that he would! He made his demand, unfortunately for him, in writing. That fatal mistake drew his fangs, and rendered him innocuous. Henceforth it mattered little whether he assumed a virtnous indignation, which, it could be shown, he did not feel, or whether he reopened his batteries of abuse, when the evil motive of the abuse could be so readily exhibited. It was seen at a glance that "he had given himself away," but it could hardly have been imagined that, whilst acting as an arrant knave, he would confess his knavery, and thereby prove himself also a fool. But that is precisely what he did do. He again took up the role of the defender of the "innocent woman." He knew he would he met with that ugly letter, demanding more hush money, hence he felt it necessary to antioipate the charge by confessing its truthfulness. He said it was given to him to "maintain silence about the Smallman case." If that he true, then he took money and failed to give the consideration which he agreed to give, and for which he has been handsomely paid. Because he couldn't draw more blood money, he resumes the advocacy of the so-called "wrongs" of an "injured woman," which he confesses he had sold to be slaughtered as are sheep in Smithfield. He stands forth convicted of rascality by his own confession.

WHAT BECOMES OF SPECIAL COMMISSIONS?

A number of special Acts of the Legislature have given us a host of special Commissions. In fact, quite a large share of the government of the city is put upon Boards, or Commissions, not elected by the people. This is no doubt good in the eyes of the many thinking men, who are not enamored with all that elective bodies do. But it is a violation of the principle of government by the people, nevertheless. If we say that elected Supervisors cannot be trusted to perform the most important duties of the City Government, then it follows that representative government is a failure, and, if it is in city affairs, it can hardly be denied to be so in regard to national ones. While it is held that a resort to public opinion is the highest and best known form of governing, it is inconsistent, at least, to elect men to do the work, and then to distrust them so greatly as to take away their principal functions, and then place their duties in the hands of a non-elective Board or Commissioners. For ourselves, we prefer the experts chosen by competent authority, and do not care to carry the elective principle too far. But that was evidently not the opinion of the framers of the new Constitution. They have declared that the Legislature shall not authorize special Commissions to "perform any municipal functions whatever." That is clear and unmistakable language. The only difficulty is as to the status in which it leaves the present Commissions. The Constitution, when new legislation is required to enforce it, preserves the existing order of things until July next. But it appears to us that no new legislation is requisite to provide for successors to the present Commissions. The Constitution itself provides that "any city, town or township may make and enforce, within its limits, all such local police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws." That would seem to render further legislation unnecessary, and that at this moment it is within the power of the Supervisors to sweep away all Boards and special Commissions. We hope we are wrong, but fear we are right.

The "Alta" asks the world in general what "those grand Spanish gentlemen officers" resigned their commissions for, and what it signifies, and who can tell us. We can. They knew the Alta would immortalize them, and they struck for glory.

FRISCO'S NEW REGIME.

Like the echoes we hear
In some beautiful dream,
Are the vows from the lips
Of the latest régime—

The régime just elected
From shovel and hod
By the voice of the people.
And, ergo, of God.

From the Mayor to the Poundman
They promise so well,
That they really might furnish
New pavement for Hell,

If it's true (as they say),
In that tropic retreat,
Good intentions form sidewalks
'Neath bad people's feet.

But, ah! we have bad
All this taffy before,
And we would not believe
Truth itself any more.

Why, the foot that is cloven
Already peeps out,
And that fraud is approaching
No wise man can doubt.

The star-chamber system
Already 's begun,
And they show that their deeds fear
The light of the sun.

And (we hope we're mistaken)
There's reason to dread
That the live city magnates
Are worse than the dead.

SENATOR JONES ON THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The telegraph announces Senator Jones' intention to deliver a philippic against the National Banks, when Congress reassembles, after the holidays. No abler man could be selected for this great duty. It is well known that the Nevada Senator never speaks until he has thoroughly comprehended the question to be spoken upon. Hence the country has come to consider that anything emanating from Senator Jones will be replete with information, sound in facts, argument and conclusion; and the country is never disappointed. His celebrated speech upon the silver bill is a model in its way, which, for breadth of information and logical reasoning, has never been equaled in any forensic discussion in the United States or Europe. The Senator ransacked the financial archives of Europe, Asia and America to obtain the materials of that speech, and be has left an enduring monument of his persouality in the Senate.

In the matter of the National Banks, we can imagine no one better prepared to deal with their illogical foundation, their gradual increase of power, and the overshadowing pretensions put forward by tbeir satellites in Congress. We expect that what General Jackson did for the United States Banks during his administration, Senator Jones will do for its successors, the National Banks of to-day. These greedy corporations, not content with receiving a bonus of from 4½ to 6 per cent. per annum from Government upon their circulating notes, aim to destroy the greenback currency, and thereafter to lock up the gold and silver of the country, so that their notes may be substituted to an indefinite amount. The national debt amounts to over $2,200,000,000, which the Banks propose funding at 4 per cent. Then, according to their prearranged programme, these same banks having, by means of syndicates, consolidated say three-fourths of these bonds, they will deposit the same in the Treasury and demand notes to the amount of $1,500,000,000. Upon these notes they will receive 4 per cent. interest from Government, and loan them to the people at from 6 to 15 per cent. per annum. This is their benevolent scheme in a nutshell. It smacks somewhat of inflation, but the only inflation which the National Banks object to is that which they do not control themselves. This is the scheme which Senator Jones proposes to attack and lay bare. We may rely upon it that he will do so in a manner that will disclose to the country the full purpose of this financial conspiracy. The National Banks are a part of the protective system inaugurated some years ago, which, while benefitting sections and individuals, has impoverished the nation at large. As our section receives no benefit, we are free to oppose it to the end, and shall watch Senator Jones's course with eager expectancy and confidence in his ability.

THE BURLINGAME TREATY.

In the frequent discussions of the subject of the importation of Chinese coolies, much prominence has been given to the Burlingame Treaty, yet the general character and origin of this instrument have received very little attention. The treaty shows, on its face, that it was framed entirely in the interest of the Chinese; and unless the prohibition of American coolieism in China! or the provision that Americans shall be entitled to avail themselves of the benefits of Chinese educational institutions!! is considered an exception, not a single privilege is secured to Americans, to which they were not entitled under pre-existing treaties—in fact, the United States were not represented in the matter. Mr. Burlingame had been for many years active in politics, and, upon the triumph of the Republicans, it was felt that he, as an old worker in the party, was entitled to his reward; but it seems to have been considered desirable to send him out of the country, and he was first sent to Austria. Upon Austria's declining to receive him, he was appointed Minister to China, and was considered disposed of, so far as his party was concerned. That such an old party manager as Burlingame was blind to the fact that he had little more to hope from his "party," no one will suppose. On the contrary, he comprehended the situation, and at once set himself to work to try to get some good thing out of China. In this laudable enterprise he was assisted by Robert Hart, a very clever Irishman, who, as Superintendent of Foreign Customs, has acquired great influence and much money in the Empire; and there can be no doubt that the treaty and the appointment of Burlingame, as Chinese Minister, to take it home for ratification, were planned by these two gentlemen. That the whole matter was arranged before Burlingame tendered his resignation is evident from the fact that be was appointed Chinese Minister while he was still, in strictness, United States Minister, the acceptance of his resignation not having reached him. Under all the circumstances, it can scarcely be deemed unfair to assume that Mr. Burlingame's main object was to please the Chinese, and, as a consequence, secure a place said to have been worth more than $50,000 per annum. Of course, the treaty, having been ratified, is part of the supreme law of the land; but if our views of its origin are correct, it is not entitled to any special credence. Moreover, it is far from certain that the Chinese Government particularly desired the treaty. The Chinese who return from this country carry with them certain ideas of individnal rights, which are a source of some trouble to the governing class, and are likely to cause more inconvenience as time goes on. Whether Chinese immigration is desirable or not, it can scarcely be necessary to resort to violent measures to stop or regulate it, since there can be little doubt that the desired end can be attained by negotiation.

THE TOWN CRIER.

"Hear the Crier"! "What the devil art thou?
"One that will play the devil, sir, with you."

"He'd a sting in his tail as long as a flail,
Which made him grow bolder and bolder."

Never read the "Western Encyclopedia," devoted to Sport, Literature and Art? Is it possible! And never met Flurry, editor, journalist and dignitist of the Western, et cetera? I am astonished! You're behind the age, my boy. Get an introduction; don't fail. Cultivate Flurry. Get him to read you the last gem in the Western, et cetera, et cetera —"Use of the Human Hand"— form evidently pied, as the article seems to relate to horse's hoofs and mud pies. But Flurry don't mind it. Flurry is a genius—in his mind; and, in his way of doing business, has a most unique method. Walking matches coming again into prominence. Flurry is on the qui vive to interview pedestrians; and a man with square-toed shoes, heavy ulster and a short cane is sure to be interviewed by Flurry as to his chances, etc.; and as the sub-editor always has a copy of the W. E. et cetera in his pocket, the ped. is presented with a copy, and then entered on the books as a subscriber. Tuesday morning we encountered Flurry on Kearny street; rain pouring down—no umbrella—and his ulster unfortunately "at the room." "Good morning, Flurry. What's new in literature and art that causes you, in this tempestuous weather, to leave the comforts of your sumptuous apartments so early in the morning? Business? Well, I'm delighted to hear that prospects are brightening. Canvassing for subscribers?" "No, sir! We do not canvass for subscribers. We canvass for back pay. Journal devoted to sport, sir! And the sub-editor is in training. I'll give you the straight tip. It's business. You see, sir, I keep the old maxim of the early bird ever before me. The sub-editor breakfasts with me usually, and so I just take him out with me mornings in the slips, as it were, and when I see a subscriber I let go slips, and the sub-editor has him in a turn. Collects anything he has, from a bit up to two dollars. Combines business with sport; object of the Western, etc. See? The sport is fine; so fine, indeed, that sometimes we don't breakfast till late in the afternoon. You see, we have to run off so many byes—good-byes. Lately, our seven subscribers are giving the sub-editor a good deal of trouble. They try to turn, but he has doubled (charges) on them so many times that the sport is about all we get nowadays. They run to earth in the Vienna Bakery, or some other place where the sub-editor is known to the waiters, and don't care to go in after them. The sub-editor has, of course, the hunting department of the Western Encyclopedia, devoted to Sport, Literature and Art. My department? Oh, I attend to the litter-y column, in fact, to the coursing and hounding. Another good racket, my boy, is to make the sub-editor do his work on an empty stomach. I find he collects more before breakfast—seems to be better able to harrass a man then. Ah! here he comes. What! missed again? Heavens! do we not eat? Flaming atrocity, sir, that Literature, Art and Sport languish in this manner. Morning, sir." And Flurry and the sub-editor start off to overtake a man in the distance with a heavy pair of shoes on.

How Merrily We Live.—The Czar of Russia leads an uneasy life, as the following excerpt from his diary given to the Golos, and translated by a reporter of this paper, will show: "Nov. 6, 1879.—Got up at 7 A. M., and ordered my bath. Found there were four gallons of vitriol in it, and did not take it. Being unable to wash, went to breakfast somewhat grimy. The Nihilists had placed two torpedoes on the stairs, but I did not step on them. The coffee smelt so strongly of prussic acid that I was afraid to drink it, and the fish was so bitter that I only ate one mouthful of it. Found a scorpion in my left slipper, but luckily shook it out before putting it on. Somebody had placed a centipede in the pocket where I keep my blow-my-nose, but it crawled out before I had occasion to use my handkerchief. Just before stepping into the carriage to go for my morning drive, it was blown into the air, killing the coachman and the horses instantly. The scoundrels were just two minutes too soon, reckoning on my punctuality. I did not drive. Took a light lunch off hermetically sealed American canned goods. They can't fool me there. Found a poisoned dagger in my favorite chair, with the point sticking out. Did not sit down on it. Went to lie down, examined the bed as usual, and found a cobra di capella under the pillow. Had dinner at 6 P. M., and made Baron Laischounowonski taste every dish. He died before the soup was cleared away. Couldn't get any one else to do any more tasting, so went up stairs and consumed some Baltimore oysters and some London Stout, that I have had locked up for five years. Went to the theater, and was shot at three times in the first act. Had the entire audience banged. Went home to bed, and slept all night on the roof of the palace. Have ordered a cast-iron suit of armor and a mask. Wish I was in Boston, selling peanuts. Would go, if I thought I could get there without being killed. Don't feel as if I was Peter the Great, by any manner of means. How nice it must be to be a dry-goods clerk. Servant just found three men in the chimney. Don't think I'll write any more just now." Such are only a few of the penalties of greatness, which, however, serve to illustrate the beauty of the old proverb: "How much more nicer is pork-and-beans and love than a roast turkey stuffed with arsenic and carved with hate."

Victorio, the great Apache chief, was born great. He is the son of his father, who was directly descended from his father, who also came of the same family that his father belonged to. The memory of man runneth not back to a time when there was not some Apache of this illustrious line; for the great historian Ap Richards Ap Griffith has shown how, in the seventy-sixth century before the Christian era, a band of tried and valiant Cynery left wild Wales to seek a home beyond the western wave. The failure of the apple crop and the capture of their goats by unfriendly neighbors were the cause of this removal. Reaching Arizona, then a blooming meadow, they cried aloud: "What an apple-cheese country," and the name, with slight alteration, clings to their proud, high-spirited, but imperfectly-clean descendants.

Supervisor Schottler, of the First Ward, presented a petition to the Board of Supervisors, from the "Scavengers' Protective Union," praying that the ordinance prohibiting dumping at Meiggs' Wharf and Seventh street be rescinded. The health of the northern part of the city requires that dumping sewage, etc., at North Beach be stopped. It is a matter of surprise to us that Antone Schottler should lend himself to anything that would forward the repeal of so needed an ordinance.

There was a fine shindy in the Board of Supervisors at a recent meeting. One of the members brought a charge of dereliction of duty against the janitor who cleans up the second floor. He had barely commenced to specify the grounds for his complaint when he was rudely called to order by the presiding officer, who said the janitor was appointed by him at the special request of Denis Kearney, leader of the party he represented, and he did not allow any member of an opposition party to interfere with his appointees. This provoked considerable discussion from all hands, which resulted in the janitor, who answers to the Parisian name of McGuffin, being brought before the Board to testify in his own behalf. The complaint alleged that the toilet rooms on the second floor were left in a filthy condition, and McGuffin was called on for his excuse. "Bedad, gints," said he, "it's all the fault of the mooneyed, leprous Chincse, that meself pays $5 a week to do the work; for yez would not ax a workingman, with lashings of influocnce in the Tinth Ward, to do dirty work himself." His further reasons were cut short by the sand-lotters in the lobby and gallery, who made a break to capture the lecherous employer of haythen Chiness, threatening to hang him up along with Smoot. The Mayor and Supervisors fled in wild terror from the scene; the Sergeant-at-Arms sought the seclusion of the reporters' table; but fortunately a policeman appeared on the scene, and stopped the impending bloodshed. A meeting of Ward Presidents was at once held, at which funds were collected for the purpose of bribing the reporters to say nothing about the trouble; but, as the T. C. was handed two bad half dollars in his share, he feels it his duty, as an honest man sworn to expose fraud, to publish the whole business.

We feel badly because San Francisco is beaten. What are the ineffectual fires of Sneath's civilized and fretful lightning champing its bit on the shore of the Pacific, by the side of Mayor Harrison's thunder and lightning eloquence at Chicago? One glance at that "Laodicean Conqueror of the Gordian Knot" is worth a world of civilized lightnings. Mayor Harrison, you have done well. You have knocked the rules of rhetoric out of time; you have husted the crust of history; you have smashed all other orators into everlasting flinders! When grateful Chicago counts up her heroes and builds the monument of enduring brass, thy head will show supreme with the longest ears ever consigned to immortality,

"In shape and gesture proudly eminent."

The Long Island Railroad Company has issued an order probibiting flirtation on its cars. This is cruelty to animals with a vengeance, and right under the nose of Bergh. Flirtation was the only thing that enabled passengers on that road to bear up against its dreary monotony. Nothing of that kind is known on our city roads. The travelers by Casebolt's lines are kept so busy working their passage that they have no time to think of anything else; while on the California the conductors are godly men, and couldn't wink if they were prodded; and there are no pretty women living on the line of the Clay street.

One of the safest declarations a man can make is to swear that he would not be the Czar of all the Russias, if he could, in view of the dread of assassination and the miserable anxiety. Alexander II., whose attention we have called to his fearful position, has not answered our private and friendly letter of advice, but we are told by one high in his councils that he has not thought of looking to San Francisco for a successor, and that if we like to make cheap moral reflections at his expense we may go ahead, since there is not the faintest chance of our losing anything by it. He has not even a tide-waitership to offer us.

That accounts for two or three things. A medical man, testifying in the Probate Court the other day, declared that there was sometimes a variation in the number of bones in the body, to the extent of three or four—sometimes short, sometimes in excess of what he called a good average. So that, when we say a man bones something, we only mean that he is trying to get up to standard; and when anybody passes by the name of Old Bones, it is because he has three or four extra joints lying around loose somewhere for the convenience of the person who calls him. But they do say the medical man boned his diploma.

Telegraphic intelligence has just reached Washington from abroad that the moon eyed Mongols are carrying everything before them. There is a general panic everywhere, and all merchants, of every nation, are packing up their trunks and fleeing from the wratb to come. It is unanimously agreed that there is no living against Chinese competition, and the railroad and steamboat lines in all countries are crowded with fugitives from their native land, going they don't know where, to live they don't know how. There will be an indignation on Sunday to consider who's responsible for all this.

There is a double row of chairs placed on the floor of the Supervisors' Chambers in the new City Hall, for the use of city and county officers. We are at a loss to see why officials, whose business is elsewhere, are entitled to reserved seats in the "Forum." Perhaps they are accorded that privilege for lobbying purposes. This suspicion is based on the frequent interchange of communication between them and the Supervisors, which often appear to contain convincing reasons for a change of mind on the part of the latter.

As a sample of supervisorial economy, we think the following deserves to be written in letters of gold: Last Monday the new Board repealed the Act ordering the employment of twenty-five extra clerks in the Tax Collector's office, but immediately passed an order authorizing the Tax Collector to employ twenty-five extra clerks at a salary of $150 each per month if he deemed them necessary. This allows each Supervisor to appoint two clerks and the Tax Collector one.

The Virginia City people are very much exercised about the difficulty of keeping Col. Fair on the Comstock. They say that every time he leaves stocks tumble. We are nothing if not charitable, and always glad to help a neighbor. Giant Cement will hold him. Spread a little on the Comstock, make Col. Fair sit down on it, and neither a Washoe zephyr nor giant powder will get him up. Our terms are moderate.

"Look," said Denis, "the hellbound villyan that kapes this restaurant has given me a bad oyster." "Send it back, Denis." "Faith an' I won't. A man of my importance ain't to be beat by a bad oyster. I'll eat it first, an' I'll make him give me a good one for it afther."

Moody, the Revivalist, objects to being called Reverend, and well he may. Sydney Smith invented the prefix "Rather Rev." for the use of Deacons, and we venture to suggest that Moody men he dubbed "Slightly Reverend."

C. P. R. R.

Overland Ticket Office: Ferry Landing, foot of Market street.—Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879, and until further notice, trains Boats will leave SAN FRANCISCO:

7.00 A. M. (daily), Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing — Connecting with Trains for Napa (Stages for Sonoma), Calistoga (the Geysers), and Sacramento. Connecting at Davis (Sundays excepted) for Woodland and Knight's Landing, and at Woodland for Williams and Willows.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:10 P.M.)

7.00 A.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) and via Livermore arriving at Tracy at 11:30 A. M. and connecting with Atlantic Express. Connects at Niles with Train arriving at San Jose at 10:15 A.M.
(Returning, train from Tracy arrives at 6:05 P.M.)

8.00 A.M. (daily), Atlantic Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland (Or.), Colfax, Reno (Virginia City), Palisade (Eureka), Ogden and Omaha. Connects at Galt with train arriving at Ione at 3:40 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 5:15 P.M.)
Sunday Excursion Tickets to San Pablo and Martinez at Reduced Rates.

10.00 A.M. (daily) via Oakland Ferry, Local Passenger Train to Haywards and Niles.
(Arrive San Fraucisco 4:05 P.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) San Jose Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry and Niles), stopping at all Way Stations. Arrives at San Jose at 5:20 P.M.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

3.00 P.M. (daily) Northern Railway Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to San Pablo, Martinez and Antioch.
(Arrive San Francisco 9:35 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily) Arizona Express Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R. R.) for Lathrop (and Stockton), Merced, Madera, Visalia, Sumner, Mojave, Newhall (San Buenaventura, and Santa Barbara), Los Angeles, "Santa Monica," Wilmington, Santa Ana (San Diego), Colton and Yuma (Colorado River Steamers), connecting direct with Daily Trains of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Arizona for Maricopa (Daily Stages for Phœnix and Prescott), and for Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma), and end of Track (Daily Stages for Florence and Tucson).
"Sleeping Cars" between Oakland, Los Angeles and Yuma.
(Arrive San Francisco 12:35 P.M.)

4.00 P. M. (Sundays excepted) Vallejo Steamer (from Market Street Landing), connecting with trains for Calistoga, (the Geysers), Woodland, Knight's Landing and Sacramento; and at Sacramento with Passenger Train, leaving at 9:35 P.M. for Truckee, Reno, Carson and Virginia.
"Sleeping Cars" between Vallejo and Carson.
(Arrive San Francisco 11:10 A.M.)

4.00 P.M. (Sundays excepted) Sacramento Steamer (from Wash'n St. Wharf), for Benicia and Landings on the Sacramento River.
(Arrive San Francisco 8:00 P.M.)

4.00 P.M. (daily), Through Third Class and Accommodation Train (via Oakland Ferry, Northern Ry. and S. P. & T. R.) connecting at Lathrop with Train arriving at Los Angeles on second day at 11:55 A.M. (Arrive San Francisco 9:05 A.M.

4.30 P.M. (daily) Local Passenger Train (via Oakland Ferry) to Haywards, Niles and Livermore. (Arrive San Francisco 8:35 A.M.)

5.00 P.M. (daily) Overland Emigrant Train (via Oakland Ferry and Northern Railway) to Ogden, Omaha and East.

Public conveyance for Mills Seminary connects at Semnary Park Station with all trains, Sundays excepted.

FERRIES AND LOCAL TRAINS

From "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

TO OAKLAND.		TO ALAMEDA.	TO FERNSIDE.	TO EAST OAKLAND.	TO NILES.		TO BERKELEY	TO DELAWARE STREET.
A. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.		A. M.	A. M.
B 6.10	12.30	7.00	B7.00	B 6.10	7.00		7.30	B 6.10
7.00	1.00	8.00	B9.00	7.30	10.00		8.30	8.00
7.30	1.30	9.00	B10.00	8.30	P. M.		9.30	10.00
8.00	2.00	10.00	P. M.	9.30	3.00		10.30	12.00
8.30	3.00	11.00	B5.00	10.30	4.30		11.30	P. M.
9.00	3.30	12.00	.....	11.30			P. M.	1.30
9.30	4.00	P. M.	.....	P. M.			1.00	3.30
10.00	4.30	1.30	.....	12.30			3.00	4.30
10.30	5.00	2.00	.....	1.00			4.00	5.30
11.00	5.30	*3.00	.....	3.30			5.00	B 6.30
11.30	6.00	4.00	.....	4.30			6.00	.....
12.00	6.30	5.00	.....	5.30			B 6.30	.....
.....	7.00	6.00	.....	6.30
.....	8.10	B*7.00	.....	7.00
.....	9.20	B*8.10	.....	8.10	A. M.		Change Cars
.....	10.30	*1030	....	9.20	7.00		at
.....	B11.45	B*1145	.....	10.30	P. M.		West Oakland
.....	.....	.....	.....	B11.45	3.00

To "SAN FRANCISCO," Daily.

FROM DELAWARE STREET.	FROM BERKELEY.	FROM NILES	FROM EAST OAKLAND.	FROM FERNSIDE.	FROM ALAMEDA.	FROM OAKLAND. (Broadway.)
A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.	P. M.
B 5.40	B 5.40	7.00	B 5.10	B 8.00	B*5.00	B 5.20	12.20
B 6.30	B 6.30	8.00	B 5.50	B10.00	B*5.40	B 6.00	12 50
8.00	7.30	P. M.	6.40	B11.00	*6.25	6.50	1.20
10.00	8.30	2.35	7.40	P. M.	7.00	7.20	1.50
12.00	9.30	4.30	8.40	B6.00	8.03	7.50	2.50
P. M.	10.30		9.40	.....	9.00	8.25	3.20
1.30	11.30		10.40	.....	10.03	8.50	3.50
3.30	P. M.	FROM SAN JOSE.	11.40	.....	11.03	9.20	4.20
4.30	1.00		P. M.	.....	12,00	9.50	4.50
5.30	3.00		12.40	.....	P. M.	10.20	5.20
B 6.30	4.00		1.25	.....	1.00	10.50	5.50
.....	5.00		2.40	.....	3.00	11.20	6.25
.....	6.00		4.40	.....	*3.20	11.50	6.50
			5.40	.....	4.00	.....	8.00
		A. M.	6.40	.....	5.00	.....	9.10
Change Cars		7.10	7.50	.....	6.03	.....	10.20
at		P. M.	9.00	.....	B*7.20	.....	.....
West Oaklnd.		1.30	10.10	.....	B*8.30	.....	.....
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	*10.00	.....	.....

B—Sundays excepted.

*Alameda Passengers change cars at Oakland.

Creek Route.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO—Daily—B5:40, B6:30, 7.20, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15 A.M. 12:15, 1:15, 2:25, 3:15, 4:15, 5:15, 6.15 P.M.

FROM OAKLAND—Daily—B5:30, B6:20, 7:10, 8:05, 9:05, 10:05, 11:05 A.M. 12:05, 1:05, 2:15, 3:05, 4:05, 5:05, 6:05 P.M. —Sundays excepted.

"Official Schedule Time" furnished by RANDOLPH & Co., Jewelers, 101 and 103 Montgomery St., S. F.

T. H. GOODMAN, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt.
A. N. TOWNE, General Superintendent.

SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD

Commencing Sunday, Nov. 16th, 1879, and until further notice, Boats and Trains will leave San Francisco (Washington-st. Wharf) as follows:

3.00 P. M. daily (Sundays included), Steamer "James M. Donahue" (Washington Street Wharf), connecting with Mail and Express Train at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg, Cloverdale, and way stations. Making stage connections at Lakeville for Sonoma; at Geyserville for Skaggs' Springs; at Cloverdale for Ukiah, Lakeport, Mendocino City, Highland Springs, Bartlett Springs, Soda Bay and the Geysers.

☞ Connections made at Fulton on following morning for Korbel's, Guerneville and the Redwoods.
(Arrive at San Francisco, week days, 10:10 A.M.; Sundays, 11 A.M.

Freight received from 7 a.m. till 2.30 p. m., daily (except Sundays).

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Sunday Excursion Trips are discontinued until further notice.

Ticket Office: Washington st. Wharf.

A. HUGHES, Gen. Manager. JAS. M. DONAHUE, Gen. Pass & Tkt. Agt.

SONOMA VALLEY RAILROAD.

The Steamer "Sonoma" leaves Washington-street Wharf daily (Sunday excepted) at 2 P.M., for Norfo k, connecting with cars for the town of Sonoma and way stations, arriving 6 P.M.; returning, leaves Sonoma 7 A.M., arriving at San Francisco 11 A.M. For further particulars apply at General Office, 426 Montgomery street, or at Washington-street Wharf.
JAMES M. DONAHUE,
Dec. 6. G. P. and T. Agent.

Natural beauty surpasses anything which can be imparted by artificial means. PHOSPHATE SOAP gives health to the skin simply by removing impurities and eradicating the poisons which give rise to skin diseases.

Not only for daily use on the face and hands, but for bathing the entire body, there is nothing equal to PHOSPHATE SOAP. It is a thorough disinfectant and removes offensive odors of every kind.

☞ Ask your Druggist for it.

NORTHERN DIVISION SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

Commencing Friday, Nov. 21st, 1879, and until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave San Francisco, from Passenger Depot on Townsend street, between Third and Fourth streets, as follows:

8.30 A.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations. ☞ Stages for Pescadero (via San Mateo) connect with this train only.

10.30 A.M. daily for San Jose, Gilroy, Hollister, Tres Pinos, Pajaro, Salinas, Soledad and all Way Stations. ☞ At PAJARO, the Santa Cruz R. R. connects with this train for Aptos, Soquel and Santa Cruz. ☞ At SALINAS the M. & S. V. R. R. connects with this train for Monterey. ☞ STAGE connections made with this train. (Pescadero Stages via San Mateo excepted.)

3.30 P.M. daily (Sundays excepted) for San Jose, Gilroy, and priucipal Way Stations.

4.30 P.M. daily for San Jose and Way Stations.

6.30 P.M.—daily, for Menlo Park and Way Stations.

☞ The Extra Sunday Trains to San Jose and Way Stations have been discontinued for the winter season.

Second-Class Fare.

Between San Francisco and San Jose.....$1.00.

On Freight Trains only, leaving San Francisco at 4:00 A.M., San Jose at 8:30 P.M. (daily, Sundays excepted).

Excursion Tickets at Reduced Rates

To San Jose and intermediate points sold on Saturdays, and Sunday mornings, good for return until following Monday inclusive.

Also, EXCURSION TICKETS to Aptos, Soquel, Santa Cruz and Monterey, sold on Saturdays only—good for return until the following Monday inclusive.

☞ Principal Ticket Office—Passenger Depot, Townsend street. Branch Ticket Office—No. 2 New Montgomery street, Palace Hotel.

A. C. BASSETT, Supt. H. R. JUDAH, A. P. & T. A.

SOUTHERN DIVISIONS.

Commencing Monday, May 19th, 1879,

☞ Passengers for points on the Southern Divisions of the road will take the cars of the Central Pacific Railroad via OAKLAND, leaving SAN FRANCISCO via Ferry Landing, Market street, at 4:00 P.M. daily (Arizona Express Train), and making close connection at GOSHEN for Sumner, Mojave, Los Angeles, Wilmington, Anaheim, Colton, Colorado River, YUMA, Maricopa and Casa Grande (182 miles east from Yuma). Nov. 22.

Ladies who have injured the skin by the constant use of cosmetics may do much to restore their faces to that beauty which nature alone can give by constantly using PHOSPHATE SOAP.

For chapped hands the constant use of PHOSPHATE SOAP will be recommended by all who give it one fair trial.

If you want a nice article of Toilet Soap and something that is beneficial to the skin, buy PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Ladies who wish to make the skin look beautiful and natural should use PHOSPHATE SOAP.

Manufactured by "Standard Soap Co.,"
204 Sacramento St., San Francisco.

$25 to $5000 Judiciously invested in Wall St. lays the foundation for fortunes every week, and pays immense profits by the New Capitalization System of operating in Stocks. Full explanation on application to ADAMS, BROWN & Co., Bankers, 23 Broad St., N. Y.

NOTICE.

For the very best photographs go to BRADLEY & RULOFSON'S, in an Elevator, 429 Montgomery street. Oct. 29.

NOTABILIA.

THE PEDDLER'S SONG.

Lawn as white as driven snow;
Cypress black as e'er was crow;
Gloves as sweet as damask roses;
Masks for faces and for noses;
Bugle-bracelet, necklace, amber;
Perfume for a lady's chamber;
Gold quoifs and stomachers,
For my lads to give their dears;
Pins and poking-sticks of steel.
What maids lack from head to heel:
Come buy of me, come; come buy, come buy,
Buy, lads, or else your lasses cry.

WILLIAM SHAKSPEARE.

Of all the dazzling displays made by the grand establishments of the city for the holiday trade, it seems to be agreed that the most attractive is at O. Lawton & Co's, 609 Market street, where every variety of porcelain and China and terra cotta, which the general taste has called for of late years, is to be found in profusion of Sévres, Cloisonne, majolica, Wedgwood, Meissen and Dresden, and with these the most exquisite and costly glass fabrics, Bohemian, Venetian, English, Belgian and French. This establishment is now dealing direct with the factories of Europe, and consequently are enabled to sell their latest arrivals of goods 33 1-3 per cent. below the price formerly charged.

General Grant put the whole matter in a nutshell, in his speech at Chicago on the 4th December, when, speaking of the great war, he said: "Though that struggle has ended, it has left us a nation, one that is to be preserved, and will last many generations, and gradually work out what may be wrong in it now." Nothing less can be said of the Origiual Swain's Bakery, 213 Sutter street, which makes patriots and good citizens of all who enter it. Having once enjoyed the comfort, the perfect cooking, the order and harmony of this peerless restaurant, they feel themselves knit by bonds of iron to the country which produces such marvels.

A romance in real life has just come to light within the past ten days. A gentleman of this city, well known for his talents and acquirements, left the Pacific Coast two years ago for a tour in Europe to bury his bitter disappointment at his rejection by a splendid beauty. During his absence the lady rejected five other admirers. Reaching home three weeks ago, the traveler determined to try his self-command by calling upon his fair enemy. As he began to mount the steps of the house, she came up, returning from a walk. Their eyes met, he raised his hat, and they entered the house. Two hours after, he went forth an accepted lover. His hat was made by Herrmann, 336 Kearny street.

The editor of the Los Angeles Herald, who has recently spent some weeks in this city, in giving his impressions of the place, declares that Providence has marked out an unequaled destiny for it. Situation, climate, resources, everything in nature is ours, he thinks; and he especially recognizes the art supremacy to which we are sure to attain, from the delicacy and acuteness of our perceptions, as shown in the taste and skill manifested by Mrs. Skidmore, 1114 Market street, the arbiter of fashion and style in hats and bonnets. All the leaders of society frequent her establishment.

The restless people of Paris have made a daring innovation in the order of exercises at weddings, by substituting page-boys for bridesmaids. The pages are dressed alike, mostly in red or blue velvet, with silk stockings and gold buckles. This may pass, but no innovations can enable one to dispense with a good fire for comfort's sake, and J. Macdonough, 25 Market street, has on hand Australian, Pacific Coast, Scotch and Eastern coals in great variety. The favorite Red Ash always kept in yard. Orders may be sent by American District Telegraph.

When Richard Taverner, of Woodeaton, strolled into St. Mary's, Oxford, he began his sermon with these words: "I have brought you some fine bisketts baked in the Oven of Charitie, carefully conserved for the chickens of the Church, the sparrows of the Spirit, and the sweet swallows of salvation." Not less alliterative, and far more admirable, is the Rock and Rye Cordial, distilled for the cure of Consumption by F. & P. G. Cassin.

The Koh-i-noor is, after all, only a great curiosity, which not even the owner can greatly enjoy, for it has to be guarded and kept under locks. How different is the case with the exquisite articles of California torquoise manufactured by D. W. Laird, 27 Post street, which can be bought by every one of taste and refinement, as a lasting souvenir of the Golden State.

How many a ruined home, now open and unprotected from the blasts of Winter and the pitiless rain, might have been still the shelter of happy hearts if the wife and mother had preserved her charms by the use of Wakelee's Camelline. Alas! for the thing that might have been.

Where there is a weakness of the Throat or Lungs, a Cold neglected may be all that is required to establish a lingering, and generally fatal, disease. Even where there is no special tendency to Bronchial or Pulmonary trouble, a severe Cold, left to take care of itself, often plants the seeds of a serious complaint, sure to be developed by subsequent indiscretions. Take especial care of your health, therefore, from the very earliest symptoms of a Cough or Cold, by prudently resorting to Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, which will soothe and strengthen the bronchial tubes, allay inflammation, and cleanse them and the lungs of all irritating substances. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure. Sold by Crane & Brigham, San Francisco.

A thoughtful editorial in one of the great leaders of public opinion in this metropolis declares that some day Russia will have a Constitutional Government, but it will not be brought about by blowing up railway trains and killing rulers. No one but a great statesman would venture to make such a positive assertion, and it is a satisfaction to know that, with the introduction of Montanya's Union Ranges into the vast empire of the Czar, regulated liberty and a Constitution will be firmly established.

B. Nathan & Co., 130 Sutter street, have displayed an extraordinary collection of articles of vertu, bronzes, enamel work, ivory and pearl carvings, majolica, faience, porcelain and the most exquisite specimens of delicate China, terra-cotta goods, splendid cut and Bohemian glass, whose facets outrival the ruby and the diamond, the topaz and emerald and sapphire, bas-reliefs and cameos, the rarest damascening in steel and copper, and a few priceless articles in the mosaic of Florence and of Rome. It is only by a visit that one can realize in how many shapes the art-genius reveals itself.

Estates, to the amount of from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000, have lately been adjudged by the English Court of Chancery to heirs in the United States; and all the possible descendants of the haughty Saxon are wild with delight and tremulous with hope. Many of them will come hootless home, and in foul weather, too; but the man who buys Landsberger's Private Cuvée is richer than Crœsus, for he can laugh at Fate, having perfect bliss within his grasp.

The London Examiner says: "The position of Carolina differs in no whit from the position of Poland, save in certain unmeaning forms and in the personal liberty of individuals, which does not affect the question." Mr. Forney proves, in his two papers, both daily, that this cannot be the case; but, whether in Carolina or in Poland, Madame Rachel's Enamel Bloom is the salvation of youth and beauty.

To the uninitiated a glass of beer is a glass of beer, but, as Aristotle says, the man who has but an opinion is, in comparison with the man who knows, a sick man. Beer is not beer, for one beer differs from another, and the Pilsener Kaiser Beer worthily upholds, by its vast superiority in flavor and high quality, the renown of the city so closely connected with the career of Wallenstein. The agents in this city are Wolff and Rheinhold, 334 Washington street.

How often does it happen that a man wishes he had kept a copy of some letter, thought to be of no great importance at the time of writing, and left uncopied because of the troublesome process necessary. Henceforth this excuse is taken away from every one; for the Multiplex Copying Tablet makes it infinitely more easy to copy a letter a hundred times than to write it once. The California Novelty Works, 46 St. Ann's Building, opposite the Baldwin, furnish the Tablet.

A recent German writer tries to prove that Frederick the Great believed in the superiority of extended lines of infantry to the formation in close column; and the instances selected from his campaigns are almost conclusive on this point, but not more so than the matchless excellence of the underclothing sold by Carmany & Crossett, 25 Kearny street.

The great Brooklyn bridge over the East River is at a standstill, the papers say. We hope so, for, if anything may be called strictly unreliable, it is surely a bridge that gets up, every now and then, to go and see a man. Nevertheless, men doubt whether this work will ever be completed, and we cannot wonder at them; for it has taken many years, and is still unfinished, while Bradley & Rulofson have never ceased to be at the head of all photographers.

Every style of hat at White's, 614 Commercial street, the old-established and famous emporium of this trade. When water ceases to flow down hill, or California to furnish corn and wine and oil, White may cease to give, for the lowest price, the best of all head-gear, but not till then.

Three hundred dozen of the Napa Soda are put up at the Spring every month. So the Register reports; but this is an evident mistake. The monthly exportation is much nearer to 13,000 dozen, and the improvement in the public health is due to this alone.

Clergymen, lawyers, editors, bankers and ladies need Hop Bitters daily, for nerve force.

Price's Carvers.—Send a set East to your friends for Christmas. No. 415 Kearny street. Grinding and Repairing.

W Morris. MORRIS & KENNEDY, J. F. Kennedy.
Importers and Dealers in Moldings, Frames, Engravings, Chromos, Lithographs, Decalcomanie, Wax and Artists' Materials, 21 Post street, nearly opposite Masonic Temple, San Francisco. Feb. 4.

SCHWAB & BREESE,
New Art Gallery, 624 Market street, opposite Palace Hotel.
Oil Paintings, Engravings, Wax and Artists' Materials.
ADMISSION FREE. Sept. 13.

SNOW & CO.,
No. 20 Post street, opposite Mechanics' Institute, Importers and Manufacturers of Pictures, Frames, Mouldings, and Artist's Materials. Established 1849. Sept. 20.

European and American furniture in endless variety will he sold on Tuesday next, at 10 A. M., hy catalogue, at Platt's Hall, hy E. S. Spear & Co. This list embraces the very finest styles of sofas, Turkish chairs, lihrary, chamher and dining-room furniture, upholstered in Morocco, plush, brocatelle and other stuffs, French plate-glass, Cheval glasses. No such opportunity to ohtain first-class articles will occur for a long time; and elegant presents may he secured for the Christmas and New Year almost for the trouhle of selection. With these are center and card tahles, cahinets in marqueterie and huhl, ladies' writing desks, ehonized easels for artists, music racks, mantel mirrors, and every appointment of a first-class house.

It is gratifying to see the heartiness with which the Trustees of the Mechanics' Institute, and especially their President, Irving M. Scott, have come forward to facilitate in every way the enterprise of Mr. Flavin, who has turned the Pavilion into a monster Bazaar, and, at the same time, made it a delightful place of resort for the community during this holiday season. The public spirit shown in this undertaking merits the fullest support.

The fine collection of novelties recently imported hy Snow & Co., 20 Post street, meet with appreciative huyers. The entire line was purchased hefore the recent rise in values, at the East, and are heing sold at low rates. The holiday trade, from present appearances, will only comprise comparatively inexpensive goods, and never hefore could the same, or similar nice things, he had for the same amount of money.

Col. Andrews is inexhaustihly fertile in ideas. To the surprised puhlic it seems as if the Diamond Palace could not he outdone; hut the Colonel intends visiting Europe after the holidays to lay in a stock of new splendors, and the present unmatched collection will he sold at an extraordinary reduction in price. There will he such chance to secure the finest specimens of exquisite jewelry.

Something new is Klinkner's Red Ruhher Stamp Cahinet. Most people wear linen, or what passes for it, and when this goes to the wash there is constant danger of losing articles for want of marking. The Red Ruhher Stamp is always ready, and can he used hy any one. It marks clearly and indelihly, and is indispensahle to every one. Office, 320 Sansome street, over Wells, Fargo & Co.

We have received the first numher of the Californian, a new monthly magazine just estahlished here. It is well and handsomely printed, and, so far as can he judged from the brief inspection allowed, full of good performance and good promise. We wish it entire success.

M. Gray has just puhlished "Christmas Bells," a morceau for the piano, composed hy F. Boscovitz, and dedicated to Mrs. C. M. Mills, of Brooklyn.

Geo. C. Shreve & Co., jewelers, 110 Montgomery street, mark all goods in plain figures and have hut one price.

AMERICAN DISTRICT TELEGRAPH!

Holiday Notice!

SEND YOUR CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS

BY UNIFORMED MESSENGERS!

A DETAIL OF

One Hundred and Fifty Special Messengers

Selected for this Service!

OFFICES:

222 Sansome Street,	Mission and Twentieth,
205 Sutter, Cor. Kearny,	California and Fillmore,
961 Mission Street,	Hayes and Laguna,
833 Sutter Street,	Powell and Union,
Fourth and Bluxome,	Butchertown.

[December 13.]

IMPORTANT TO BOOK-BUYERS!

WE HAVE A LARGE STOCK

—OF—

FINE ART, STANDARD, JUVENILE

—AND—

HOLIDAY BOOKS!

ON SALE AT THE MECHANICS' PAVILION!

Store Near the Mission Street Entrance.

Prices the Same as Elsewhere.

H. KELLER & CO.,

Publishers, Booksellers and Importers.

[December 13.]

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The Company's steamers will sail as follows at 12 M: CITY OF TOKIO, Dec. 27th, March 20th—CITY OF PEKING, Feh. 7th, May 1st—for YOKOHAMA and HONGKONG.

COLIMA, December 19th, for PANAMA and NEW YORK, calling at MAZATLAN, SAN BLAS, MANZANILLO and ACAPULCO, connecting at Acapulco with Company's Steamer for all Central American ports—calling at SAN JOSE DE GUATEMALA and LA LIBERTAD to land passengers and mails.

Tickets to and from Europe by any line for sale at the lowest rates; also to Havana and all West India ports.

AUSTRALIA, December 22d, at 12 o'clock M., or on arrival of the English mails, for HONOLULU, AUCKLAND and SYDNEY. $10 additional is charged for passage in Upper Saloon.

DAKOTA, December 20th, for VICTORIA, PORT TOWNSEND, SEATTLE, and TACOMA, connecting at TACOMA with Northern Pacific Railroad for PORTLAND, Oregon. Tickets must he purchased hefore 11 A.M. on day of sailing, at Wharf Office. For freight or passage apply at the office, cor. First and Brannan streets. [Dec. 13.] WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO., Agents.

TAXES! TAXES!
1879-80.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Taxable Property of the City and County of San Francisco, Real Estate and Personal Property (subsequent Assessment Book included), for the Fiscal Year 1879-80, has this day been received; that the State, City and County TAXES for said Fiscal Year are now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall, and the Laws in regard to their collection will be strictly enforced.

TAXES will become delinquent on the First Monday in January, 1880, and unless paid prior thereto, five per cent. will be added to the amount thereof.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

ASSESSMENT OF LANDS
BENEFITED BY
WIDENING DUPONT STREET.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of the Real Estate which is subject for the Payment of Principal and Interest upon "Dupont-street Bonds," as directed hy an Act of the Legislature of California to authorize the Widening of Dupont street, in the City of San Francisco, "Approved March 23d, A.D. 1876," has this day been placed in my hands for collection. The Laws in regard to the collection of the same will be strictly enforced.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector of the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

MONTGOMERY AVENUE ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that a certified copy of the Assessment Book of Real Estate, which is subject to assessment to defray expenses incurred by the Opening of Montgomery Avenue, has this day been placed in my hands to collect the Assessment thereon.

Said Assessment is for the Fiscal Year of 1879-80, and is now due and payable at the office of the undersigned, first floor, New City Hall. All Assessments remaining unpaid on the FIRST MONDAY IN JANUARY, 1880, will have five per cent added thereto.

CHARLES TILLSON,
Tax Collector for the City and County of San Francisco.

San Francisco, October 27th, 1879. Nov. 1.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Gould & Curry Silver Mining Company will be held at the Company's offices, Room No. 69, Nevada Block, No. 309 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California, on MONDAY, the 15th day of December, 1879, at 1 o'clock P.M. Transfer books will close on Friday, December 5th, 1879, at 3 o'clock P.M.

Dec. 13. ALFRED K. MORROW, Secretary.

SUTRO & CO.,

Bankers and Brokers, 408 Montgomery street, pay the highest prices for United States Bonds, County and City Bonds, Currency, Foreign Coins and Gold Dust. Dec. 13.

"BIZ."

Money continues to be exceedingly plentiful, not only in the savings and loan societies, but in commercial banks, and not the less so in the hands of private capitalists. This money can be obtained at comparatively low rates of California interest—say on real estate, 7 to 9 per cent. per annum. Upon call, loans can be had for half this rate, but in all cases gilt-edged securities are exacted with large margins. There probably never was so much idle money in California as there is to-day. Many reasons could be given for this, but most of our readers know the cause thereof. There has been of late rather more inquiry for real estate on the hills traversed by the cable railroads, notably that of California street, which is by far the best conducted of any road in the city. The views along the line of the road are charming, owing to the high elevation overlooking the city and bay. The prices at which desirable lots and houses can now be bought in the Western Addition, etc., is generally thought to be by experts down to bedrock rates, and therefore the present is thought to be a very desirable time for investment, particularly as loans thereupon can be obtained upon very advantageous terms.

Business in volume is falling off, as usual, as the holiday season approaches. Of course, reference is here made to wholesale traffic in staple and general merchandise, stocks of which are, for the most part, very light for the season—notably those of Coffee, Sugar, Tea, etc. Our jobbing merchants and importers all at this season of the year desire to reduce stocks to a minimum; therefore we see little evidence of speculation abroad in any article of merchandise. These remarks, however, are inapplicable to the holiday gift trade of the city. Market, Kearny, and other streets devoted to this traffic are all alive with the eager multitude, making their holiday purchases.

Sugars have again been reduced by the California Refinery one-half cent per pound, thus fixing rate at 12½c, the same figure that was ruling one month ago. This rate for Crushed is now about that at New York, and it would not be at all surprising to see another drop before the close of the month. There is one comfort to the trade in all these fluctuations made by the California Refinery, if price goes up the holder has the benefit of it on his stock in store, and if price goes down then a full allowance is made therefor, and for the unexecuted orders in hand at the refinery. This seems to be a very fair and honorable way of treating all those who purchase supplies direct from the refinery, but sometimes works a heavy loss upon importers of Eastern refined. The City of Tokio on her last voyage brought us 2,100 bags Hongkong Refined Sugar. This was ordered to meet export orders for bonded Sugar. During the week past we have had two arrivals of Sugar from Honolulu—the Lady Lampson and the H. W. Almy bringing 10,400 pkgs. Sugar for refiners.

Teas.—The City of Tokio from China and Japan brought us 2,943 packages, also in transit for Eastern cities 17,000 pkgs. In addition to the above we had two arrivals from Yokohama with Teas, the Levi Stevens, to Macondray & Co., with 16,000 pkgs.; also the Importer, from same, with 3,000 pkgs. Our stock of Teas is unusually light for the season, and prices for all desirable goods upwards inclined.

Silk and Silkworm Eggs.—The City of Tokio, from China and Japan, brought us, in transit, of Silks for Eastern cities 1,963 pkgs.; also of Silk Worm Eggs, 1,878 pkgs.; a part of these latter are destined for the Silk factory at Patterson, New Jersey, the balance to France and Italy. These valuable goods are all in care of Celestials, who go with the worms to their destination to see that they have proper warmth at all times in the cars of the Pacific Railroad and on ship-board. They are extremely valuable and filling several cars, being quite bulky. These Silks and Teas in transit are important feeders to the carriage of the Pacific Railroads.

Coffee.—By late arrivals from Central America we are in receipt of 2,993 bags from Punta Arenas; also from New York, via Isthmus, 1,300 bags Rio. The City of Tokio, from Hongkong, also brought us 724 bags, thus adding material to our Spot stocks. There are also 3,500 bags now due here from Ceylon. These arrivals at the close of the year tend to check the rising tendency of our market. We quote O. G. Java 25½c, Rio 16@18c; Central American 17½@20½c, according to quality.

Rice.—We have had several small arrivals from the Sandwich Islands during the week—in all some 2,000 bags. These sold at 6¼@6¼c. The City of Tokio, fram Hongkong, brought 15,000 mats, chiefly No. 1 China, which we quote at 5¾@6c; No. 2 ditto, 5½c, and for Mixed China 4¾c.

Salmon.—The market continue firm for Case Salmon, with moderate sales at $1 35@1 45 ₱ dozen, 1-lb. cans.

Bags.—Burlap Grain Sacks for forward delivery are in good request at 10@10¼c. for May and June delivery. The stock here and to arrive is large, but is held by strong hands.

Coal.—We have no sales of foreign to record. Low prices generally rule, by reason of heavy and constant arrivals from the North Pacific mines.

Metals.—There is very little sale for Pig Iron at present, as our foundries are not very busy at this season of the year. The high prices of last October and November can hardly be realized at present.

Domestic Produce.—Our European grain fleet for the season, dating from July 1st, now numbers 161 vessels, carrying of wheat 6,330,472 ctls. The same date last year the fleet numbered 160 vessels, with 5,833,000 ctls. From this it will be seen that we are now a little in advance of last year in our Wheat exports. Our Flour exports for the same period to all ports—1879, 211,587 bbls; 1878, 235,986 bbls.

Our total receipts of Wheat from July 1st to December 9th stand thus: 1879, 7,367,239 ctls; 1878, 6,216,119 ctls.

Barley.—We note the sailing of the "Calharien" for Callao with 11,855 centals, and for Cape Town, per "Bylgia," 141 centals. The supply of Chevalier is about exhausted. Best Brewing is held at 1c per lb, but No. 2 can be purchased at 90c@95c, and Feed at 65c to 75c per cental. Stock large, and holders anxious to sell, as we have now had three times the rainfall as same date last year, and farmers are now well assured of good grain crops next season, and plenty of good pasture and cattle feed for the wiuter season.

Corn and Oats.—The demand is chiefly for local use at $1 25@$1 65 for the latter, and 90c@95c for the former.

Hops.—We have about exhausted our surplus stock; present nominal price, 25@37½c.

Beans.—Stock large, causing low prices to rule—say for Bayos, $1 25; Small White and Pea, $1 50@1 60; Pink and Red, $1@1 15; Lima, $6 50 ₱ ctl.

Wool.—The stock of all kinds about exhausted, no good lots remaining; price, 15@35c as extremes.

Tallow.—Supplies are liberal at 5½@6c.; Refined, 7½c.

Hides.—The demand is very active at 20@21c for Dry; Wet Salted, 9@10c.

Fruits, Etc.—We have a good daily supply of Strawberries, Raspberrics, Grapes, Apples, Pears, Figs, etc., causing low prices to rule for all kinds.

WAKELEE'S AUREOLINE

Produces the Beautiful Golden Hair so Much Admired.

SUPERIOR TO THE IMPORTED ARTICLE

—BY REASON OF ITS—

FRESHNESS AND CARE USED IN ITS PRODUCTION.

PRICE, LARGE BOTTLES. $2.

Manufactured by H. P. WAKELEE & CO., Druggists, corner Montgomery and Bush streets, S. F. [Aug. 2.

FOR PORTLAND AND ASTORIA, OREGON.

The Oregon Steamship Company and Pacific Coast Steamship Company will dispatch every five days, for the above ports, one of their new A1 Iron Steamships, viz.: OREGON, GEORGE W. ELDER, and STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Sailing Days

Dec. 3, 8, 13, 18, 23, and 28. | Jan. 2, 7, 12, 17, 22, and 27.

At 10 o'clock A. M.

Connecting at Portland, Oregon, with Steamers and Railroads and their connecting Stage Lines for all points in Oregon, Washington and Idaho Territories, British Columbia and Alaska.

K. VAN OTERENDORP, Agent O. S. S. Co.,
No 210 Battery street, San Francisco.
GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents P. C. S. S. Co.,
Dec. 6. No. 10 Market street, San Francisco.

PACIFIC COAST STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

Steamers of this Company will sail from Broadway Wharf for PORTLAND, Oregon), every 5 days, direct, and for LOS ANGELES, SANTA BARBARA, SANTA CRUZ, SAN DIEGO, SAN LUIS OBISPO and other NORTHERN and SOUTHERN COAST PORTS, leaving SAN FRANCISCO about every third day.

For Day and Hour of Sailing, see the Company's Advertisement in the San Francisco Daily Papers.

Ticket Office, No. 214 Montgomery Street, near Pine.

GOODALL, PERKINS & CO., Agents,
March 15. No. 10 Market street.

CUNARO LINE.

British and North American Royal Mail Steamships between NEW YORK and LIVERPOOL, calling at QUEENSTOWN, sailing from New York EVERY WEDNESDAY.

BOTHNIA ..... December 17th.
GALLIA ..... December 24th.
ALGERIA ..... December 31st.
SCYTHIA ..... January 7th, 1880.
ABYSSINIA ..... January 14th, 1880.

Passage can be secured and all information given on application to
WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,
Nov. 22. 218 California st.

CALIFORNIA SUGAR REFINERY,

Manufacturers of the Standard Syrup, a superior article put up in barrels expressly for home consumption. Also, Extra Heavy Syrup in barrels for Export. Refined Sugars at lowest market rates. Office, 215 Front street, up stairs. Dec. 21.

JOHN JENNINGS

Hooper's South End Warehouses, corner Japan and Townsend streets, San Francisco. First-class Fire-Proof Brick Building, capacity 10,000 tons. Goods taken from the Dock and the Cars of the C. P. R. R. and S. P. R. R. free of charge. Storage at Current Rates. Advances and Insurance Effected.

SEEDS.

R. J. Trumbull & Co., 419 and 421 Sansome street. Kentucky Blue Grass, Alfalfa, Mosquit, Timothy, etc., etc. Vegetable Seeds of all descriptions. Nov. 29.

CUMBERLAND MINE,

Yavapai County, Arizona. Office: No. 417 California st., San Francisco, California. President, GEORGE M. CIPRICO. Secretary, J. H. GRIFFITHS. Office Hours: 2 P.M. daily. Oct. 11.

ESSENTIAL OIL OF EUCALYPTUS AMYGDALINA.

Bossito's "Parrot" Brand is the original and only genuine Eucalyptus Oil imported, and used internally under medical prescription, and externally for all rheumatic and bronchial affections, as well as for local pains, bruises, sprains, etc., for which it is an undoubted specific. For sale by all druggists. W. H. CAMPBELL, Sole Agent.
Nov. 29. 402 Front street, San Francisco.

EDWARD BOSQUI & CO.,

Printers, Engravers, Lithographers and Bookbinders,

Leidesdorff street, from Clay to Commercial.

ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY,

No. 310 Sansome street, San Francisco, Wholesale Dealer in Furs. Sept. 21.

MADAME WALDO COHEN,

Finishing Lessons--Piano. $3 Per Lesson.

Sept. 20. 507 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

[COMMUNICATED.]

MAYOR KALLOCH ON PROTECTION AND FREE TRADE.

Mayor Kalloch has delivered himself on the subject of protection to native industries, or perhaps more accurately, protection to workingmen. In a letter to Mr. C. A. Wetmore, on the subject of the proposed Franco-American Treaty, he takes occasion to discourse at considerable length on the merits of a protective tariff as favoring American labor, and, in the course of his remarks, he gives expression to a good many fallacies. As, however, the whole drift of the letter is to show his sympathy with the workingmen, and to reflect their mistaken belief in the efficacy of protection to better their position, we can scarcely blame him for thus soothing his supporters, as we believe he is doing so in perfect good faith. We will quote a few sentences to show some of the views of the new Mayor: "The man who demands the least in exchange for his labor, degrades those with whom he is in competition. Society in past ages has been struggling against debasing competition in labor. As the laborer becomes enlightened, his wants and demands increase. He demands a greater share—a more equal share—in the products of industry." "The industry of Europe cannot offer fair terms of free exchange with the industry of America." "The workingmen of the United States should view with the greatest alarm the insidious movement known as the "Proposed Franco-American Treaty," which proposes to bind American industry to the level of French industry for a term of years. They should observe with alarm the efforts which are being made by English capital to secure this Treaty for France, and should see in them only a menace of a similar demand from Great Britain should this succeed." Our worthy Mayor tells us that he who demands the least for his labor degrades those with whom he is in competition. But he does not tell us that farmers and others who are compelled to pay double the price for their machinery that they could import it for, enrich a small class—the manufacturers; and impoverish themselves—a very numerous class. Nor does he tell us that the farmer, who has to sell his wheat for the world's lowest price, is just as much entitled to protection by means of a bounty on production as any manufacturer can be. Then we are told that as the laborer becomes enlightened, he demands a greater share of the products of industry; but how can he get a larger share when the action of the protective tariff is to diminish the total products available for consumption? He cannot get a share of what does not exist. The Mayor also informs us that the industry of Europe cannot offer fair terms of free exchange with the industry of America. What has the wheat-raiser, the cotton-grower, the owner of gold and silver mines, to say to this? If Europe cannot offer fair terms of exchange to the nation of producers for their produce, who is to compensate them for the unequal exchange? It is evident that here, again, we come to the conclusion that to compensate the producers of the leading articles of exnort to foreign countries, a bounty ought to be granted to all these producers. How, otherwise, can they get back the amounts which are taken from them under the protective tariff? And when every industry that does not benefit from the protective tariff is paid a bounty as an equivalent for its contribution under such tariff, where is the advantage? The tariff makes a large levy on the whole of the people for the benefit of a limited class, the bounty would make a large levy on the whole of the people for the benefit of the very numerous class of producers. Thus we would arrive at the delightful conclusion of taxing everybody so as to add a little to everybody's income; but however philanthropic such a system would be, it may be doubted whether the maintenance of an enormous hierarchy of officials, at great expense and with large opportunity for peculation and corruption would be justified, whose function it was to take a small sum out of the pockets of forty-five millions of people in order to put a smaller sum back into the same pockets of the same forty-five millions. The Mayor is also careful to warn the workingmen to watch with alarm the efforts that are being made by English capital to secure the Franco-American Treaty. This bugbear of English capital, where it is perfectly well known that English capital is not thrown away on pulling the chestnuts out of the fire for other nations, is the last refuge of imposture and prejudice, when it is attempted to rouse international jealousies; and though we hardly knew in advance whether the new Mayor would stoop to the unscrupulous arts of the political demagogue, we are not now in any doubt on the subject. Notwithstanding this pandering, however, to the prejudices of his supporters, we are inclined to hope that Dr. Kalloch will yet show a creditable public career, as we believe he has the intelligence and the ambition to make a satisfactory public record during his term of office, and to leave behind him a reputation for honesty, ability and competent management of public affairs.

A WISE WARNING.

Sir William Jenner warns the public that, in the earliest stage of typhoid fever, the patient is prone to commit certain mistakes in treating himself, either of which may add greatly to the severity of the coming illness: (1) He may think that he has a common cold in his limbs, as it is called, and try to throw it off by strong exercise. A certain sense of weakness accompanies this early stage of the fever, but it is rarely so great as to prevent the patient, if stimulated by strong will, walking long and briskly. (2) He may consider that he is suffering from biliary derangement, and attribute to this the headache, disturbed nights, sense of malaise, want of appetite and disordered bowels, and take a dose of drastic aperient. (3) He may think the weakness he feels is to be removed by food and wine. A dose of medicine, he says, cannot hurt; bed, he thinks, weakens; and food and wine, he knows, restore strength. Therefore, he prescribes a dose for himself, which irreparably injures his bowel; he takes exercise, which increases the waste material in his system, and he loads his stomach with food it cannot digest, and stimulants which lighten the fever and disturb the action of the eliminating organs, and then pays the penalty, perhaps with his life, for the errors his ignorance has led him to commit.—London Lancet.

The Mayor of Stafford, Eng., Mr. F. Marson, has been presented with a silver cradle thirty inches high and weighing 200 ounces, in accordance with an ancient custom, prescribing such a gift for the Mayor whenever a child is born to him during his incumbency. This may be the great original "Mayor's nest."

Sterling Silverware.—A large assortment of elegant designs at Randolph & Co.'s, corner Montgomery and Sutter streets.

PUBLIC OPINION

---ABOUT THE---

GRAND TOY EXPOSITION!

To open at the MECHANICS' PAVILION

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13th:

"Don't talk to me about Christmas presents! That is just one of the schemes of the merchants, who are doing their best to get rid of their immense stocks at the close of the year." Such is the opinion of a great many.

"It would be disastrous to me to be obliged to buy Christmas Presents for all my children at the ruinous prices asked by the stores," say many others.

"Presents! That is all very well for rich people, but we, workingmen, cannot afford to indulge in such luxuries." Such is another very commonly expressed opinion.

"Business has been so adverse, and stocks so unlucky, that I am obliged to curtail my expenditures for Christmas Presents," says this man, who used to be quite liberal to his friends before.

"I am sure I do not know how to pass the time during those Holidays," says another. "Stay at home, or go out with my wife and children, and it is nothing but a continual drain on my pocket-book for Christmas Presents."

Such was the uniform type of the conversation in former years when the Christmas Tree was about to blossom. But, on the contrary, so soon as the project at the Mechanics' Pavilion has been made known, the public has enthusiastically applauded the idea.

"That is a capital idea—it is so practical," says one.

"I shall, at last, be able to supply all my children with both presents and amusement at a trifling expense," says another.

"What 'fine times' we shall have, wandering through those immense labyrinths of the Pavilion, adorned with so many marvels and wonders," exclaim all the children.

"What an excellent opportunity it will afford for us to meet our friends during the Holidays! What a charming rendezvous it will be!" repeat the ladies.

In giving expression to the foregoing opinions, we make ourselves the echo of the opinion of the General Public; so we must congratulate ourselves upon our enterprise. Before the doors of the Pavilion have been opened, the entire public is unanimous in their approval; and when we shall have closed them, after the feast, we shall enjoy the conviction that we knew how to contribute to their happiness, and deserve their flattering expressions of gratitude.

LET EVERYBODY COME TO THE GRAND TOY EXPOSITION!

Which Opens at the

MECHANICS' PAVILION

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13TH.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Recorded in the City and County of San Francisco, California, for the Week ending December 5th.

Compiled from the Records of the Commercial Agency, 401 California St., S. F.

Tuesday, December 2d.

GRANTOR AND GRANTEE.	DESCRIPTION.	PRICE
Geo Brown to Maria Lapham	N Pacific, 167 e Franklin, e 3x132	$ 300
Thos P Winter to C F Howland	N Jackson, 137:6 w Buchanan, 23x127.8, subj to mortg	60
Margaretta M Ayres to W J Gunn	N Clay, 177:6 w Franklin, w 28:9x127:8 W A blk 124	3,000
Robt Barry to Susan E Barry	E Prospect Place, 30 n Sacramento, n 58:6, e 56:6, s etc to beg	Gift
Sarah E Bonrn to Wm B Bourn	W Gay Place and 1st st, 75x25	9,000
Benj Davideon to Jeffrey Cullen	Nw Commercial and Montgomery, 50 x 25 and nnd 1-3d, n Commercial, 50 w Montgomery, 7:6x50	1
Jeffrey Cullen to S Steinhart	Same	25,000
S Steinhart to A Gansl et al	Same	25,000
Wm Levinston to J Boardman	Lots 25, 26, 27, blk 1205 Felton tract	15
J Nightingale to W J Richardson	Se R st and 25th ave, s 425:7, e 240:6, n 411:6, etc to beg	500
W J Richardson to Geo W Frink	Same and sundry lots in Pt Lobos Avenue and Park Homestead	160
Far & Mch Sav Bk to Clt & Co S F	Streets and Highways	1
Chas L Dingley to J H Schroder	Nw Washington and Webster, 50x92:4—W A 317	4,250
Geo D Shadburne to N Hottna	S Clipper, 330 w of Sanchez, w 45x114—H H blk 130	1,100
Mary S Thorne to W N Jackson	E Mason, 137:6 n Sacramento, 20x68:6	3,500
Laura A Kilham to Cath Scott	E Dolores, 26:6 n Day, n 75x100	980
Sam'l J Tuttle to Jno Sullivan	Sw Dore, 229 nw Bryant, nw 23x85—M B blk 44	620
Eliza J Stewart to Julia Grady	Undiv half s Clay, 113:6 e Kearny, 24 x 51:3—50-v 23 subj to mortg $8,500	1,000
J M Marshall to P McLaughlin	Sw Langton, 150 se Howard, se 25x75—100-v 239	2,500
A T Green to Robt Barton	Se 16th and Diamond, e 34x100	1,250
Michael E Dolan to Mary A Dolan	N 17th, 218 w Valencia, w 30x90 lease hold interest	Gift

Wednesday, December 3d.

Malcolm Thomson to W B Thomas	S Elizabeth, 125 e Bellevue, e 51:8x114	$ 100
Same to Wm Henderson	Se Elizabeth and Douglas, s 125x64	200
H Loewenhayn to Burnett C Sweet	Lots 492, 494, 496, 498, 500, Gift Map 3	5
Anthony Morgenthal to C H Moore	W 35th ave, 200 n K st, 25x110—Outside Lands 734	250
D Jordan to E M Root	Lots 9, 15, blk 209, Pleasant View Hd, and sundry Outside Lands and properties along Pt Lobos Avenue	895
Jno Landers to J D Walker et al	Lot 19, Precita Valley, and n w Clement and 20th ave, w 240x200; also Outside Lands 162 sw Cal and 20th ave, 200x240	3,000
Jas F Hill to Jno Dudolf	W Vicksburg, s 22d, s 22:6x100	1,625
Jno Gamble to Gustavas Gamble	Lot 4 blk 61, lot 3 blk 62, lot 8 blk 126, University Mound tct, subj to mortgage for $275	637
C W Severance to Jas J Lane	Lot 1 blk 52, City Land Assn	400
Delia Murphy to same	Lot 6, blk 20 West End Map 2	5
J J Lane to Delia Murphy	Same as above two descriptions	Gift
Jno Cochran to Jno Center	Se Folsom and 20th, e 245x620 Mission block 53	30,000
J G Klumpke to Ferd Reis	Undivided one-half nw Hubbell, 275 sw 6th, sw 275x275	1
L Godchaux to J A Albertson	W Powell, 115:6 n Ellis, 22x93:5	13,000
Jos O'Keefe to Save and Loan Soc	Sw 3d, 137:6 nw 68:9x275	10,000
J P Fiunall to same	Lot No 26 South Park	1,500

Thursday, December, 4th.

City and County S F to F & M Bk	Ne Francisco and Polk, e 137:6x137:6	....
J D Upson et al to same	Same	5
Farm and Mech Bk to A Sommer	Same	3,100
Emma M Baker to Jno Baker	Und 1-8th e cor Harrison and Main, ne 275x550, und 1-8th se Harrison, 45:10 ne Spear, ne 229:2x137:6; und 1-8th se Harrison, 275 ue Spear, ne 80x40:10	10,000
Jno F Baker to Emma M Baker	Same	10,000
Jos B Walker et al to Jno Baker	Same	10,000
Jas A Lane to Ellen Lane	N Turk, 182:6 w Pierce, w 28x137:6—W A 432	Gift
Jno M Burnett to Hartwig L Miller	N Jackson, 225 w Larkin, w 50x127:8—W A 20	4,000
Chas H Burton to David W White	Lots 340, 349, 350, Gift Map 3	5
Same to same	Lot 13, blk 308 Pleasant View Hd	5
Jno Sheehy to J H Smyth	Und half O L blk 680 and e half 681	1
Jno Mallon to B Curtaz	W Shotwell, 150 n 24th, n 30x122:6	1,600
Cath McGorry to City and Co S F	Streets and Highways	9
T B Howard to Cal Sugar Refinery	E cor 8th and Townsend, ne 275x215	1

Friday, December 5th.

Daniel Sheehan et et to Danl Jones	S Minna, 200 e 6th, e 50x75	$ 400
Jno Sloan to Joseph Perkins	W Tennessee, 100 n Butte, n 75x100—P N 376 s Precita pl, 130 e Folsm 25x100, ne Liberty and Noe, 57x105, M B 108	1
J C Bates to Albert Dibblee et al	E cor Harrison and 10th, 410x275	....
E J Baldwin to Simon W Glazier	Se Market, 78 ne 6th, ne 98:6x170	5
Tin How to Ly Haung et al	W Waverly pl, 96 n Clay, n 27:6x59—50-vara 57 subj to mortg	15,000
Hip Yee Mong to same	W Washing pl, 71:6 n Washington pl, 27:6x30—50-v 50 subj to mortg	5,000
L A Kilham to Henry McGuire	Nw San Jose ave and Day st, w 66:9, n 36, e 70:11, etc to com	300
Hibernia S and L Soc to C Casassa	Se Green and Powell, s 20x57:4	3,750
Jos M Douglas to J O B Gun	Und half se Franklin and Clay, 100x60, W A 89	4,000
J C Hampton et al to same	Same	4,000
Same to Henry T Scott	Und half e Franklin, 100 a Clay, 27:8x87 being W A blk 89	2,000
Jos M Douglas to same	Same	2,000
Chas T Smith to Jno Noonen	N Post, 225 w Stockton, 25x137:6	50
Jno Bays to Jno Best	W Leavenworth, 77:6 s Vallejo, 20x137:6	2,600
Jno Bays to same	Same	1
Henry Hinkel to Anton Fassmann	S Minna, 275 e 7th, e 34x75	7,000
La Societe Francaise to T L Lyons	E cor Folsom and Spear, 137:6x137:6	28,000
E T Crane to same	S Clay, 75 e Davis, e 49:6x119:6	26,500
La Soc Francaise to S Heydenfeldt	Se Sac and Leids, s 98:6, e 55, n 18:6, etc	34,000

E. M. Fry. FRY, WATTLES & CO., J. B. Wattles.

Stock Brokers,

303 Montgomery Street, S. F., Under the Nevada Bank.

☞ Money to loan on active accounts. Nov. 8.

GEO. C. HICKOX. E. C. McFARLANE.

GEORGE C. HICKOX & CO.,

Commission Stock Brokers (San Francisco Stock Exchange, No. 230 Montgomery street, San Francisco. May 4.

J. A. RUDKIN,

Member S. F. Stock and Exchange Board, 423 California street. STOCKS Bought and Sold on Commission. Liberal Advances made n Active Accounts. Oct. 26.

E. E. EYRE. } Members S. F. Stock and Exchange Board. [J. H. JONES.

EYRE & JONES,

Stock Brokers,

320 PINE STREET, SAN FRANCISCO. [Sept. 27.

ANDREW BAIRD,

Negotiator of Loans and Commercial Paper, Broker in Local and State Securities,

No. 312 California Street.....San Francisco.

[P. O. Box 1,208.] July 19.

D. V. B. Henarie. Edward Martin.

E. MARTIN & CO.,

Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Wines and Liquors.

Proprietors of Miller's Extra Old Bourbon and J. F. Cutter Extra Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies.

April 5. 408 Front Street, San Francisco.

HIBERNIA BREWERY,

Howard Street, Between Eighth and Ninth.

Dec. 7.] M. NUNAN, Proprietor.

TABER, HARKER & CO.,

IMPORTERS AND WHOLESALE GROCERS,

108 and 110 California St., S. F.

[April 19.]

Henry B. Williams. Henry B. Williams.

WILLIAMS, BLANCHARD & CO.,

SHIPPING AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

No. 218 California st., S. F. [July 27.

NEWTON BOOTH, C. T. WHEELER, Sacramento. | J. T. GLOVER, W. W. DODGE, S. F

W. W. DODGE & CO.

Wholesale Grocers, corner Front and Clay streets, San Francisco. April 1.

CASTLE BROTHERS,

ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1850.

Importers of Teas and East India Goods, Nos. 213 and 215 Front street, San Francisco. Jan. 13.

J. M. Neville. REMOVAL. Geo. H. Bryant.

BAGS, TENTS AND HOSE.

NEVILLE & CO.,

No.'s 31 and 33 California Street, S. E. corner of Davis,

SAN FRANCISCO. [Aug. 2.

L. H. Newton. NEWTON BROTHERS & CO., M. Newton.

Importers and wholesale dealers in Teas, Foreign Goods and Groceries, 204 and 206 California street, San Francisco, Cal May 25.

WM. F. SMITH, M.D.,

Oculist and Aurist, 313 Bush Street.

Aug. 16.] Office Hours, from 12 M. to 3 P.M.

J. C. MERRILL & CO.,

Shipping and Commission Merchants, Agents for the Sand-wich Islands Packet Lines, 204 California street, S. F. April 13.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.

Gold Medal, Paris, 1878.

Sold by all Stationers. Sole Agent for the United States: MR. HENRY HOE, 91 John street, N. Y. Jan. 5.

DOGS.

G. Everill, the Celebrated Canine Doctor from London, can be consulted for treatment or purchase. Fee, $1. Address, G. EVERILL, 523 California street.

☞ Sure cure for worms, distemper, canker and mange sent free by mail on receipt of $1. Oct. 18.

D. HICKS & CO.,

Bookbinders and Blank Book Manufacturers,

NO. 543 CLAY STREET.

☞ Blank Books Ruled, Printed and Bound to Order. [Nov. 8.

COKE CHEAPEST FUEL.

Reduction in Price: Wholesale Price, 50 cents per barrel; Retail Price, 60 cents per barrel, at the works of the SAN FRANCISCO GAS-LIGHT COMPANY, Howard and First streets, and foot of Second st. Jan. 12.

$777 a year and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address, June 7.] P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

UNQUALIFIED CONTRADICTIONS.

There is no truth whatever in any one of the following statements: That the Baldwin is the best-managed hotel in the city, in all respects. That McAhee never gets intoxicated.——That it looks well for the manager of a high-toned hotel to take the linen girl out for drives.——That people fail to talk about it.——That Baldwin knows nothing about divorces.——That Baldwin's lawyer doesn't know whether the last Mrs. Baldwin got a fair divide of the common property.——That he doesn't know whether a suit was commenced, testimony taken and a decree signed in an hour.——That he doesn't know the grounds upon which the divorce was obtained.——That divorces do not run in the Baldwin family.——That the ex-Mrs. Baldwin likes to see her very moral successor enjoy the property she helped to accumulate.——That Baldwin's record is the very best guarantee for his fitness to keep a home for others, the permanent abiding place of culture, refinement, good morals and pure life.——That Fassett, the fat clerk, has an affectionate interest in Nellie Halstead's establishment on Belden Place.——That he is sent for there when he is wanted at the hotel.——That Baldwin, McAhee and Fassett are a worthy trio to run a high-toned hotel; that they are!——That there is no scandal among the guests.——That they don't make each other's acquaintance.——That Robinson and Lew Morrison never heard the name of May Wilkes, nor of the Morgan.——That anybody ever complained of McAhee.——That he knows how much Herring made on his hauling contract.——That Mrs. Blakeney and Mrs. Balhack are unacquainted.——That F. H. Elder was a highly favored guest.——That McAhee was the "best man" at the Schum wedding.——That Frank Cicott ever heard of "buyer 30."——That Donald McLane christened her.——That Nina Varian ever was a guest at the Baldwin.——That McLane ever had a door opened, and kept opened for months, between his room and that of a lady.——That Day & Ritter are names that are never mentioned together.——That Lennie Vincent and Lillie Burnham ever visited the house.——That McLane thinks they did.——That suppers were ever sent at 2 A. M. to them at Clarke's.——That there have been no single women in the house, without father, mother or protector, and no widows or divorced women, and none of them have had rooms near those occupied by men.——That there was ever any noise in Cicott's room, or McLane's, or anybody's.——That Nina Varian ever had a room opened between her's and a male friend's.——That any lewd women ever occupied the parlor to see the procession.——That the name of Triam, and that of her mother, bring religious thoughts into Baldwin's head.——That he forgets visiting his private box in the theater in the daytime.——That Dr. A. J. Bowie forgets who paid his fees for attending the Fair girl.——That both the "Squicklers" care to tell all we know.——That McAhee didn't (accidentally, of course) spill a gohlet of water over Mrs. Gladwin.——That anyhody ever said Mac was tight when he did it.——That the Hagers don't know why they left the Baldwin.——That General and Mrs. Burns don't know either.——That the Hill person didn't get Bowman's letters, and never held them to make her "sbut up."——That the said Hill person knows how much money William's advice made in stocks, and how Mrs. W. likes it.——That Mr. and Mrs. Marcus H. don't know the Hill person.——That neither do the Burns family.——That neitner do Cavalier, nor Grant.——That Searle hothers Bothin.——That the Smart woman on Taylor street was ever a guest of the Baldwin, or that E. J. knows the reason why.——That Saville knows anything that anyhody cares ahout.——That anybody ever offered to compound his supposed felony.——That McAhee had anything to do with getting Saville out of jail.——That Baldwin, or Splann, or Saville, ever went visiting together.——That Splann ever took the Brown or the Baker to his room.——That M. knew that Saville was to escape, and was with him during the night.——That the sixth floor is the least pleasant part of the house. That the Hill is not fond of painting portraits, and paints them for neither love nor money, and splits on Lizzie.——That Hill gives Bowman & Teagarden away.——That McAhee ever went to the Park with anyhody, at 11 P.M., and could not get in.——That the Smith lived in a secluded part of the house, or that gentleman roomed on each side, or that nobody knows how or where the money comes from.——That Morgan Hill had any reason for removing to the Palace.——That the cahman knows the elder gentleman he took to the Poodle Dog, and the lady he afterward took to the house.——That anyhody knows where the telegraph operator goes.——That she goes to the little church arouud the corner.——That nice people live in the neighborhood of the Baldwin.——That the sewing girl who sued Baldwin for her money, which he invested in Ophir, was treated hetter hy the law than hy Baldwin's sense of honor.——That the story of detectives who worked up the Lennie McCormick case is not interesting.——That the seizure of a distillery is pleasant.——That two criminal indictments in connection with it are an assistance to running a high-toned hotel.——That any joh was put up on the detective that came from Washington.——That Government detectives hereafter should heware of the syren in the next room.——That Baldwin's friendships ever hegin with the mother and end with the daughter.——That he ever had private papers at the Stevenson House, or that he didn't pay for his room there.——That the Fox and Edwards trip to Donner Lake wouldn't he amusing, or that there are any other Foxey stories.——That the Post's account of Sam Curtis and the widow Cooper at the Baldwin was evertaken hack——That any of the late witnesses know anything.——That it is not tiresome and weary in the extreme to have to deny all the ahsurd, silly aud meaningless stories that are sometimes whispered into an editor's ears, ofteu with malice, and oftener still without truth.

The distinguished organist of Trinity Church, New York, C. E. Horsley, died, leaving a widow who was recently a teacher of singing in the school of Mrs. Lynch, at Benicia. Bishop Wingfield, of Benicia, has an interest in a rival establishment, and spoke of Mrs. Lynch's teacher as tbe "so-called widow" of the late organist and composer. The result is that Mrs. Horsley has had to leave Mrs. Lynch's service, and sues the Bishop, in the 23d District Court, for $20,000 damages, alleging that hy reason of the slander she has been injured in character and reputation as a teacher of youth, and cannot obtain employment as such, or as a "professional singer in churches," which latter occupation Mrs. Horsley alleges is also part of her business. Why the Bishop should have husied himself about Mrs. Horsley's antecedents and tried to prevent her from earning a livelihood is a little obscure to persons not well versed iu Christian doctrine, but we suppose he will he able to give chapter and verse for it. Doubtless our friend G. E. Barton, of counsel for plaintiff, may, with propriety, remind the Bishop that even his Satanic Majesty quoted Scripture under circumstances as little justifiable.

AN EXPERT BOOKKEEPER.

There are many forms of philanthropy. There is the animal's friend, and the friend of mankind, the friend of the friendless and the friend of the rich; and each one of these has some plausible show to make of unselfish feeling, to excuse his particular form of lunacy. But the very queerest of all queer shapes assumed hy this disease is the questionable one of the Stockholders' Expert Friend, which is called, for short, Squire P. Dewey. Now the word expert may mean various things. For instance, when S. P. Dewey managed the estate of Rodman M. Price, his bookkeeping, however curious to the owner of the property, was so expertly conducted that Dewey himself has never expressed any dissatisfaction with the result. This, it may be objected, was not a stockholder's matter, hut the objection is flimsy. S. P. Dewey took a good deal of stock in the estate, and cared for the investor as only a man and a brother could. Seeing, with his eye single to the greatest good, that there were very odd things done in mining companies, he undertook to hring them where he wanted them; and after the fire in the Consolidated Virginia Works, took hold of the hooks of the company. He shorted the dividends, having discovered some terrihle things, and made a very handsome loss. But this was dealing with a real mine, and he wanted to show what could he done for the stockholders of a wild-cat concern.

He took charge, therefore, of the financial department of the Hamhurg, the wildest cat in the neighborhood of Eureka, Nevada; and the stockholders agree, with one accord, that he did for them very sufficiently. They have never heen ahle to thank him as they ought, for their emotions overcome them at the sound of his name. As a financier they consider him a great success, their money having gone with remarkahle ease where it could do him the most good. Last Saturday he turned up again as the friend of the Con. Virginia stockholders, and, in company with Colonel Peter Cbrystal, a distinguished gentleman, who long lived in retirement in Louisiana, but is now as philonthropic as anyhody, called at the office of the company to see the hooks. The Secretary courteously put them at his service; and Mr. Dewey finding $200,000 bullion on hand, and an overdraft at the Nevada Bank for $106,000, ingeniously added these two items from opposite sides of the account together, made over $300,000 on hand, and rushed away to tell everybody that if there were not a 50 cent dividend declared, he (Dewey) would make it devilish hot for somehody. This was an application of the same principle he made available in the Gould & Curry investigation, which he conducted for his own henefit and the public good some time ago. There was a defalcation, he felt sure, in that mine; his instinct for defalcations is infallible; and he went into the books, head foremost, and staid there for three weeks. He emerged at last triumphant, for he had found out the swindle of that last assessment, which had not paid him anything. Not less than $1,900,000 had been taken in, and where was the money? The Secretary said he only made it $100,000, and went over Dewey's figures, when it appeared that this friend of stockholders and expert bookkeeper had added up the numhers of the certificates of stock. If this man had any skin, it would have heen hlistered long ago with the contempt and loathing he has drawn upon himself from those who have heen forced to know him; for no one willingly accepts his acquaintance.

A TREASURE-HOUSE OF ART.

The uncommonly favorable opening of the rainy season this year with gentle, persistent, warm showers, and cloudy skies hetween, has given a great impulse to trade and confidence to nearly every one. The prospects for the coming year hrighten with the darker skies, as in Théophile Gautier's heautiful line on the rolling earth, that turns "Et fait le ciel splendide en le rendant plus sombre." In spite of themselves men feel exhilarated by the coming prosperity, and are more ready to enjoy the holiday season, and to spend freely. The signs of this disposition ahound in the streets. Shops and stores are gay with everything that can tempt the huyer, from the child's toys and the candies to the rare works of art and the treasures of literature. Merely to examine some of the windows is to take a lesson in color and in form. Those of the White House, for instance, at tbe corner of Post and Kearny, are of an aesthetic value heyond the mere pleasure they afford to the eye. No one can look for a few minutes at the terra cotta sculptures or the hronzes there displayed without feeling a wider sense of culture and being led into trains of fruitful thought. Not less suggestive is the heauty of the satins and silk goods, the velvets and rich Oriental stuffs, with their carefully modulated tones and shades. And all these artistically arranged works of taste and skill from many lands are appreciated hy the hest class of the public, as may he seen hy the numhers attracted to this estahlishment.

Patti's Concerts, under the direction of C. A. Chizzola and ahle management of D. De Vivo, will commence in the Grand Opera House of this city on the 5th of January next. The tenor will he Theo. J. Toed, who comes with a flattering reputation. He is credited with baving a most silvery voice, and with heing a splendid hallad singer. Mr. Dulcken will be accompanist. The choice of assistant talent has heen excellent, but, after all, the chief attraction will he found in the prima donna. Carlotta Patti is. indeed, a wonderful singer. It is said that she hrings with her the same full, rich, melodious voice that has thrilled her audiences in every part of the civilized world. It is said that this is her last visit to America.

The case of Frederic Clarke, whose father recently died under doubtful circumstances, is now hefore the Prohate Court, the contest heing over the will made by Clarke, senior. The testimony for the defendant, Clarke, junior, has not heen given yet, and therefore it is difficult to discuss it at present. But the case against him, made up principally of his own mother's evidence, is strong and difficult to rebut. Unless it is answered thoroughly, the sooner this man falls out of meu's memory the hetter.

Flour.—The market is steady for Extras from $5 75 to $6 for export grades, and for Family and Bakers', $6 25@6 50 ₱ 196 lbs. Exports to Central America, per City of Panama, 6,180 bbls; to Hongkong, per Gaelic, 10,562 hbls; to Manila, 500 hbls, etc. Our millers carry very light stocks, preferring to sell and fill orders as required hy shippers.

Wheat.—The market has shown a good degree of firmness all the week, shippers huying freely at $2@$2 05, and millers paying $2 05@$2 10 for choice No. 2. Strictly No. 1 Stockton White is held at $2 12½ per cental.

HUTCHINSON & MANN,

INSURANCE AGENCY,

Nos. 322 & 324 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

FIRE INSURANCE:

GIRARD.....of Philadelphia	ST. PAUL.....of St. Paul
HOME.....of Columbus	UNION.....of Galveston
NEW ORLEANS ASSOCIATION.....	TEUTONIA.....of New Orleans
PEOPLES.....of Newark	BERLIN-COLOGNE.....of Berlin
REVERE.....of Boston	LA CONFIANCE.....of Paris
LA CAISSE GENERALE.....of Paris

MARINE INSURANCE:

PARIS UNDERWRITING ASSOCIATION.....of Paris
LONDON AND PROVINCIAL MARINE INSURANCE CO.....of London

CAPITAL REPRESENTED, $23,000,000. All Losses Equitably Adjusted and Promptly Paid.

PUBLIC OPINION

---ABOUT THE---

GRAND TOY EXPOSITION!

To Open at the MECHANICS' PAVILION

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13th:

"Don't talk to me about Christmas presents! That is just one of the schemes of the merchants, who are doing their best to get rid of their immense stocks at the close of the year." Such is the opinion of a great many.

"It would be disastrous to me to be obliged to buy Christmas Presents for all my children at the ruinous prices asked by the stores," say many others.

"Presents! That is all very well for rich people, but we, workingmen, cannot afford to indulge in such luxuries." Such is another very commonly expressed opinion.

"Business has been so adverse, and stocks so unlucky, that I am obliged to curtail my expenditures for Christmas Presents," says this man, who used to be quite liberal to his friends before.

"I am sure I do not know how to pass the time during those Holidays," says another. "Stay at home, or go out with my wife and children, and it is nothing but a continual drain on my pocket-book for Christmas Presents."

Such was the uniform type of the conversation in former years when the Christmas Tree was about to blossom. But, on the contrary, so soon as the project at the Mechanics' Pavilion has been made known, the public has enthusiastically applauded the idea.

"That is a capital idea—it is so practical," says one.

"I shall, at last, be able to supply all my children with both presents and amusement at a trifling expense," says another.

"What 'fine times' we shall have, wandering through those immense labyrinths of the Pavilion, adorned with so many marvels and wonders," exclaim all the children.

"What an excellent opportunity it will afford for us to meet our friends during the Holidays! What a charming rendezvous it will be!" repeat the ladies.

In giving expression to the foregoing opinions, we make ourselves the echo of the opinion of the General Public; so we must congratulate ourselves upon our enterprise. Before the doors of the Pavilion have been opened, the entire public is unanimous in their approval; and when we shall have closed them, after the feast, we shall enjoy the conviction that we knew how to contribute to their happiness, and deserve their flattering expressions of gratitude.

LET EVERYBODY COME TO THE GRAND TOY EXPOSITION!

Which Opens at the

MECHANICS' PAVILION

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13TH.

HOLIDAY GIFTS!

To those of the Public wishing to make a Christmas or New Year's Present of an article always most acceptable, we would cordially invite them to call at our establishment and examine our large and elegant stock of CARRIAGE, BUGGY, TANDEM and RIDING WHIPS all of our own manufacture, comprising English Holly, Yew, Bamboo, Knotted and Plain Bone, with Ivory Handles, either Gold or Silver mounted, making the Finest Assortment in the Market.

Also, a complete line of Harness, Saddles, Robes, Blankets, Bridles, etc., etc.

MAIN & WINCHESTER, 214 and 216 Battery St.